$10 Million Construction Scheduled at Ft. Carson

Ft. Carson will begin an estimated $10 million in permanent construction projects at the mountain post in the near future, Maj. Gen. John A. Heintges, commander of Carson and the 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized), said today.

Gen. Heintges said the projects would include the completion of basic requirements at Butts Field, 280 family housing units and the proposed chapel center.

He said that the Omaha District Corps of Engineers notified him that bids for the major projects would be advertised during the next two months. He said the schedule for bid advertisements and bid openings has been worked out so that bids will be opened and contracts awarded every week from now thru February.

A low bid of $155,700 from State Inc. of Pueblo has already been accepted by the Corps of Engineers for modernization of the sewage treatment plant at Carson.

Gen. Heintges said the authorized construction at the post includes the chapel center; ammunition storage igloos, two motor repair shops, aircraft refueling and storage; a hangar; instrument (Link) trainer building; airfield operations and fire rescue building; airfield service road and vehicle parking; airfield paving; airfield lighting and navigational aides; a runway at Butts and 280 units of family housing.

The ammunition igloos are to be built near the two permanent igloos now in an area one mile west of Butts airfield. They will be similar to the two now near Titus Road but will be twice as large.

The hangar which will be constructed at the field will add 160 feet to the 480-foot frontage of the hangar now under construction. It will be constructed of concrete block and metal.

The current project — the first phase of the improvement work at Butts — includes a hangar, water storage, sewage and a tower. Total cost of the first phase of the project is approximately $1.6 million. Construction on this phase is expected to be completed in May.

The proposed new projects are to be completed in 14 to 18 months from the time contracts are awarded.

Primarily intended for the Army's light tactical aircraft, the completed airfield will be able to accommodate an occasional C-47 or similar type aircraft.

Smoke-Health Hearing Is Being Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., announced Wednesday congressional hearings Jan. 29 and 30 on "how we may give maximum assurances of health to those who continue smoking."

Cooley, who heads the House Agriculture Committee and comes from a major tobacco-growing state, said the hearings will be conducted by a tobacco subcommittee headed by Rep. Watkins Abbitt, D-Va.

As a starter, Cooley said $5 million should be spent immediately on research.

Witnesses invited to testify include Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, and the governors of the principal tobacco producing states.

$4.9 Million VA Hospital Scandal Bared in U.S. Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has disclosed it is pressing a claim of $4.9 million in damages against Matthew M. McCloskey, Democratic party fund raiser, and two other contractors for alleged defects in a Veterans Administration hospital in Boston.

McCloskey, whose name has been brought into the explosive Senate investigation of Robert G. Baker's business affairs, was for eight years treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

Appointed ambassador to Ireland in June 1962 by the late President John F. Kennedy, the Philadelphia contractor, credited with conceiving the $100-a-plate political dinner, recently resigned the post. He plans to return to fund raising for the party.

The government action was disclosed in a Justice Department letter to Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., whose private investigation of Baker led to the current Senate hearings into the activities of the former secretary to the Senate Democratic majority.

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, has called for a separate House investigation into Baker's affairs in the wake of Senate testimony that President Johnson once received a free stereo set from a Baker associate.

"This scandal has so many ramifications that it would appear the House should set up a special committee to examine some of the tangents of the Baker probe," Gross told the House Wednesday.

Gross said the proposed investigation should include the activities of McCloskey.

The Justice Department said in its letters to Williams, which he made public Wednesday, that the government was seeking the damages from McCloskey and other contractors because of defects and deficiencies in construction of the hospital in 1950.

The letter, signed by Asst. Atty. Gen. John W. Douglas, said the contractors had been warned that the government stands ready to file suit in order to recover the funds.

Williams said the government set a deadline of Jan. 20, last Monday, but the Justice Department declined to say whether the money had been paid. It said only that the matter was

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton were here today for a possible solution of their hopes to marry, but angry words from Eddie Fisher made their chances seem remote.

A duel of epithets and a mob scene were added to filmdom's most famous—and lengthiest—love epic Wednesday.

Said Burton: Fisher says publicly he wants to ease the way for Miss Taylor's divorce from him, but his demands "are in the realm of the fantastic. The singer should make his demands public, said Burton, or "live up to his public image" and do what he calls "the gentlemanly thing."

Said Fisher: "I have just read Mr. Burton's pronouncement on the proper behavior of a gentleman, and I am convinced, now more than ever before, that he deserves an Oscar for sheer gall.

"To set the record straight, I have not nor will I ever demand any money from Elizabeth. On the other hand, I have no intention of surrendering her and Mr. Burton the property which I own.

"I have never advised one way or the other on Mr. Burton's treatment of his wife and I would thank him to refrain from commenting about my action concerning my wife.

"I hardly think that Mr. Burton is the one to lecture on morals, integrity, and honesty to me or to anyone else."

Miss Taylor and Burton landed their chartered DC3 at Los Angeles International Airport Wednesday night and descended into a seething, shouting throng of newsmen. Airport police tried to form a circle around the pair, but microphones and cameras were pushed at them from all directions.

"Get me out of here," Miss Taylor said fearfully.

"Where is the way out?" said her fifth-husband-to-be.

The Burton temper flashed and he gave a sweep of his hand to a photographer who was pressing close. Irritated by a microphone before him, he snapped at a radio man. "Get

77-Year-Old Man Kills Himself At His Home

A 77-year-old man, George Albert Curren, 519 Yuma St., shot himself at his home shortly after 9 a.m. today, the El Paso County Sheriff's Office reported.

According to Deputy Sheriff Bernard Berry, the sheriff's office received a telephone call around 9:15 a.m. A man, who refused to identify himself, said a man was going to shoot himself at 519 Yuma St.

Deputy Sheriff Larry Holien, Vernon Eason and Berry went to the scene. When they arrived, the door of the house was open and they found Curren dead in the bathtub with a bullet wound in his chest.

A 38-caliber pistol had been used.

There was no one else in the house and none of the neighbors appeared to have heard the shot.

Curren is survived by his wife, who spent Wednesday night at a son-in-law's home in Colorado Springs.

Armed Forces Docs Propose Discouragement of Smoking

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top doctors of the Army, Navy and Air Force have recommended steps aimed at discouraging smoking among the 2.7 million men and women in uniform, it was learned today.

There would be no attempt to prohibit cigarette smoking, The Associated Press was told, but the military surgeon general proposed:

1. An educational program intended to point out to all service people the potentially harmful effects of smoking.

2. An end to service participation in what one surgeon general called "promotional schemes." Under this heading, he included gifts of cigarettes to military hospitals.

The surgeon general met Wednesday with Dr. Shirley C. Fisk, the Defense Department's health director. They discussed the Public Health Service's recent report linking cigarette smoking with lung cancer and various other life-shortening diseases.

Afterward, the Defense Department said, "No decisions were made on possible actions concerning the matter" and that the subject would be studied further.

This gave the impression the meeting ended inconclusively. But Fisk told the AP in emphatic tones that it was a conclusive session and that he expected a common policy to emerge for all the services.

He declined to go into detail pending an expected formal announcement.

Rear Adm. E. C. Kenney, the Navy surgeon-general, said in an interview that the fundamentally important thing was that all the service medical

Soviets Declare West Must Scrap Nuclear Force

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union said today the West must scrap its proposed multilateral nuclear force before there can be any agreement to stop the spread of nuclear weapons.

The Soviet disarmament negotiator, Semyon K. Tsarapkin, told newsmen "the multilateral force has to be cleared away" before East and West can reach an agreement on President Johnson's proposal Tuesday to bar nuclear weapons from nations that don't have them. Johnson worded his proposal so that the nuclear force the United States has proposed for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would be exempt.

Tsarapkin said his government was studying Johnson's five-point arms proposal and would reply to it in due course.

The Soviet reaction to the proposal to stop the spread of nuclear weapons surprised no one. Tsarapkin in his speech at the resumption of the 17-nation disarmament conference Tuesday made a similar proposal, but he called specifically for it to apply to the multilateral force.

Raft With Nine Men Sought in Pacific Ocean

HONOLULU (AP) — The Coast Guard launched a search Wednesday night for a raft that was reported sighted in the area where an Air Force Globemaster with nine aboard vanished near Johnston Island on Jan. 2.

The Air Force stressed immediately that the reported sighting was unofficial, and that they were trying to confirm it.

An Air Force cargo plane's crew reported sighting the raft about 250 miles west of Johnston Island. The pilot said a man appeared to be waving on the raft.

The area of the raft sighting was reported in the same general area where the Air Force plane disappeared two weeks ago with a crew of eight, a Navy enlisted man and a corpse aboard.

Authorities said they knew of no other raft likely to be in the area.

Three Navy planes were dispatched to the area and ships were also reported steaming toward the scene.

The sighting came on the same day that the Air Force had officially declared the crew of the missing plane dead.

An extensive search for the plane's crew was called off Jan. 10.

Court Orders $158,300 Pay For NORAD Land

The federal government was ordered by a U.S. District Court jury in Denver Wednesday to pay $158,300 for land it seized for construction of the North American Air Defense Command Hardsite.

The money is to be paid to the estate of J. Robert Neal of Houston who died in 1938. The estate is managed by the Bank of the Southwest in Houston.

Three independent appraisers for the estate had placed the value of the land between $300,000 and $350,000, but the jury chose to ignore their appraisals.

Asst. U.S. Attorney Edward Mulhall said that the government had offered the managers of Neal's estate $70,000 for the 270 acres which are located approximately two miles south of the Broadmoor area. The offer was rejected and the case taken to court.

Several weeks ago, another jury awarded $190,000 to owners of the Jones Ranch for their property which was also seized by the government.

Revised Carson Employe Pay Rates Announced

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Special to the Gazette Telegraph) —The Army-Air Force Wage Board announced today a revised schedule of rates for 794 employes at Ft. Carson.

The schedule will provide for average increases of six cents per hour effective on the first pay period after Feb. 5.

An increase of three cents per hour will be effective on the same date for 2,358 employes at the Pueblo Army Depot.

The information was released from the office of Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth (R-Colo.)

A six-cent per hour wage increase was also announced for 236 employes at Ent Air Force Base, and for 1,134 employes at the Air Force Academy, also effective after Feb. 5.

Tests Are Being Prepared for Slayer of Oswald

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The time, place and extent of the psychiatric examination to be given Jack Ruby, slayer of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, remain a professional secret.

Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown named Dr. R. L. Stubblefield of the Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, Dr. John T. Holbrook of Beverly Hills Sanitarium and Clinic in Dallas, and Dr. Milton Towler of the University of Texas Medical School at Galveston as the three psychiatrists to examine the 52-year-old night club operator.

Judge Brown said it would be up to the three psychiatrists to conduct the tests and that he did not know specifically what the examination would include.

"I am under instructions from Judge Brown to make no announcement as to what the tests will include, where they will be given or when they will be given," Dr. Stubblefield said late Wednesday.

Earlier, Dr. Holbrook said he did not know when or where the tests would be held. Asked if they would be extensive, he said "I hope so."

Shortly after Judge Brown announced the Tuesday appointments, Dr. Towler said in Galveston he had agreed to examine

Indonesia Will Stop Undeclared Malaysian War

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia and Malaysia have agreed to a cease-fire in their undeclared border war and to new three-power talks with the Philippines soon to seek a final solution of the Malaysia crisis.

State Demos Launch Fight Against Boost in Tuition

DENVER (AP) — Democrats in the Colorado Legislature, headed by Lt. Gov. Robert L. Knous, are launching an all out battle against tuition increases at state colleges and universities for Colorado students.

Knous called increases suggested by Republican Gov. John A. Love exhorbitant and said parents of students would be "saddled with nearly a $2 million increase" which would have the effect of a tax raise.

Knous urged both students and their parents to write their legislators objecting to the proposed increases.

"I oppose the governor's attempt to relieve the Republican Party of their current financial embarassment by increasing the cost to the taxpayer who is sending his children to college in Colorado," Knous said.

"This proposal is a blow to a fundamental concept at our colleges and universities that resident tuition should be kept at the lowest possible level so that there is a broad education-

Barry Continues Hunt for Votes In New Hampshire

By WALTER R. MEARS

With Goldwater in New Hampshire (AP) — Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater presses his hunt for New Hampshire votes today, scoffing at Soviet Premier Khrushchev's pledge to defend Communist Cuba against any invader.

The Arizona senator said he wonders whether even Fidel Castro believes the promise Khrushchev made as the Cuban premier ended a visit to Moscow.

A joint communique issued Wednesday night renewed a Soviet pledge to aid Cuba "by all means at its disposal" if Cuba is invaded.

"I'd like to know how much faith Castro has in that when he puts his head on his pillow tonight," Goldwater said in an interview.

"Why should Khrushchev risk a real tough third war and the destruction of Russia?"

Goldwater, seeking the GOP presidential nomination, spoke with approval Wednesday of the ill-fated 1960 invasion of the Bay of Pigs and forecast a new blockade or invasion of Cuba.

"One of these days, whether we like it or not, some forces of the Organization of American States and the United States are going to have to repeat that

$50 an Ounce Gold Subsidy Plan Disclosed

A proposal that the federal government pay a straight $50 an ounce incentive subsidy to gold miners has been presented to President Johnson by a local mining company official.

Mrs. Josephine Frost, president of the Joe Dandy Mining Co., made the proposal in a letter to the President.

She said that the straight incentive would do much to give the dying gold mining industry the shot-in-the-arm it needs to send it back on the road to economic recovery.

"I am sure you know the gold mining industry has practically ceased operation," Mrs. Frost said in the letter. "We gold miners have endeavored without success to get some relief for the gold mines which would enable us to reopen our prop-

World Rocket Leadership May Be Affirmed by U.S.

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — World leadership in rocket power may be the prize next Monday when the United States plans to launch the Saturn 1 on its first two-stage test flight.

If all goes well, the rocket will lift a 37,700-pound satellite.

The satellite, mostly dead weight with no scientific value, will dwarf the largest payloads orbited by the Soviet Union — Sputniks 7 and 8 which weighed 14,292 pounds each. The heaviest American space payload weighed 10,200 pounds.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration today disclosed details of the Saturn 1, which has been on a launching pad here since last August, waiting out months of checkout and several weeks technical delay.

The rocket stands 164 feet tall and fully fueled weighs 562 tons. The State of Liberty is 151 feet and weighs 227.5 tons.

The first stage, 21.5 feet in diameter, has an eight-engine powerplant which will generate 1.5 million pounds of thrust — about 34 million horsepower.

This is designed to lift the rocket above the earth's atmosphere. At an altitude of 48 miles, the real key to Saturn 1's power flashes to action: A second stage with six engines that burn liquid hydrogen and produce 90,000 pounds of thrust.

The second stage will be flown for the first time Monday. Four earlier flights used only the first stage.

Experts believe a good test will give the United States a booster lead over the Soviet Union. Best estimates place the thrust of the big Soviet space rockets at between 1 and 1.2 million pounds. There is no evidence of their progress with liquid hydrogen.

'VANISHING AMERICA' STAGES COMEBACK—Alex LaForge, of Lodge Grass, Mont., a Crow Indian leader, is shown in Washington at the National Congress of American Indians. He and other Indian leaders disclosed that the 750,000 Indians in the country when the white man arrived, were reduced to about 150,000, but have increased at a rate of 20 per cent faster than whites, and now number about 650,000. The Congress of American Indians called for improvement of Indian economy. (AP Wirephoto)

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton were here today for a possible solution of their hopes to marry, but angry words from Eddie Fisher made their chances seem remote.

A duel of epithets and a mob scene were added to filmdom's most famous—and lengthiest—love epic Wednesday.

Said Burton: Fisher says publicly he wants to ease the way for Miss Taylor's divorce from him, but his demands "are in the realm of the fantastic. The singer should make his demands public, said Burton, or "live up to his public image" and do what he calls "the gentlemanly thing."

Said Fisher: "I have just read Mr. Burton's pronouncement on the proper behavior of a gentleman, and I am convinced, now more than ever before, that he deserves an Oscar for sheer gall.

"To set the record straight, I have not nor will I ever demand any money from Elizabeth. On the other hand, I have no intention of surrendering her and Mr. Burton the property which I own.

"I have never advised one way or the other on Mr. Burton's treatment of his wife and I would thank him to refrain from commenting about my action concerning my wife.

"I hardly think that Mr. Burton is the one to lecture on morals, integrity, and honesty to me or to anyone else."

Miss Taylor and Burton landed their chartered DC3 at Los Angeles International Airport Wednesday night and descended into a seething, shouting throng of newsmen. Airport police tried to form a circle around the pair, but microphones and cameras were pushed at them from all directions.

"Get me out of here," Miss Taylor said fearfully.

"Where is the way out?" said her fifth-husband-to-be.

The Burton temper flashed and he gave a sweep of his hand to a photographer who was pressing close. Irritated by a microphone before him, he snapped at a radio man, "Get

77-Year-Old Man Kills Himself At His Home

A 77-year-old man, George Albert Curren, 519 Yuma St., shot himself at his home shortly after 9 a.m. today, the El Paso County Sheriff's Office reported.

According to Deputy Sheriff Bernard Berry, the sheriff's office received a telephone call around 9:15 a.m. A man, who refused to identify himself, said a man was going to shoot himself at 519 Yuma St.

Deputy Sheriff Larry Holien, Vernon Eason and Berry went to the scene. When they arrived, the door of the house was open and they found Curren dead in the bathtub with a bullet wound in his chest.

A 38-caliber pistol had been used.

There was no one else in the house and none of the neighbors appeared to have heard the shot.

Curren is survived by his wife, who spent Wednesday night at a son-in-law's home in Colorado Springs.

Armed Forces Docs Propose Discouragement of Smoking

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top doctors of the Army, Navy and Air Force have recommended steps aimed at discouraging smoking among the 2.7 million men and women in uniform, it was learned today.

There would be no attempt to prohibit cigarette smoking, The Associated Press was told, but the military surgeon general proposed:

1. An educational program intended to point out to all service people the potentially harmful effects of smoking.

2. An end to service participation in what one surgeon general called "promotional schemes." Under this heading, he included gifts of cigarettes to military hospitals.

The surgeon general met Wednesday with Dr. Shirley C. Fisk, the Defense Department's health director. They discussed the Public Health Service's recent report linking cigarette smoking with lung cancer and various other life-shortening diseases.

Afterward, the Defense Department said, "No decisions were made on possible actions concerning the matter" and that the subject would be studied further.

This gave the impression the meeting ended inconclusively. But Fisk told the AP in emphatic tones that it was a conclusive session and that he expected a common policy to emerge for all the services.

He declined to go into detail pending an expected formal announcement.

Rear Adm. E. C. Kenney, the Navy surgeon-general, said in an interview that the fundamentally important thing was that all the service medical

Soviets Declare West Must Scrap Nuclear Force

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union said today the West must scrap its proposed multilateral nuclear force before there can be any agreement to stop the spread of nuclear weapons.

The Soviet disarmament negotiator, Semyon K. Tsarapkin, told newsmen "the multilateral force has to be cleared away" before East and West can reach an agreement on President Johnson's proposal Tuesday to bar nuclear weapons from nations that don't have them. Johnson worded his proposal so that the nuclear force the United States has proposed for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would be exempt.

Tsarapkin said his government was studying Johnson's five-point arms proposal and would reply to it in due course.

The Soviet reaction to the proposal to stop the spread of nuclear weapons surprised no one. Tsarapkin in his speech at the resumtion of the 17-nation disarmament conference Tuesday made a similar proposal, but he called specifically for it to apply to the multilateral force.

Raft With Nine Men Sought in Pacific Ocean

HONOLULU (AP) — The Coast Guard launched a search Wednesday night for a raft that was reported sighted in the area where an Air Force Globemaster with nine aboard vanished near Johnston Island on Jan. 2.

The Air Force stressed immediately that the reported sighting was unofficial, and that they were trying to confirm it.

An Air Force cargo plane's crew reported sighting the raft about 250 miles west of Johnston Island. The pilot said a man appeared to be waving on the raft.

The area of the raft sighting was reported in the same general area where the Air Force plane disappeared two weeks ago with a crew of eight, a Navy enlisted man and a corpse aboard.

Authorities said they knew of no other raft likely to be in the area.

Three Navy planes were dispatched to the area and ships were also reported steaming toward the scene.

The sighting came on the same day that the Air Force had officially declared the crew of the missing plane dead.

An extensive search for the plane's crew was called off Jan. 10.

The Air Force plane vanished after making a radio report to Hickam Air Force Base, near Honolulu, while en route from Midway Island to Honolulu.

Court Orders $158,300 Pay For NORAD Land

The federal government was ordered by a U.S. District Court jury in Denver Wednesday to pay $158,300 for land it seized for construction of the North American Air Defense Command Hardsite.

The money is to be paid to the estate of J. Robert Neal of Houston who died in 1938. The estate is managed by the Bank of the Southwest in Houston.

Three independent appraisers for the estate had placed the value of the land between $300,000 and $350,000, but the jury chose to ignore their appraisals.

Asst. U.S. Attorney Edward Mulhall said that the government had offered the managers of Neal's estate $70,000 for the 270 acres which are located approximately two miles south of the Broadmoor area. The offer was rejected and the case taken to court.

Several weeks ago, another jury awarded $190,000 to owners of the Jones Ranch for their property which was also seized by the government.

Revised Carson Employe Pay Rates Announced

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Special to the Gazette Telegraph) —The Army-Air Force Wage Board announced today a revised schedule of rates for 794 employes at Ft. Carson.

The schedule will provide for average increases of six cents per hour effective on the first pay period after Feb. 5.

An increase of three cents per hour will be effective on the same date for 2,358 employes at the Pueblo Army Depot.

The information was released from the office of Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth (R-Colo.)

A six-cent per hour wage increase was also announced for 236 employes at Ent Air Force Base, and for 1,134 employes at the Air Force Academy, also effective after Feb. 5.

Tests Are Being Prepared for Slayer of Oswald

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The time, place and extent of the psychiatric examination to be given Jack Ruby, slayer of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, remain a professional secret.

Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown named Dr. R. L. Stubblefield of the Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, Dr. John T. Holbrook of Beverly Hills Sanitarium and Clinic in Dallas, and Dr. Milton Towler of the University of Texas Medical School at Galveston as the three psychiatrists to examine the 52-year-old night club operator.

Judge Brown said it would be up to the three psychiatrists to conduct the tests and that he did not know specifically what the examination would include.

"I am under instructions from Judge Brown to make no announcement as to what the tests will include, where they will be given or when they will be given," Dr. Stubblefield said late Wednesday.

Earlier, Dr. Holbrook said he did not know when or where the tests would be held. Asked if they would be extensive, he said "I hope so."

Shortly after Judge Brown announced the Tuesday appointments, Dr. Towler said in Galveston he had agreed to examine

Indonesia Will Stop Undeclared Malaysian War

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia and Malaysia have agreed to a cease-fire in their undeclared border war and to new three-power talks with the Philippines soon to seek a final solution of the Malaysia crisis.

State Demos Launch Fight Against Boost in Tuition

Knous called increases suggested by Republican Gov. John A. Love exhorbitant and said parents of students would be "saddled with nearly a $2 million increase" which would have the effect of a tax raise.

Knous urged both students and their parents to write their legislators objecting to the proposed increases.

"I oppose the governor's attempt to relieve the Republican Party of their current financial embarassment by increasing the cost to the taxpayer who is sending his children to college in Colorado," Knous said.

"This proposal is a blow to a fundamental concept at our colleges and universities that resident tuition should be kept at the lowest possible level so that there is a broad education-

By WALTER R. MEARS

With Goldwater in New Hampshire (AP) — Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater presses his hunt for New Hampshire votes today, scoffing at Soviet Premier Khrushchev's pledge to defend Communist Cuba against any invader.

The Arizona senator said he wonders whether even Fidel Castro believes the promise Khrushchev made as the Cuban premier ended a visit to Moscow.

A joint communique issued Wednesday night renewed a Soviet pledge to aid Cuba "by all means at its disposal" if Cuba is invaded.

"I'd like to know how much faith Castro has in that when he puts his head on his pillow tonight," Goldwater said in an interview.

"Why should Khrushchev risk a real tough third war and the destruction of Russia?"

Goldwater, seeking the GOP presidential nomination, spoke with approval Wednesday of the ill-fated 1960 invasion of the Bay of Pigs and forecast a new blockade or invasion of Cuba.

"One of these days, whether we like it or not, some forces of the Organization of American States and the United States are going to have to repeat that

$50 an Ounce Gold Subsidy Plan Disclosed

A proposal that the federal government pay a straight $50 an ounce incentive subsidy to gold miners has been presented to President Johnson by a local mining company official.

Mrs. Josephine Frost, president of the Joe Dandy Mining Co., made the proposal in a letter to the President.

She said that the straight incentive would do much to give the dying gold mining industry the shot-in-the-arm it needs to send it back on the road to economic recovery.

"I am sure you know the gold mining industry has practically ceased operation," Mrs. Frost said in the letter. "We gold miners have endeavored without success to get some relief for the gold mines which would enable us to reopen our prop-

World Rocket Leadership May Be Affirmed by U.S.

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — World leadership in rocket power may be the prize next Monday when the United States plans to launch the Saturn 1 on its first two-stage test flight.

If all goes well, the rocket will lift a 37,700-pound satellite.

The satellite, mostly dead weight with no scientific value, will dwarf the largest payloads orbited by the Soviet Union — Sputniks 7 and 8 which weighed 14,292 pounds each. The heaviest American space payload weighed 10,200 pounds.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration today disclosed details of the Saturn 1, which has been on a launching pad here since last August, waiting out months of checkout and several weeks technical delay.

The rocket stands 164 feet tall and fully fueled weighs 562 tons. The State of Liberty is 151 feet and weighs 227.5 tons.

The first stage, 21.5 feet in diameter, has an eight-engine powerplant which will generate 1.5 million pounds of thrust about 34 million horsepower.

This is designed to lift the rocket above the earth's atmosphere. At an altitude of 48 miles, the real key to Saturn 1's power flashes to action: A second stage with six engines that burn liquid hydrogen and produce 90,000 pounds of thrust.

The second stage will be flown for the first time Monday. Four earlier flights used only the first stage.

Experts believe a good test will give the United States a booster lead over the Soviet Union. Best estimates place the thrust of the big Soviet space rockets at between 1 and 1.2 million pounds. There is no evidence of their progress with liquid hydrogen.

Indicted Brokers Are Freed on Bond

DENVER (UPI)—The president, executive vice president and general counsel of the bankrupt Denver brokerage firm of Lowell, Murphy & Co. Inc. were free on $1,000 bond each today after being indicted by a federal grand jury.

The three were identified as Thomas H. Murphy, 43, Morrison, Colo.; John H. Lowell, 45, and Bruce Kistler, 38, both of Denver.

They were accused of manipulating stock in the Clute Corp., a Colorado grain separator firm they controlled.

The indictment accuses the three of employing a variety of tactics for inflating the price of Clute stock. The firm later went into receivership and stockholder losses totaled several million dollars.

Boats May Be Exempt From Property Tax

DENVER (AP) — The House Finance Committee has voted to recommend that boats continue to be exempt from the property tax.

The vote late Tuesday was 8 to 3. The committee was considering a 117-page bill re-writing property tax laws.

Boats and certain other recreational property now are exempt as personal effects.

Rep. Palmer L. Burch, R-Denver, chairman of the committee, claimed that exemption of "hobby, recreational or sports" equipment erodes the property tax base. Expensive horses and even sports cars might be considered to come under the exemption, the legislator said.

New Recreation Area Forecast At Ruedi Dam

DENVER (AP) — U.S. Forest Service officials said today the construction of Ruedi Dam and Reservoir in western Colorado will create one of the state's outstanding recreational areas.

The dam will be built on the Fryingpan River near Basalt as part of the Fryingpan-Arkansas Water Diversion Project.

The forest service has projected a $2 million program to develop the recreational and scenic area in the region of the dam and reservoir.

An official said for the first time recreational development was written into the law authorizing a water resource project. The big lake formed by the dam is expected to attract thousands of visitors to White River National Forest for camping, fishing, bunting and boating.

The dam will be an earthfill structure 270 feet high and the reservoir will hold 100,000 acre-feet. It is designed to provide water for western Colorado to compensate for water diverted to the Arkansas Valley east of the mountains.

The forest service report on recreation covers all aspects of the "Pan-Ark" project planned for construction west of the Continental Divide within the White River National Forest and in Pitkin and Eagle counties.

The area includes about 182,700 acres comprising all lands around and above the reservoir, extending into the remote Hunter Creek drainage. Only 8,838 acres of this are private lands.

The area already has four forest service campgrounds and is well known to hunters and fishermen.

The reservoir will flood about 4½ miles of the Fryingpan River road. Construction of about 10½ miles of new road to the north of the reservoir will be needed. The agency also has recommended the building of an additional eight miles of road to campgrounds and overlooks.

A forest service report said the Ruedi project "will enhance the Fryingpan Valley."

"Scars will be created by relocation of the main road around the reservoir and by the reservoir drawdown in the fall and winter," it said.

"Road location and construction should be accomplished in such a manner as to prevent or minimize soil erosion. Slopes should be revegetated wherever possible to cover raw scars."

There are approximately 200 species of scallops.

Robert Kennedy Visits Jakarta For Peace Talks

By DON HUTH

Kennedy flew from the Malaysian capital of Kuala Lumpur after telling newsmen "an important announcement can be expected within the next 24 hours." He said Malaysian leaders "are making every effort to find a peaceful solution" to their dispute with the Philippines and Indonesia.

The attorney general hopes to set up a summit conference between the three main disputants — Sukarno, Malaysian Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman and President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines.

The dispute centers on the federation formed last September by Malaya, Singapore and the British Borneo territories of Sabah — British North Borneo — and Sarawak.

Rahman disclosed after his talks with Kennedy that he no longer insisted that Indonesia and the Philippines recognize Malaysia as a condition for a summit meeting. But he stuck to his demand for a truce in the undeclared guerrilla war along the Malaysia-Indonesia border in Borneo.

Kennedy told newsmen that his talks with Sukarno in Tokyo last week had been most helpful and he looked forward to resuming them.

"Out of these efforts and President Sukarno's desire for peace in the area, I am hopeful there will be a conference of the three countries caught up in the Malaysia crisis," Kennedy said.

Jakarta's airport was swarming with security guards when the attorney general and his party arrived in their jet. Western diplomats were struck by the red carpet treatment accorded the attorney general.

A guard of honor and a military band greeted Kennedy and he was welcomed by Foreign Minister Subandrio and Army Minister Achmad Jani. U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones also was on hand.

Streets along Kennedy's route to Sukarno's palace were festooned with banners bearing such belligerent messages as "Crush Malaysia" and "Down With Imperialism." Near the airport someone had scrawled "Go Home Kennedy" on a wall. No American flags could be seen.

Shortly before Kennedy arrived in Jakarta, the Koti — made up of Indonesia's chief political and military officials — announced it fully supports Sukarno's new conciliatory approach to the Malaysia issue.

Sukarno scheduled two conferences with the attorney general before Kennedy's departure for London Thursday. Kennedy will stop briefly in Bangkok, capital of Thailand.

Indicted Brokers Are Freed on Bond

DENVER (UPI)—The president, executive vice president and general counsel of the bankrupt Denver brokerage firm of Lowell, Murphy & Co. Inc. were free on $1,000 bond each today after being indicted by a federal grand jury.

The three were identified as Thomas H. Murphy, 43, Morrison, Colo.; John H. Lowell, 45, and Bruce Kistler, 38, both of Denver.

They were accused of manipulating stock in the Clute Corp., a Colorado grain separator firm they controlled.

The indictment accuses the three of employing a variety of tactics for inflating the price of Clute stock. The firm later went into receivership and stockholder losses totaled several million dollars.

Boats May Be Exempt From Property Tax

DENVER (AP) — The House Finance Committee has voted to recommend that boats continue to be exempt from the property tax.

The vote late Tuesday was 8 to 3. The committee was considering a 117-page bill re-writing property tax laws.

Boats and certain other recreational property now are exempt as personal effects.

Rep. Palmer L. Burch, R-Denver, chairman of the committee, claimed that exemption of "hobby, recreational or sports" equipment erodes the property tax base. Expensive horses and even sports cars might be considered to come under the exemption, the legislator said.

CONSTRUCTION NEEDS STUDIED — Army Air Defense Command construction requirements ranging ahead as far as 1971 are reviewed in Colorado Springs by members of the ARADCOM Facilities Board, holding its annual meeting. New Recreation Area Forecast At Ruedi Dam

DENVER (AP) — U.S. Forest Service officials said today the construction of Ruedi Dam and Reservoir in western Colorado will create one of the state's outstanding recreational areas.

The dam will be built on the Fryingpan River near Basalt as part of the Fryingpan-Arkansas Water Diversion Project.

The forest service has projected a $2 million program to develop the recreational and scenic area in the region of the dam and reservoir.

An official said for the first time recreational development was written into the law authorizing a water resource project. The big lake formed by the dam is expected to attract thousands of visitors to White River National Forest for camping, fishing, hunting and boating.

The dam will be an earthfill structure 270 feet high and the reservoir will hold 100,000 acre-feet. It is designed to provide water for western Colorado to compensate for water diverted to the Arkansas Valley east of the mountains.

The forest service report on recreation covers all aspects of the "Pan-Ark" project planned for construction west of the Continental Divide within the White River National Forest and in Pitkin and Eagle counties.

The area includes about 182,700 acres comprising all lands around and above the reservoir, extending into the remote Hunter Creek drainage. Only 8,838 acres of this are private lands.

The area already has four forest service campgrounds and is well known to hunters and fishermen.

The reservoir will flood about 4½ miles of the Fryingpan River road. Construction of about 10½ miles of new road to the north of the reservoir will be needed. The agency also has recommended the building of an additional eight miles of road to campgrounds and overlooks.

A forest service report said the Ruedi project "will enhance the Fryingpan Valley."

"Scars will be created by relocation of the main road around the reservoir and by the reservoir drawdown in the fall and winter," it said.

"Road location and construction should be accomplished in such a manner as to prevent or minimize soil erosion. Slopes should be revegetated wherever possible to cover raw scars."

There are approximately 200 species of scallops.

Robert Kennedy Visits Jakarta For Peace Talks

By DON HUTH

Kennedy flew from the Malaysian capital of Kuala Lumpur after telling newsmen "an important announcement can be expected within the next 24 hours." He said Malaysian leaders "are making every effort to find a peaceful solution" to their dispute with the Philippines and Indonesia.

The attorney general hopes to set up a summit conference between the three main disputants — Sukarno, Malaysian Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman and President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines.

The dispute centers on the federation formed last September by Malaya, Singapore and the British Borneo territories of Sabah — British North Borneo — and Sarawak.

Rahman disclosed after his talks with Kennedy that he no longer insisted that Indonesia and the Philippines recognize Malaysia as a condition for a summit meeting. But he stuck to his demand for a truce in the undeclared guerrilla war along the Malaysia-Indonesia border in Borneo.

Kennedy told newsmen that his talks with Sukarno in Tokyo last week had been most helpful and he looked forward to resuming them.

"Out of these efforts and President Sukarno's desire for peace in the area, I am hopeful there will be a conference of the three countries caught up in the Malaysia crisis," Kennedy said.

Jakarta's airport was swarming with security guards when the attorney general and his party arrived in their jet. Western diplomats were struck by the red carpet treatment accorded the attorney general.

A guard of honor and a military band greeted Kennedy and he was welcomed by Foreign Minister Subandrio and Army Minister Achmad Jani. U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones also was on hand.

Streets along Kennedy's route to Sukarno's palace were festooned with banners bearing such belligerent messages as "Crush Malaysia" and "Down With Imperialism." Near the airport someone had scrawled "Go Home Kennedy" on a wall. No American flags could be seen.

Shortly before Kennedy arrived in Jakarta, the Koti — made up of Indonesia's chief political and military officials — announced it fully supports Sukarno's new conciliatory approach to the Malaysia issue.

Sukarno scheduled two conferences with the attorney general before Kennedy's departure for London Thursday. Kennedy will stop briefly in Bangkok, capital of Thailand.

CAPITOL STUFF

By JACK METCALFE

WASHINGTON, — Today's official word from Ohio that John Glenn will seek the Democratic Senatorial nomination has set off a series of jolting repercussions in the capital. Some are obvious, others are not.

One of its more apparent effects has been to emphasize the importance of primary elections, too often ignored on a national basis in the hullabaloo over elections of a President and Congress in the fall

Less obviously, it spotlights the impact on Congress of primary fights such as Sen. Stepehn M. Young (D-Ohio) and other challenged incumbents must wage if they are to hold their seats.

Young, in his riposte to the astronaut today, said he is determined to go all-out to stay in the Capitol. So, presumably, are those other Senators and Representatives who in the months ahead face contests with ambitious members of their own parties.

For them, there is no way of avoiding expensive, time-consuming primary campaigns. And they are very likely to be back home wooing voters precisely during the months when Congress finally gets cracking on the legislative backlog.

This crucial period falls in the three months of April, May, and June. This is the time when Congress must earn its pay if it hopes to compile a decent record and still adjourn early enough to campaign for the Nov. 3 general election.

These months also will see primaries in 24 states, exactly half the number of states which select their Congressional candidates by this method.

There won't, of course, be primary contests in all 24. But there will be enough fights to insure that a sizable number of Congressmen will be campaigning away from Washington at any given time in this period.

Campaign strategists of both parties play down this variety of absenteeism, which plainly is unavoidable if challenged Congressmen are to keep their jobs. One commented that the established habit of many House members from the East of going home Thursday evenings and returning Tuesday mornings "makes it a lot harder for us to get anything done than primary campaigning ever does."

HOUSE ABSENTEEISM COULD HELP JOHNSON

Its cumulative effect, however, is sure to be felt. Curiosly enough, one result could favor the Johnson Administration, which might be expected to fare best when every member of both Houses is present and voting.

This potential backhand assist to the President's program is rooted in the fact that most primary contests for House seats can be expected in the conservative South. From there come the staunchest foes of New Frontier legislation. It could do the Administration no harm to have these Congressmen out of town during a showdown on such an issue as medicare, which probably will be before the House sometime during the April-June period if it is considered at all this year.

The Young-Glenn battle promises to be the main event among Senatorial primaries. But other contests are shaping up, notably in Tennessee, Oklahome and possibly Florida and California.

Three Tennessee Democrats, Gov. Frank Clement, Rep. Ross Bass and former Gov. Buford Ellington, are expected to try for the remaining two years of the late Sen. Estes Kefauver's term.

Adding spice to the Tennessee situation is the fact that President Johnson and Ellington are old friends who recently hunted deer together. The LBJ brand is, therefore, sure to loom large in this primary.

JOHNSON'S NAME POTENT IN OKLAHOMA

The Johnson name is even more potent in Oklahoma, where Sen. J. Howard Edmondson, Democrat named to fill the seat of the late Sen. Robert Kerr, probably will be challenged by ex-Gov. Raymond Gary, former Kerr aid Burle Hayes and Fred Harris. Here the winner probably will face onetime football coach Bud Wilkinson, who is believed primed to seek the Senate seat as a Republican.

The LBJ "treatment" also was expected to be used in an attempt to clear the cloudy California situation. There, alling Sen. Clair Engle (D) has been threatened with loss of party support if he does not disclose his medical reports by the end of this month. If he refuses, and maybe even if he complies, three and perhaps four or more other candidates — including Rep. James Roosevelt — will fight for the Democratic Senatorial nomination.

More such Senatorial slugfests are in the cards, including a possible challenge of "moderate" Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.) by former Gov. Ros Barnett. But these examples bear ample testimony to the Democrats' potential for intraparty strife.

26 DEMOCRATIC SENATE SEATS UP FOR GRABS

Of 35 Senate seats to be filled Nov. 3, 26 now are held by Democrats and only nine by Republicans.

As one Democratic aid put it "Our Senators running this year are veterans of the 1958 disaster. They had to be damn good men to survive that year, and they're so strong now that only an extremist would think of challenging them."

GOP House members also are generally surer of their seats than Democrats. But with all 255 Democratic and 177 Republican seats, plus three vacancies, up for grabs this fall, some bruising fights are sure to develop on both sides of the aisle.

One that's in the offing is in Michigan, where the north peninsula districts of Republican Reps. Victor A. Knox and John B. Bennett were combined. Which of the two gets to stay in Congress will almost certainly be decided in the GOP primary.

Work Force Increase Noted for Colorado

DENVER (AP) — Colorado had an estimated 568,500 persons working at nonagricultural jobs in mid-December, or 300 more than in mid-November.

The figures came today from the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

It said strong seasonal advances in trade and government employment more than offset losses in most other industry divisions.

The total last month was 12,500 higher than in mid-December, 1962.

The paper industry produces 700 different types of paper.

What could Dave Baker say? How could he explain to his sweetheart, Sally Nash, that he was only doing his job as a reporter—even if it cost her father, Dewey Nash, his job? But Dr. Ben Casey sets the record straight in an engrossing new story beginning Monday, January 27 in

CAPITOL STUFF

By JACK METCALFE

WASHINGTON, — Today's official word from Ohio that John Glenn will seek the Democratic Senatorial nomination has set off a series of jolting repercussions in the capital. Some are obvious, others are not.

One of its more apparent effects has been to emphasize the importance of primary elections, too often ignored on a national basis in the hullabaloo over elections of a President and Congress in the fall.

Less obviously, it spotlights the impact on Congress of primary fights such as Sen. Stepehn M. Young (D-Ohio) and other challenged incumbents must wage if they are to hold their seats.

Young, in his riposte to the astronaut today, said he is determined to go all-out to stay in the Capitol. So, presumably, are those other Senators and Representatives who in the months ahead face contests with ambitious members of their own parties.

For them, there is no way of avoiding expensive, time-consuming primary campaigns. And they are very likely to be back home wooing voters precisely during the months when Congress finally gets cracking on the legislative backlog.

This crucial period falls in the three months of April, May, and June. This is the time when Congress must earn its pay if it hopes to compile a decent record and still adjourn early enough to campaign for the Nov. 3 general election.

These months also will see primaries in 24 states, exactly half the number of states which select their Congressional candidates by this methcd.

There won't, of course, be primary contests in all 24. But there will be enough fights to insure that a sizable number of Congressmen will be campaigning away from Washington at any given time in this period.

Campaign strategists of both parties play down this variety of absenteeism, which plainly is unavoidable if challenged Congressmen are to keep their jobs. One commented that the established habit of many House members from the East of going home Thursday evenings and returning Tuesday mornings "makes it a lot harder for us to get anything done than primary campaigning ever does."

HOUSE ABSENTEEISM COULD HELP JOHNSON

Its cumulative effect, however, is sure to be felt. Curiosly enough, one result could favor the Johnson Administration, which might be expected to fare best when every member of both Houses is present and voting.

This potential backhand assist to the President's program is rooted in the fact that most primary contests for House seats can be expected in the conservative South. From there come the staunchest foes of New Frontier legislation. It could do the Administration no harm to have these Congressmen out of town during a showdown on such an issue as medicare, which probably will be before the House sometime during the April-June period if it is considered at all this year.

The Young-Glenn battle promises to be the main event among Senatorial primaries. But other contests are shaping up, notably in Tennessee, Oklahome and possibly Florida and California.

Three Tennessee Democrats, Gov. Frank Clement, Rep. Ross Bass and former Gov. Buford Ellington, are expected to try for the remaining two years of the late Sen. Estes Kefauver's term.

Adding spice to the Tennessee situation is the fact that President Johnson and Ellington are old friends who recently hunted deer together. The LBJ brand is, therefore, sure to loom large in this primary.

JOHNSON'S NAME POTENT IN OKLAHOMA

The Johnson name is even more potent in Oklahoma, where Sen. J. Howard Edmondson, Democrat named to fill the seat of the late Sen. Robert Kerr, probably will be challenged by ex-Gov. Raymond Gary, former Kerr aid Burle Hayes and Fred Harris. Here the winner probably will face onetime football coach Bud Wilkinson, who is believed primed to seek the Senate seat as a Republican.

The LBJ "treatment" also was expected to be used in an attempt to clear the cloudy California situation. There, ailing Sen. Clair Engle (D) has been threatened with loss of party support if he does not disclose his medical reports by the end of this month. If he refuses, and maybe even if he complies, three and perhaps four or more other candidates — including Rep. James Roosevelt — will fight for the Democratic Senatorial nomination.

More such Senatorial slugfests are in the cards, including a possible challenge of "moderate" Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.) by former Gov. Ros Barnett. But these examples bear ample testimony to the Democrats' potential for intraparty strife.

26 DEMOCRATIC SENATE SEATS UP FOR GRABS

Of 35 Senate seats to be filled Nov. 3, 26 now are held by Democrats and only nine by Republicans.

As one Democratic aid put it: "Our Senators running this year are veterans of the 1958 disaster. They had to be damn good men to survive that year, and they're so strong now that only an extremist would think of challenging them."

GOP House members also are generally surer of their seats than Democrats. But with all 255 Democratic and 177 Republican seats, plus three vacancies, up for grabs this fall, some bruising fights are sure to develop on both sides of the aisle.

One that's in the offing is in Michigan, where the north peninsula districts of Republican Reps. Victor A. Knox and John B. Bennett were combined. Which of the two gets to stay in Congress will almost certainly be decided in the GOP primary.

Work Force Increase Noted for Colorado

DENVER (AP) — Colorado had an estimated 568,500 persons working at nonagricultural jobs in mid-December, or 300 more than in mid-November.

The figures came today from the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

It said strong seasonal advances in trade and government employment more than offset losses in most other industry divisions.

The total last month was 12,500 higher than in mid-December, 1962.

The paper industry produces 700 different types of paper.

Soviets Declare West Must Scrap Nuclear Force

stage are certain to reject any formal Soviet demand for abandonment of the NATO nuclear force. But there were some indications that if the Soviet Union accepted genuine and far-reaching disarmament measures together with control and inspection procedures demanded by the West, the United States would consider scrapping the multilateral force.

Many Western officials believe the costly multilateral force would be made obsolete by the new security that NATO members would obtain from such an unprecedented disarmament agreement.

Despite the easing in East-West relations, however, there was no immediate prospect of the radical reversal in Soviet policy which would be necessary for such an agreement.

same action if we're going to get rid of this dangerous cancer in the belly of the Western Hemisphere," he said.

Goldwater winds up his three-day campaign stint tonight. He has promised to return for 16 or 17 more days of vote seeking in New Hampshire, site of the nation's first 1964 presidential primary.

"I seek your help in the election on March 10th so that we might give the American people a choice, not an echo," he said Wednesday night.

"If the Republican party wants to nominate an echo I suggest the people would go again to the Democratic party where the real liberal noise is," he told some 750 persons who crowded the high school auditorium at Laconia.

He charged the Democrats are on the road to disarmament and isolation. "The surest way of getting into war that I know of."

Goldwater sought to pull the rug from under New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's repeated challenge to debate Republican principles in the New Hampshire campaign.

Woman Injured As Train Hits Car Wednesday

A train hit a car at Bradley Road and the Colorado and Southern Railroad tracks Wednesday night, resulting in injuries to Dona Stromberg, 37, who was driving the car.

Mrs. Stormberg, of 517 Rose Dr., was taken to a local hospital with head lacerations and a possible broken shoulder, according to a State Patrol report.

The engineer of the train was R.J. Hupp of Denver. Damage to Mrs. Stormberg's 1963 model car was estimated at $2,500.

Smoke Was Only Steam In Car Fire Calls

The Fire Department Wednesday night made two runs to put out supposed car fires, in both instances to find that steam from overheated radiators had been mistaken for smoke.

The first run was one of Company 1 to the 300 block North Cascade Avenue. The second run was one of Company 2 to 222 E. San Miguel St., where the car of W. E. Armstrong of that address was steaming.

A small weed fire at St. Vrain Street and Adelaide Place was put out by Company 1, on an 8:46 p. m. alarm.

Complainant Awarded $3,000 in Damage Suit

A District Court jury awarded [illegible] Marr of 821 Yuma St. [illegible] Wednesday in the $16,111.71 personal damage suit she brought against Earl C. Davis of [illegible] E. Yampa.

Mrs. Marr fell May 1961 when she and her husband were renting property at 911 Yuma St. from Davis. She was injured and charged that the fall was due to the defendant's negligent maintenance and construction of the steps.

that filthy thing out of my mouth."

The mob continued shoving and shouting through the long passageway to the parking lot, where Burton and Miss Taylor got into a limousine and sped away. They made one stop for martinis at a bar, then headed for the presidential suite at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel.

Miss Taylor spent the evening in the four-bedroom suite trying on winter clothes that had been sent by two designers. She and Buton are expected to leave this weekend for Toronto, where he is to begin rehearsals for "Hamlet."

Fisher, two miles away at the Beverly Hills Hotel, had earlier said, "If Elizabeth and Burton want to see me, I'll be available." But his latest outburst made a solution to the marital impasse seem distant. So did the fact that lawyers for both sides were in New York. Fisher has said he is leaving tonight for the winter Olympics in Innsbruck, Austria.

Traffic Division Provides 559 Police Escorts

Traffic division personnel in the Colorado Springs police department provided 559 escorts during 1963, it was reported today by Police Chief Cecil J. McKissick.

The vast majority of these escorts were for funerals. Only 61 of the 559 escorts were for such things as house moves, military and miscellaneous events.

More than 634 man hours were involved in the 559 escorts. Vehicles used in the escorts traveled 3,280 miles, according to statistics compiled by Lt. William J. B. Majors, traffic division commander.

These statistics show that 245 escorts were provided last year for Swan Funeral Home, 91 for Law Mortuary, 55 for Blunt Mortuary, 89 for Nolan Funeral Home, 18 for Hunter Mortuary and 26 for Our Chapel of Memories.

McKissick also reported that 45 safety program presentations were made last year by 52 officers. More than 62 man hours were involved in this work and more than 2,700 persons were contacted.

The chief said 16 television presentations were made by officers of the department during 1963, with each presentation capable of reaching 125,000 homes in the Colorado Springs and southern Colorado TV area.

More than 23,700 school children learned about traffic safety last year between Sept. 9 and Nov. 22 as two police officers, one deputy sheriff and one state patrolman spent 848 man hours in the school safety program.

al opportunity for all qualified Colorado students."

Knous issued the statement a few hours before he became acting governor in the absence of Love, who went to Washington for three days.

Knous said the increases which Love wants amount to 90 per cent increases at Adams State College at Alamosa and Western State College at Gunnison, 82 per cent at Fort Lewis College at Durango, 78 per cent at Southern Colorado State College at Pueblo, 60 per cent at Colorado State University at Fort Collins, 39 per cent at Colorado State College at Greeley, 37 per cent at the University of Colorado at Boulder and 23 per cent at Colorado School of Mines at Golden.

The 15 Democrats in the Colorado Senate co-sponsored a resolution asking the governor to withdraw his suggestion.

The resolution called the tuition raise "only an unfair and unwise method of raising additional hidden taxes."

Burglary Cases Listed With Sheriff's Office

Two cases of burglary were reported to the sheriff's office Wednesday.

The first happened at the home of Mrs. Florence Slocum, 2825 Tremont St., who told Deputy Sheriff Ray Carey that her jewelry box containing approximately $300, a pocket watch and two sets of car keys had disappeared.

She noticed the box gone when she went to put some money in it Wednesday morning.

The church was broken in Tuesday night but nothing appeared to be taken.

Two windows and two screens were damaged, however.

DA Dismisses Charge Of Larceny From Car

The District Attorney's office dismissed a charge of larceny from a motor vehicle against Charley J. Ward this morning as "the two material witnesses essential to sustain a conviction had left the state."

Ward, 24, of Ft. Carson, was alleged to have stolen a camera and light meter worth a total of 75 dollars from a car belonging to Laird Bartels April 10.

Hootenanny Set Feb. 1 by Local Jaycees

A benefit "Hootenanny," featuring local talent, will be staged Feb. 1 at the City Auditorium by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the March of Dimes.

Jack Williams, chairman of the project for the Jaycees, said all of the proceeds from the show will be turned over to the March of Dimes.

He said that tryouts for the gala project will be held Tuesday starting at 7:30 p.m. at the Little Theatre in the City Auditorium.

"Anyone who thinks they can fit in the program is welcome to tryout for the show," Williams said.

He said that the Jaycees expect most of the amateur talent to come from local high schools and colleges where such groups have already formed.

Use of the City Auditorium for both the tryouts and the show is being donated to the March of Dimes, Williams said.

He said there will be no charge for admission to the show but donations will be accepted.

Williams, immediate past president of the Jaycees, said that there is a possibility the benefit program will be televised live by a local station. He said negotiations are now in progress for this phase of the project.

Sgt. J. J. Coster Named Top Shot In Police Force

Sgt. James J. Coster was the top shooter in the Colorado Springs police department during 1963. His shooting average during the year was 99.9 per cent.

The next four top shooters in the department for 1963 were Patrolman J. M. Caldwell, 98.4 per cent; Cpl. W. I. Finstrom, 98.3 per cent; Cpl. J. W. Strobridge, 97.2 per cent; and Patrolman L. L. Huscher, 97.2 per cent.

Police Chief Cecil J. McKissick said 94 officers used the outdoor range five months last year and the indoor range six months.

He said 33 of the officers averaged 90 per cent or better in their firearms training, 34 had 80 per cent or better, 22 shot 70 per cent or better, four got 60 per cent or better and one man averaged 40 per cent for the year.

The department's average for the year was 84.70 per cent, McKissick said, as against 86.84 per cent in 1962.

During last year officers of the department spent 352½ hours in firearms training and expended 35,300 rounds of reloaded .38 caliber special ammunition.

The police pistol team, one of the best in the country, in practicing and attending two police matches, shot 4,200 rounds of ammunition.

During last year, the chief added, there were 24,300 rounds of .38 caliber special ammunition reloaded for use by the department at an approximate cost of 2.15 cents per round, far less expensive than new ammunition.

Coster is the police department's firearms instructor..

Young Girl Injured When Struck by Car

A 9-year old girl suffered a broken nose when she was hit by a car Wednesday afternoon in the 800 block of East Uintah Street, police reported.

Cynthia Louise Annis of 1120 N. Franklin St., was crossing Uintah from south to north when she was struck by the car of Ardies Blake, 51, of 18 Crescent Lane.

The girl was taken to Penrose Hospital for treatment.

"under further consideration."

The other contractors named in the department's letter were Shepley, Fulbinch, Richardson and Abbott, Boston architect and Charles T. Main, Inc., Boston engineers.

The Baker investigation is being conducted by the Senate Rules Committee, which plans to make public today personal financial statements filed by the former secretary to the Senate Democrats in connection with applications for bank loans.

Baker, a protege of Johnson when the President was the Senate Democratic leader, resigned his $19,600-a-year post under fire last Oct. 7. The Senate committee is investigating whether the 35-year-old former page boy from Pickens, S.C., engaged in activities that conflicted with his official duties.

Johnson's name was injected into the investigation by Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance man who said his firm lists Baker as a vice president.

Reynolds said that while he was selling Johnson $200,000 in life insurance he gave him a $542 stereo record player and agreed to buy $1,208 worth of advertising time on the Austin television station owned by the Johnson family.

Reynolds said the gift was Baker's idea and the advertising time was purchased because Walter Jenkins, one of Johnson's top aides, led him to believe "it was expected of me."

Although the Senate committee has made public a sworn statement in which Jenkins said he was informed the record player was a present from Baker, Gross said Jenkins should be put under oath "so that the public may know whether Jenkins' fuzzy explanation is fact or an attempted cover-up."

Tests Are Being Prepared for Slayer of Oswald

Ruby's trial is scheduled for Feb. 17 in Dallas and his lawyers say they will attempt to prove that he was temporarily insane when he shot down Oswald before a nationwide television audience in the city jail Nov. 24. The defense is seeking to have the trial transferred to another city and Judge Brown will begin hearings on that motion Feb. 10.

The judge said there is no legal precedent in Texas for appointing court psychiatrists and that he had no funds with which to pay them. He also said that the reports from the psychiatrists to the court will be subject to examination and argument by attorneys for both sides and that the final decision as to whether Ruby is sane or insane will be made by a jury.

George Robert Thompson III, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Thompson, 162 Grinnell St., has been named as an alternate for appointment to the U. S. Air Force Academy by Sen. Peter Dominick.

Thompson is attending classes at the University of Colorado at present.

Deputy Sheriff McCutten Resigns

Deputy Sheriff Edward W. McCutten of the county jail, has resigned, the sheriff's office reported Wednesday.

He is taking up another position at the State Reformatory as correctional officer.

The deputy submitted his resignation with "deep regret," and in his letter to Sheriff Earl L. Sullivan said, "It has been an honor and privilege to have been associated with such a fine group of peace officers. I will always look upon this association with pride for your office is noted for its high standards of law enforcement."

The Nation's Weather

Snowfall early Thursday thru the Rockies and northwestern Great Plains accumulated to three inches in a few places.

Grants, N. M., and Miles City, Mont., reported an increase of three inches in a six hour period. Rapid City, S. D., picked up two inches.

Light showers were general thru the Pacific Coast states this morning. In the eastern portion of the nation, showers and drizzle were widespread in the Gulf states and northward into the middle Mississippi Valley.

Some light rain was also occurring in the eastern Great Lakes region.

Mild weather over the eastern portion of the country continued to be pushed out by an invasion of cold air over the central portion of the nation.

The leading edge of this change to cooler now extends from northern Michigan thru central Illinois and into southwest Texas.

Readings in the 50s were general thru the Ohio Valley while 60s were widespread along the Gulf coast and south Atlantic Coast.

Temperatures in the 20s were the rule along the north Atlantic coast while 30s extended into the central Atlantic area.

The far west, Pacific coast readings were mostly in the 30s to the north and 40s in the south.

Building Boom Continues for Third Year

Officials in the city's Inspections Department said that thru Tuesday of this week permits issued so far this month total $1,680,526.

This is considerably more than the 1963 January total of $1,381,160, which included one school for $385,241.

No large permits have been issued so far in January of this year. Much of the total consists of new housing starts.

The 1963 building permit total for the city was $23,751,816, slightly under the all-time record high of $24,455,810 established in 1962.

Even tho the overall total was lower in 1963 than in 1962, last year's new construction total of $21,955,495 was slightly higher than in the 1962 record overall year.

Because of another fast start this year, indicaitons are good that 1964 will be another banner building year in Colorado Springs.

Value of all city building permits issued since Jan. 1, 1952, has been $190,871,973, with nearly $50 million of that coming in the last 25 months.

Convicted Killer Captured After Kidnaping Six

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A convicted murderer made a desperate dash for freedom Wednesday — abducting six persons, stealing four cars and robbing a store.

Howard O. Lowery, 25, was captured five hours later, 70 miles away, by a highway patrolman. He was alone — armed with a shotgun and a single shell—but offered no resistance.

"The car just wouldn't go any faster," Lowery said later. "So I decided to just give up."

The story began when Lowery, serving a life term for a 1960 murder, was brought from the State Penitentiary at McAlester to University Hospital to have doctors look at his hand.

When guard S. L. Koontz looked out a doorway, Lowery pulled a knife and said, "Koontz, I don't want to hurt you." Then he reached for the guard's pistol.

Koontz jumped back and Lowery fled down the hall. He came upon Dr. Everett L. Wiggins, 35, a first year resident physician. He put the knife to Wiggins' throat and ordered him to walk with him.

"I walked with him just like we were buddies," Wiggins recalled.

They walked out of the hospital and entered a taxi parked at the curb. Lowery, one hand handcuffed to his belt, ordered the driver, William McCoy, 44, to drive off.

"We started driving and he told me where to turn," McCoy said.

About a mile north of the hospital Lowery ordered McCoy to pull into a parking lot next to a state office building. He forced Wiggins to tie McCoy's hands. Then he bound Wiggins. He took $1 from the doctor and about $100 from the cab driver. He also took the doctor's trousers and shirt.

Mary Jane Wright had just taken an employment examination at the Capitol and was returning to her car. Lowery jumped out of the cab, put his arm around her shoulder, put the knife against her throat and forced her into her car.

They drove off, leaving Wiggins and McCoy bound in the taxi.

"He said if I just did as he said he wouldn't hurt me in anyway," Miss Wright said.

Lowery drove her car to an auto supply store several miles northwest of the Capitol. He forced Miss Wright to accompany him into the store.

They were approached by Burt Rathbun, 24, a clerk. Lowery asked to look at a shotgun.

He picked up a 12-gauge shotgun and loaded it. He pointed it at Rathbun and ordered him to empty the cash register. Lowery took about $100 and asked Rathbun if he had a car. He said he didn't.

Lowery called the store manager, Max Franke, 51, to the front, and forced him, Rathbun and Miss Wright outside. He left Miss Wright there, but forced Rathbun and Franke to accompany him in Franke's car.

The two men said Lowery told them to drive around the area and to stop at the first house they saw with a car parked in front.

Dr. George Kimball, 68, a plastic surgeon, was tending his beehives when the car pulled up to his house. Lowery ordered all three inside the fashionable home.

"They told me he was an escapee and meant business," Dr. Kimball said.

Lowery bound the last three hostages with telephone cord, then ransacked the house. He also drank a root beer and made some telephone calls. Then he fled in Kimball's car, taking one of the surgeon's sports coats.

A woman motorist later reported seeing Kimball's car about 70 miles northwest of here. Her call led to Lowery's capture.

Lowery was sentenced to life in prison for the July 1960 slaying of Dan W. Sims, 30, Worthington, Pa. Sims's body was found beside a road west of here.

The escape came almost three years to the day after another, which also involved a kidnaping. While he was being held on the murder charge at El Reno, Lowery and another prisoner escaped, taking a third inmate as hostage.

They were recaptured within 24 hours.

Two-Car Crash Injures Manitou Woman

Laura Wells, 52, of 2023 Manitou Blvd., was in fair condition this morning with injuries suffered in a two-car accident at Bijou and Spruce Streets Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Wells suffered a fractured pelvis and contusions in the accident.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Guy Wells, 71, of the same address.

Police said the car was southbound on Spruce when it collided with the eastbound car of Roby Calvin Brendle, 49, of 711 Crown Ridge Dr.

$50 an Ounce Gold Subsidy Plan Disclosed

erties to produce gold so badly needed by our nation."

With such an incentive, Mrs. Frost said, the gold mining industry could resume operations and thus aid the overall national economy.

She said that the reopening of the industry would "furnish employment" for those now out of work and go a long way to "rehabilitate the ghost communities which most gold mining camps have now become."

"As you know, we have no competition in the gold mining industry," Mrs. Frost said in the letter, "as we can only sell our gold to the United States government at $35 per ounce. The price has not been raised since 1933. However, the cost of mining has increased tremendously, so we were forced to close our gold mines and our mill in the Cripple Creek District."

She said that Bill S. 2125 now pending before the Senate which would provide an incentive on the percentage of operation costs above the 1933 level "would give greatly needed relief to the shut-down gold mines."

She said that while the bill, if approved, would "make it possible for them (the mines) to resume operations and to produce gold and provide employment," the problems in figuring the percentage of the operating costs would be great.

Instead, Mrs. Frost proposed that "a straight incentive of $50 which would be paid to everyone producing an ounce of gold would be less complicated" than the provisions of the pending bill.

With the letter, Mrs. Frost included local newspaper clippings of the tragedy Sunday at the Joe Dandy Gold Mine near Victor which claimed the life of a Ft. Carson soldier.

She said that if the mines had been operating, the tragedy would not have happened. If the mines continue closed, similar deaths might occur, she said.

500 Expected At Recreation Meeting Here

More than 500 persons are expected to attend the 1964 Midwest District Recreation Conference, April 14 thru April 17 at the Antlers Hotel.

Some of the main items of business to be covered in the three-day conference will include latest trends in the recreation field, keeping open the outdoor spaces, professional standards of recreation, handicap programs and wise use of increased leisure time.

The 500 recreation leaders from the midwest district will come from Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming and Colorado, according to Stuart Richter, director of the City Park and Recreation Department. ome of the advance planning for the conference is now being done.

Coordinating the advance planning is Mrs. Verna Rensvold, Kansas City, Mo., who is district representative for the National Recreation Association.

Serving on the local planning committee, in addition to Richter, are Marge Miller, recreation director for the Air Defense Command; M. O. Rollert, Betty Skinner, Don Kupfer and Tom Brennan, all of the City Park and Recreation Department; and Paul Morris, new director for the Security Park and Recreation District.

Richter said the April conference will be sponsored by the National Recreation Association, the Colorado Recreation Society and the City Park and Recreation Department.

The Colorado Recreation Society will have its annual awards and citations meeting April 13 at the Antlers Hotel, Richter said.

chiefs agreed with the Public Health Service report.

"We all recommended an educational program," he said.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., announced that congressional hearings would be held Jan. 29 and 30 on, "How we may give maximum assurances of health to those who continue smoking."

Cooley, who heads the House Agriculture Committee, said the hearings will be conducted by a tobacco subcommittee headec by Rep. Watkins Abbitt, D-Va.

ADC Airman Earns Medal For Lifesaving

Airman 1. C. Imre Radisay, a radar maintenance technician with the 780th Radar Sq., Fortuna AFS, Mont., and a finalist in the 1963 Life Saver safety program, will be awarded the Airman's Medal Jan. 24 at the Antlers Hotel. Lt. Gen. Herbert B. Thatcher, ADC commander, will make the presentation.

On June 7, 1963, Sergeant Hawkins was investigating a power failure in a console carrying 35,000 volts. The sergeant came into contact with the high voltage.

Airman Radisay upon seeing a flash of light and hearing a snapping sound, turned just in time to see his supervisor begin to fall. Protected only by his wits and experience, Airman Radisay entered the dangerous area, caught Sergeant Hawkins before he hit the floor, and pulled him to safety.

Noticing that there were no visible signs of heartbeat or respiration in the victim, Radisay immediately administered artificial respiration, both by the back-pressure arm lift method and by the mouth-to-mouth system. Thru this first aid, Sergeant Hawkins' breathing and heartbeat returned and he began muscular movements.

Thirty minutes later, with the aid of a medical technician who arrived upon the scene, the Sergeant regained consciousness.

After the presentation, Airman Radisay will join 35 of his fellow finalists and recieve awards for their safety achievements thru the Life Saver program.

County Voters Must Register At County Office

El Paso County residents who expect to vote in this year's elections will have to register at the Election Department in the County Office Building, according to Mrs. Harriet Beals, county clerk and recorder.

Branch registration centers, which were utilized to speed registration in 1962, will not be used this year. Voters may not register before a notary public this year, either, reported Mrs. Virginia Goodsell, chief election clerk for the county.

Thus far, the Election Department has registered 38,150 persons. Mrs. Goodsell said a heavy registration is expected this year. She suggested that those eligible voters who have moved since they last registered are invited to change their addresses at the same time they exchange their license plates.

Any citizen of the United States, over 21 years of age, who has resided in Colorado for one year, in El Paso County for 90 days and in the precinct 15 days may register.

Miss Sarah Whittaker Dies; Rites Saturday

Miss Sarah Ann Whitaker, formerly of 522 N. Cascade Ave., died Wednesday, at 82, at a local hospital. She had been a resident of Colorado Springs since 1913 and was a member of the Congregational Church.

Miss Whitaker was born in Kansas, June 11, 1881. She is survived by several nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Saturday at the Swan Drawing Room. The Rev. Joseph W. Carrioll will officiate. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

stage are certain to reject any formal Soviet demand for abandonment of the NATO nuclear force. But there were some indications that if the Soviet Union accepted genuine and far-reaching disarmament measures together with control and inspection procedures demanded by the West, the United States would consider scrapping the multilateral force.

Many Western officials believe the costly multilateral force would be made obsolete by the new security that NATO members would obtain from such an unprecedented disarmament agreement.

Despite the easing in East-West relations, however, there was no immediate prospect of the radical reversal in Soviet policy which would be necessary for such an agreement.

same action if we're going to get rid of this dangerous cancer in the belly of the Western Hemisphere," he said.

Goldwater winds up his three-day campaign stint tonight. He has promised to return for 16 or 17 more days of vote seeking in New Hampshire, site of the nation's first 1964 presidential primary.

"I seek your help in the election on March 10th so that we might give the American people a choice, not an echo," he said Wednesday night.

"If the Republican party wants to nominate an echo I suggest the people would go again to the Democratic party where the real liberal noise is," he told some 750 persons who crowded the high school auditorium at Laconia.

He charged the Democrats are on the road to disarmament and isolation. "The surest way of getting into war that I know of."

Goldwater sought to pull the rug from under New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's repeated challenge to debate Republican principles in the New Hampshire campaign.

Woman Injured As Train Hits Car Wednesday

A train hit a car at Bradley Road and the Colorado and Southern Railroad tracks Wednesday night, resulting in injuries to Dona Stromberg, 37, who was driving the car.

Mrs. Stormberg, of 517 Rose Dr., was taken to a local hospital with head lacerations and a possible broken shoulder, according to a State Patrol report.

The engineer of the train was R.J. Hupp of Denver. Damage to Mrs. Stormberg's 1963 model car was estimated at $2,500.

Smoke Was Only Steam In Car Fire Calls

The Fire Department Wednesday night made two runs to put out supposed car fires, in both instances to find that steam from overheated radiators had been mistaken for smoke.

The first run was one of Company 1 to the 300 block North Cascade Avenue. The second run was one of Company 2 to 222 E. San Miguel St., where the car of W. E. Armstrong of that address was steaming.

A small weed fire at St. Vrain Street and Adelaide Place was put out by Company 1, on an 8:46 p. m. alarm.

Complainant Awarded $3,000 in Damage Suit

A District Court jury awarded Della Marr of 821 Yuma St. $3,300.81 Wednesday in the $16,111.71 personal damage suit she brought against Earl C. Davis of 2701½ E. Yampa.

Mrs. Marr fell May 1961 when she and her husband were renting property at 911 Yuma St. from Davis. She was injured and charged that the fall was due to the defendant's negligent maintenance and construction of the steps.

The mob continued shoving and shouting through the long passageway to the parking lot, where Burton and Miss Taylor got into a limousine and sped away. They made one stop for martinis at a bar, then headed for the presidential suite at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel.

Miss Taylor spent the evening in the four-bedroom suite trying on winter clothes that had been sent by two designers. She and Buton are expected to leave this weekend for Toronto, where he is to begin rehearsals for "Hamlet."

Fisher, two miles away at the Beverly Hills Hotel, had earlier said, "If Elizabeth and Burton want to see me, I'll be available." But his latest outburst made a solution to the marital impasse seem distant. So did the fact that lawyers for both sides were in New York. Fisher has said he is leaving tonight for the winter Olympics in Innsbruck, Austria.

Traffic Division Provides 559 Police Escorts

Traffic division personnel in the Colorado Springs police department provided 559 escorts during 1963, it was reported today by Police Chief Cecil J. McKissick.

The vast majority of these escorts were for funerals. Only 61 of the 559 escorts were for such things as house moves, military and miscellaneous events.

More than 634 man hours were involved in the 559 escorts. Vehicles used in the escorts traveled 3,280 miles, according to statistics compiled by Lt. William J. B. Majors, traffic division commander.

These statistics show that 245 escorts were provided last year for Swan Funeral Home, 91 for Law Mortuary, 55 for Blunt Mortuary, 89 for Nolan Funeral Home, 18 for Hunter Mortuary and 26 for Our Chapel of Memories.

McKissick also reported that 45 safety program presentations were made last year by 52 officers. More than 62 man hours were involved in this work and more than 2,700 persons were contacted.

The chief said 16 television presentations were made by officers of the department during 1963, with each presentation capable of reaching 125,000 homes in the Colorado Springs and southern Colorado TV area.

More than 28,700 school children learned about traffic safety last year between Sept. 9 and Nov. 22 as two police officers, one deputy sheriff and one state patrolman spent 848 man hours in the school safety program.

Knous issued the statement a few hours before he became acting governor in the absence of Love, who went to Washington for three days.

Knous said the increases which Love wants amount to 90 per cent increases at Adams State College at Alamosa and Western State College at Gunnison, 82 per cent at Fort Lewis College at Durango, 78 per cent at Southern Colorado State College at Pueblo, 60 per cent at Colorado State University at Fort Collins, 39 per cent at Colorado State College at Greeley, 37 per cent at the University of Colorado at Boulder and 23 per cent at Colorado School of Mines at Golden.

The 15 Democrats in the Colorado Senate co-sponsored a resolution asking the governor to withdraw his suggestion.

The resolution called the tuition raise "only an unfair and unwise method of raising additional hidden taxes."

Burglary Cases Listed With Sheriff's Office

Two cases of burglary were reported to the sheriff's office Wednesday.

The first happened at the home of Mrs. Florence Slocum, 2825 Tremont St., who told Deputy Sheriff Ray Carey that her jewelry box containing approximately $300, a pocket watch and two sets of car keys had disappeared.

She noticed the box gone when she went to put some money in it Wednesday morning.

The church was broken in Tuesday night but nothing appeared to be taken.

Two windows and two screens were damaged, however.

DA Dismisses Charge Of Larceny From Car

The District Attorney's office dismissed a charge of larceny from a motor vehicle against Charley J. Ward this morning as "the two material witnesses essential to sustain a conviction had left the state."

Ward, 24, of Ft. Carson, was alleged to have stolen a camera and light meter worth a total of 75 dollars from a car belonging to Laird Bartels April 10.

Hootenanny Set Feb. 1 by Local Jaycees

A benefit "Hootenanny," featuring local talent, will be staged Feb. 1 at the City Auditorium by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the March of Dimes.

Jack Williams, chairman of the project for the Jaycees, said all of the proceeds from the show will be turned over to the March of Dimes.

He said that tryouts for the gala project will be held Tuesday starting at 7:30 p.m. at the Little Theatre in the City Auditorium.

"Anyone who thinks they can fit in the program is welcome to tryout for the show," Williams said.

He said that the Jaycees expect most of the amateur talent to come from local high schools and colleges where such groups have already formed.

Use of the City Auditorium for both the tryouts and the show is being donated to the March of Dimes, Williams said.

He said there will be no charge for admission to the show but donations will be accepted.

Williams, immediate past president of the Jaycees, said that there is a possibility the benefit program will be televised live by a local station. He said negotiations are now in progress for this phase of the project.

Sgt. J. J. Coster Named Top Shot In Police Force

Sgt. James J. Coster was the top shooter in the Colorado Springs police department during 1963. His shooting average during the year was 99.9 per cent.

The next four top shooters in the department for 1963 were Patrolman J. M. Caldwell, 98.4 per cent; Cpl. W. I. Finstrom, 98.3 per cent; Cpl. J. W. Strobridge, 97.2 per cent; and Patrolman L. L. Huscher, 97.2 per cent.

Police Chief Cecil J. McKissick said 94 officers used the outdoor range five months last year and the indoor range six months.

He said 33 of the officers averaged 90 per cent or better in their firearms training, 34 had 80 per cent or better, 22 shot 70 per cent or better, four got 60 per cent or better and one man averaged 40 per cent for the year.

The department's average for the year was 84.70 per cent, McKissick said, as against 86.84 per cent in 1962.

During last year officers of the department spent 352½ hours in firearms training and expended 35,300 rounds of reloaded .38 caliber special ammunition.

The police pistol team, one of the best in the country, in practicing and attending two police matches, shot 4,200 rounds of ammunition.

During last year, the chief added, there were 24,300 rounds of .38 caliber special ammunition reloaded for use by the department at an approximate cost of 2.15 cents per round, far less expensive than new ammunition.

Coster is the police department's firearms instructor..

Young Girl Injured When Struck by Car

A 9-year old girl suffered a broken nose when she was hit by a car Wednesday afternoon in the 800 block of East Uintah Street, police reported.

Cynthia Louise Annis of 1120 N. Franklin St., was crossing Uintah from south to north when she was struck by the car of Ardies Blake, 51, of 16 Crescent Lane.

The girl was taken to Penrose Hospital for treatment.

The other contractors named in the department's letter were Shepley, Fulbinch, Richardson and Abbott, Boston architect and Charles T. Main, Inc., Boston engineers.

The Baker investigation is being conducted by the Senate Rules Committee, which plans to make public today personal financial statements filed by the former secretary to the Senate Democrats in connection with applications for bank loans.

Baker, a protege of Johnson when the President was the Senate Democratic leader, resigned his $19,600-a-year post under fire last Oct. 7. The Senate committee is investigating whether the 35-year-old former page boy from Pickens, S.C., engaged in activities that conflicted with his official duties.

Johnson's name was injected into the investigation by Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance man who said his firm lists Baker as a vice president.

Reynolds said that while he was selling Johnson $200,000 in life insurance he gave him a $542 stereo record player and agreed to buy $1,208 worth of advertising time on the Austin television station owned by the Johnson family.

Reynolds said the gift was Baker's idea and the advertising time was purchased because Walter Jenkins, one of Johnson's top aides, led him to believe "it was expected of me."

Although the Senate committee has made public a sworn statement in which Jenkins said he was informed the record player was a present from Baker, Gross said Jenkins should be put under oath "so that the public may know whether Jenkins' fuzzy explanation is fact or an attempted cover-up."

Ruby's trial is scheduled for Feb. 17 in Dallas and his lawyers say they will attempt to prove that he was temporarily insane when he shot down Oswald before a nationwide television audience in the city jail Nov. 24. The defense is seeking to have the trial transferred to another city and Judge Brown will begin hearings on that motion Feb. 10.

The judge said there is no legal precedent in Texas for appointing court psychiatrists and that he had no funds with which to pay them. He also said that the reports from the psychiatrists to the court will be subject to examination and argument by attorneys for both sides and that the final decision as to whether Ruby is sane or insane will be made by a jury.

George Robert Thompson III, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Thompson, 162 Grinnell St., has been named as an alternate for appointment to the U. S. Air Force Academy by Sen. Peter Dominick.

Thompson is attending classes at the University of Colorado at present.

Deputy Sheriff McCutten Resigns

Deputy Sheriff Edward W. McCutten of the county jail, has resigned, the sheriff's office reported Wednesday.

He is taking up another position at the State Reformatory as correctional officer.

The deputy submitted his resignation with "deep regret," and in his letter to Sheriff Earl L. Sullivan said, "It has been an honor and privilege to have been associated with such a fine group of peace officers. I will always look upon this association with pride for your office is noted for its high standards of law enforcement."

The Nation's Weather

Snowfall early Thursday thru the Rockies and northwestern Great Plains accumulated to three inches in a few places.

Grants, N. M., and Miles City, Mont., reported an increase of three inches in a six hour period. Rapid City, S. D., picked up two inches.

Light showers were general thru the Pacific Coast states this morning. In the eastern portion of the nation, showers and drizzle were widespread in the Gulf states and northward into the middle Mississippi Valley.

Some light rain was also occurring in the eastern Great Lakes region.

Mild weather over the eastern portion of the country continued to be pushed out by an invasion of cold air over the central portion of the nation.

The leading edge of this change to cooler now extends from northern Michigan thru central Illinois and into southwest Texas.

Readings in the 50s were general thru the Ohio Valley while 60s were widespread along the Gulf coast and south Atlantic Coast.

Temperatures in the 20s were the rule along the north Atlantic coast while 30s extended into the central Atlantic area.

The far west, Pacific coast readings were mostly in the 30s to the north and 40s in the south.

Building Boom Continues for Third Year

Officials in the city's Inspections Department said that thru Tuesday of this week permits issued so far this month total $1,680,526.

This is considerably more than the 1963 January total of $1,381,160, which included one school for $385,241.

No large permits have been issued so far in January of this year. Much of the total consists of new housing starts.

The 1963 building permit total for the city was $23,751,816, slightly under the all-time record high of $24,455,810 established in 1962.

Even tho the overall total was lower in 1963 than in 1962, last year's new construction total of $21,955,495 was slightly higher than in the 1962 record overall year.

Because of another fast start this year, indicaitons are good that 1964 will be another banner building year in Colorado Springs.

Value of all city building permits issued since Jan. 1, 1952, has been $190,871,973, with nearly $50 million of that coming in the last 25 months.

Convicted Killer Captured After Kidnaping Six

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A convicted murderer made a desperate dash for freedom Wednesday — abducting six persons, stealing four cars and robbing a store.

Howard O. Lowery, 25, was captured five hours later, 70 miles away, by a highway patrolman. He was alone — armed with a shotgun and a single shell—but offered no resistance.

"The car just wouldn't go any faster," Lowery said later. "So I decided to just give up."

The story began when Lowery, serving a life term for a 1960 murder, was brought from the State Penitentiary at McAlester to University Hospital to have doctors look at his hand.

When guard S. L. Koontz looked out a doorway, Lowery pulled a knife and said, "Koontz, I don't want to hurt you." Then he reached for the guard's pistol.

Koontz jumped back and Lowery fled down the hall. He came upon Dr. Everett L. Wiggins, 35, a first year resident physician. He put the knife to Wiggins' throat and ordered him to walk with him.

"I walked with him just like we were buddies," Wiggins recalled.

They walked out of the hospital and entered a taxi parked at the curb. Lowery, one hand handcuffed to his belt, ordered the driver, William McCoy, 44, to drive off.

"We started driving and he told me where to turn," McCoy said.

About a mile north of the hospital Lowery ordered McCoy to pull into a parking lot next to a state office building. He forced Wiggins to tie McCoy's hands. Then he bound Wiggins. He took $1 from the doctor and about $100 from the cab driver. He also took the doctor's trousers and shirt.

Mary Jane Wright had just taken an employment examination at the Capitol and was returning to her car. Lowery jumped out of the cab, put his arm around her shoulder, put the knife against her throat and forced her into her car.

They drove off, leaving Wiggins and McCoy bound in the taxi.

"He said if I just did as he said he wouldn't hurt me in anyway," Miss Wright said.

Lowery drove her car to an auto supply store several miles northwest of the Capitol. He forced Miss Wright to accompany him into the store.

They were approached by Burt Rathbun, 24, a clerk. Lowery asked to look at a shotgun.

He picked up a 12-gauge shotgun and loaded it. He pointed it at Rathbun and ordered him to empty the cash register. Lowery took about $100 and asked Rathbun if he had a car. He said he didn't.

Lowery called the store manager, Max Franke, 51, to the front, and forced him, Rathbun and Miss Wright outside. He left Miss Wright there, but forced Rathbun and Franke to accompany him in Franke's car.

The two men said Lowery told them to drive around the area and to stop at the first house they saw with a car parked in front.

Dr. George Kimball, 68, a plastic surgeon, was tending his beehives when the car pulled up to his house. Lowery ordered all three inside the fashionable home.

"They told me he was an escapee and meant business," Dr. Kimball said.

Lowery bound the last three hostages with telephone cord, then ransacked the house. He also drank a root beer and made some telephone calls. Then he fled in Kimball's car, taking one of the surgeon's sports coats.

A woman motorist later reported seeing Kimball's car about 70 miles northwest of here. Her call led to Lowery's capture.

Lowery was sentenced to life in prison for the July 1960 slaying of Dan W. Sims, 30, Worthington, Pa. Sims's body was found beside a road west of here.

The escape came almost three years to the day after another, which also involved a kidnapping. While he was being held on the murder charge at El Reno, Lowery and another prisoner escaped, taking a third inmate as hostage.

They were recaptured within 24 hours.

There are an estimated 30,000 management consultants in the nation securing fees totaling about $625 million annually.

Two-Car Crash Injures Manitou Woman

Laura Wells, 52, of 2023 Manitou Blvd., was in fair condition this morning with injuries suffered in a two-car accident at Bijou and Spruce Streets Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Wells suffered a fractured pelvis and contusions in the accident.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Guy Wells, 71, of the same address.

Police said the car was southbound on Spruce when it collided with the eastbound car of Roby Calvin Brendle, 49, of 711 Crown Ridge Dr.

$50 an Ounce Gold Subsidy Plan Disclosed

With such an incentive, Mrs. Frost said, the gold mining industry could resume operations and thus aid the overall national economy.

She said that the reopening of the industry would "furnish employment" for those now out of work and go a long way to "rehabilitate the ghost communities which most gold mining camps have now become."

"As you know, we have no competition in the gold mining industry," Mrs. Frost said in the letter, "as we can only sell our gold to the United States government at $35 per ounce. The price has not been raised since 1933. However, the cost of mining has increased tremendously, so we were forced to close our gold mines and our mill in the Cripple Creek District."

She said that Bill S. 2125 now pending before the Senate which would provide an incentive on the percentage of operation costs above the 1933 level "would give greatly needed relief to the shut-down gold mines."

She said that while the bill, if approved, would "make it possible for them (the mines) to resume operations and to produce gold and provide employment," the problems in figuring the percentage of the operating costs would be great.

Instead, Mrs. Frost proposed that "a straight incentive of $50 which would be paid to everyone producing an ounce of gold would be less complicated" than the provisions of the pending bill.

With the letter, Mrs. Frost included local newspaper clippings of the tragedy Sunday at the Joe Dandy Gold Mine near Victor which claimed the life of a Ft. Carson soldier.

She said that if the mines had been operating, the tragedy would not have happened. If the mines continue closed, similar deaths might occur, she said.

500 Expected At Recreation Meeting Here

More than 500 persons are expected to attend the 1964 Midwest District Recreation Conference, April 14 thru April 17 at the Antlers Hotel.

Some of the main items of business to be covered in the three-day conference will include latest trends in the recreation field, keeping open the outdoor spaces, professional standards of recreation, handicap programs and wise use of increased leisure time.

The 500 recreation leaders from the midwest district will come from Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming and Colorado, according to Stuart Richter, director of the City Park and Recreation Department. ome of the advance planning for the conference is now being done.

Coordinating the advance planning is Mrs. Verna Rensvold, Kansas City, Mo., who is district representative for the National Recreation Association.

Serving on the local planning committee, in addition to Richter, are Marge Miller, recreation director for the Air Defense Command; M. O. Rollert, Betty Skinner, Don Kupfer and Tom Brennan, all of the City Park and Recreation Department; and Paul Morris, new director for the Security Park and Recreation District.

Richter said the April conference will be sponsored by the National Recreation Association, the Colorado Recreation Society and the City Park and Recreation Department.

The Colorado Recreation Society will have its annual awards and citations meeting April 13 at the Antlers Hotel, Richter said.

chiefs agreed with the Public Health Service report.

"We all recommended an educational program," he said.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., announced that congressional hearings would be held Jan. 29 and 30 on, "How we may give maximum assurances of health to those who continue smoking."

Cooley, who heads the House Agriculture Committee, said the hearings will be conducted by a tobacco subcommittee headec by Rep. Watkins Abbitt, D-Va.

ADC Airman Earns Medal For Lifesaving

Airman 1. C. Imre Radisay, a radar maintenance technician with the 780th Radar Sq., Fortuna AFS, Mont., and a finalist in the 1963 Life Saver safety program, will be awarded the Airman's Medal Jan. 24 at the Antlers Hotel. Lt. Gen. Herbert B. Thatcher, ADC commander, will make the presentation.

On June 7, 1963, Sergeant Hawkins was investigating a power failure in a console carrying 35,000 volts. The sergeant came into contact with the high voltage.

Airman Radisay upon seeing a flash of light and hearing a snapping sound, turned just in time to see his supervisor begin to fall. Protected only by his wits and experience, Airman Radisay entered the dangerous area, caught Sergeant Hawkins before he hit the floor, and pulled him to safety.

Noticing that there were no visible signs of heartbeat or respiration in the victim, Radisay immediately administered artificial respiration, both by the back-pressure arm lift method and by the mouth-to-mouth system. Thru this first aid, Sergeant Hawkins' breathing and heartbeat returned and he began muscular movements.

Thirty minutes later, with the aid of a medical technician who arrived upon the scene, the Sergeant regained consciousness.

After the presentation, Airman Radisay will join 35 of his fellow finalists and recieve awards for their safety achievements thru the Life Saver program.

County Voters Must Register At County Office

El Paso County residents who expect to vote in this year's elections will have to register at the Election Department in the County Office Building, according to Mrs. Harriet Beals, county clerk and recorder.

Branch registration centers, which were utilized to speed registration in 1962, will not be used this year. Voters may not register before a notary public this year, either, reported Mrs. Virginia Goodsell, chief election clerk for the county.

Thus far, the Election Department has registered 38,150 persons. Mrs. Goodsell said a heavy registration is expected this year. She suggested that those eligible voters who have moved since they last registered are invited to change their addresses at the same time they exchange their license plates.

Any citizen of the United States, over 21 years of age, who has resided in Colorado for one year, in El Paso County for 90 days and in the precinct 15 days may register.

Miss Sarah Whittaker Dies; Rites Saturday

Miss Sarah Ann Whitaker, formerly of 522 N. Cascade Ave., died Wednesday, at 82, at a local hospital. She had been a resident of Colorado Springs since 1913 and was a member of the Congregational Church.

Miss Whitaker was born in Kansas, June 11, 1881. She is survived by several nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Saturday at the Swan Drawing Room. The Rev. Joseph W. Carrioll will officiate. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Escaped Con to Be Extradited, Governor Says

DENVER (UPI) — Gov. John Love has announced he had signed papers to extradite former Wyoming oilfield worker Richard C. Bortner, 32, to the Alabama chain gang where Bortner says he may be killed.

Love said, however, that if Bortner fails in his court battles against extradition to Alabama, "I will notify the authorities there that I will have a continuing interest in his health and well-being."

Bortner escaped last July from a chain gang at Birmingham, Ala., where he was serving time for a conviction on assault and battery charges in connection with a fight with a truck driver in February, 1962.

He told authorities in Colorado after his capture that sadistic guards on the chain gang encourage escapes so that they may shoot prisoners. He said he would probably be shot if he went back.

Bortner said the fight with the truck driver occurred following a traffic accident while he was driving through Alabama.

Dist. Judge Don Bowman of Denver today continued until Feb. 27 at 8:30 a.m. a hearing on an application by Bortner for a writ of habeas corpus.

If Bowman turns down the application, Bortner could appeal to higher courts.

CONTENTED COW

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Mysia Royal Mercury, a cow at the State Agricultural and Technical Institute here, has made the dairy industry record books.

She produced 17,310 pounds of milk with 667 pounds of butterfat in 305 days, according to the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. The average yearly output, the association points out, is 7,211 pounds of milk containing 270 pounds of butterfat.

CONTENTED COW

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Mysia Royal Mercury, a cow at the State Agricultural and Technical Institute here, has made the dairy industry record books.

She produced 17,310 pounds of milk with 667 pounds of butterfat in 305 days, according to the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. The average yearly output, the association points out, is 7,211 pounds of milk containing 270 pounds of butterfat.

INSULIN RESEARCH

When I did research as a young physician, we never thought an oral treatment for diabetes would be possible. Insulin had to be injected because it was destroyed by the acids in the stomach. It was mixed with everything under the sun for protection against the effects of the stomach juices. But not a unit was absorbed. Insulin was used in our experiments because no other diabetes remedy was available.

The newer antidiabetic pills are unrelated chemically to insulin and are readily absorbed by the gastrointestinal tract. They are effective only in mild to moderate diabetes and are of no value when the condition comes on in childhood or adolescence.

These pills release insulin from the pancreatic gland. They work in diabetics who developed the disease in maturity. In these persons, the gland is holding on to its insulin. In general, tne tablets are recommended for those who need 20 units or less of insulin a day.

Now, we understand, chemists at the University o Pittsburgh are on the verge of success in snythesizing insulin. If the research succeeds, diabetes may be better understood.

Formerly, it was believed glucose in the diet stimulated the pancreas to manufacture insulin and secrete it in the blood stream. This is true, but what happened to the insulin left over between meals? We now know it joins up with certain proteins and becomes inactive. Tests show that when fasting, the normal person has little free insulin in the blood but it is loaded with the inactive bound insulin. Glucose and fat in the diet lead to the immediate separation of the bound insulin so that the blood becomes full of free insulin.

Mild diabetics have as much insulin in the blood as do nondiabetics. But more of it is bound rather than of the free type. When glucose is consumed, the bound insulin does not split up to become a free, usable insulin. There is something about a diabetic that interferes with the release of free insulin. This throws out the old idea that diabetes results from a sluggish pancreas. Apparently it is not all the fault of this organ.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Obstructed Prostate

W. W. writes: After a transurethral resection, is being enlargement of the prostate likely to recur?

Reply

Yes. In this type of operation, the obstructing segments of the gland are sliced away to form a normal opening into the bladder. There is nothing to prevent the tissue from enlarging during the next five years, to again narrow the passageway.

Multiple Moles

N. R. writes: I am much distressed about the rapidity with which moles are developing on my face. What is the cause?

Reply

Moles are developmental defects of the skin and represent clumps of misplaced pigment. Some are noted at birth whereas others appear years later. Consult your physician if they are changing in size or shape or if new lesions are appearing daily.

Lost Spark

E. M. writes: Can nervous exhaustion cause a person to lose all interest in things and lack enthusiasm? I am 45 and feel as though my battery is dead.

Reply

Definitely so. These are the main symptoms of depression.

Smoking Irritates

W. F. writes: What does smoking do to the nasal membranes?

Reply

Slight irritation may occur if you exhale through the nose.

Edison News

By MRS. HARRY GEIST

Edison PTCA will have their February meeting the 4th, with Mrs. Shreaves and her fifth and sixth graders presenting the program.

There will be a miscellaneous shower at the schoolhouse Sunday afternoon, Jan. 26, for Bonnie Geist and Lynn Price.

There are no basketball games this week. Since Hanover has joined the league there are seven teams. Therefore on school has a bye each week. Edison high school defeated both the Peyton teams Friday night. The next game will be at Miami, Jan. 31.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Geist and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Eichman Wednesday night.

Vernie Hitchcock and Pearlie Geist visited Viola Rasner Thursday afternoon.

Archie Saucerman died Wednesday. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Swan's. Mr. Saucerman taught school at Edison during the 40's. All of us who were students of his will remember his happy attitude every day at school, which continued during the past few years of his illness.

Funeral services were held Tuesday for Bill Melbuer. Bill had been in very poor health for some time.

Mrs. Cora Melbuer left Saturday to go to Bartlesville, Okla., to attend her brother's funeral there.

Word was received last week that Robert Sipes, nephew of Juanita Rasner, had been in a truck accident in Ohio, but was recovering all right at his home in Little Rock, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Geist and family visited Charlotte Geist in Colorado Springs Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Lindt and family, of Colorado Springs, visited Mr. and Mrs. Pete Baker and family Sunday evening.

Josephine Sopko returned from the hospital Sunday. Callers in the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gieck and boys, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Devorss, Mary McKay and Mary Sopko.

Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Sharp were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walt Glaue Sunday. Mr. Sharp conducted services at the Kendrick Bible Church Sunday, in the absence of Rev. Cooper.

Rev. Cooper last week was called to California, where his mother was critically ill. Saturday night he reported his mother had a fifty-fifty chance.

Mrs. Arlie Hamilton entertained her family Sunday at a turkey dinner. Present were: Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hamilton and David, Maxine Michael and boys, Mr. and Mrs. Shorty Hamilton, of Colorado Springs; Mr. and Mrs. Park Calu and family, of Colorado Springs; Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson, Colorado Springs, and Maurice, Mike and Bob Kenney and Jim Long.

Edith Glaue was an overnight guest of Susie Campbell Wednesday night. She helped Mr. and Mrs. McCuiston pack their belongings, as they are being sent to a missionary church in Hawaii. The McCuistions conducted services quiet overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. Church before Rev. Cooper came.

Mrs. Arlie Hamilton was an overnight guest of Mr .and Mrs. Park Calu and family Tuesday. She called on Mr. and Mrs. Shorty Hamilton Wednesday morning and visited Josephine Sopko at Memorial Hospital in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Risinger and son and a nephew of Mrs. Risinger's of Pueblo and Beatrice Hisinger of Colorado Springs were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Bellmyer and family Sunday. Dean looked over the gym in the afternoon and reported it would have helped a lot if they had had it when he went to school at Edison.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Schick and the Rev. and Mrs. Owen called on Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown Sunday afternoon.

Margarite Meinzer and Ernestine Brown went to Calhan Friday afternoon.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ◇	1 NT	Pass	2 ◇
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♣

By a logical process of reasoning, West hit upon the only opening lead to defeat declarer's three notrump contract in today's hand.

East opened the bidding with one diamond and South overcalled one notrump. With the vulnerability conditions not in his favor, he felt that there was little to gain by making a trap pass. Since his distribution was concentrated in the minor suits, he preferred a bid of one notrump to a take-out double.

North felt that he had enough—nine high card points and a good five card suit—to place his partner in a game contract. With nine cards in the major suits, he preferred to probe for a suit contract first by cue bidding the opponent's suit — diamonds. This call is forcing to game and invites partner to show any additional features that he might have. South, of course, rebid two notrump. North considered bidding his five card heart suit at this point, but inasmuch as his partner appeared to have the diamonds well under control, he decided to try the shorter route to game by carrying on to three notrump.

West was aware that his selection of an opening lead might prove crucial, so he paused for a close scrutiny of the situation. There did not appear to be much future in his partner's suit, for South was obviously well heeled in that department.

North's diamond cue bid seemed to indicate that his strength was located in the majors, and West was disinclined to lead either a spade or a heart in any case since he had no way to regain the lead even if he had the good fortune to etsablish one of his suits.

West decided that his best chance was to make a play for his partner, and he opened the queen of clubs despite the fact that he had a singleton in that suit. East was so pleased with his partner's selection that he decided to leave nothing to chance. He overtook the queen with his ace and continued with the jack. South was in with the king and he realized that, with only eight top tricks available, he must try to split the heart suit. When this failed to come off, declarer fell one trick short.

Observe that, in the absence of a club opening, South has time to establish a diamond for his ninth trick.

SMALL WORLD

NEW YORK (AP) — Two brothers were reunited after 50 years because a friend of one saw a great resemblance when he met the other.

A retired New York City policeman met Johnny Taylor, 67, recently in London and remarked that he looked just like an old friend, Ernie Taylor, 73, of New York. Johnny, who hasn't seen his brother since he left for the United States in 1913, wrote and discovered that Ernie was, indeed, his long-lost brother. Johnny came to this country for the reunion.

Baptist Missionary Group Holds Annual Banquet

The Women's Missionary Society of the Pikes Peak Association of Southern Baptist Churches held their annual enlistment banquet Monday at Old Colony Cafeteria. Flags of nations where Southern Baptist missionaries are stationed and a red, white, and blue color scheme carried out the theme "For Liberty and Light" celebrating the 150th Jubilee Anniversary.

Presiding and presenting 1963 achievement awards was Mrs. George Ray, associational president. A musical program was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gibson and the Rev. and Mrs. Travis Wiginton. The Rev. Wiginton, missionary to Korea, was speaker. The invocation was given by the Rev. R. H. Cagle and the benediction by the Rev. George Ray.

On the general committee in charge of the banquet were Mrs. Wayne Williams, chairman; Mrs. S. E. Donekowski, Mrs. Edward Truxal, Mrs. Samuel Cochran and women from the various churches.

Colored Women Clubs to Hold State Meeting

The midwinter bi-annual executive board meeting of state Association of Colored Women's Clubs of Colorado will convene at 10 a.m. Sunday at the Palmer House.

All officers are urged to be on time and any other members wishing to attend are invited. Plans for the state association will be completed for the annual June meeting.

There are also may plans to be worked out for the national association to be host for the state the last week in July, into August.

All clubs can make history this year with a special effort, an official of the club said. Mrs. Ira Slack is the president. Mrs. Mayola B. Marsh is the executive board chairman. For further information, call 633-6920.

Medics Site Woes of Snow

CHICAGO (UPI) — Middle-aged men, especially those who are overweight and lead sedentary lives, should take it easy when shoveling snow, the American Medical Association says.

The most common serious health hazard resulting from overexertion when snow shoveling is a heart attack. If you are prone to heart trouble the extra exertion can hasten an attack but a sound heart can take the exertion, the AMA said.

"It's hard for the American male to accept, but the chances are that the lady of the house is in better physical condition than her office worker husband," the AMA said.

Many Groups Represented At Heart Sunday Kickoff

Heart Sunday" is a term that is becoming more and more familiar to the Colorado Springs area, as the door-to-door convass progresses in its formation. Not only does the city of Colorado Springs donate its workers to this fine cause, but the Broadmoor area, Manitou, Security, Fountain, Black Forest, and the Ute Pass communities are all vitally interested in the success of the 1964 Drive.

Mrs. Murray Wiener, Heart Sunday Chariman, was hostess at a coffee on Tuesday morning at the Antlers Hotel, and representatives from these surrounding areas joined the large number of Colorado Springs Heart Sunday planners to give the drive its official "kick-off". Included at the coffee were representatives from the Palmer High School "C" Club, Pep Club, and Health Education classes; the Wasson High School Pep Club; Cheyenne Mountain High School Girls' Athletic Association; St. Mary's High School Sodality; Harrison High School Senior Class; Manitou High School; the GI Forum; the Trinity Methodist Youth Group; the Mount Calvary Lutheran Church Youth group; the Catholic Young Adult Group from Divine Redeemer; and Post 309 Explorer Scouts. All of these organizations will actively work throughout the Heart Sunday Drive.

Members from the Pikes Peak Four-Wheel Drive Club also attended the coffee. This is an organization of owners of four-wheel drive vehicles who will donate their time on Feb. 23 to gather the Heart envelopes from the many areas.

Edward W. Opfer, County Heart Chairman, George C. Astarita, Heart Fund Chairman, and Ernie Bloedorn, Assistant Director, Colorado Heart Association, from Denver, joined the area women workers for coffee. The morning proved to be a stimulating start for the Heart Sunday Parade of Dollars campaign.

Mrs. Moberly Hostess To Zonta Club Tonight

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ◇	1 NT	Pass	2 ◇
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♣

By a logical process of reasoning, West hit upon the only opening lead to defeat declarer's three notrump contract in today's hand.

East opened the bidding with one diamond and South overcalled one notrump. With the vulnerability conditions not in his favor, he felt that there was little to gain by making a trap pass. Since his distribution was concentrated in the minor suits, he preferred a bid of one notrump to a take-out double.

North felt that he had enough—nine high card points and a good five card suit—to place his partner in a game contract. With nine cards in the major suits, he preferred to probe for a suit contract first by cue bidding the opponent's suit — diamonds. This call is forcing to game and invites partner to show any additional features that he might have. South, of course, rebid two notrump. North considered bidding his five card heart suit at this point, but inasmuch as his partner appeared to have the diamonds well under control, he decided to try the shorter route to game by carrying on to three notrump.

West was aware that his selection of an opening lead might prove crucial, so he paused for a close scrutiny of the situation. There did not appear to be much future in his partner's suit, for South was obviously well heeled in that department.

North's diamond cue bid seemed to indicate that his strength was located in the majors, and West was disinclined to lead either a spade or a heart in any case since he had no way to regain the lead even if he had the good fortune to etsablish one of his suits.

West decided that his best chance was to make a play for his partner, and he opened the queen of clubs despite the fact that he had a singleton in that suit. East was so pleased with his partner's selection that he decided to leave nothing to chance. He overtook the queen with his ace and continued with the jack. South was in with the king and he realized that, with only eight top tricks available, he must try to split the heart suit. When this failed to come off, declarer fell one trick short.

Observe that, in the absence of a club opening, South has time to establish a diamond for his ninth trick.

The club welcomed Dr. D. J. Tucel as a new player.

SMALL WORLD

NEW YORK (AP) — Two brothers were reunited after 50 years because a friend of one saw a great resemblance when he met the other.

A retired New York City policeman met Johnny Taylor, 67, recently in London and remarked that he looked just like an old friend, Ernie Taylor, 73, of New York. Johnny, who hasn't seen his brother since he left for the United States in 1913, wrote and discovered that Ernie was, indeed, his long-lost brother. Johnny came to this country for the reunion.

Baptist Missionary Group Holds Annual Banquet

The Women's Missionary Society of the Pikes Peak Association of Southern Baptist Churches held their annual enlistment banquet Monday at Old Colony Cafeteria. Flags of nations where Southern Baptist missionaries are stationed and a red, white, and blue color scheme carried out the theme "For Liberty and Light" celebrating the 150th Jubilee Anniversary.

Presiding and presenting 1963 achievement awards was Mrs. George Ray, associational president. A musical program was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gibson and the Rev. and Mrs. Travis Wiginton. The Rev. Wiginton, missionary to Korea, was speaker. The invocation was given by the Rev. R. H. Cagle and the benediction by the Rev. George Ray.

On the general committee in charge of the banquet were Mrs. Wayne Williams, chairman; Mrs. S. E. Donekowski, Mrs. Edward Truxal, Mrs. Samuel Cochran and women from the various churches.

Colored Women Clubs to Hold State Meeting

The midwinter bi-annual executive board meeting of state Association of Colored Women's Clubs of Colorado will convene at 10 a.m. Sunday at the Palmer House.

All officers are urged to be on time and any other members wishing to attend are invited. Plans for the state association will be completed for the annual June meeting.

There are also may plans to be worked out for the national association to be host for the state the last week in July, into August.

All clubs can make history this year with a special effort, an official of the club said. Mrs. Ira Slack is the president. Mrs. Mayola B. Marsh is the executive board chairman. For further information, call 633-6920.

Hobby Show Will Be Held at East Methodist

There will be a free hobby show at the East Methodist Church, corner of N. Logan and Monument St. Friday and Saturday, with a fashion show as a special feature at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The show Friday will be held from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 until 4 p.m.

Entries for tube painting must be in today.

Teenagers from the Roswell Community Church will serve sandwiches, pie, coffee and soft drinks. There will be free instruction in liquid embroidery, tube painting on cloth, pellon, wood, metal, plastic and glass; also the use of sparkle-on, and questions on these projects will be answered.

Medics Site Woes of Snow

CHICAGO (UPI) — Middle-aged men, especially those who are overweight and lead sedentary lives, should take it easy when shoveling snow, the American Medical Association says.

The most common serious health hazard resulting from overexertion when snow shoveling is a heart attack. If you are prone to heart trouble the extra exertion can hasten an attack but a sound heart can take the exertion, the AMA said.

"It's hard for the American male to accept, but the chances are that the lady of the house is in better physical condition than her office worker husband," the AMA said.

Many Groups Represented At Heart Sunday Kickoff

Heart Sunday" is a term that is becoming more and more familiar to the Colorado Springs area, as the door-to-door convass progresses in its formation. Not only does the city of Colorado Springs donate its workers to this fine cause, but the Broadmoor area, Manitou, Security, Fountain, Black Forest, and the Ute Pass communities are all vitally interested in the success of the 1964 Drive.

Mrs. Murray Wiener, Heart Sunday Chariman, was hostess at a coffee on Tuesday morning at the Antlers Hotel, and representatives from these surrounding areas joined the large number of Colorado Springs Heart Sunday planners to give the drive its official "kick-off". Included at the coffee were representatives from the Palmer High School "C" Club, Pep Club, and Health Education classes; the Wasson High School Pep Club; Cheyenne Mountain High School Girls' Athletic Association; St. Mary's High School Sodality; Harrison High School Senior Class; Manitou High School; the GI Forum; the Trinity Methodist Youth Group; the Mount Calvary Lutheran Church Youth group; the Catholic Young Adult Group from Divine Redeemer; and Post 309 Explorer Scouts. All of these organizations will actively work throughout the Heart Sunday Drive.

Members from the Pikes Peak Four-Wheel Drive Club also attended the coffee. This is an organization of owners of four-wheel drive vehicles who will donate their time on Feb. 23 to gather the Heart envelopes from the many areas.

Edward W. Opfer, County Heart Chairman, George C. Astarita, Heart Fund Chairman, and Ernie Bloedorn, Assistant Director, Colorado Heart Association, from Denver, joined the area women workers for coffee. The morning proved to be a stimulating start for the Heart Sunday Parade of Dollars campaign.

Mrs. Moberly Hostess To Zonta Club Tonight

DEAR ABBY: We need your help in settling an argument. What is the proper way to get a waiters attention? Is it all right to strike your glass with a knife? How about snapping your finger? Also, is it bad manners to whistle a short and not too loud whistle? —DON and DORA

DEAR D. and D.: Striking one's glass would startle and annoy everyone in the restaurant, including the waiter. Snapping the fingers is for the dogs, and whistling is for the birds. Simply say, "Waiter, please."

DEAR ABBY: How does a 21-year-old girl tell her own father she doesnt' want him at her wedding? I want my mother there (she is a saint), but my father makes a fool of himself every time he gets near liquor and I know what would happen if he were at my wedding. I want a church wedding with all my friends and relatives, and my oldest brother could walk me down the aisle. I know I sound selfish, Abby, but I also know that I willl not be deprived of the kind of wedding I want because of my father. And I can't take the chance of having him get roaring drunk and ruining everything. What would you do? —IMPASSE

DEAR IMPASSE: I would tell my father candidly of my doubts and fears, and then, if he promised to stay sober on that day, I would let him walk me down the aisle. If we let people know we expect the best—they rarely disappoint us. Big brother can be waiting in the wings if Dad lets you down. But I'd bet on Dad this time.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15, an honor student, sing in the church choir and am considered pretty. My parents are the best in the world, with one exception. They never had heart-to-heart talk with me. Abby, I know this is hard to believe, but everything I learned about sex I had to learn on my own. Because there was no mention of this subject at home, I was too ashamed to bring it up although there were so many things I wanted to know. The invisible wall grew thicker between my parents and me and I became a very curious, foolish and susceptible girl. From what I have said, you can guess that I would make very easy prey—and I did. I don't know if I am pregnant or not. I just pray to God I'm not. I know of no human being other than you to confide in. Abby, I love my parents and I am not blaming them for what I did. I brought it all on myself and deserve whatever happens. I am only writing this as a plea to parents, especially mothers to get to know their teen-agers before it is too late. God bless you, Abby, for printing this, if you do. —TEEN-AGER ALONE

The Mature Parent

Once More With Meaning

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: Our 13-year-old's Saturday morning job is taking our heavy laundry to the automatic laundry four blocks away. He has a shopping cart to carry it in so that it doesn't take too much out of him. But lately it is like pulling teeth to get him to take it. Do you advise us to pay him to do it? I think that this would look like bribing him . . .

ANSWER: You know what people do at an automatic laundry. They hang around until the machine has completed its work. For an enterprising lad of 13, it is a pretty unrewarding effort. If your son is the only family member available to serve this public cleaning machine, I'd pay him for serving it as compensation for the dullness of the chore. If he is not, I would find him a more meaningful task.

Dr. Erik H. Erikson is a noted psychiatrist and sociologist. In his book "Children and Society," he writes of children and meaningful work: "They gain strength from real accomplishment. They cannot be fooled by empty praise and condescending encouragement."

If we are going to bribe a child to do meaningless chores, it is more honest to bribe him with concrete money than with empty and condescending praise.

Hanging around while a machine washes your family's towels does not confer a sense of accomplishment. Grown-ups can stand it because we possess other certainties of our usefullness to our family. But children who do not possess our certainties may not be able to stand it, particularly enterprising ones. They resent such chores, not because they are lazy but because their self-respect demands better use of their energies.

It is time, I think, for parents to recognize that children's self-respect suffers from our machine-dominated society just as much as that of the unemployed fathers in Kentucky's worn-out mining regions.

Because automation has taken us over so gradually, we do not see how it has destroyed the meaningfulness of children's family chores. We forget that hanging around a laundry is a different kind of family contribution than was made by the 13-year-old who helped father chop wood against the winter cold. Protest against it is the protest of human self-respect.

Today's Home

By MARGARET McELHENY
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI) — It no longer is necessary to punch the upholstery or turn the chair upside down when shopping for upholstered furniture, says one manufacturer.

Examining the underside of a chair was once a good way to determine the quality of springs, said Morris Futorian, president of Futorian Manufacturing Co. But with so many manufacturers using foam, he said, if you want to tell how soft the cushions are, don't punch the chair or sofa. Sit on it.

"That's also the only way to tell whether its size and shape are in the same category as your needs," he said.

The shopper also should decide what style fits her decor, where and how it will be used, and how many members of the family will use it.

"If a piece is going to take a lot of use, especially by children, you'll want a sturdier style and a long-wearing soil-resistant fabric," he said.

Futorian listed some specific shopping tips:

—Select a good furniture or department store where a dealer has a reputation of standing behind his product.

—Ask the dealer if there is a warranty on the construction, how long it lasts and who backs it.

—Frame construction shouid be kiln-dried hardwood to prevent warping and should be double-doweled and corner blocked to prevent it from wobbling.

—If you see nails, other than ones added for decoration, look for another chair or sofa. When construction is good nails don't show.

—Study the welting — the ridges around the edges of cushions. If it's crooked, or if there isn't any on the outside back, it's a sign of a poorly made chair. Welting also makes the seams stronger.

—The whole back should be finished because in today's smaller modern homes and apartments, sofas often are used as room dividers and chairs are grouped in the middle of the room.

SLIPPERY GELATIN

When removing gelatin from a mold, moisten the plate and top of mold with wet fingers. The moist surfaces make it possible to slide the gelatin to the center of the plate after taking it out of the mold.

Some canned beets left over? You can make a small amount of relish from them that will taste good with beef. Chop the beets fine and mix with a little drained bottled horseradish, lemon juice and sugar. Serve in an attractive small container or in a small lettuce cup.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Here is a suggestion for mothers who want to help their children with reading words and spelling lists.

If the child is young enough to love balloons you can encourage her to learn the words by inflating a balloon, twisting the end of it and tying it in a knot. Write the words the child is trying to learn to read, or spell, on the surface of the inflated balloon with a felt ink marker. When the child learns to read and spell the word, she may keep the balloon!

More than one word may be put on each balloon. Use a few easy words that she already knows, and add a more difficult one every few days.

I use this method in my school classes and the children love it. One will be surprised how fast children learn to spell correctly.

This method also works with arithmetic and time tables. —Betty Bradley

Dear Heloise:

When I make popcorn balls, I use a small lolly-pop on which to form the balls! The children and the grownups have a handle to hold while eating the popcorn ball, and a candy treat when the popcorn is gone! —Reba Bonneau

Dear Heloise:

If you will keep a thimble in your coffee canister (I keep mine inside the measurer) it may be placed "over" the stem in the perculator before putting the coffee in the pot . . . thus eliminating the stem getting grounds down inside it.

Sure makes for better coffee. —Mildred Arendt

Dear Heloise:

I removed the veil from last year's hat (it looked like it had seen better days), and laid it between two pieces of waxed paper, then pressed it with a warm iron.

The wax from the paper not only gave the veil new life, but seemed to put a thin coating on it which has kept it from wilting again. —Mrs. Howard Philleo

Dear Heloise:

Moisture on a window pane is caused by condensation of moisture within the house coming in contact with the cold glass. Glass is notorious for heat transfer.

To correct this nuisance I have three solutions:

If you live in your own home, put on storm windows.

If the house is not your permanent home, cover the windows with clear plastic that can be bought for this purpose. (Naturally, this is good for only one season and is more-or-less temporary.)

Set an electric fan so that it blows across the window. The circulation of air will dissipate the moisture as fast as it collects, or will even prevent it from collecting in most cases.

Storm sashes are still the only real answer. —Respectfully

Dear Heloise:

After a continuous mix-up in single- and double sheets, I found a way to identify one or the other at a glance:

I got out my sewing machine, put on the zig-zag design attachment, and used colored thread to make a beautiful border design along the hems in the "top" and "bottom" of each single sheet. When folding the sheets I now fold the stitched edges out . . . indicating a single sheet.

If one wanted to, they could do all their sheets this way using different colored borders to match the decor in each room.

Dear Heloise:

Try cutting bacon slices into half. Lay them out on an ungreased pan and slip it into the oven along with your biscuits. When the biscuits are done so is your bacon. It is crisp and not curled. But most of all, it saves time in the mornings. —Ruth H.

The Mature Parent

Once More With Meaning

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: Our 13-year-old's Saturday morning job is taking our heavy laundry to the automatic laundry four blocks away. He has a shopping cart to carry it in so that it doesn't take too much out of him. But lately it is like pulling teeth to get him to take it. Do you advise us to pay him to do it? I think that this would look like bribing him . . .

ANSWER: You know what people do at an automatic laundry. They hang around until the machine has completed its work. For an enterprising lad of 13, it is a pretty unrewarding effort. If your son is the only family member available to serve this public cleaning machine, I'd pay him for serving it as compensation for the dullness of the chore. If he is not, I would find him a more meaningful task.

Dr. Erik H. Erikson is a noted psychiatrist and sociologist. In his book "Children and Society," he writes of children and meaningful work: "They gain strength from real accomplishment. They cannot be fooled by empty praise and condescending encouragement."

If we are going to bribe a child to do meaningless chores, it is more honest to bribe him with concrete money than with empty and condescending praise.

Hanging around while a machine washes your family's towels does not confer a sense of accomplishment. Grown - ups can stand it because we possess other certainties of our usefullness to our family. But children who do not possess our certainties may not be able to stand it, particularly enterprising ones. They resent such chores, not because they are lazy but because their self-respect demands better use of their energies.

It is time, I think, for parents to recognize that children's self-respect suffers from our machine-dominated society just as much as that of the unemployed fathers in Kentucky's worn-out mining regions.

Because automation has taken us over so gradually, we do not see how it has destroyed the meaningfulness of children's family chores. We forget that hanging around a laundry is a different kind of family contribution than was made by the 13-year-old who helped father chop wood against the winter cold. Protest against it is the protest of human self-respect.

CHICAGO (UPI) — It no longer is necessary to punch the upholstery or turn the chair upside down when shopping for upholstered furniture, says one manufacturer.

Examining the underside of a chair was once a good way to determine the quality of springs, said Morris Futorian, president of Futorian Manufacturing Co. But with so many manufacturers using foam, he said, if you want to tell how soft the cushions are, don't punch the chair or sofa. Sit on it.

"That's also the only way to tell whether its size and shape are in the same category as your needs," he said.

The shopper also should decide what style fits her decor, where and how it will be used, and how many members of the family will use it.

"If a piece is going to take a lot of use, especially by children, you'll want a sturdier style and a long-wearing soil-resistant fabric," he said.

Futorian listed some specific shopping tips:

—Select a good furniture or department store where a dealer has a reputation of standing behind his product.

—Ask the dealer if there is a warranty on the construction, how long it lasts and who backs it.

—Frame construction shouid be kiln-dried hardwood to prevent warping and should be double - doweled and corner blocked to prevent it from wobbling.

—If you see nails, other than ones added for decoration, look for another chair or sofa. When construction is good nails don't show.

—Study the welting — the ridges around the edges of cushions. If it's crooked, or if there isn't any on the outside back, it's a sign of a poorly made chair. Welting also makes the seams stronger.

—The whole back should be finished because in today's smaller modern homes and apartments, sofas often are used as room dividers and chairs are grouped in the middle of the room.

SLIPPERY GELATIN

When removing gelatin from a mold, moisten the plate and top of mold with wet fingers. The moist surfaces make it possible to slide the gelatin to the center of the plate after taking it out of the mold.

Some canned beets left over? You can make a small amount of relish from them that will taste good with beef. Chop the beets fine and mix with a little drained bottled horseradish, lemon juice and sugar. Serve in an attractive small container or in a small lettuce cup.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Here is a suggestion for mothers who want to help their children with reading words and spelling lists.

If the child is young enough to love balloons you can encourage her to learn the words by inflating a balloon, twisting the end of it and tying it in a knot. Write the words the child is trying to learn to read, or spell, on the surface of the inflated balloon with a felt ink marker. When the child learns to read and spell the word, she may keep the balloon!

More than one word may be put on each balloon. Use a few easy words that she already knows, and add a more difficult one every few days.

I use this method in my school classes and the children love it. One will be surprised how fast children learn to spell correctly.

This method also works with arithmetic and time tables — Betty Bradley

When I make popcorn balls, I use a small lolly-pop on which to form the balls! The children and the grownups have a handle to hold while eating the popcorn ball, and a candy treat when the popcorn is gone! — Reba Bonneau

Dear Heloise

If you will keep a thimble in your coffee canister (I keep mine inside the measurer) it may be placed "over" the stem in the perculator before putting the coffee in the pot . . . thus eliminating the stem getting grounds down inside it.

Dear Heloise:

I removed the veil from last year's hat (it looked like it had seen better days), and laid it between two pieces of waxed paper, then pressed it with a warm iron

The wax from the paper not only gave the veil new life, but seemed to put a thin coating on it which has kept it from wilting again. —Mrs. Howard Philleo

Dear Heloise

Moisture on a window pane is caused by condensation of moisture within the house coming in contact with the cold glass. Glass is notorious for heat transfer.

To correct this nuisance I have three solutions:

If you live in your own home, put on storm windows.

If the house is not your permanent home, cover the windows with clear plastic that can be bought for this purpose. (Naturally, this is good for only one season and is more-or-less temporary.)

Set an electric fan so that it blows across the window. The circulation of air will dissipate the moisture as fast as it collects, or will even prevent it from collecting in most cases.

Storm sashes are still the only real answer —Respectfully

Dear Heloise:

After a continuous mix-up in single- and double sheets, I found a way to identify one or the other at a glance:

I got out my sewing machine, put on the zig-zag design attachment, and used colored thread to make a beautiful border design along the hems in the "top" and "bottom" of each single sheet. When folding the sheets I now fold the stitched edges out . . . indicating a single sheet.

If one wanted to, they could do all their sheets this way using different colored borders to match the decor in each room.

Dear Heloise:

Italian Crowd Applauds New Florence Fashion

By LOUISE HICKMAN

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Lancetti's new spring and summer collection steered a fine line between ease and fit Wednesday night. The crowd in the Pitti Palace approved with a storm of applause.

Shoulders were rounded, bosoms accentuated and waists marked. The Lancetti look, probably is the most immediately wearable silhouette to come out of Italy this year.

Small, brief jackets were set on battle-jacket waistbands or had inset belts. Skirts were just barely flared.

Soft, skimming coats had slightly raised waists marked by inset belts. Collars were tiny and top buttons were placed an inch low so that necklines jutted open the tiniest bit.

Pastel colors were used for the reversible wools—pink flipping to blue or violet, white to banana or beige or pink.

Lancetti broke his pastel theme for a black and white cocktail interlude. Cap sleeves came on strong. They looked new after seasons of sleevelessness.

Slim, cap-sleeved black silk dresses were rimmed or belted with white. A cap-sleeved black coatdress with rolled wing collar never met down the front. A line of little bows fastened it over a white panel.

First of the long gowns was a white shantung suitdress with tiny belted jacket, box-pleated from a yoke, norfolk-style. The cap-sleeved bodice was embroidered all over in pale pink and green crystal droplets.

Marucelli started off with inset belts, too. They were wide and buttoned, holding fitted open coats together. More fitted coats, minimally flared, had closely spaced loop and ball button center closings.

Linen sheaths and coats were vividly printed, standing out and away from the watercolor trend.

White seed-beading was used for fringed or all-over embroidered sheaths. Marucelli's sheaths were skin tight, with four darts and two side seams. There wasn't a smidge of softness.

Coat for Beginner to Make

Whatever else is in your future, this Spring if you want to be "in," you'll want a coat in your wardrobe. Ordinarily, even the most professional home dressmakers skip over the coat patterns, but with this one even a beginner can produce a style-setting, finished product. Why? Well from the style point of view, it's by Charles LeMaire who has designed for most of the dramatically dressed leading ladies in our most popular movies. But possibly even more important from the sewing angle, Charles has worked out a design that has only two basic pieces handled with such ingenuity that the results looks as if it cost $350 at least.

As stripes are being touted as the "news" coming up, he suggests that you select a fabric to show off the manner in which he has banded the sleeves, the front panels and collar in opposite directions from the body itself. However, if you lean towards a more conservative version, any solid color in a ribbed material will stand you very well indeed. For example, dressy navy or black bengaline or ottoman; a wide-wale pique or corded cotton for warmer climates; or to make up this minute and get limitless wear out of it — luxurious, velvety corduroy! To select your correct size, use Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear size chart.

Size 10: bust, 34; length, 46.
Size 12: bust, 35; length, 46½.
Size 14: bust, 36½; length, 47.
Size 16: bust, 38; length, 47½.
Size 18: bust, 40; length, 48 length of coat, 1½ inch hem incl.

Size 12 requires 2½ yds. of 54 inch fabric for coat and 2¾ yards of 42 inch fabric for lining. To order Pattern No. T-7, state size, send $1. Add 25 cents for first class mail and special handling. Plastic envelope sent free with each pattern order. What's 'Quick Energy?'

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A — In his highly regarded book, "Foods Without Fads," Dr. E. W. McHenry answers as follows: "The expression, 'quick energy,' is used frequently in advertisements for certain syrups and breakfast cereals. The meaning is doubtful, but the impression is given that the use of these foods will give people a lift in a few minutes. Solutions of sugar are quickly digested and absorbed, but whether that will produce suddenly a feeling of elation and a capacity for doing work or exercise is not clear. The expression is a kind of half-truth intended to give a false impression of the value of a specific product."

Q — Doesn't cooking meat cause a substantial loss of protein?

A — No. Although meats shrink in weight and volume as they cook, much of the total loss is water, which evaporates and goes into the drippings. Some fat also is in the drippings. But the protein value of meat is not destroyed by cooking, and only small amounts of it go into the drippings.

Even when meats and poultry are stewed in large amounts of water, not more than 10 per cent of the protein passes from meat to broth, according to the U.S. Agricultural Research Service.

Asia has the largest share of the world's people — 1.8 billion, or 56 per cent, according to the Population Reference Bureau.

Give Ham Loaf Zip With Pickles

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Did you ever use sweet pickle relish and sweet gherkins in a ham loaf? Try it. Gives the loaf surprisingly good extra flavor. Actually turns it into a party dish.

Pickle Ham Ring
(Makes 8 servings)

2 cups soft bread crumbs
1½ cups milk
2 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
Dash seasoned pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire
1½ pounds ground cooked ham (about 4 cups)
½ cup undrained sweet pickle relish
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
8 small sweet gherkins
4 canned pineapple slices, halved

Blend together bread crumbs, milk, eggs, salt, pepper and Worcestershire in bowl. Add ham and pickle relish; mix thoroughly. Sprinkle sugar in bottom of greased 6½-cup ring mold. Arrange gherkins on bottom and pineapple slices around side of mold; turn in ham mixture, packing lightly. Bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven 1 hour; unmold.

Note: Place aluminum foil under mold when baking.

Oinons and Apples?

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Onion and Apple Casserole
(6 servings)

3 large Bermuda or sweet red onions
½ inch boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
4 tart medium apples
3 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
1/3 cup onion liquid
1/3 cup butter or margarine

Peel onions and slice about ¼-inch thick. Cook 10 minutes in covered saucepan in ½-inch boiling water and ½ teaspoon of the salt. Peel apples and cut them into slices ⅛-inch thick. Drain onions, reserving the liquid to use later. Fill a 1-quart casserole with alternating layers of apples and onions, sprinkling each layer with the sugar, cinnamon, black pepper and remaining ½ teaspoon salt. Add onion liquid. Melt butter or margarine and pour it over the casserole. Cover. Bake in a preheated 350-degree (moderate) oven 45 minutes or until apples are done. Serve with pork, ham or turkey.

Give Ham Loaf Zip With Pickles

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Did you ever use sweet pickle relish and sweet gherkins in a ham loaf? Try it. Gives the loaf surprisingly good extra flavor. Actually turns it into a party dish.

Pickle Ham Ring
(Makes 8 servings)

2 cups soft bread crumbs
1½ cups milk
2 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
Dash seasoned pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire
1½ pounds ground cooked ham (about 4 cups)
½ cup undrained sweet pickle relish
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
8 small sweet gherkins
4 canned pineapple slices, halved

Blend together bread crumbs, milk, eggs, salt, pepper and Worcestershire in bowl. Add ham and pickle relish; mix thoroughly. Sprinkle sugar in bottom of greased 6½-cup ring mold. Arrange gherkins on bottom and pineapple slices around side of mold; turn in ham mixture, packing lightly. Bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven 1 hour; unmold.

Note: Place aluminum foil under mold when baking.

Oinons and Apples?

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Onion and Apple Casserole
(6 servings)

3 large Bermuda or sweet red onions
½ inch boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
4 tart medium apples
3 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 3 cup onion liquid
1 3 cup butter or margarine

Peel onions and slice about ¼-inch thick. Cook 10 minutes in covered saucepan in ½-inch boiling water and ½ teaspoon of the salt. Peel apples and cut them into slices ⅛-inch thick. Drain onions, reserving the liquid to use later. Fill a 1-quart casserole with alternating layers of apples and onions, sprinkling each layer with the sugar, cinnamon, black pepper and remaining ½ teaspoon salt. Add onion liquid. Melt butter or margarine and pour it over the casserole. Cover. Bake in a preheated 350-degree (moderate) oven 45 minutes or until apples are done. Serve with pork, ham or turkey.

Vice Presidential Candidates Reported Plenty

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is an abundance of potential vice presidential candidates in President Johnson's administration, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., reported Tuesday.

Humphrey, who would like to run with Johnson this year, said the matter came up at a White House conference of legislative leaders when Johnson mentioned jokingly that Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, "looks like a vice presidential candidate."

Without filing any dissent to this, Humphrey said he complained to the President, with tongue in cheek, that other potential aspirants are getting breaks denied to him.

"Just look at what's happened," Humphrey said.

"The President sent Bobby Kennedy to the Far East.

"He sent Sargent Shriver to deliver a message to the Pope.

"Adlai Stevenson got to escort Mrs. Johnson when she went to the theater in New York.

"So I asked the President, 'Who's going to enroll Lynda Bird in George Washington University. I'll volunteer.' "

Hanover News

By MRS. RUTH CHISMAN

Mr. and Mrs. John Trusdal and four children from Security attended morning services at the Hanover Community Church, Mr. Trusdal delivering the morning message.

Mrs. Dan DeGroot passed her 86th birthday Friday, Jan. 17. She enjoyed the cards she received. Mr. Degroot said that Mrs. Degroot used to be afraid to go near an airplane. She now enjoys them. Ruth Chisman called at the DeGroots Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. DeGroot returned home just before Christmas from Oklahoma City and Chicago, where she had spent quite a number of weeks with her two daughters, one living in Oklahoma City and one in Chicago.

Thursday afternoon Grace Finch and Ruth Chisman drove to Fountain where they called on Mrs. Bill Brinker, Mrs. Anna Brown and Mrs. Keah Kerr. Mrs. Kerr is grandma to a new grandson born recently. Mrs. Kerr seems busy doing things she didn't get a chance to do while teaching. I also had a short visit with Mrs. Edna Adams, who said she is now enjoying her retirement in doing the things she didn't get a chance to do in her many years of teaching. On Friday Ruth and Roy Chisman visited the Robert Chismans east of Pueblo.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Vette and Donna Dickson drove to Denver Friday and took Alene and Beth to the airport, where they took a plane for California. They returned to California after close to four weeks' visit with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Vette, Mrs. Cora Van Dusen and Ellen Drummond drove to Denver Sunday after church. They visited Mrs. RossVan Dusen, who has been the hospital for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dickson and family spent the whole weekend at the Bennie Dickson's butchering.

Mr. and Mrs. John Trusdal and family were at the Hanover Church Sunday evening. Some of the young folks gave special numbers and Mr. Trusdale gave the message.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chisman, Brenda, Sheryl of Colorado Springs visited a awhile at Roy Chisman's Sunday evening.

There will be a bond election Thursday, April 9, at the Hanover School (District 28) for money to install inside rest rooms and storage space at Hanover School.

There will be a basketball game at Ellicott gym between Hanover and Alta Vista Friday night, Jan. 24. It being a Hanover home game held in the Ellicott gym.

Arlis Holman called to the Panama Canal zone to see about the Virgil Porter family, after the confusion there. The Porters were O. K. Mrs. Porter is the former Betty Holman.

Hawk Is Discovered In Loveland Apartment

LOVELAND, Colo. (AP—Broken window glass and the body of a blackbird on the floor of her apartment puzzled Vera Brown on return home Wednesday night.

She heard a noise in an adjoining room and found a hawk fluttering among overturned lamps and other debris.

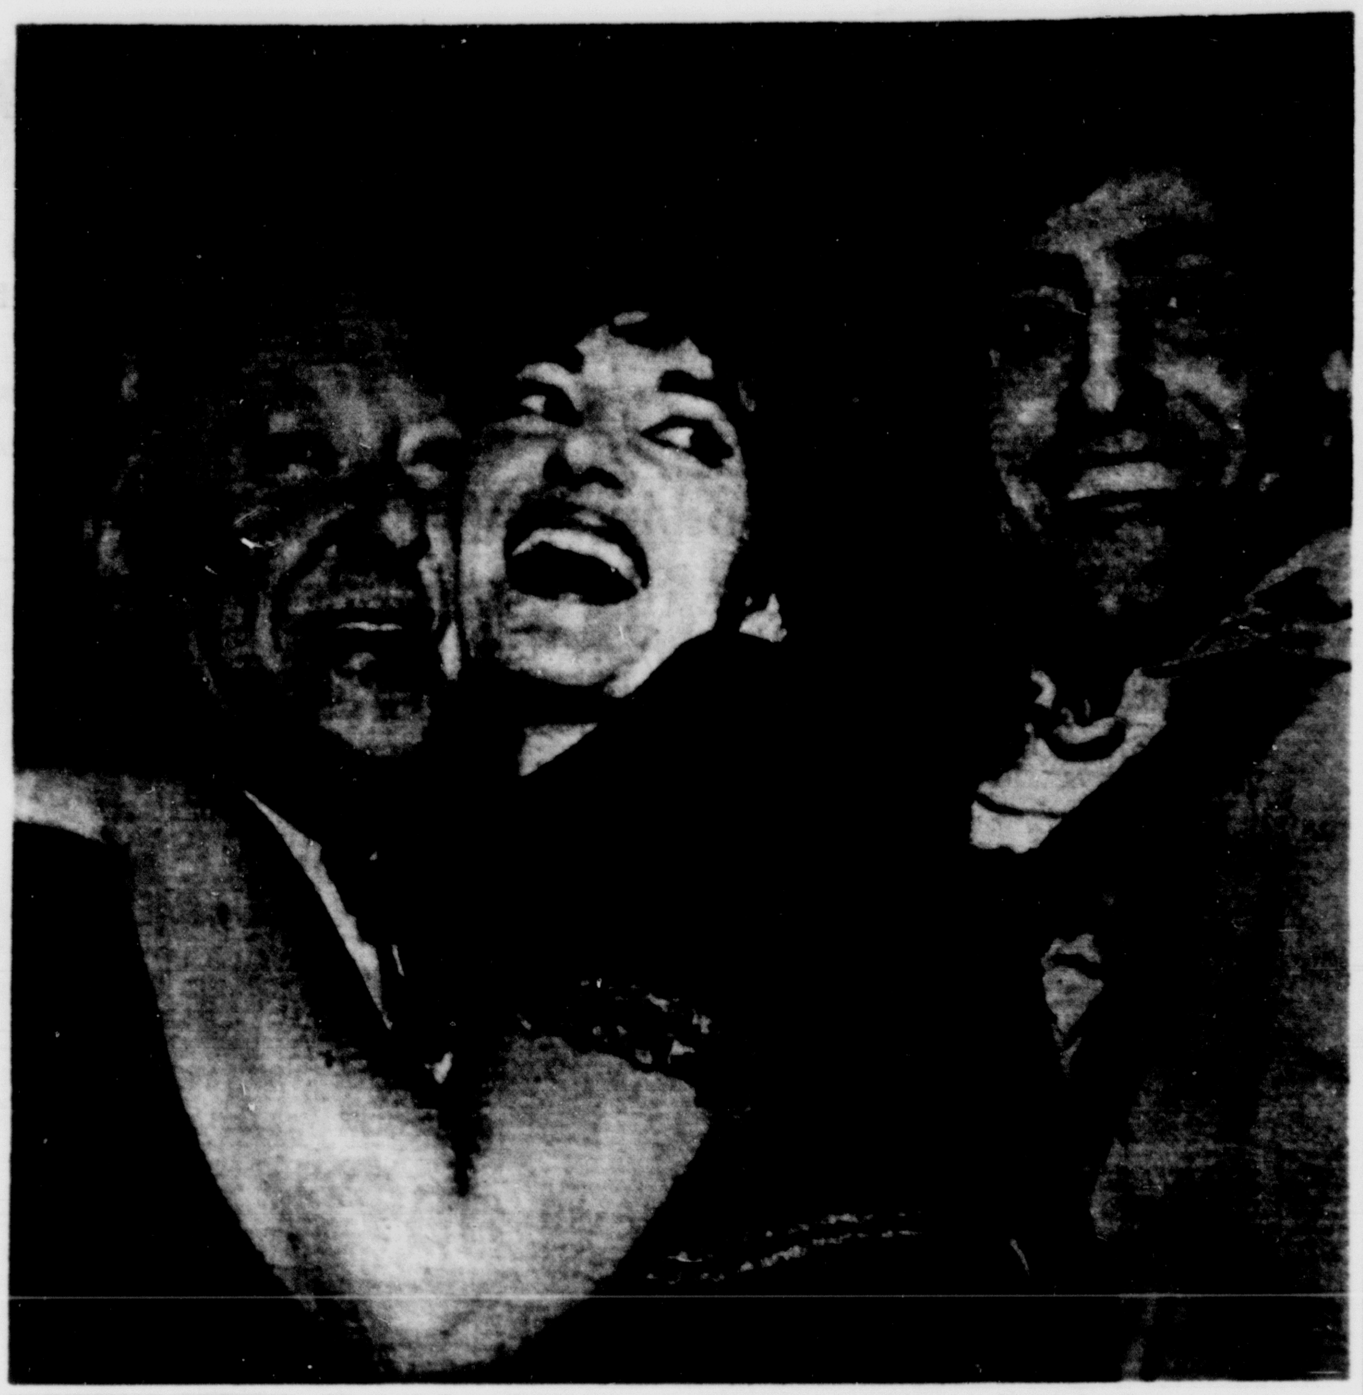
She shooed the hawk out the broken window and spent an hour coaxing her Pekinese dog out from under a bed.

Mrs. Brown's best guess: 'The hawk was chasing the blackbird, which smashed through the window. The pursuing hawk sailed in through the jagged opening.

YOUNG EXTORTIONIST

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI)—Santa Cruz sheriff's deputies have smashed an extortion and blackmail plot attempted by a 12-year-old girl, who said she was inspired by a television program.

The youngster, who sent a letter to a stranger demanding $10, told deputies she didn't realize the television extortionist was arrested — because her mother made her go to bed before the program was over.



TRIUMPHAL RETURN — Maria Callas, who last appeared on the operatic stage in Milan in June, 1962, embraces Sir David Webster backstage at the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden in London, after scoring a triumphal return to opera this week. The 40-year-old soprano, appearing in Puccini's "Tosca" was cheered by the audience for 35 minutes after the final curtain. Sir David is administrator of the Royal Opera House. TB Group Lauds Report on Cigarette Use

The El Paso County TB Association considers the recent government report on cigaret smoking as one of the greatest single strides toward good health in years.

"This is one of the things which we have been promoting for a long time," Harold Hawk board member said. "The physicians who serve on the TB board of directors have long been saying that the smoking habit is certainly a factor in bringing on respiratory troubles in those people who react to it."

At least two doctors serving on the volunteer TB board have publicly stated that "cigaret cough" can be a symptom of serious lung problems to come—pneumonia, for one, or emphysema which tends to attack people over 40 and permanently damage the lungs.

"We wish every smoker would make a permanent resolution to quit the habit — if they would, we believe those who are adversely affected by the habit would live longer and in better health," Hawks said.

Johnson, Pearson Report Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada's Prime Minister Lester D. Pearson says he agrees with President Johnson on practically everything they discussed at the White House Wednesday — except who is the best football quarterback.

Pearson told newsmen that Johnson's pick was Sammy Baugh, former quarterback for the Washington Redskins, who is a Texan.

TALKS

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Minister Giuseppe Saragat of Italy arrived Tuesday night for a get-acquainted visit with British leaders in advance of a meeting of the Western European Union's ministerial council Thursday.

Unusual Bibles Collected by Michigan Man

By PHIL THOMAS

CHELSEA, Mich. (AP)—The man who whacks his wife and wants to salve his conscience can do so by referring to the Bible—that is, the "wife-beating Bible."

It is this rare version, printed in London in 1549, which contains a note to that effect in the text following Peter's instruction to wives to be chaste.

Says the note, in modern English:

"And if she be not obedient and helpful to him, endeavour to beat the fear of God into her head, that thereby she may be compelled to learn her duty and do it."

The Bible belongs to Ben R. Donaldson, 69, who has more than 800 Bibles in his collection. It is one of a number of Bibles in which notes were intentionally inserted by translators.

In his collection, Donaldson—a retired auto executive — has a number of bizarre or unique Bibles.

"I don't really recall how I got interested in Bible collecting," Donaldson says, "but I used to teach a Sunday School class about 35 years ago, and I suspect that somewhere about then I got interested in Bibles." He says his collection is believed to be the largest and most valuable private collection in the United States.

It includes the "Vinegar Bible," a name given to a magnificent, folio-size edition printed in 1717 by John Baskett in London. The edition was full of errors. One of these was a misprinting of the parable of the vineyard in the book of Luke as the "parable of the vinegar."

Donaldson says that in the early years of printing, the Roman Catholic Church was against translating the Bible from Latin to English. When the church realized it could not stop the trend it decided to issue its own English translation and in 1582 it issued the New Testament and in 1609-10 the Old Testament.

The first dated Bible appeared in 1462. Donaldson has a 1466. He has manuscript Bibles dating back to 1225; tiny Bibles that can be held in the palm of the hand; giant Bibles that are barely liftable; Bibles bound in silver and sprinkled with jewels, and Bibles bound in embroidered cloth.

One of Donaldson's manuscript Bibles, written in Latin by an apparently disgruntled monk, has at its end a penned in phrase, which loosely translated, reads: "The book finished, let us break the bones of the boss!"

BABY SEE, BABY DO

RAYTOWN, Mo. (AP) — Two-year-old Susan Leigh Doughty dumped a bowl of grapes on the kitchen floor, removed her shoes and socks and started stomping on the grapes. To her mother, Mrs. James R. Doughty, she explained simply: "I saw people doing it on television."

Concealed TV Cameras Show Dope Addicts

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—"CBS Reports" producer Jay McMullen patiently followed the trail of illegal heroin from a field of waving poppies in Turkey to the corner of 118th Street and Madison Avenue in New York's Harlem where concealed cameras showed addicts buying, at $3 or $5 per bag, their daily supplies.

Over a period of almost two years, he talked to American, Oriental and European police authorities, international smugglers, gangsters, junk peddlers and addicts.

He recorded authoritative testimony that most of the heroin smuggled into the United States is processed in clandestine laboratories in Marseilles, France, but that the important middlemen in the traffic are the Sicilian Mafia and Corsican gangsters.

The results of all this effort were shown on Wednesday nights "The Business of Heroin." But McMullen turned up little that has not already been thoroughly explored and reported.

Most shocking portion of the program were interviews with addicts, and their toneless voiced descriptions of the terrible agony of withdrawal.

There were some rather theartical moments — a masked man talking about the Mafia, a convicted wholesaler of heroin whose face was kept in deep shadow as he described his "business" which netted him more than half a million dollars a year.

The pending demise of "The Judy Garland Show" at the end of March, announced Wednesday by CBS, hardly comes as a surprise. There have been troubles connected with the variety series since last July when only four programs had been taped.

Top CBS program executives flew out from New York repeatedly to tinker with the format. Producers were hired and fired. They started and then dumped "departments" of the show. Comedian Jerry Van Dyke, who was hopelessly miscast, departed and they announced Jack Carter would replace him—and then never used him.

ABC's "Issues and Answers" moved fast and nailed Carl T. Rowan, the newly appointed head of the U.S. Information Agency, for an interview with Howard K. Smith on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 2. NBC will broadcast a press agent's dream when the Feb. 3 "Hollywood and the Stars" show described the making of a movie currently being shown in theatres—a half hour free plug.

Hawk Is Discovered In Loveland Apartment

LOVELAND, Colo. (AP—Broken window glass and the body of a blackbird on the floor of her apartment puzzled Vera Brown on return home Wednesday night.

She heard a noise in an adjoining room and found a hawk fluttering among overturned lamps and other debris.

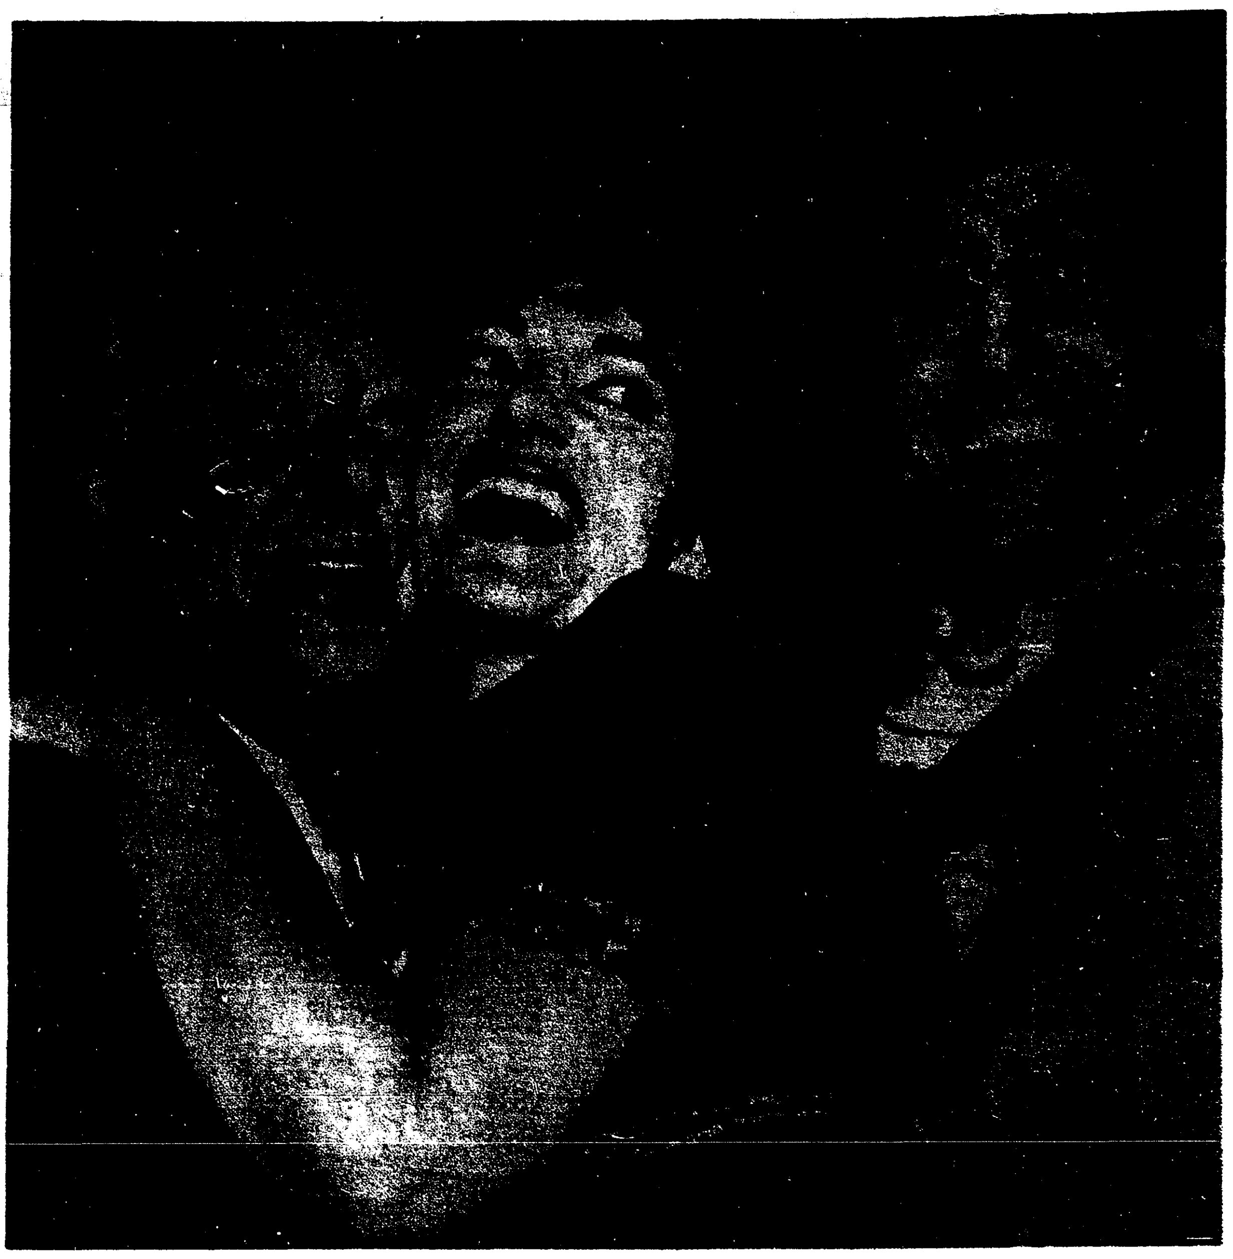
She shooed the hawk out the broken window and spent an hour coaxing her Pekinese dog out from under a bed.

Mrs. Brown's best guess: 'The hawk was chasing the blackbird, which smashed through the window The pursuing hawk sailed in through the jagged opening.

YOUNG EXTORTIONIST

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI)—Santa Cruz sheriff's deputies have smashed an extortion and blackmail plot attempted by a 12-year-old girl, who said she was inspired by a television program

The youngster, who sent a letter to a stranger demanding $10, told deputies she didn't realize the television extortionist was arrested — because her mother made her go to bed before the program was over



TRIUMPHAL RETURN — Maria Callas, who last appeared on the operatic stage in Milan in June, 1962, embraces Sir David Webster backstage at the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden in London, after scoring a triumphal return to opera this week. The 40-year-old soprano, appearing in Puccini's "Tosca" was cheered by the audience for 35 minutes after the final curtain. Sir David is administrator of the Royal Opera House. TB Group Lauds Report on Cigarette Use

The El Paso County TB Association considers the recent government report on cigaret smoking as one of the greatest single strides toward good health in years.

"This is one of the things which we have been promoting for a long time," Harold Hawk board member said. "The physicians who serve on the TB board of directors have long been saying that the smoking habit is certainly a factor in bringing on respiratory troubles in those people who react to it."

At least two doctors serving on the volunteer TB board have publicly stated that "cigaret cough" can be a symptom of serious lung problems to come—pneumonia, for one, or emphysema which tends to attack people over 40 and permanently damage the lungs.

"We wish every smoker would make a permanent resolution to quit the habit — if they would, we believe those who are adversely affected by the habit would live longer and in better health." Hawks said.

Johnson, Pearson Report Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada's Prime Minister Lester D. Pearson says he agrees with President Johnson on practically everything they discussed at the White House Wednesday — except who is the best football quarterback.

Pearson told newsmen that Johnson's pick was Sammy Baugh, former quarterback for the Washington Redskins, who is a Texan.

TALKS

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Minister Giuseppe Saragat of Italy arrived Tuesday night for a get-acquainted visit with British leaders in advance of a meeting of the Western European Union's ministerial council Thursday.

Unusual Bibles Collected by Michigan Man

By PHIL THOMAS

CHELSEA, Mich. (AP)—The man who whacks his wife and wants to salve his conscience can do so by referring to the Bible—that is, the "wife-beating Bible."

It is this rare version, printed in London in 1549, which contains a note to that effect in the text following Peter's instruction to wives to be chaste.

Says the note, in modern English

"And if she be not obedient and helpful to him, endeavour to beat the fear of God into her head, that thereby she may be compelled to learn her duty and do it."

The Bible belongs to Ben R. Donaldson, 69, who has more than 800 Bibles in his collection. It is one of a number of Bibles in which notes were intentionally inserted by translators.

In his collection, Donaldson—a retired auto executive — has a number of bizarre or unique Bibles.

"I don't really recall how I got interested in Bible collecting," Donaldson says, "but I used to teach a Sunday School class about 35 years ago, and I suspect that somewhere about then I got interested in Bibles." He says his collection is believed to be the largest and most valuable private collection in the United States.

It includes the "Vinegar Bible," a name given to a magnificent, folio-size edition printed in 1717 by John Baskett in London. The edition was full of errors. One of these was a misprinting of the parable of the vineyard in the book of Luke as the "parable of the vinegar."

Donaldson says that in the early years of printing, the Roman Catholic Church was against translating the Bible from Latin to English. When the church realized it could not stop the trend it decided to issue its own English translation and in 1582 it issued the New Testament and in 1609-10 the Old Testament.

The first dated Bible appeared in 1462. Donaldson has a 1466. He has manuscript Bibles dating back to 1225; tiny Bibles that can be held in the palm of the hand; giant Bibles that are barely liftable; Bibles bound in silver and sprinkled with jewels, and Bibles bound in embroidered cloth.

One of Donaldson's manuscript Bibles, written in Latin by an apparently disgruntled monk, has at its end a penned in phrase, which loosely translated, reads: "The book finished, let us break the bones of the boss!"

BABY SEE, BABY DO

RAYTOWN, Mo. (AP) — Two-year-old Susan Leigh Doughty dumped a bowl of grapes on the kitchen floor, removed her shoes and socks and started stomping on the grapes. To her mother, Mrs. James R. Doughty, she explained simply: "I saw people doing it on television."

Concealed TV Cameras Show Dope Addicts

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—"CBS Reports" producer Jay McMullen patiently followed the trail of illegal heroin from a field of waving poppies in Turkey to the corner of 118th Street and Madison Avenue in New York's Harlem where concealed cameras showed addicts buying, at $3 or $5 per bag, their daily supplies.

Over a period of almost two years, he talked to American, Oriental and European police authorities, international smugglers, gangsters, junk peddlers and addicts.

He recorded authoritative testimony that most of the heroin smuggled into the United States is processed in clandestine laboratories in Marseilles, France, but that the important middlemen in the traffic are the Sicilian Mafia and Corsican gangsters.

The results of all this effort were shown on Wednesday nights "The Business of Heroin." But McMullen turned up little that has not already been thoroughly explored and reported.

Most shocking portion of the program were interviews with addicts, and their toneless voiced descriptions of the terrible agony of withdrawal.

There were some rather theatrical moments — a masked man talking about the Mafia, a convicted wholesaler of heroin whose face was kept in deep shadow as he described his "business" which netted him more than half a million dollars a year.

The pending demise of "The Judy Garland Show" at the end of March, announced Wednesday by CBS, hardly comes as a surprise. There have been troubles connected with the variety series since last July when only four programs had been taped

Top CBS program executives flew out from New York repeatedly to tinker with the format. Producers were hired and fired. They started and then dumped "departments" of the show. Comedian Jerry Van Dyke, who was hopelessly miscast, departed and they announced Jack Carter would replace him—and then never used him.

ABC's "Issues and Answers" moved fast and nailed Carl T. Rowan, the newly appointed head of the U.S. Information Agency, for an interview with Howard K. Smith on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 2. NBC will broadcast a press agent's dream when the Feb. 3 "Hollywood and the Stars" show described the making of a movie currently being shown in theatres—a half hour free plug.

Harrowing Tale of Everest Climb Told by Allen Auten

A member of the first American expedition to conquer Mt. Everest awakened one night during the climb to find that the howling winds of a ground blizzard were sweeping him and his tent along a shelf at the 25,000 foot level.

Allen C. Auten told of the harrowing experience at a Wednesday luncheon meeting of the Colorado Springs Kiwanis Club the Acacia Hotel.

Fortunately for Auten, the tent never made it to the edge of the 40-foot wide shelf. However, the blizzard resulted in the loss of two tents and other equipment and prevented Auten from reaching the 29,028 foot Everest summit.

The 37-year old veteran climber who succeeded in reaching the 27,500 foot level, showed slides taken during the expedition and also some of the equipment used, such as the down filled clothing and specially designed oxygen mask he wore for the climb.

Altho the expedition had good weather for the most part, there were times when the climbers were forced to lie down and dig their ice axes into the snow in order to withstand the gusts of wind, the speaker said.

Of the 19 American expedition members, six reached the summit. Two of those who made it to the top lost all their toes as a result of frost bite, Auten said.

The expedition had 300 sponsors, with the National Geographic Society paying half of the $400,000 cost of the trip.

Auten, who is an assistant editor of "Design News" magazine, was in charge of communications on the successful assault of the world's highest mountain.

He described some of the scientific accomplishments of the expedition, saying that since the climactic conditions on Everest are much the same as those on the planet Mars, dirt samples from the mountain were brought back to be analyzed by scientists.

A psychiatrist and a sociologist were along on the trip to see how the group got along under the stress of the climb.

Cooperation among team members was excellent: "We were all friends when we started, and we were friends when we got back," said the Colorado State University graduate who has climbed more than 30 peaks over 14,000 feet in Colorado.

He has also scaled Mt. Kilimanjaro in Africa and spent several seasons climbing in the Canadian Rockies. A native of Oak Park, Ill., he now lives in Denver where he was group chairman of the Colorado Mountain Club in 1962. He is a member of the American Alpine Club and the National Ski Patrol System.

Auten said he is often asked whether he would like to climb Everest again. His answer: 'I might, altho I'm kind of glad to be back."

Five Defendants Go to Jail After Guilty Pleas

Five defendants, all of whom pleaded guilty, were sent to county jail Wednesday by Justice of the Peace H. C. McShane for varying terms.

The first was Joaquine C. Afleje, 31, of Ft. Carson, guilty of short check. The defendant who was sentenced to one year, issued a $20 short check Dec. 27 drawn on the Central Colorado Bank of Colorado Springs and gave it to the 4-U Motel, 1102 S. Nevada Ave. He was also ordered to pay costs of $7.

Richard Warren Rider, 23, of Ft. Carson, was given 60 days in jail for joy riding.

According to the information, the defendant took a car belonging to George Jahelka, Jan. 10. He also paid $7 costs.

Clyde Lee Birdsall, 20, of Ft. Carson was also charged with joy riding and sentenced to 60 days in county jail plus $30.50 costs.

Birdsall took an automobile belonging to James W. Adams Nov. 7.

A Manitou Springs man, Jon David Fisher, 19, of 132 South Path, pleaded guilty to petty larceny and received 90 days in jail with $7 costs.

He was accused of stealing three cases of auto-freeze, a case of motor oil and a generator worth a total of $48 belonging to the Motor Parts Supply Co. 239 E. Pikes Peak Ave., Sept. 30.

Jose Frederick Badial, also guilty of petty larceny was charged with stealing a spray and steam iron worth $18 from Frances Lerden Nichols, Dec. 30.

Badial, 25, of 520½ S. Prospect Lake Dr., was sentenced to 30 days in county jail plus a $25 fine and $7 costs.

No-Account Check Charge Filed Here

A charge of no-account check was filed against Ray Sprague, [illegible], of 22 N. Corona St. in District Court Wednesday.

Judge Hunter D. Hardeman set bond at $2,000.

Springs School For Girls Sets Entrance Tests

The school, now in its second year, anticipates 60 pupils this fall, headmistress Mrs. J. Randolph Campbell said.

The school is interested in the development of the gifted child, Mrs. Campbell said, and maintains a policy of developing children's aptitudes on an individual basis.

Special sections are taught in some subjects for the fast learners; several pupils are working with programmed instruction materials, and two students have recently been moved up an entire grade, the headmistress said.

One such "promoted" student was Lisa Schreiner who wrote a concerto for violin and piano at the age of 11. Lisa represented Wyoming in the National Youth Composers Contest which was judged at the Julliard School of Music in New York. She won the Stars of Tormorrow contest sponsored by the Cheyenne Kiwanis Club.

Lisa has moved up to grade eight.

Mrs. Campbell said interested parents are invited to an "Evening at School" at 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday. The school is located at 26 Pourtales Rd., Broadmoor.

Nursing Care In Home Cited As 'Challenge'

Dr. Roy Cleere, director of the State Department of Public Health told the annual meeting of the board of directors of the Visiting Nurse Association that comprehensive community health centers and extension of nursing care in the home are the "great challenge" in public health.

During the meeting Wednesday noon at the Palmer House, Mrs. Hartley Murray succeeded Mrs. Robert Schwartz as president.

Dr. Cleere cited savings to Blue Cross and the Old Age Pension medical care program in pilot projects in which patients are released early from hospitals provided that visiting nurse or home maker services are available.

He advised the local Visiting Nurse board to study expansion in this direction and the possibility of financial assistance from insurance plans such as Blue Cross and the Old Age pension medical care program.

On the subject of community health centers Dr. Cleere emphasized the need for all purpose health facilities in one building of complex of buildings in close proximity.

He pointed out that mental health centers, retardation centers, rehabilitation centers which operate separately cause inconvenience and transportation problem to families who have members needing the services of more than one of the agencies.

He challenged the group to find a solution to the problem which is now being studied in the Pikes Peak region by a number of agencies and committees.

He praised the local health department and Visiting Nurse Association for its leadership in the public health field. Colorado Springs organized the second VNA in the state, in 1907.

Recently Colorado Springs was selected for a pilot project which Dr. Cleere described as "a well oldsters clinic". In this program of preventive medicine the health department hopes to learn more about the onset of chronic diseases in the elderly.

Chamber Denies Endorsement of Sales Operation

Clay Banta, Chamber of Commerce secretary - manager, made the following announcement Wednesday concerning a sales operation currently active in Colorado Springs.

"It has been called to the attention of the Chamber of Commerce office on several recent occasions that sales people for a coupon book currently being sold in the Pikes Peak Region have indicated that the operation was approved by the Chamber of Commerce.

"The Consumer Education Committee of the Chamber wishes to make it clear that they have neither approved nor disapproved this operation.

"It should be further stated that the Chamber is not in the business of approving any type of solicitation and that any time any sales person indicates that their particular operation is approved by the Chamber of Commerce, such is not true."

DA's Office Reduces Charge

The district attorney's office reduced a charge of no account check Wednesday against Mary Evelyn Phillips, 21, of Lenoir City, Tenn., after she pleaded guilty in Justice of the Peace James F. Quine's court to short check.

The defendant was fined $50 and costs of $9.72. She was accused of issuing a $18.36 check drawn on the First National Bank Jan. 14 to the Cadillac Court, 301 Manitou Ave.

Burchinal, newly named director of the Joint USAF headquarters staff in Washington, D.C., visited the North American Air Defense Command Headquarters here Wednesday and was briefed on the joint Canadian-United States defense organization. Discussing the briefing, from left, are Maj. Gen. William H. Wise, NORAD deputy chief of staff for plans; Gen. John K. Gerhart, NORAD commander-in-chief, and Gen. Burchinal. Burchinal was scheduled to leave the area today. He will take over his new duties next month.

New Non-Smokers Warned Not to Push Their Views

By JIM GLEN

Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

There is a strong possibility that the smoker who has kicked the habit might become a sanctimonious bore.

This thought has occured several times to the writer during the 5-day seminar being held at the YMCA for those who are trying to give it up.

On Wednesday night at the second last meeting of the group, Pastor Dwight S. Wallack made a somewhat similar observation. "We should not push our views. If help is wanted then give it, but without pushing something people don't want."

From personal observation none of my friends or acquaintances have the slightest intention of giving up the tobacco habit, and in line with the pastor's advice I will never try to persuade them.

I am not sure that I intend to give it up myself. On Tuesday I had one cigaret and another on Wednesday. Unrepentently I enjoyed them enormously, even tho I am fully aware, scientists are still not quite agreed, that the life span is shortened by from four to 10 years.

On Wednesday Dr. Hubert Sturges said that about 90 per cent of the smoke was absorbed if deeply inhaled. He went on saying we "should take everything that's good and leave out everything that's bad." Theoretically this is ideal but a vast majority of humanity enjoys so much that is medically considered bad such as smoking, alcohol and rich food.

Speaking of food, the doctor said condiments, "things which are hot when they're cold," such as mustard, pepper and chili, not only effect the stomach but stimulate a desire for smoking and the audience was advised to avoid them when trying to give up smoking. Condiments are added to food, he said, because people have forgotten what food tastes like, a somewhat dubious statements when one considers the blandness of certain foods.

Another villain is a "thick rare steak." This contains purine bodies - and you've guessed it, it stimulates a craving for tobacco. Egg yokes have cholestorol which can be responsible for hardening of the arteries, so eggs are out too.

Ninety per cent of coronary heart attacks could be avoided, the doctor continued, if everyone stuck to a vegetarian diet. At this point a member of the audience pointed out at length that the successful athletes who run up and run down Pikes Peak every year are vegetarians.

In reply to a question put by the writer saying that the majority of us had no intention of running up the mountain and therefore why use such a yard stick for dietary habits, the doctor first said that he would like to see all of us tackle Pikes Peak. He then continued saying that correct eating habits enabled us to live longer and look better.

This writer recalls that George Bernard Shaw was a vegetarian. He lived to be more than 90 but all his life was prone to breaking his limbs, due to a lack of calcium, and a broken hip finally killed him.

Pastor Dwight Wallack advised those who were having difficulty not to give up. "We've only got you off the launching pad," he said, "and you'll need sustained power." The opinion of several members of the seminar appeared to be voiced when one woman said, "I still want a cigarette real bad, but I know I have the will power to resist." Dr. Sturges remarked that the craving would gradually lessen.

A further course has already been planed for Feb. 16 running thru Feb. 20 and interested parties should telephone the YMCA or come in. The final meeting of the first seminar will be held tonight.

Robbery Charges Filed Against Robert Ryan

A charge of aggravated robbery, receiving stolen property and conspiracy was filed in District Court Wednesday against Robert Ryan, 27, of 1927 S. Franklin St.

Ryan is the fourth man to be charged with the Dec. 4 stick-up at Furrs Foods, 1645 S. Tejon St. when $3,116.17 was taken. The second count alleges the defendant received $740 from William H. Thomas, Larry Smith West and Michael A. Coy, which had been stolen from Furrs Foods, while count three accuses him of conspiring with the three to commit the robbery. Judge Hunter D. Hardeman set bond at $3,000.

Thomas, 23, of Lamar, West, 24, formerly of Cascade, and Coy, 31, 1927 S. Franklin St. have all been charged with aggravated robbery and conspiracy. Thomas and West have already pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity. Coy is scheduled to be arraigned Friday.

In another case, Jacqueline Pamela Brandt, also known as Mrs. William H. Thomas, the wife of the defendant charged with aggravated robbery and conspiracy was charged with no account check.

Mrs. Thomas, 18, of 1930 S. Prospect, is accused of issuing a $25 check to Safeway Stores Inc. Aug. 3.

Bond was set at $2,000 by District Judge Hardeman.

Driver Fined $15 on Two Traffic Counts

A Ft. Carson man, Philip Mitchell Ozzello, 20, was fined $15 and costs by Justice of the Peace James F. Quine Wednesday for careless driving and being without a valid operator's license. Ozzello was ticketed by State Patrolman Ken Shiflet on Fillmore Road Jan. 7.

Rocco Paul Lucadamo, 55, of 1463 Wilks Place was charged with careless driving on Kelker Road Tuesday and fined $10 and costs with $10 suspended. The ticketing officer was State Patrolman John L. Baker.

Being without a valid operator's license Saturday cost Alfred Juvera, 18, of 830 S. Wahsatch St. $5 and costs. State Patrolman Paul H. Cornell cited him on 8th Street.

David F. Williamson paid a $10 fine and costs for careless driving. The original charge of reckless driving was dismissed. Williamson, 23, of 2415 W. Colorado Ave. was ticketed by State Patrolman Pete Thiel on Colorado Highway 27 Dec. 11.

Earl Martin Merdeath, 22, of Ft. Carson was cited on Frontage Road Jan. 6 by State Patrolman C. W. Hubbard for speeding. According to the officer, Merdeath was driving at speeds of 60 to 65 miles per hour in a 50 zone. A $10 fine and costs was imposed.

Local Doctor Fills State Medical Vacancy

Dr. Kenneth A. MacInnes, 810 Vincent Dr., has been appointed by Gov. John A. Love to fill a vacancy on the nine member State Board of Medical Examiners.

The radiology specialist will serve a term expiring May 5, 1965. The vacancy was caused by the resignation of Dr. Sidney Anderson of Alamosa.

'Man Will Always Seek Utopia' CU Head Says

Man has always sought Utopia and will continue to search because it is an expression of man's greatest hopes, according to the president of the University of Colorado.

The president, Dr. Joseph R. Smiley, spoke at the January meeting of the Winter Night Club held Wednesday night in the ballroom of the Broadmoor Hotel.

This was the second meeting of the year, as the first one was cancelled in November when President John F. Kennedy was murdered in Dallas. Three more will follow, to meet the regular standard of five meetings each winter.

Smiley said that the way to Utopia is thru education and that man will go on in his search for Utopia.

"Without a Utopian goal, mankind would regress, and be enslaved by the tyranny of ignorance and superstition," Smiley said.

The president pointed out that in recent years Americans have been beset by many problems which have upset their tranquility.

However, with relatively few exceptions, he said, "civilization has always faced a threat or a crisis," but nonetheless has indulged in a never-ending search for a better world.

A better tomorrow is the eternal hope of all mankind, of all nations, he said.

Man is eternally in quest for Utopia, "for perfection in laws, in government, in social conditions, in the attainment of personal freedom and of equal justice for all," he said.

He explained that the word "Utopia" is Greek meaning "not a place," and suggests a state that is unattainable, that exists only in fantasy.

"Legends about Utopia were current in Medieval, Norse, Celtic, and Arab literature, often locating the society in the Western or Atlantic Ocean and not infrequently calling it "Atlantis," he said.

However, he pointed out, few of those legends survived after the exploration of Columbus, Vasco DaGama and others.

Sir Thomas More first gave the word usage when he published his book "Utopia" in 1516.

When Western man began his serious search for Utopia, he entered what historians call the age of humanism, shucking off the shackles of ecclesiastical authority, and began to deal with matters that concern man, the president explained.

Thus man began to dream of changing his own society, and writers wrote of the perfect society for which they yearned and hoped.

While mentioning a number of writers who projected perfect societies in their writings, Smiley referred to James Harrington, who published "Oceana" in 1656.

It "had a profound influence upon political thought in America," he said.

It "is a practical treatise founded on the thesis that property, and especially land, is the source of political power and that the executive function should be controlled only a short time by the same man or men," Smiley said.

The men who wrote about Utopia were convinced that education represented the salvation of society, he said.

A famous phrase written in the spirit of humanism and in support of the Utopian ideal was penned by the French philosopher Voltaire, who said, "crush the infamous thing," and the infamous thing was ignorance, the president explained.

"From the early fifteenth century onward, civilized man's progress, his dreams of a better world, his thrust toward the ideal, have been intimately related to knowledge, to the spread and sharing of knowledge, in short to education," said Smiley.

The age of enlightenment believed in the perfectability of man and people still believe in it, he said.

"We believe that genuine progress can occur only when ignorance is driven out and when learning becomes universal," Smiley stated.

"We in this country, have been engaged in one of the most glorious experiments men has ever devised — universal free education for all who can profit from it," Smiley said.

"I believe that the hope of the world rests upon education," said Smiley. "We must continue to nurture it, to strengthen it, to make it available to all American youth so far as abilities will allow."

He said each new generation must be brought abreast of the country's intellectual and cultural heritage in order to be able to press forward in adding to man's accumulated knowledge.

"If one generation should break the chain which links us to our past intellectual attainments, we would be plunged into the darkest of ages and man would be forced to grope for the rediscovery of his heritage as he did in the years of humanism and the Renaissance," the president charged.

"Our genuine Utopia will be approached when human and social problems are nearer to final solution, when men will have learned to give together in peace and tolerance, when knowledge and wisdom will be as widely honored as power and force," he said.

Judge Dismisses Charge of Improper Turning

Judge Allan Asher Wednesday in Municipal Court dismissed a charge of improper turning against George Erickson, 42, 603 Canon Ave., Manitou Springs.

In the companion case, he found Ronald Cucuro, 27, 1604½ S. Wahsatch Ave., guilty of following too close and fined him $10.

Irvin Martin, 29, Ent Air Force Base, failed to appear in court on a careless driving charge and his $15 bond was ordered forfeited.

Guy H. Albright, Former CC Professor Died

Colorado College faculty members this week were informed of the death of Guy Harry Albright, who taught mathematics and physics at the college for 39 years.

The retired Colorado College professor died Jan. 10 at Oxford, Ohio, where he had been living with his son, Prof. Preston Albright of Miami University. He was 87.

A native of Lamar, Mo., he held bachelor's degrees from Harvard University and the University of Michigan and a master's degree from Harvard. In 1932, he received an honorary Doctor of Science degree from Colorado College.

He was the author of numerous articles in professional journals. In 1913, he was an exchange professor from Colorado College to Harvard.

Director of the Colorado College summer session in the 1920's, Professor Albright was for many years secretary and marshal of the faculty.

School to Hold 2nd Workshop Tuesday Evening

Wasson High School officials will hold their second Parents' Workshop on College Admissions at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the school's auditorium.

Designed primarily for parents of college-bound seniors, the workshop is open to any interested parent. The workshop will be concerned with admission to Colorado's public-supported colleges and with financial aid in general.

Guest panelists will be David Muirhead, director of admissions for the University of Colorado; Sam Schauerman, director of admissions at Otero Junior College; Gary Miller, assistant director of admissions at Colorado State College; Ronald Brown, director of financial aid at CU, and Al Nimtz, college counselor at Cheyenne Mountain High School.

The first workshop, held in November, dealt with admissions to private, selective colleges and universities.

Harrowing Tale of Everest Climb Told by Allen Auten

A member of the first American expedition to conquer Mt. Everest awakened one night during the climb to find that the howling winds of a ground blizzard were sweeping him and his tent along a shelf at the [illegible],000 foot level.

Allen C. Auten told of the harrowing experience at a Wednesday luncheon meeting of the Colorado Springs Kiwanis Club the Acacia Hotel.

Fortunately for Auten, the tent never made it to the edge of the 40-foot wide shelf. However, the blizzard resulted in the loss of two tents and other equipment and prevented Auten from reaching the 29,028 foot Everest summit.

The 37-year old veteran climber who succeeded in reaching the 27,500 foot level, showed slides taken during the expedition and also some of the equipment used, such as the down filled clothing and specially designed oxygen mask he wore for the climb.

Altho the expedition had good weather for the most part, there were times when the climbers were forced to lie down and dig their ice axes into the snow in order to withstand the gusts of wind, the speaker said.

Of the 19 American expedition members, six reached the summit. Two of those who made it to the top lost all their toes as a result of frost bite, Auten said.

The expedition had 300 sponsors, with the National Geographic Society paying half of the $400,000 cost of the trip.

Auten, who is an assistant editor of "Design News" magazine, was in charge of communications on the successful assault of the world's highest mountain.

He described some of the scientific accomplishments of the expedition, saying that since the climactic conditions on Everest are much the same as those on the planet Mars, dirt samples from the mountain were brought back to be analyzed by scientists.

A psychiatrist and a sociologist were along on the trip to see how the group got along under the stress of the climb.

Cooperation among team members was excellent: "We were all friends when we started, and we were friends when we got back," said the Colorado State University graduate who has climbed more than 30 peaks over 14,000 feet in Colorado.

He has also scaled Mt. Kilimanjaro in Africa and spent several seasons climbing in the Canadian Rockies. A native of Oak Park, Ill., he now lives in Denver where he was group chairman of the Colorado Mountain Club in 1962. He is a member of the American Alpine Club and the National Ski Patrol System.

Auten said he is often asked whether he would like to climb Everest again. His answer: 'I might, altho I'm kind of glad to be back."

Five Defendants Go to Jail After Guilty Pleas

Five defendants, all of whom pleaded guilty, were sent to county jail Wednesday by Justice of the Peace H. C. McShane for varying terms.

The first was Joaquine C. Affleje, 31, of Ft. Carson, guilty of short check. The defendant who was sentenced to one year, issued a $20 short check Dec. 27 drawn on the Central Colorado Bank of Colorado Springs and gave it to the 4-U Motel, 1102 S. Nevada Ave. He was also ordered to pay costs of $7.

Richard Warren Rider, 23, of Ft. Carson, was given 60 days in jail for joy riding.

According to the information, the defendant took a car belonging to George Jahelka, Jan. 10. He also paid $7 costs.

Clyde Lee Birdsall, 20, of Ft. Carson was also charged with joy riding and sentenced to 60 days in county jail plus $30.50 costs.

Birdsall took an automobile belonging to James W. Adams Nov. 7.

A Manitou Springs man, Jon David Fisher, 19, of 132 South Path, pleaded guilty to petty larceny and received 90 days in jail with $7 costs.

He was accused of stealing three cases of auto-freeze, a case of motor oil and a generator worth a total of $48 belonging to the Motor Parts Supply Co. [illegible] E. Pikes Peak Ave., Sept. [illegible]

Jose Frederick Badial, also guilty of petty larceny was charged with stealing a spray and steam iron worth $18 from Frances Lerden Nichols, Dec. [illegible]

Badial, 25, of 520½ S. Prospect Lake Dr., was sentenced to [illegible] days in county jail plus a [illegible] fine and $7 costs.

No-Account Check Charge Filed Here

A charge of no-account check was filed against Ray Sprague, [illegible] of 22 N. Corona St. in District Court Wednesday.

Judge Hunter D. Hardeman set bond at $2,000.

Springs School For Girls Sets Entrance Tests

The school, now in its second year, anticipates 60 pupils this fall, headmistress Mrs. J. Randolph Campbell said.

The school is interested in the development of the gifted child, Mrs. Campbell said, and maintains a policy of developing children's aptitudes on an individual basis.

Special sections are taught in some subjects for the fast learners: several pupils are working with programmed instruction materials, and two students have recently been moved up an entire grade, the headmistress said.

One such "promoted" student was Lisa Schreiner who wrote a concerto for violin and piano at the age of 11. Lisa represented Wyoming in the National Youth Composers Contest which was judged at the Julliard School of Music in New York. She won the Stars of Tomorrow contest sponsored by the Cheyenne Kiwanis Club.

Lisa has moved up to grade eight.

Mrs. Campbell said interested parents are invited to an "Evening at School" at 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday. The school is located at 26 Pourtales Rd., Broadmoor.

Nursing Care In Home Cited As 'Challenge'

Dr. Roy Cleere, director of the State Department of Public Health told the annual meeting of the board of directors of the Visiting Nurse Association that comprehensive community health centers and extension of nursing care in the home are the "great challenge" in public health.

During the meeting Wednesday noon at the Palmer House, Mrs. Hartley Murray succeeded Mrs. Robert Schwartz as president.

Dr. Cleere cited savings to Blue Cross and the Old Age Pension medical care program in pilot projects in which patients are released early from hospitals provided that visiting nurse or home maker services are available.

He advised the local Visiting Nurse board to study expansion in this direction and the possibility of financial assistance from insurance plans such as Blue Cross and the Old Age pension medical care program.

On the subject of community health centers Dr Cleere emphasized the need for all purpose health facilities in one building of complex of buildings in close proximity.

He pointed out that mental health centers, retardation centers, rehabilitation centers which operate separately cause inconvenience and transportation problem to families who have members needing the services of more than one of the agencies.

He challenged the group to find a solution to the problem which is now being studied in the Pikes Peak region by a number of agencies and committees.

He praised the local health department and Visiting Nurse Association for its leadership in the public health field. Colorado Springs organized the second VNA in the state, in 1907.

Recently Colorado Springs was selected for a pilot project which Dr. Cleere described as "a well oldsters clinic". In this program of preventive medicine the health department hopes to learn more about the onset of chronic diseases in the elderly.

Chamber Denies Endorsement of Sales Operation

Clay Banta, Chamber of Commerce secretary - manager, made the following announcement Wednesday concerning a sales operation currently active in Colorado Springs.

"It has been called to the attention of the Chamber of Commerce office on several recent occasions that sales people for a coupon book currently being sold in the Pikes Peak Region have indicated that the operation was approved by the Chamber of Commerce.

"The Consumer Education Committee of the Chamber wishes to make it clear that they have neither approved nor disapproved this operation.

"It should be further stated that the Chamber is not in the business of approving any type of solicitation and that any time any sales person indicates that their particular operation is approved by the Chamber of Commerce, such is not true"

DA's Office Reduces Charge

The district attorney's office reduced a charge of no account check Wednesday against Mary Evelyn Phillips, 21, of Lenoir City, Tenn., after she pleaded guilty in Justice of the Peace James F. Quine's court to short check.

The defendant was fined $50 and costs of $9.72. She was accused of issuing a $18.36 check drawn on the First National Bank Jan. 14 to the Cadillac Court, 301 Manitou Ave

New Non-Smokers Warned Not to Push Their Views

By JIM GLEN
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

There is a strong possibility that the smoker who has kicked the habit might become a sanctimonious bore

This thought has occured several times to the writer during the 5-day seminar being held at the YMCA for those who are trying to give it up

On Wednesday night at the second last meeting of the group, Pastor Dwight S Wallack made a somewhat similar observation "We should not push our views. If help is wanted then give it, but without pushing something people don't want."

From personal observation none of my friends or acquaintances have the slightest intention of giving up the tobacco habit, and in line with the pastor's advice I will never try to persuade them.

I am not sure that I intend to give it up myself. On Tuesday I had one cigaret and another on Wednesday. Unrepentently I enjoyed them enormously, even tho I am fully aware, scientists are still not quite agreed, that the life span is shortened by from four to 10 years.

On Wednesday Dr Hubert Sturges said that about 90 per cent of the smoke was absorbed if deeply inhaled. He went on saying we "should take everything that's good and leave out everything that's bad." Theoretically this is ideal but a vast majority of humanity enjoys so much that is medically considered bad such as smoking, alcohol and rich food.

Speaking of food, the doctor said condiments, "things which are hot when they're cold," such as mustard, pepper and chili, not only effect the stomach but stimulate a desire for smoking and the audience was advised to avoid them when trying to give up smoking. Condiments are added to food, he said, because people have forgotten what food tastes like, a some what dubious statements when one considers the blandness of certain foods

Another villain is a "thick rare steak" This contains purine bodies - and you've guessed it, it stimulates a craving for tobacco. Egg yokes have cholestorol which can be responsible for hardening of the arteries, so eggs are out too.'

Ninety per cent of coronary heart attacks could be avoided, the doctor continued, if everyone stuck to a vegetarian diet. At this point a member of the audience pointed out at length that the successful athletes who run up and run down Pikes Peak every year are vegetarians.

In reply to a question put by the writer saying that the majority of us had no intention of running up the mountain and therefore why use such a yard stick for dietary habits, the doctor first said that he would like to see all of us tackle Pikes Peak. He then continued saying that correct eating habits enabled us to live longer and look better.

This writer recalls that George Bernard Shaw was a vegetarian. He lived to be more than 90 but all his life was prone to breaking his limbs, due to a lack of calcium, and a broken hip finally killed him.

Pastor Dwight Wallack advised those who were having difficulty not to give up. "We've only got you off the launching pad," he said, "and you'll need sustained power." The opinion of several members of the seminar appeared to be voiced when one woman said, "I still want a cigarette real bad, but I know I have the will power to resist." Dr. Sturges remarked that the craving would gradually lessen.

A further course has already been planed for Feb. 16 running thru Feb. 20 and interested parties should telephone the YMCA or come in. The final meeting of the first seminar will be held tonight.

Local Doctor Fills State Medical Vacancy

Dr. Kenneth A. MacInnes, 810 Vincent Dr., has been appointed by Gov. John A. Love to fill a vacancy on the nine member State Board of Medical Examiners.

The radiology specialist will serve a term expiring May 5, 1965. The vacancy was caused by the resignation of Dr. Sidney Anderson of Alamosa.

Robbery Charges Filed Against Robert Ryan

A charge of aggravated robbery, receiving stolen property and conspiracy was filed in District Court Wednesday against Robert Ryan, 27, of 1927 S. Franklin St.

Ryan is the fourth man to be charged with the Dec 4 stick-up at Furrs Foods, 1645 S. Tejon St. when $3,116.17 was taken. The second count alleges the defendant received $740 from William H. Thomas, Larry Smith West and Michael A. Coy, which had been stolen from Furrs Foods, while count three accuses him of conspiring with the three to commit the robbery. Judge Hunter D. Hardeman set bond at $3,000.

Thomas, 23, of Lamar, West, 24, formerly of Cascade, and Coy, 31, 1927 S. Franklin St. have all been charged with aggravated robbery and conspiracy. Thomas and West have already pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity Coy is scheduled to be arraigned Friday.

In another case, Jacqueline Pamela Brandt, also known as Mrs. William H. Thomas, the wife of the defendant charged with aggravated robbery and conspiracy was charged with no account check.

Mrs. Thomas, 18, of 1930 S. Prospect, is accused of issuing a $25 check to Safeway Stores Inc. Aug. 3.

Bond was set at $2,000 by District Judge Hardeman.

Driver Fined $15 on Two Traffic Counts

A Ft. Carson man, Philip Mitchell Ozzello, 20, was fined $15 and costs by Justice of the Peace James F. Quine Wednesday for careless driving and being without a valid operator's license. Ozzello was ticketed by State Patrolman Ken Shiflet on Fillmore Road Jan. 7.

Rocco Paul Locadamo, 55, of 1463 Wilks Place was charged with careless driving on Kelker Road Tuesday and fined $10 and costs with $10 suspended. The ticketing officer was State Patrolman John L. Baker.

Being without a valid operator's license Saturday cost Alfred Juvera, 18, of 830 S. Wahsatch St. $5 and costs. State Patrolman Paul H. Cornell cited him on 8th Street.

David F. Williamson paid a $10 fine and costs for careless driving. The original charge of reckless driving was dismissed. Williamson, 23, of 2415 W. Colorado Ave. was ticketed by State Patrolman Pete Thiel on Colorado Highway 27 Dec. 11.

Earl Martin Merdeath, 22, of Ft. Carson was cited on Frontage Road Jan. 6 by State Patrolman C. W. Hubbard for speeding. According to the officer, Merdeath was driving at speeds of 60 to 65 miles per hour in a 50 zone. A $10 fine and costs was imposed

'Man Will Always Seek Utopia' CU Head Says

Man has always sought Utopia and will continue to search because it is an expression of man's greatest hopes, according to the president of the University of Colorado.

The president, Dr. Joseph R. Smiley, spoked at the January meeting of the Winter Night Club held Wednesday night in the ballroom of the Broadmoor Hotel.

This was the second meeting of the year, as the first one was cancelled in November when President John F. Kennedy was murdered in Dallas. Three more will follow, to meet the regular standard of five meetings each winter

Smiley said that the way to Utopia is thru education and that man will go on in his search for Utopia

"Without a Utopian goal, mankind would regress, and be enslaved by the tyranny of ignorance and superstitution," Smiley said

The president pointed out that in recent years Americans have been beset by many problems which have upset their tranquility

However, with relatively few exceptions, he said, "civilization has always faced a threat or a crisis," but nonetheless has indulged in a never-ending search for a better world.

A better tomorrow is the eternal hope of all mankind, of all nations, he said

Man is eternally in quest for Utopia, "for perfection in laws, in government, in social conditions, in the attainment of personal freedom and of equal justice for all," he said

He explained that the word "Utopia" is Greek meaning "not a place," and suggests a state that is unattainable, that exists only in fantasy

"Legends about Utopia were current in Medieval, Norse, Celtic, and Arab literature, often locating the society in the Western or Atlantic Ocean and not infrequently calling it "Atlantis," he said.

However, he pointed out, few of those legends survived after the exploration of Columbus, Vasco DaGama and others.

Sir Thomas More first gave the word usage when he published his book "Utopia" in 1516.

When Western man began his serious search for Utopia, he entered what historians call the age of humanism, shucking off the shackles of ecclesiastical authority, and began to deal with matters that concern man, the president explained.

Thus man began to dream of changing his own society, and writers wrote of the perfect society for which they yearned and hoped.

While mentioning a number of writers who projected perfect societies in their writings, Smiley referred to James Harrington, who published "Oceana" in 1656

It "had a profound influence upon political thought in America," he said.

It "is a practical treatise founded on the thesis that property, and especially land, is the source of political power and that the executive function should be controlled only a short time by the same man or men," Smiley said.

The men who wrote about Utopia were convinced that education represented the salvation of society, he said.

A famous phrase written in the spirit of humanism and in support of the Utopian ideal was penned by the French philosopher Voltaire, who said, "crush the infamous thing," and the infamous thing was ignorance, the president explained.

"From the early fifteenth century onward, civilized man's progress, his dreams of a better world, his thrust toward the ideal, have been intimately related to knowledge, to the spread and sharing of knowledge, in short to education," said Smiley.

The age of enlightenment believed in the perfectability of man and people still believe in it, he said.

"We believe that genuine progress can occur only when ignorance is driven out and when learning becomes universal," Smiley stated.

"We in this country, have been engaged in one of the most glorious experiments men has ever devised — universal free education for all who can profit from it," Smiley said.

"I believe that the hope of the world rests upon education," said Smiley. "We must continue to nurture it, to strengthen it, to make it available to all American youth so far as abilities will allow"

He said each new generation must be brought abreast of the country's intellectual and cultural heritage in order to be able to press forward in adding to man's accumulated knowledge

"If one generation should break the chain which links us to our past intellectual attainments, we would be plunged into the darkest of ages and man would be forced to grope for the rediscovery of his heritage as he did in the years of humanism and the Renaissance," the president charged.

"Our genuine Utopia will be approached when human and social problems are nearer to final solution, when men will have learned to give together in peace and tolerance, when knowledge and wisdom will be as widely honored as power and force," he said.

Green Mountain Falls News

By CAROLYN McADAMS — 687-9065

The new 1964 executive board members of the Ute Pass Community Association held their first meeting Jan. 7, in the kitchen of the Community Building, at 7:30 p.m. Presiding was the new president, Lt. Col. (Ret.) Charles Stull, with B. O. Whitaker, vice president; Polly Lamb, secretary; Sallie Bush, treasurer, and members Elmer Tesker, Stewart Lamb and Dorothy Bellinger present. A discussion evaluating the annual Christmas party was held, with suggestions on file for next year. A community Valentine dance will be given Feb. 15, in the Community Building. The Association will furnish coffee. All planning to attend is asked to bring sandwiches for the refreshments. Final plans for the affair will be made at the February board meeting.

The Spring edition of the Ute Pass Echo is being compiled and will be ready to mail early in February. Mrs. Louise Weiman, 684-9315, is editor and publisher.

The Little Ute Nursery School, which meets in the White House annex, Church in the Wildwood, closed its winter classes with the Jan. 15 session. Two families have moved from the area, taking four of the pupils at the present time. Mrs. Beverly Page and Mrs. Jonell Ewart, co-directors, have announced that a spring class will begin in March. All mothers will be contacted at that time.

The Jan. 13 Ladies Night covered dish dinner meeting of the Woodland Park Lions Club was held in the Community Building, with an attendance of 99 members and visitors. Serving on the dinner committee were Mr. and Mrs. Loren Parmeley, chairmen, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Dick Dugdale, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stull, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Arsdale, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Houchin, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Foust. Appearing on the program for the evening were Dave Ellsworth and Larry Salter, guitarists from Fort Carson, who played and sang a group of ballad and folk songs. It was a real "hootenanny" success.

Any member of the Lions Club may be called for collecting discarded eye glasses, frames, lenses, etc. This worthy project is one for all Lions Clubs of the state and the public is asked to assist. Shipments of the old glasses will be made to India and Africa.

Several new players on the Ute Pass Hill Bowlies teams have placed Marge Krantz on the Browncraft Steakhouse team, replacing Betty Wiseman; and on the Dillon Construction team is Shirley Dixon replacing Marion Flynn; Elsie Anderson replacing Isabel Thompkins and Amy Ruth Lawson replacing Glea Smischny. Alice Brady, captain of the Dillon team is the only original player since the season started, in September 1963. The new 1964 executive board members of the Ute Pass Community Association held their first meeting Jan. 7, in the kitchen of the Community Building, at 7:30 p.m. Presiding was the new president, Lt. Col. (Ret.) Charles Stull, with B. O. Whitaker, vice president; Polly Lamb, secretary; Sallie Bush, treasurer, and members Elmer Tesker, Stewart Lamb and Dorothy Bellinger present. A discussion evaluating the annual Christmas party was held, with suggestions on file for next year. A community Valentine dance will be given Feb. 15, in the Community Building. The Association will furnish coffee. All planning to attend is asked to bring sandwiches for the refreshments. Final plans for the affair will be made at the February board meeting.

The Spring edition of the Ute Pass Echo is being compiled and will be ready to mail early in February. Mrs. Louise Weiman, 684-9315, is editor and publisher.

The Little Ute Nursery School, which meets in the White House annex, Church in the Wildwood, closed its winter classes with the Jan. 15 session. Two families have moved from the area, taking four of the pupils at the present time. Mrs. Beverly Page and Mrs. Jonell Ewart, co-directors, have announced that a spring class will begin in March. All mothers will be contacted at that time.

The Jan. 13 Ladies Night covered dish dinner meeting of the Woodland Park Lions Club was held in the Community Building, with an attendance of 99 members and visitors. Serving on the dinner committee were Mr. and Mrs. Loren Parmeley, chairmen, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Dick Dugdale, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stull, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Arsdale, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Houchin, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Foust. Appearing on the program for the evening were Dave Ellsworth and Larry Salter, guitarists from Fort Carson, who played and sang a group of ballad and folk songs. It was a real "hootenanny" success.

Any member of the Lions Club may be called for collecting discarded eye glasses, frames, lenses, etc. This worthy project is one for all Lions Clubs of the state and the public is asked to assist. Shipments of the old glasses will be made to India and Africa.

Several new players on the Ute Pass Hill Bowlies teams have placed Marge Krantz on the Browncraft Steakhouse team, replacing Betty Wiseman; and on the Dillon Construction team is Shirley Dixon replacing Marion Flynn; Elsie Anderson replacing Isabel Thompkins and Amy Ruth Lawson replacing Glea Smischny. Alice Brady, captain of the Dillon team is the only original player since the season started, in September 1963. Scores posted last week, beginning the last half of the season, placed Reeds Indoor Rodeo in first place with 45 games won, 23 lost and 33180 score; Edwards Grocery won 40, lost 28 with 32761; Kenneth Quinn Builder won 39½, lost 28½ with 32368; Hughes Excavating won 39 lost 29 with 32171; Fisherman Inn won 29 lost 39 with 32026; Haynes T. I Remember

By CHARLES S. DUDLEY

C. S. DUDLEY

Ever since Mrs. Genoa Armbruster, granddaughter of Henry Templeton, told me about the old mill on Fountain Creek where the covered wagon pioneers of Colorado City, now a part of Colorado Springs, obtained their flour I have wondered what it may have seemed like to those early settlers to have their first store. To find out about that store I did not have far to go. Dorothey Smith, curator of the Pioneers Museum, was able to put her finger right on the subject.

Here it is. The first store in Colorado City was a store conducted by Tappan and Co., as a branch of a store the firm had in Denver. It was a general store, carrying a stock of groceries, clothing, etc., and was at the corner of what is now 28th Street and West Colorado Avenue. There were three Tappans, George, John and Louis. I don't know which ones kept the store in Denver, or which one opened the store in Colorado City. I think from what I have heard that before they became storekeepers the Tappans were peddlers so they may have been known by the few residents of Colorado City before the day of the grand opening of their mercantile establishment.

From material on file at the Pioneers Museum I find that it is known their store in Colorado City was in operation as early as 1861. That was two years after the first of the pioneers arrived there. I don't know how much sooner than 1861 the Tappan store in Colorado City existed. The opening of a supermarket could hardly have caused more excitement, I venture to say, than the opening of that little store in a log cabin at the foot of Pikes Peak, as they called the place, and 75 miles from the next nearest store, which would have been found in the area of Fourteenth and Larimer Streets Denver.

Flour from the mill on Fountain Creek may have been sold over the counter after this store was opened, but I doubt it. Money must have been scarce in little old Colorado City-at-the-foot-of-Pikes Peak. People there could get flour by taking their grist to the mill-on-the-Fountain and returning home with part of it ground. A few groceries were stocked. I wouldn't know what. There must have been shoes and gloves on the shelves, some dress goods, and probably odds and ends of harness, unless those first pioneers were driving oxen. I haven't heard that many of them were.

I remember when I was a boy in Denver I went on a summer camping trip with another boy. At a small town a short distance outside of the city we stopped at a store that might have been like the first store in Colorado City. We were driving a team of slow going mules. On the high platform-like porch of the store there was a nail keg, in which was stuck a bouquet of whips. We hefted several buggy whips, asking the mules what they thought about them. They never batted an eye. Then I picked up a large braided leather blacksnake and asked the mules their opinion concerning it. They pricked up their ears at once. We bought the blacksnake, cracked it a time or two for practice, and thruout the rest of that day had no occasion to use it. The mules trotted along quite satisfactorily. I wonder if such a scene were ever enacted at the Tappan store in Colorado City.

There were no newspaper advertisements of sales at that store. And for good reason. There were no newspapers.

During the year I worked on the Colorado Springs Gazette staff, in 1910, I was frequently assigned to cover the Colorado City run. Or Old Town as we called it. Besides one fairly large newspaper in Old Town there then, there were two one-man sheets the editors were also printer reporter, business manager and circulation department. They seemed to be more interested in their trenchant editorials than anything else in the papers. I used to drop in to chat with them.

I would see them standing at the case composing an editorial by setting the type. When they would start a sentence and then think of a more biting phrase than the one they had used they would throw back type so fast the eye could scarcely follow the movements, to start the sentence over again.

Their leaden rhetoric was sometimes something terrific. But this, of course, was long after the Tappan store was in existence. In my time there was a row of saloons on Colorado Avenue, between 25th Street and 26th Street, that occupied every building on the south side of the block but one.

Much of the doings in these thirst-quenching institutions that became news of the day concerned residents of Colorado Springs, a city then supposed to be bone dry. At midnight a procession of horse-drawn cabs would transport eastbound tipplers to their homes in the famous second city at the foot of Pikes Peak, sans beer, whiskey or wine. Manitou, the town actually at the foot of Pikes Peak, had one or two saloons of its own. I don't remember any midnight cab procession from Colorado City there.

Colorado Avenue. That was the name of the main street in Colorado City. When Colorado City was annexed to Colorado Springs the eastern end of this street common to both of the joiners was Huerfano Street. Colorado Avenue was made the name of the street from end to end. It was a good thing. Noboy knew how to pronounce Huerfano, anyway.

Annual Reports Eliminated for State Agencies

DENVER (AP) — Colorado's House of Representatives gave quick final passage wednesday to a bill intended to eliminate elaborate, expensive annual reports by state agencies.

The House passed the bill unanimously and sent it to the Senate.

The bill requires the form and expenditures for reports to be approved by the state controller.

Its chief House sponsor, Rep. John Nichols, R-Simla, says it will save a minimum of 165,000 yearly.

The bill has bipartisan backing and was recommended by the Legislature's Committee on Organization of State Government.

The House gave quick preliminary approval to a measure allowing obsolete records on motor vehicles to be destroyed after one year. Records which might be needed in accident cases will be preserved.

COLORADO SPRINGS
GAZETTE-TELEGRAPH
Your Freedom Newspaper
Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Capricious Government

What many people do not seem to understand about the anti-trust laws presently in vogue in the United States, is that there are two absolutely contradictory sets of rules. The Sherman Act, which in the latter days of the 19th century (1890) invoked some 16th century notions into our economy, favors, in its wording, what has been called the "hard competition" theory. This means that the Sherman Act is supposed to encourage freedom of competition and to make it possible for business and industry to keenly compete with each other.

But since that time, the Robinson Patman Act (1936) has introduced the conflicting theory of "soft competition." This theory has it that a businessman who competes too keenly can be held in violation of the laws favoring competition.

The conflict between these two opposing philosophies was summed up some years ago by Benjamin Fairless, who then was president of U.S. Steel. Mr. Fairless said: "We have on our federal statute books today a complete hodge-podge of so-called 'anti-trust' laws which have been allowed to grow, like Topsy, for sixty years, and which cannot be reconciled with each other. And the only way that a businessman can be sure of obeying them all is just to go broke."

To quote an excellent article by M. R. Lefkoe on the subject (U.S.A., Vol. X, Nos. 21 & 22): "The specific conflict between these two anti-trust statutes is found in the area of pricing. It is extremely difficult — if not impossible — for a company to compete, as the Sherman Act commands, without selective price cutting; yet 'price discrimination' is a violation of Robinson-Patman."

Thus, if a businessman charges lower prices than his competition, he can face prosecution for unfair competition. If he charges higher prices, he can also face prosecution because it will be assumed that he has a monopoly position. If he charges the same price his competitors ask, then he will be charged with conspiring to fix prices.

The anti-trust laws of the United States are nothing more than an expression of the confusion faced by socialist mentalities as they bemoan the workings of a free market. Ask any socialist. If prices rise, he will cry out in rage, claiming that customers are being robbed. If prices fall, he will cry out in panic that we are going into a depression and the government must act. And if prices remain the same, he will cry out in anger, claiming that collusion and corruption are rampant.

How do you please a socialist? You cannot. Socialists are so confused with the workings of the market that they are simply reduced to objecting to everything that occurs.

Mr. Lowell Mason is quoted by Mr. Lefkoe to show the absolute folly of the anti-trust laws as they exist. Mr. Mason was at one time an administrator in the F.T.C. Here are his words:

"As an administrator of two anti-trust laws diametrically opposed to each other, it was not difficult for me to accuse everybody at a trade convention with being some kind of a lawbreaker. Either they were all charging everyone the same prices, indicating a violation of the Sherman Act, or they were not charging everyone the same price, a circumstance indicating a violation of the Robinson-Patman act.

"Most businessmen took this kind of jibing in good grace. But at one convention a man interrupted my speech to say the commission had recently sued him for doing both. To which I replied: 'Then in that event, how can you win? We shall probably find you guilty of one or the other!'

"His retort: 'You damn fools found me guilty of both!' "

This is evidence of the kind of government folly warned about by Thomas Jefferson, "capricious" government which labors incessantly both for and against every situation that can be imagined.

Paradox

Paradoxical tho it may seem, the greatest individualists ever produced by the human race have had a magnificent concept of the problems inherent in mass thinking.

Climate of Uncertainty

In the foregoing, we have commented briefly on the conflicting philosophies presently being followed in the Federal Trade Commission of the government. There is another aspect of the matter which also deserves some comment.

Not only can you be found in violation of law if you charge the same prices as your competitor, or if you do not; there seems to be a standing policy in the F.T.C. that hard and fast rules will not be formulated.

We quote a few chosen phrases to that effect:

Howard McGrath, former U.S. attorney general, was questioned: "Then doesn't it all boil down to one thing — shouldn't there be developed a set of standards by which a businessman would know whether he was violating the anti - trust laws?"

Answer (by McGrath): "I would think it would be a disadvantage to businessmen generally if we tried to write hard and fast rules. . .I don't think it would be desirable to try to put down a specific code."

William Douglas, Supreme Court justice: ". . .The law will always teem with uncertainty . . . . .under the democratic scheme of things. . .Philosophers of the democratic faith will rejoice in the uncertainty of the law and find strength and glory in it."

Lowell Mason, F.T.C. administrator: "A law which cannot be applied with certainty to the current affairs of everyday business is ex post facto in effect."

Harold Fleming, author of "Ten Thousand Commandments" . . ."Business practices of years ago, which everybody then thought entirely legal, are now considered illegal, and the interpretation extends backward. It is as tho a man who made a right turn on a red light when it was considered legal was later punished for his turn when such turns were made illegal.

"The statute of limitations would mercifully cut this menace off after three years, if it were not for two things. In the first place, the Supreme Court now allows evidence from the long-dead past to be dug up by the Anti-trust Division and used to show a 'pattern' or 'state of mind' that is then applied to the previous three years. Thus in the Pullman case (1943), a resolution of the board of directors of Pullman in 1870 was relied upon in finding the 'intent to monopolize.'

"And, in the second place, anti-trust cases often take more than three years from indictment to final decision; meantime, the law is reinterpreted."

We are indebted to Mr. Lefkoe and his fine article, to which reference was made in the foregoing, for these quotations.

What is seen here, is not the practice of a tyranny under a dictatorship such as we might have expected in Hitler's Germany or Tojo's Japan. What we see here is the administration and practice of the American government as it moves to find virtually every businessman guilty of something if and when it chooses to do so.

And this is the climate that exists in this nation which was made great by our marvelous free enterprise system and the recognized right of free men to own and manage productive enterprises.

The truth is, as we have often stated, that competition will exist naturally in the market place unless it is restrained, or prohibited. Monopoly in any harmful sense is the product of government and nothing else. Only government can prevent the entry of a new competitor into an otherwise free market.

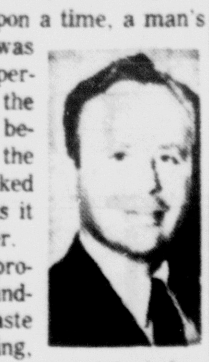
Thus, all anti-trust laws have actually served the purpose of creating monopolies, which they were designed to prevent. When it was found, for instance, that under the Sherman Anti-trust Act, monopolies were formed, then the Robinson-Patman Act, which contradicts the Sherman Act, was introduced. By this process, non-monopolists were found to be monopolists, and punishment ensued for the mere crime of being in business.

Where our enterprise system could be in this country were it not for this government intervention, will probably never be known.

To The Point

A Man's Clothing

By RUSSELL KIRK



As a lover of things permanent, I like my clothing to last. Once upon a time, a man's clothing was part of his personality and the older it became, the more he liked it, so long as it held together.

But mass production, standardizing of taste by advertising, and what the automobile industry calls "accelerated obsolescence" have put an end to that, for most people. In the expectation that people want their clothes to wear out soon, so that they may keep up with latest artificially stimulated fashion, manufacturers and shopkeepers oblige by smart shoddiness.

Take shirts. Ordinarily the collars and cuffs grow frayed long before the body of the shirt has deteriorated. If one could get extra collars and cuffs, and have them sewn on, one's shirt bills might be halved. The British still do this, selling an extra collar and cuffs with each new shirt. But the American, complain of heavy taxes and high cost of living tho he may, apparently is too snobbish to ask for this economy. Or perhaps the shirtmakers are too canny to give him a chance to diminish his shirt budget.

Take suits. Ordinarily the trousers wear out before the coat and vest; so any sensible man ought to buy two pairs of trousers with every suit. But in ready-made clothing stores, often it is difficult to obtain a second pair. And sometimes the cloth and stitching are so inferior that one wouldn't care to wear coat and vest longer than the lifetime of one pair of trousers, anyway. If only tailors would employ linen thread, waxed, at least the buttons would stay on for a year or so.

The prices of men's clothing in this country are remarkably stable and have risen conspicuously less than most items in the cost of living. (In this, they are like five-cent candy bars and ten-cent cigars.) But something has to give, in an inflationary time, and so the quality has suffered. In the long run, the cheaper the clothes you buy, the higher your clothing bills — for quick replacement.

To be really economical in this realm, buy the very best suit material and have it made up by a painstaking tailor, who still is willing to stitch. Usually those hats and shoes which seem most expensive, I find, are the cheapest in the long run. One good hat has lasted me a decade. A small capital investment in good materials and workmanship will put money in your pocket.

If you buy durable clothing, of course you won't be able to indulge in the latest fads. But good taste in men's clothing has altered very little, really, in recent years. And if you must, you always can have good garments slightly restyled.

Some people, of course, had rather spend their dollars on new clothes than on anything else. (This is even truer of Mediterranean peoples today, probably, than of Americans.) But to me, this is the most childish of preferences, and rather abhorrent — like the notion of acquiring a new lapdog every week, or a new wife every year. There are so many other things better worth paying for: a beautiful house, travel, books, theater, debts.

The final advantage of good old clothes is that you don't dare get much fatter, lest you burst the seams. For such a one as I, of Scottish ancestry, this is a powerful caution against overeating.

Question Box

QUESTION NO. 420: "What is the real meaning of the statement, 'a government of law rather than a government of men'?"

ANSWER: It means that the government should be operated on universal, eternal, common laws which apply equally to all men. That there is no special privilege to any individual, that every man is equal before the law as he is before God, that men are innocent until they are proven guilty. With a government of law you cannot have what is known as "ex post facto" law, that is, make a law labeling a particular action a crime after the act has been done.

The Declaration of Independence was an attempt to have a government of law rather than a government of men. It implied that all men are endowed with the right to take action to try to preserve their lives and to secure liberty and retain it, so long as they respect the right of the other person to do the same.

But the Constitution departed immediately from this concept of government of law and substituted a government of men. The Constitution gives men the right to tax, and with the Sixteenth Amendment they give these men the right to tax one man at one rate and another man at a different rate. That is purely a government of men rather than a government of laws.

Tax-supported schools are a government of men rather than a government of law. Tax-supported schools violate the law of voluntaryism. They contend that the majority of individuals have the right to force a minority to pay for something that they do not regard as education, as beneficial. An individual or a minority does not have a right to force the majority to pay for anything that they do not want to use.

Our trouble is that we are more and more coming to have a government of men rather than a government of universal, mathematical principles that are eternal and do not change with time and place. What we need to do is to get back as nearly as possible to a government of law rather than a government of men or politicians.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

$55 Million Aid Program In Ghana

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The special foreign aid review panel is tossing President Johnson a short-fused policy time-bomb in its plan for reorganizing the multi-billion dollar program.

Headed by Undersecretary of State George Ball, the administration's study group sent to the White House, without comment, a recommendation of the Agency for International Development that the U.S. shut down its aid mission in Ghana, which is rapidly becoming a Marxist state.

Under this AID proposal, the 30-member staff in Accra would be recalled immediately and their activities closed out by the U.S. embassy during the coming months.

The $55 million question of continuing participation in the Volta River project, the largest U.S. AID venture in Africa, is being left solely up to President Johnson because of its explosive international implications.

While AID officials made no specific recommendations on the project, the proposed closing of the AID mission is being taken at the White House as the agency's disapproval of further U.S. help for the $198 million dam as well as other AID programs.

The late President Kennedy made the controversial decision two years ago to underwrite the Volta River project with $100 million in long-term loans to be made over a period of years.

An estimated 55 per cent of the loans have been paid out to Ghana by AID and the Export-Import Bank. Other payments due to be made during 1964-65 will total approximately $50 million. U.S. aid to Ghana since 1956 totals $159 million.

Before President Johnson acts on the AID recommendation, White House aides report he will send his own special representative to Ghana for a first-hand look at the situation and a talk with Nkrumah.

'THE CIRCLE'

—At the time of the decision to provide aid for the Volta River project, U.S. intelligence authorities warned President Kennedy that Ghana's President Kwame Nkrumah was a "Marxist with strong preferences for the Soviet system."

Not only has this dire warning been fully confirmed in recent months, but the Central Intelligence Agency has gathered new evidence of his Communist links and plans for Africa.

One Intelligence estimate now being circulated throughout the administration named the Ghanaian President as the head of "The Circle," a secret Communist revolutionary group with the objective of "creating and maintaining a Union of African Socialist Republics."

This clandestine group, organized and financed by the Kremlin, has its own secret code which is very similar to that of the Cosa Nostra — the underworld organization known as "The Thing."

Under "The Circle's" oath of allegiance, members face certain death if they divulge any secrets, plans or movements of "The Circle" or "betray another member."

Members must pledge that they will always "serve, sacrifice and suffer anything for the cause for which 'The Circle' stands, and will at all times be ready to go on any mission ordered by Nkrumah."

According to the Intelligence estimate, Nkrumah's recent announcements and actions in Ghana indicate he may be planning to surface his organization and reveal its aims.

It quotes one of "The Circle's" secret documents as forecasting, "At such time as may be deemed advisable 'The Circle' will come out openly as a political party embracing the whole of West Africa, and whose policy then shall be to maintain the Union of African Socialist Republics."

Recent U.S. visitors to Ghana report that Nkrumah's sympathies are running strongly toward the Soviet Union. While the CIA has had no role in assassination plots against him, Nkrumah privately claims U.S. Intelligence operators have been involved.

WHITE HOUSE INSIDE — President Johnson had some uneasy moments when he presided over a recent White House meeting of congressional leaders and private citizens to discuss his new immigration proposals.

After the President opened the conference by urging speedy passage of his plan to liberalize the immigration quota system, he called on Senator Philip Hart, D-Mich., one of the legislation's strongest supporters, to speak.

While Senator Hart was talking, Representative Michael Feighan, D-O., chairman of the Joint Senate-House Committee on Immigration, whispered to the President that he would like to say a few words.

"I'll call on you, Mike," said the President, "but I don't want a debate."

"I'm not going to debate," replied Representative Feighan. "I just want a chance to tell everyone here the facts of life."

And that is what Representative Feighan proceeded to do when the President called on him.

He frankly told the gathering that there would be a complete review of the immigration laws and how they have been administered before there would be any action on the President's proposal.

"It has been 10 years since Congress conducted a full-scale study of the immigration laws and how the laws are being administered," reported Representative Feighan. "The Joint Committee believes that such a review is necessary before Congress acts on any new immigration proposals."

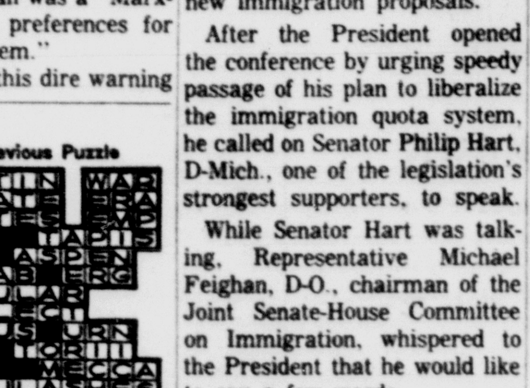
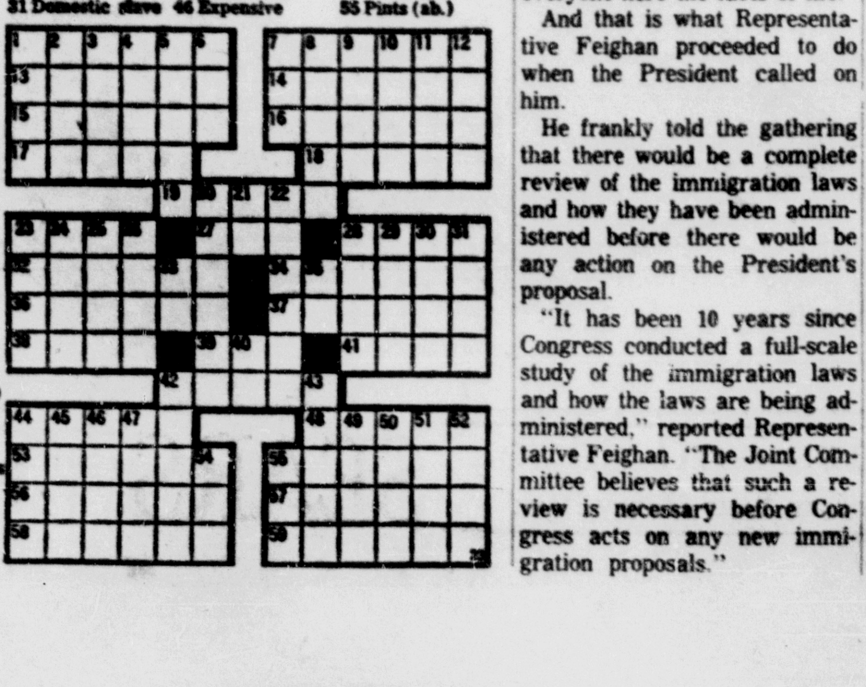
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Legalized Gambling

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, PhD

The principles of the philosophy of freedom apply to every aspect of human activity and motivation but, for some reason, a good many people seem to believe the principles are variable, depending upon the subject under consideration.

I suppose this situation is basically helpful since it provides me with a variety of questions, covering a wide range of subject matter. The question to be answered in this instance is, "Do you favor legalized gambling?"

The letter writer asking the question suggested that legalized gambling could be instituted by government and the profits which could be derived would be used as a substitute for income or property taxes. He envisions a situation, then, where those who do not wish to gamble would not be taxed, as a reward for virtue, but expects the majority of the people to gamble.

From my point of view, the amount of money which might be raised, the special privilege thus provided for those who do not gamble and the idea of substituting one form of taxation for another, are of no importance when I consider the words "legalized gambling." The words suggest that government approval of gambling makes it moral or acceptable and that that government may legalize that which is illegal without government approval and in so doing wipe out any stigma which would make the action frowned upon in the first place.

My reply to the question is NO! I do not and will not favor legalized gambling. Does this mean I am opposed to gambling? It does not! If you wish to play poker, betting on the cards, or shoot dice or bet on one horse against the others, or bet on your golf game or the results of any sporting event, I consider such actions as your business, not mine. In addition, I do not believe your gambling is the business of government.

A government governs. A government exercises control over control, whether you, as an individual, want to be so controlled or not. When government legalizes gambling, government exrcises control over the gambling which has been legalized by the action of government. Nothing else has been changed. Now, let's take another look.

I will offer to provide you with a high-grade brand of protection for your life and property. Instead of specifying a rate for this protection, I will operate a lottery on a basis which, if I sell enough tickets, will give me a satisfactory profit after the payoff and the operating expenses of my business. I will confine my operations to a specified area and provide the protection to all inhabitants in that area whether they patronize my gambling game or not. Or, I may provide protection only to patrons of my gambling game. Without let or hindance from government, I would be critical of such an operation only if I were a customer and did not receive the advertised service. If I didn't like the service, I would no longer be a customer. It would be that simple.

Now, let's get back to government. The only advertised reason for government is that government protects. History indicates that those involved with government have been guilty of misrepresentation, to put it mildly. Actually, if government is limited by those it governs, we'd better look for a better name and when we do that, we will find ourselves dealing with services provided by private enterprise on a voluntary basis for its patrons.

You see, Mr. Z, I will not murder or steal or attempt to force others to do my bidding even if government places its stamp of approval on such acts. Government has approved of many acts which I do not perform simply because such actions would be in violation of the principles in which I believe. I may be forced to support activities of which I do not approve but I do not support them willingly. I do not sanction the right of government to either legalize or prohibit gambling. We do not gamble in Nevada where government licenses and controls gambling but I am not opposed to gambling, per se.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

The Local Scene

The New Look

By RUFUS L. PORTER

Verily, the old town hath a new look. For many years the only handsome building on the Pikes Peak Avenue - Tejon Street intersection was the Exchange National Bank. The old First National Bank building had a sturdy, solid look, but it could hardly have been called handsome. The two-story building that was "Busy Corner" and the one south of it across Tejon were not built with beauty in mind. But, in the late twenties, the Holly Sugar Company rebuilt the latter one and added two stories, with, I am told, enough built-in strength to hold another story or two when needed. I recall that they had to remove all the plate glass windows from the street floor and cut them down an inch, the pressure was that great from the added weight. While beauty was not necessarily one of the motives of Holly Sugar at the time, the refurbishing job, tho not precisely beautiful, was certainly an improvement that added distinction to the main business intersection of the city.

Now, with the handsome New First National Bank building on the northwest corner and the truly distinctive and beautiful new building about to be completed on the old Busy Corner, downtown Colorado Springs begins to take on the aspects of a thriving city — one with an eye for beauty as well as utility in its business buildings. I have been informed that the First National Bank also was built with strength enough for added stories.

Viewing this corner the other day, I got to remembering the "old look" of the business section, 'way back there before the always handsome Hibbard's store was erected; when Kaufman's was located in the middle of the 100 block on the west side of Tejon Street; when "Robbins on the Corner" was an old landmark where the Bain store is now (this building has had a fine face-lifting job, too); when the Stratton Building was a two-story brick (I remember when it was built) with a drug store on the corner, the ever present M. K. Meyers Jewelry store next door, and I don't recall how many pool tables in the wide upstairs. This building has been twice rebuilt and beautified in recent years to suit Kaufman's growing needs.

Across Colorado Avenue was the Cut Rate Drug store (that Stratton himself had built); a new building also stands there now. And the Colorado Commercial Bank has done a fine improvement job, as has the Colorado Springs National up the street. The Perkins-Shearer building, that used to be the Light, Heat & Power building, was slicked up years ago; the May-D&F was given a face lifting last fall and on the "Jack DeBoer Corner" of Kiowa and Cascade (I remember it before it was his) Neusteters are erecting a building that will give new interest to the whole downtown area. Not only that, Neusteters are solving their own parking problem, too.

Now, I know that many businesses are not wealthy enough to buy a few acres of downtown real estate and clear them off for a parking lot for their customers. But groups of businessmen, working together voluntarily, could certainly find a better way of solving their own problems, parking or otherwise, than asking the city to do it at the expense of their customers, by way of taxes.

Well, I thought, as I looked over the downtown area, this all represents progress in the traditional American, free enterprise manner. Then I drove around the block to have a look at the brand new and certainly handsome Cooper Theatre. And I recalled the old Odian Theatre that had stood there for so long before the Tompkins was built. "The Odious," the natives called it. It was a mildewed nickelodeon.

I may continue this reminiscing another day.

WHY ALL THE TAXES?

To the Editor:

"Come to think about it," said a man the other day, "why do we Americans burden ourselves with taxes anyway? WE work to build a house and home to have privacy for self-development and shelter for protection. Then we pay to have our street paved and to have necessary utilities in our homes. We work to have an organic garden and trade for some extra food. Our clothing and furniture is supplied with some pleasurable work or also acquired in trade. There are exceptionally few who are so illiterate that they are not able to teach their own children the three R's, together with some basic education and inspiration from the inspired Scriptures, from which to receive wisdom to live in a faithful relationship with God and man. All there is left which requires payment for special work are those who have professional services to offer such as the artist, teacher, lawyer, minister and statesman. The extra expense in money these professions require to serve humanity is easily paid with a free-will offering of dimes and dollars, which otherwise are thrown down the drain.

"So why all the public-private debts and taxes to undermine a law-abiding citizen's home and the environment he works to build? What do you think?"

GAZETTE-TELEGRAPH
Your Freedom Newspaper
Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Capricious Government

What many people do not seem to understand about the anti-trust laws presently in vogue in the United States, is that there are two absolutely contradictory sets of rules. The Sherman Act, which in the latter days of the 19th century (1890) invoked some 16th century notions into our economy, favors, in its wording, what has been called the "hard competition" theory. This means that the Sherman Act is supposed to encourage freedom of competition and to make it possible for business and industry to keenly compete with each other.

But since that time, the Robinson Patman Act (1936) has introduced the conflicting theory of "soft competition." This theory has it that a businessman who competes too keenly can be held in violation of the laws favoring competition

The conflict between these two opposing philosophies was summed up some years ago by Benjamin Fairless, who then was president of U.S. Steel. Mr. Fairless said: "We have on our federal statute books today a complete hodge-podge of so-called 'anti-trust' laws which have been allowed to grow, like Topsy, for sixty years, and which cannot be reconciled with each other. And the only way that a businessman can be sure of obeying them all is just to go broke."

To quote an excellent article by M. R. Lefkoe on the subject (U.S.A., Vol. X, Nos. 21 & 22): "The specific conflict between these two anti-trust statutes is found in the area of pricing. It is extremely difficult — if not impossible — for a company to compete, as the Sherman Act commands, without selective price cutting; yet 'price discrimination' is a violation of Robinson-Patman."

Thus, if a businessman charges lower prices than his competition, he can face prosecution for unfair competition. If he charges higher prices, he can also face prosecution because it will be assumed that he has a monopoly position. If he charges the same price his competitors ask, then he will be charged with conspiring to fix prices.

The anti-trust laws of the United States are nothing more than an expression of the confusion faced by socialist mentalities as they bemoan the workings of a free market. Ask any socialist. If prices rise, he will cry out in rage, claiming that customers are being robbed. If prices fall, he will cry out in panic that we are going into a depression and the government must act. And if prices remain the same, he will cry out in anger, claiming that collusion and corruption are rampant.

How do you please a socialist? You cannot. Socialists are so confused with the workings of the market that they are simply reduced to objecting to everything that occurs.

Mr. Lowell Mason is quoted by Mr. Lefkoe to show the absolute folly of the anti-trust laws as they exist. Mr. Mason was at one time an administrator in the F.T.C. Here are his words:

"As an administrator of two anti-trust laws diametrically opposed to each other, it was not difficult for me to accuse everybody at a trade convention with being some kind of a lawbreaker. Either they were all charging everyone the same prices, indicating a violation of the Sherman Act, or they were not charging everyone the same price, a circumstance indicating a violation of the Robinson-Patman act.

"Most businessmen took this kind of jibing in good grace. But at one convention a man interrupted my speech to say the commission had recently sued him for doing both. To which I replied: 'Then in that event, how can you win? We shall probably find you guilty of one or the other!'

"His retort: 'You damn fools found me guilty of both!' "

This is evidence of the kind of government folly warned about by Thomas Jefferson, "capricious" government which labors incessantly both for and against every situation that can be imagined.

Paradox

Paradoxical tho it may seem, the greatest individualists ever produced by the human race have had a magnificent concept of the problems inherent in mass thinking.

Climate of Uncertainty

In the foregoing, we have commented briefly on the conflicting philosophies presently being followed in the Federal Trade Commission of the government. There is another aspect of the matter which also deserves some comment.

Not only can you be found in violation of law if you charge the same prices as your competitor, or if you do not; there seems to be a standing policy in the F.T.C. that hard and fast rules will not be formulated.

We quote a few chosen phrases to that effect:

Howard McGrath, former U.S. attorney general, was questioned: "Then doesn't it all boil down to one thing — shouldn't there be developed a set of standards by which a businessman would know whether he was violating the anti-trust laws?"

Answer (by McGrath): "I would think it would be a disadvantage to businessmen generally if we tried to write hard and fast rules. . .I don't think it would be desirable to try to put down a specific code."

William Douglas, Supreme Court justice: ". . .The law will always teem with uncertainty . . . . .under the democratic scheme of things. . .Philosophers of the democratic faith will rejoice in the uncertainty of the law and find strength and glory in it."

Lowell Mason, F.T.C. administrator: "A law which cannot be applied with certainty to the current affairs of everyday business is ex post facto in effect."

Harold Fleming, author of "Ten Thousand Commandments" . . ."Business practices of years ago, which everybody then thought entirely legal, are now considered illegal, and the interpretation extends backward. It is as tho a man who made a right turn on a red light when it was considered legal was later punished for his turn when such turns were made illegal.

"The statute of limitations would mercifully cut this menace off after three years, if it were not for two things. In the first place, the Supreme Court now allows evidence from the long-dead past to be dug up by the Anti-trust Division and used to show a 'pattern' or 'state of mind' that is then applied to the previous three years. Thus in the Pullman case (1943), a resolution of the board of directors of Pullman in 1870 was relied upon in finding the 'intent to monopolize.'

"And, in the second place, anti-trust cases often take more than three years from indictment to final decision; meantime, the law is reinterpreted."

We are indebted to Mr. Lefkoe and his fine article, to which reference was made in the foregoing, for these quotations.

What is seen here, is not the practice of a tyranny under a dictatorship such as we might have expected in Hitler's Germany or Tojo's Japan. What we see here is the administration and practice of the American government as it moves to find virtually every businessman guilty of something if and when it chooses to do so.

And this is the climate that exists in this nation which was made great by our marvelous free enterprise system and the recognized right of free men to own and manage productive enterprises.

The truth is, as we have often stated, that competition will exist naturally in the market place unless it is restrained, or prohibited. Monopoly in any harmful sense is the product of government and nothing else. Only government can prevent the entry of a new competitor into an otherwise free market.

Thus, all anti-trust laws have actually served the purpose of creating monopolies, which they were designed to prevent. When it was found, for instance, that under the Sherman Anti-trust Act, monopolies were formed, then the Robinson-Patman Act, which contradicts the Sherman Act, was introduced. By this process, non-monopolists were found to be monopolists, and punishment ensued for the mere crime of being in business.

Where our enterprise system could be in this country were it not for this government intervention, will probably never be known.

To The Point

A Man's Clothing

By RUSSELL KIRK

As a lover of things permanent, I like my clothing to last. Once upon a time, a man's clothing was part of his personality and the older it became, the more he liked it, so long as it held together.

But mass production, standardizing of taste by advertising, and what the automobile industry calls "accelerated obsolescence" have put an end to that, for most people. In the expectation that people want their clothes to wear out soon, so that they may keep up with latest artificially stimulated fashion, manufacturers and shopkeepers oblige by smart shoddiness.

Take shirts. Ordinarily the collars and cuffs grow frayed long before the body of the shirt has deteriorated. If one could get extra collars and cuffs, and have them sewn on, one's shirt bills might be halved. The British still do this, selling an extra collar and cuffs with each new shirt. But the American, complain of heavy taxes and high cost of living tho he may, apparently is too snobbish to ask for this economy. Or perhaps the shirtmakers are too canny to give him a chance to diminish his shirt budget.

Take suits. Ordinarily the trousers wear out before the coat and vest; so any sensible man ought to buy two pairs of trousers with every suit. But in ready-made clothing stores, often it is difficult to obtain a second pair. And sometimes the cloth and stitching are so inferior that one wouldn't care to wear coat and vest longer than the lifetime of one pair of trousers, anyway. If only tailors would employ linen thread, waxed, at least the buttons would stay on for a year or so.

The prices of men's clothing in this country are remarkably stable and have risen conspicuously less than most items in the cost of living. (In this, they are like five-cent candy bars and ten-cent cigars.) But something has to give, in an inflationary time, and so the quality has suffered. In the long run, the cheaper the clothes you buy, the higher your clothing bills — for quick replacement.

To be really economical in this realm, buy the very best suit material and have it made up by a painstaking tailor, who still is willing to stitch. Usually those hats and shoes which seem most expensive, I find, are the cheapest in the long run. One good hat has lasted me a decade. A small capital investment in good materials and workmanship will put money in your pocket.

If you buy durable clothing, of course you won't be able to indulge in the latest fads. But good taste in men's clothing has altered very little, really, in recent years. And if you must, you always can have good garments slightly restyled.

Some people, of course, had rather spend their dollars on new clothes than on anything else. (This is even truer of Mediterranean peoples today, probably, than of Americans.) But to me, this is the most childish of preferences, and rather abhorrent — like the notion of acquiring a new lapdog every week, or a new wife every year. There are so many other things better worth paying for: a beautified house, travel, books, theater, debts.

The final advantage of good old clothes is that you don't dare get much fatter, lest you burst the seams. For such a one as I, of Scottish ancestry, this is a powerful caution against overeating.

Question Box

QUESTION NO. 420: "What is the real meaning of the statement, 'a government of law rather than a government of men'?"

ANSWER: It means that the government should be operated on universal, eternal, common laws which apply equally to all men. That there is no special privilege to any individual, that every man is equal before the law as he is before God, that men are innocent until they are proven guilty. With a government of law you cannot have what is known as "ex post facto" law, that is, make a law labeling a particular action a crime after the act has been done.

The Declaration of Independence was an attempt to have a government of law rather than a government of men. It implied that all men are endowed with the right to take action to try to preserve their lives and to secure liberty and retain it, so long as they respect the right of the other person to do the same.

But the Constitution departed immediately from this concept of government of law and substituted a government of men. The Constitution gives men the right to tax, and with the Sixteenth Amendment they give these men the right to tax one man at one rate and another man at a different rate. That is purely a government of men rather than a government of laws.

Tax-supported schools are a government of men rather than a government of law. Tax-supported schools violate the law of voluntaryism. They contend that the majority of individuals have the right to force a minority to pay for something that they do not regard as education, as beneficial. An individual or a minority does not have a right to force the majority to pay for anything that they do not want to use.

Our trouble is that we are more and more coming to have a government of men rather than a government of universal, mathematical principles that are eternal and do not change with time and place. What we need to do is to get back as nearly as possible to a government of law rather than a government of men or politicians.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

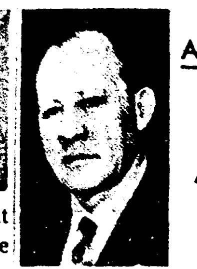
$55 Million Aid Program In Ghana



ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The special foreign aid review panel is tossing President Johnson a short-fused policy time-bomb in its plan for reorganizing the multi-billion dollar program.

Headed by Undersecretary of State George Ball, the administration's study group sent to the White House, without comment, a recommendation of the Agency for International Development that the U.S. shut down its aid mission in Ghana, which is rapidly becoming a Marxist state.

Under this AID proposal, the 30-member staff in Accra would be recalled immediately and their activities closed out by the U.S. embassy during the coming months.

The $55 million question of continuing participation in the Volta River project, the largest U.S. AID venture in Africa, is being left solely up to President Johnson because of its explosive international implications.

While AID officials made no specific recommendations on the project, the proposed closing of the AID mission is being taken at the White House as the agency's disapproval of further U.S. help for the $198 million dam as well as other AID programs.

The late President Kennedy made the controversial decision two years ago to underwrite the Volta River project with $100 million in long-term loans to be made over a period of years.

An estimated 55 per cent of the loans have been paid out to Ghana by AID and the Export-Import Bank. Other payments due to be made during 1964-65 will total approximately $50 million. U.S. aid to Ghana since 1956 totals $159 million.

Before President Johnson acts on the AID recommendation, White House aides report he will send his own special representative to Ghana for a first-hand look at the situation and a talk with Nkrumah.

'THE CIRCLE'

—At the time of the decision to provide aid for the Volta River project, U.S. intelligence authorities warned President Kennedy that Ghana's President Kwame Nkrumah was a "Marxist with strong preferences for the Soviet system."

Not only has this dire warning been fully confirmed in recent months, but the Central Intelligence Agency has gathered new evidence of his Communist links and plans for Africa.

One Intelligence estimate now being circulated throughout the administration named the Ghanaian President as the head of "The Circle," a secret Communist revolutionary group with the objective of "creating and maintaining a Union of African Socialist Republics."

This clandestine group, organized and financed by the Kremlin, has its own secret code which is very similar to that of the Cosa Nostra — the underworld organization known as "The Thing."

Under "The Circle's" oath of allegiance, members face certain death if they divulge any secrets, plans or movements of "The Circle" or "betray another member."

Members must pledge that they will always "serve, sacrifice and suffer anything for the cause for which 'The Circle' stands, and will at all times be ready to go on any mission ordered by Nkrumah."

According to the Intelligence estimate, Nkrumah's recent announcements and actions in Ghana indicate he may be planning to surface his organization and reveal its aims.

It quotes one of "The Circle's" secret documents as forecasting, "At such time as may be deemed advisable 'The Circle' will come out openly as a political party embracing the whole of West Africa, and whose policy then shall be to maintain the Union of African Socialist Republics."

Recent U.S. visitors to Ghana report that Nkrumah's sympathies are running strongly toward the Soviet Union. While the CIA has had no role in assassination plots against him, Nkrumah privately claims U.S. Intelligence operators have been involved.

WHITE HOUSE INSIDE — President Johnson had some uneasy moments when he presided over a recent White House meeting of congressional leaders and private citizens to discuss his new immigration proposals.

After the President opened the conference by urging speedy passage of his plan to liberalize the immigration quota system, he called on Senator Philip Hart, D-Mich., one of the legislation's strongest supporters, to speak.

While Senator Hart was talking, Representative Michael Feighan, D-O., chairman of the Joint Senate-House Committee on Immigration, whispered to the President that he would like to say a few words.

"I'm not going to debate," replied Representative Feighan. "I just want a chance to tell everyone here the facts of life."

And that is what Representative Feighan proceeded to do when the President called on him.

He frankly told the gathering that there would be a complete review of the immigration laws and how they have been administered before there would be any action on the President's proposal.

"It has been 10 years since Congress conducted a full-scale study of the immigration laws and how the laws are being administered," reported Representative Feighan. "The Joint Committee believes that such a review is necessary before Congress acts on any new immigration proposals."

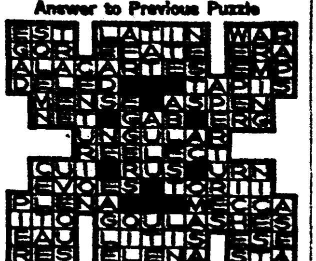
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Legalized Gambling

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, PhD

The principles of the philosophy of freedom apply to every aspect of human activity and motivation but, for some reason, a good many people seem to believe the principles are variable, depending upon the subject under consideration.

I suppose this situation is basically helpful since it provides me with a variety of questions, covering a wide range of subject matter. The question to be answered in this instance is, "Do you favor legalized gambling?"

The letter writer asking the question suggested that legalized gambling could be instituted by government and the profits which could be derived would be used as a substitute for income or property taxes. He envisions a situation, then, where those who do not wish to gamble would not be taxed, as a reward for virtue, but expects the majority of the people to gamble.

From my point of view, the amount of money which might be raised, the special privilege thus provided for those who do not gamble and the idea of substituting one form of taxation for another, are of no importance when I consider the words "legalized gambling." The words suggest that government approval of gambling makes it moral or acceptable and that that government may legalize that which is illegal without government approval and in so doing wipe out any stigma which would make the action frowned upon in the first place.

My reply to the question is NO! I do not and will not favor legalized gambling. Does this mean I am opposed to gambling? It does not! If you wish to play poker, betting on the cards, or shoot dice or bet on one horse against the others, or bet on your golf game or the results of any sporting event, I consider such actions as your business, not mine. In addition, I do not believe your gambling is the business of government.

A government governs. A government exercises control over control, whether you, as an individual, want to be so controlled or not. When government legalizes gambling, government exercises control over the gambling which has been legalized by the action of government. Nothing else has been changed. Now, let's take another look.

I will offer to provide you with a high-grade brand of protection for your life and property. Instead of specifying a rate for this protection, I will operate a lottery on a basis which, if I sell enough tickets, will give me a satisfactory profit after the payoff and the operating expenses of my business. I will confine my operations to a specified area and provide the protection to all inhabitants in that area whether they patronize my gambling game or not. Or, I may provide protection only to patrons of my gambling game. Without let or hindance from government, I would be critical of such an operation only if I were a customer and did not receive the advertised service. If I didn't like the service, I would no longer be a customer. It would be that simple.

Now, let's get back to government. The only advertised reason for government is that government protects. History indicates that those involved with government have been guilty of misrepresentation, to put it mildly. Actually, if government is limited by those it governs, we'd better look for a better name and when we do that, we will find ourselves dealing with services provided by private enterprise on a voluntary basis for its patrons.

You see, Mr. Z, I will not murder or steal or attempt to force others to do my bidding even if government places its stamp of approval on such acts. Government has approved of many acts which I do not perform simply because such actions would be in violation of the principles in which I believe. I may be forced to support activities of which I do not approve but I do not support them willingly. I do not sanction the right of government to either legalize or prohibit gambling. We do not gamble in Nevada where government licenses and controls gambling but I am not opposed to gambling, per se.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

The Local Scene

The New Look

By RUFUS L. PORTER

Verily, the old town hath a new look. For many years the only handsome building on the Pikes Peak Avenue - Tejon Street intersection was the Exchange National Bank. The old First National Bank building had a sturdy, solid look, but it could hardly have been called handsome. The two-story building that was "Busy Corner" and the one south of it across Tejon were not built with beauty in mind. But, in the late twenties, the Holly Sugar Company rebuilt the latter one and added two stories, with, I am told, enough built-in strength to hold another story or two when needed. I recall that they had to remove all the plate glass windows from the street floor and cut them down an inch, the pressure was that great from the added weight. While beauty was not necessarily one of the motives of Holly Sugar at the time, the refurbishing job, tho not precisely beautiful, was certainly an improvement that added distinction to the main business intersection of the city.

Now, with the handsome New First National Bank building on the northwest corner and the truly distinctive and beautiful new building about to be completed on the old Busy Corner, downtown Colorado Springs begins to take on the aspects of a thriving city — one with an eye for beauty as well as utility in its business buildings. I have been informed that the First National Bank also was built with strength enough for added stories.

Viewing this corner the other day, I got to remembering the "old look" of the business section, 'way back there before the always handsome Hibbard's store was erected; when Kaufman's was located in the middle of the 100 block on the west side of Tejon Street; when "Robbins on the Corner" was an old landmark where the Bain store is now (this building has had a fine face-lifting job, too); when the Stratton Building was a two-story brick (I remember when it was built) with a drug store on the corner, the ever present M. K. Meyers Jewelry store next door, and I don't recall how many pool tables in the wide upstairs. This building has been twice rebuilt and beautified in recent years to suit Kaufman's growing needs.

Across Colorado Avenue was the Cut Rate Drug store (that Stratton himself had built); a new building also stands there now. And the Colorado Commercial Bank has done a fine improvement job, as has the Colorado Springs National up the street. The Perkins-Shearer building, that used to be the Light, Heat & Power building, was slicked up years ago; the May-D&F was given a face lifting last fall and on the "Jack DeBoer Corner" of Kiowa and Cascade (I remember it before it was his) Neusteters are erecting a building that will give new interest to the whole downtown area. Not only that, Neusteters are solving their own parking problem, too.

Now, I know that many businesses are not wealthy enough to buy a few acres of downtown real estate and clear them off for a parking lot for their customers. But groups of businessmen, working together voluntarily, could certainly find a better way of solving their own problems, parking or otherwise, than asking the city to do it at the expense of their customers, by way of taxes.

Well, I thought, as I looked over the downtown area, this all represents progress in the traditional American, free enterprise manner. Then I drove around the block to have a look at the brand new and certainly handsome Cooper Theatre. And I recalled the old Odian Theatre that had stood there for so long before the Tompkins was built. "The Odious," the natives called it. It was a mildewed nickelodeon.

I may continue this reminiscing another day.

WHY ALL THE TAXES?

To the Editor:

"Come to think about it," said a man the other day, "why do we Americans burden ourselves with taxes anyway? WE work to build a house and home to have privacy for self-development and shelter for protection. Then we pay to have our street paved and to have necessary utilities in our homes. We work to have an organic garden and trade for some extra food. Our clothing and furniture is supplied with some pleasurable work or also acquired in trade. There are exceptionally few who are so illiterate that they are not able to teach their own children the three R's, together with some basic education and inspiration from the inspired Scriptures, from which to receive wisdom to live in a faithful relationship with God and man. All there is left which requires payment for special work are those who have professional services to offer such as the artist, teacher, lawyer, minister and statesman. The extra expense in money these professions require to serve humanity is easily paid with a free-will offering of dimes and dollars, which otherwise are thrown down the drain.

"So why all the public-private debts and taxes to undermine a law-abiding citizen's home and the environment he works to build? What do you think?"

Chipita Park News

By CAROLYN McADAMS — MU 7-9065

The Rev. and Mrs. Conard Pyle and children left Wednesday morning, Jan. 15, by motor for New York City, where Mr. Pyle will attend the Union Theological Seminary, 120th and Broadway, for a planned study program. Altho he received his A.B. in 1950 and Th.M. in 1954, as in other professions, continued study is essential. At the annual Church in the Wildwood membership meeting in October 1962, the membership granted him one month each year, paid study time (with vacation time not to exceed four months). Mr. and Mrs. Pyle will be in New York until May 15. While there David Pyle will attend a public elementary school and Connie a nursery school. The Rev. Jeffrey Hoy, of Denver, will be the supply minister during their absence and will occupy the parsonage over weekends, Friday through Monday. Mr. Hoy filled the pulpit last Sunday, Jan. 19.

Mrs. Dorothy Sabin Jones gave a "going away" coffee Monday, Jan. 13, at 10 a.m. for Mrs. Wini Pyle for a limited number of guests. Present were Polly Lamb, Martha Gayler, Hermine Bucher, Sallie Bush, Maxine Haynes, Helen Dugdale, Florence Salisbury, Doris Rerick and Helen Newkirk.

Mrs. Beverly Page and Mrs. Jonell Ewart, co-directors of the Little Ute Nursery School, have announced classes will be closed during January and February, as two families have left the area taking four children that were attending. Plans will be made to start a spring class the first of March.

Bill Page has completed the room divider in upper Fellowship Hall, Church in the Wildwood, which will accomodate three upper classes at Sunday School, with more privacy and sound proof conditions.

Mrs. Beverly Page, newly elected president of the Junior Guild, Church in the Wildwood, entertained her executive board members with a luncheon meeting at her home Jan. 16. Elective officers are: Sharaon Ernst, vice president; Barbara Patterson, secretary, who has since moved to Kansas City, Mo., and been replaced by the Executive Board with Carol Anderson; Grace Wilson, treasurer. Appointed as chairman of committees are: Jonell Ewart, finance; Helen Quinn, publicity; Bette Beal, projects; Pat Penman, membership; Carolyn Houchin, hospitality; Lois Henson, cards; Louise Weiman social. At the business session the 1964 projects were discussed, which will include the annual Fashion Show, Vacation Bible School and a Spring Progressive dinner. The first regular meeting of the new year will be held Tuesday evening, Jan. 28, 7:30 p.m., at the home of Louise Weiman.

The annual installation of new officers for the Ute Pass Star group of Snowflake Chapter was held Tuesday, Jan. 14, at the home of Mrs. Ruby Carroll, Woodland Park. Luncheon was served to 19 members. Mrs. Dorothy Erbb, of Florissant, was welcomed as a new member. Installed as new president was Carolyn McAdams, with Ruth Alexander protem, due to Mrs. McAdams being out of town; Betty Reasonover vice president; Maude Crammer secretary and Henriette Dust treasurer. Barbara Elwell, Worthy Matron of Snowflake Chapter was the installing officer.

The January meeting of Snowflake Chapter No. 153 honored the 50 charter members with a "Tree Planting" ceremony. The name of each was printed on a colored oak leaf and placed on the bare branches of a small tree placed in the East, as those present marched around the room. Appropiate verses were given by the Adah, Ruth, Esther, Martha and Electa Star Points, concluding with the address of the Worthy Matron. Snowflake Chapter was constituted, chartered and installed Oct. 5, 1961, at the Shrine Club House in Colorado Springs. Mrs. Madeliene Hughes was installed as the new Adah Star Point officer, due to the resignation of Mrs. Donna Kohl. The installing officers were Alice Flake, Pat Grand Matron of Colorado assisted by Mrs. Ruby Carroll, Marshal and Betty Reasonover organist. The Feb. 14 meeting will be held at the Masonic Temple, Manitou Springs, honoring Worthy Grand Patron and other Grand Officers on their official visit. All Eastern Star members are cordially invited.

The first outing of 1964 for the camping group of the D and B school of Colorado Springs was held at the home of Miss Carol Platts, director, who picked up nine of the older deaf girls Saturday morning at 9 a.m. at the school. They went tobogganing at Catamount Ranch and ice skating at the lake in Green Mountain Falls. After the weekend of fun, meals and slumber party, the girls returned to the school Sunday at 4 p.m.

Mrs. Marlene Willie was the baritone voice in the Sweet Adeline Quartet which won first first place for Columbine Chapter in a "Woodshed" contest held recently. Four judges from the chapter made the award on the song "Let The Rest of the World Go By". A Regional Novice Quartet contest will be held Jan. 25 in Denver.

Frank Van Arsdale, manager of the Brockhurst Boys Ranch reports a new vinyl linoleum has been installed on the dining room floor and one of the cabins at the ranch, thanks for the project going to the Lioness Club and Ray. As part of the animal husbandry program, of the boys took two pigs to the four of the boys took two pigs to the Pikes Peak auction Saturday. Proceeds from the sale will help buy feed for the other animals. As a community service project, four other boys from Brockhurst Ranch spent Saturday helping Sallie Bush repair chairs at the Community Building.

Members of Boy Scout Troop 26, sponsored their third annual community skating party Saturday, Jan. 11, on the Lake in Green Mountain Falls, with some 150 to 175 persons attending. Contributions from the Ute Pass Community Association the Town of GMF; Edwards Grocery, Neal's Candies and several individuals furnished gallons of hot chocolate, pounds and pounds of weiners, buns and marshmallows for the revelers, beginning at 6 p.m. till 8 p.m.

Competing in the Ute District First - Aid-O- Ree, held Wednesday night at the National Guard Armory Building in Colorado Springs, were the following Scouts from Troop 26 Terry Thomson, Bob Brooks, David Mayfield, Ronnie Slaven, Lance Rossi, Robbie Blosser the 'Victim" and Layne Van Arsdale the "Instructor." Altho the group did not score, they received a certificate of Participation. Charles Stull Scout Master of Troop 26, has appointed Layne Van Arsdale junior assistant scout master for the Boy Scout Troop No. 26.

Frank Van Arsdale, neighborhood commissioner for Boy Scouts in upper Ute Pass, has organized a Weblo Den which meets with the Boy Scout Troop 26, on Friday evenings in the Community Building, Green Mountain Falls. Members share in the opening and closing ceremonies with the Scouts, and then have a separate training class. To qualify for the Weblos, a boy must be 10½ years old, and be a member of a Cub Scout Den, having earned his Lions Badge. There is a six months tranition period between the age 10½ till 11 when a lad may become a Boy Scout. Bill Anderson of Chipita Park and John Woods of Green Mountain Falls are members at the present time. Several others in the area will soon be qualified to join.

Twenty members of the second and third grade Brownie Troop No. 110 were present at their meeting Jan. 15 at the home of Grace Wilson, leader, with Phyllis Giles co-leader. The lesson for the day was learning to make square knots. The three patrols have been given names as follows, "Dark Eyes" with Ferrell Carson leader; "The Eagles" with Kitsey Kohl leader; "The Hawks" with Debra Quinn Leader.

A series of parties honoring the Misses Anna and Edith Edwards of Kansas City, Missouri, who spent their first winter holidays in Ute Pass, altho they have been summer residents in their "Ridgecrest" cottage in Chipita Park, for many years, began with a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Mollie Tanner. Her guests were: Gertrude Gill, Lillian Douglas, Polly Lamb, Jane Henricks, Jean Anderson, Jo Holm, Mary Kennedy, Ruth Evans, Pricilla Smith and the honorees. Miss Helen Coe and Mrs. Polly Lamb also entertained with luncheons. Morning coffees were given by Ruth Evans, Dorothy Sabin Jones, and a dinner party at the Benjamine Ward home.

Vincent Cornett entered St. Francis Hospital Saturday, Jan. 11, and will be a patient there for about two weeks, after which he will be confined at his home for several days before going back to work. He suffered a bruised big toe, resulting in a blood clot impediment.

Janet M. Whitmore is recuperating from her recent surgery while spending several weeks in Dodge City, Kan., visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Elwell, 1715 Fifth Avenue.

Rex Speckman and Kenneth Lofland entered the annual city bowling tournament, which began Sunday Jan. 19, at the Trail Bowl, Manitou Springs. They were among those listed on the board after bowling a 1164 series in three games in the double class competing with 156 couples. Individual single game scores gave Speckman 591 and Lofland 609.

The Crystola Inn mens team bowling at Ute Lanes on Tuesday evenings placed second winning one game with a score of 1084. Total wins for the season are 46 with 30 lost. Players on the team are Kenneth Lofland, Rex Speckman, Ralph Singmaster, Carroll Musser, Rusty Houchin.

Rex Speckman scored 545 in his series with the V. F. W. League's First National Bank team last Wednesday.

Scores for the Ute Classic Mixed Scratch League playing Friday nights at Ute Lanes gave KRDO second place with 59 wins 19 lost and total pins 33702. Barbara Lofland held high series for women with 549. Garden Lane team placed third with 53½ won 26½ lost and 38308. With 5th place on down were B and B Tire Co. winning 44-lost 36 with 37250. On this team Ruth Ryan had high game of 213. Neal's Candy was next with 39 won 41 lost and 36776. Town House Lounge won 30½ lost 49½ with 36223; American Electric won 30 lost 50 with 36177.

Reds Reported Favored in African Work

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

As a Communist regime entrenches itself in Zanzibar and Communist-abetted unrest stirs Tanganyika, other violent events just next door work in favor of further Communist penetration of northeast Africa.

Small - scale but bloody clashes are occurring regularly in an arid region of wandering nomads, dust and herds of sheep, goats and camels, almost worthless except that it is land now held by Kenya and Ethiopia but claimed by the Repeublic of Somalia for a "greater Somalia."

It is the kind of brushfire situation ideal for Communist infiltration.

Somalia acquired independence in 1960 through a combination of former British and Italian holdings. Its location on northeast Africa's "horn" gives it a position of strategic importance on the approaches to the Suez Canal.

For countless years, Somali herdsmen have moved their livestock according to the season, heedless of obscure boundaries.

Somalia's own population is about two million, with another 350,000 somalis living in adjoining areas of Ethiopia and Kenya which the Somalis claim. This includes almost the eastern half of Kenya's remote northern frontier district, and Ogaden, a point-shaped tip of Ethiopia jutting into Somalia.

Somalia has invited openly Somali tribesmen in Kenya to "rejoin" greater Somalia.

She has accused Ethiopia of forcing an "unbearable" burden upon her by driving thousands of Somali refugees across the Ethiopian border, and has been accused in turn of inciting tribesmen to revolt.

British troops are backing Kenya's frontier forces and British planes are carrying in food and ferrying out the wounded.

Into this unhealthy situation, the Communist nations have moved strongly.

When the United States and other Western nations refused Somali requests for military assistance regarded as far greater than normal needs, the Soviet Union offered to equip an army of 20,000 men.

The Soviets also have given Somalia credits of $63 million and the promise of technicians to aid her development.

Other aid has come from Czechoslovakia, Romania, East Germany and Red China.

The United States, joined by West Germany and Italy, had offered to supply an army of 5,000 or 6,000 men, along with engineering equipment which could be used for internal development.

The United States also has proposed a 20-year development program broken up into four five-year plans. Overall U. S. assistance would come to $500 million to be repaid from increased agricultural production and port facilities.

From other new African nations the Somalis have received little encouragement for their territorial ambitions.

C.O.P.E. on Free Speech

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

COPE, or the Committee on Political Education of the AFL-CIO, ~~is~~ up in arms" about "right - wing radio broadcasters." It is busy circulating a horrendous map of the United States which pinpoints the stations where the so - called "extremists" manage to open their mouths in spite of the objections of "liberals" who no longer believe with Mr. Justice Holmes that the test of truth is in the marketplace.

Since your servant finds the telephone a far more useful instrument than radio or television in the assembling of information, he cannot say that he has followed even a tenth part of everything broadcast by the stations which so dispiease COPE. But the blanket condemnation of "rightist" programs works a great injustice against particular broadcasts that have happened to come this columnist's way.

For example, COPE indiscriminately condemns H. L. Hunt's Life Lines. Now, H. L. Hunt is an oil tycoon who happens to be a multi-millionaire, and, for all I know, he may not love labor unions. I don't know Mr. Hunt personally, but I seem to be on his mailing list for at least some of the material that COPE describes as "propaganda." Checking back thru some of Mr. Hunt's releases, I find a number of them which deplore the spread of anti-Semitism in Soviet Russia. The wholly commendable activity of Mr. Hunt in combatting race prejudice ought to merit praise from COPE instead of sniffish enmity.

QUESTION

Then there is the Manion Forum. Not so long ago Captain Eddie Rickenbacker used his opportunity as a Manion Forum guest to ask a most vital question, "Are we pledged to protect communism in Cuba?" How does COPE answer this question? The AFL's George Meany certainly doesn't want to protect Communism in his own unions. As for Walter Reuther, he rose to power in the United Automobile Workers and in the CIO by making relentless warfare on labor leaders who were suspected of Communist ties. Captain Eddie Rickenbacker happens to think the Communists are just as dangerous to U.S. interests in the western hemisphere as they are to the cause of American labor. If the AFL-CIO has the right to speak out against the internal Communist menace as it affects the labor movement, why should not Captain Eddie Rickenbacker have a similar right to air his views on anti-Communist foreign policy over the Manion Forum's wave length?

FREE CHOICE

This columnist has never listened to Howard Kershner's air programs. But he has often read Dr. Kershner's publication, "Christian Economics." The articles in this publication are based on the eminently respectable Christian doctrine that good and evil have no meaning if men are not free to make their own choices. The AFL-CIO might wish to argue against any hard-and-fast application of this doctrine in the field of labor relations. But is that any justification for trying to force Dr. Kershner off the air?

This columnist disagrees with certain right-wing crusades, such as the one designed to bring about the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren. When a man has been nominated and confirmed as a judge, the nation must bear with him as long as he practices common honesty in reaching his decisions. But this does not mean that the Warren court is not subject to criticism in a free country, or that radio stations shouldn't broadcast such criticism when it exists.

So fie upon COPE's blanket-condemnatory map. We'll stick to that old-fashioned liberal, Voltaire, who thought that all voices have a right to be heard. Or to Mr. Justice Holmes, who spent a lifetime dissenting from the majority view.

JET-SMOOTH FASHION—Some 2,300 girls are up in the air over the fashion ensemble, above. It's United Air Lines' smooth new look for its stewardesses. Hooded topcoat, lined in blue, is of all-wool worsted boucle to match the wool suit. Sugar-scoop hostess cap is of matching design and fabric.

Dearest Friends:

I am addressing all of you, the two I had the pleasure to have known personally, the one who has become my dear friend whom I've come to know and value thru our correspondence, the members of her family and her friends, in short I am writing to all Americans I know, and believe me, I am not doing it out of politeness, not in order to formally express condolence but because I mourn the great public leader and good and noble man, the late President of the U.S.A. It is not for me to tell you how Mr. Kennedy was popular, respected and loved not only in the States but in a lot of countries thruout the world, you know it yourselves. I want to tell you of my grief and sorrow and what a terrible shock it was when my neighbor knocked early in the morning at my door and told me the terrible news. I turned on my radio set and listened in for three hours to your "Voice of America" and to B.B.C., and when I heard the record of his voice, his voice that I had heard and always recognized, I cried and cried and could not stop thinking of him, so young, noble, progressive, thinking of that awful death, so sudden, so cruel.

And she, poor, poor Mrs. Kennedy. I also lost my beloved husband, but her loss was ten times harder, as it was not wartime and he was killed there at her presence. . .

I have always hated violence and fanaticism as the worst things offending human dignity and civilization. I hope that the despicable murderer whoever he may be will be executed; perhaps it is illogical and unjust to say so, as it is also a kind of violence and offense to civilization, but the crime is so foul and mean and in itself is the very embodiment of violence which should be wiped off.

I don't believe in God, not out of some reasoning, but just I don't feel it, don't believe. But I only hope that Mrs. Kennedy does as did her late husband, a Roman Catholic, for them it is not finished, it is not irreparable, not final. . .

I am with you in these days of mourning and sorrow and I share your grief and tears.

Sheepmen Urge Cuts in Wool Import

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — (UPI)—More than 600 sheepmen wound up the 99th annual National Wool Growers Association convention in Albuquerque Wednesday with passage of strong-worded resolutions aimed at cutting down imports of wool, lamb and mutton.

The group also re-elected W. Hugh Baber of Chico, Calif., as national president and re-named five vice presidents—George K Hislop, Yakima, Wash.; Henry S. Hibbard, Helena, Mont.; J. R. Broadbent, Salt Lake City, Utah; W. E. Overton, Yeso, N.M., and Joseph M. Donin Casper, Wyo.

The association called on the Adminisitration to resist further tariff reductions at the forthcoming Geneva talks and directed NWGA officers "to vigorously oppose any and all attempts to destroy the American wool industry by manipulation of tariffs." Resolutions also called for more stringent quota controls on imports.

Opposition to all proposed wilderness area legislation also was expressed and support for pending bills for more extensive predatory control programs and extension of the National Wool Act were urged.

The association also resolved to oppose subsidized grazing on lands under proposed crop land conversion programs and to support creation of a public land law review commission to clarify public land statutes.

Next year the association will meet in Phoenix, Ariz., for its 100th convention.

Base of Brick Is Not Acceptable

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The art commission has ruled that the base of a statue which will honor the late John B. Kelly can not be brick.

Kelly, father of Princess Grace of Monaco, made a fortune as a brick contractor.

The commission Wednesday rejected sculptor Harry Rosin's proposal for a brick pedestal in favor of black granite.

The Rev. and Mrs. Conard Pyle and children left Wednesday morning, Jan. 15, by motor for New York City, where Mr. Pyle will attend the Union Theological Seminary, 120th and Broadway, for a planned study program. Altho he received his A.B. in 1950 and Th.M. in 1954, as in other professions, continued study is essential. At the annual Church in the Wildwood membership meeting in October 1962, the membership granted him one month each year, paid study time (with vacation time not to exceed four months). Mr. and Mrs. Pyle will be in New York until May 15. While there David Pyle will attend a public elementary school and Connie a nursery school. The Rev. Jeffrey Hoy, of Denver, will be the supply minister during their absence and will occupy the parsonage over weekends, Friday through Monday. Mr. Hoy filled the pulpit last Sunday, Jan. 19.

Mrs. Dorothy Sabin Jones gave a "going away" coffee Monday, Jan. 13, at 10 a.m. for Mrs. Wini Pyle for a limited number of guests. Present were Polly Lamb, Martha Gayler, Hermine Bucher, Sallie Bush, Maxine Haynes, Helen Dugdale, Florence Salisbury, Doris Rerick and Helen Newkirk.

Mrs. Beverly Page and Mrs. Jonell Ewart, co-directors of the Little Ute Nursery School, have announced classes will be closed during January and February, as two families have left the area taking four children that were attending. Plans will be made to start a spring class the first of March.

Bill Page has completed the room divider in upper Fellowship Hall, Church in the Wildwood, which will accomodate three upper classes at Sunday School, with more privacy and sound proof conditions.

Mrs. Beverly Page, newly elected president of the Junior Guild, Church in the Wildwood, entertained her executive board members with a luncheon meeting at her home Jan. 16. Elective officers are: Sharaon Ernst, vice president; Barbara Patterson, secretary, who has since moved to Kansas City, Mo., and been replaced by the Executive Board with Carol Anderson; Grace Wilson, treasurer. Appointed as chairman of committees are: Jonell Ewart, finance; Helen Quinn, publicity; Bette Beal, projects; Pat Penman, membership; Carolyn Houchin, hospitality; Lois Henson, cards; Louise Weiman social. At the business session the 1964 projects were discussed, which will include the annual Fashion Show, Vacation Bible School and a Spring Progressive dinner. The first regular meeting of the new year will be held Tuesday evening, Jan. 28, 7:30 p.m., at the home of Louise Weiman.

The annual installation of new officers for the Ute Pass Star group of Snowflake Chapter was held Tuesday, Jan. 14, at the home of Mrs. Ruby Carroll, Woodland Park. Luncheon was served to 19 members. Mrs. Dorothy Erbb, of Florissant, was welcomed as a new member. Installed as new president was Carolyn McAdams, with Ruth Alexander protem, due to Mrs. McAdams being out of town; Betty Reasonover vice president; Maude Crammer secretary and Henriette Dust treasurer. Barbara Elwell, Worthy Matron of Snowflake Chapter was the installing officer.

The January meeting of Snowflake Chapter No. 153 honored the 50 charter members with a "Tree Planting" ceremony. The name of each was printed on a colored oak leaf and placed on the bare branches of a small tree placed in the East, as those present marched around the room. Appropiate verses were given by the Adah, Ruth, Esther, Martha and Electa Star Points, concluding with the address of the Worthy Matron. Snowflake Chapter was constituted, chartered and installed Oct. 5, 1961, at the Shrine Club House in Colorado Springs. Mrs. Madeliene Hughes was installed as the new Adah Star Point officer, due to the resignation of Mrs. Donna Kohl. The installing officers were Alice Flake, Pat Grand Matron of Colorado assisted by Mrs. Ruby Carroll, Marshal and Betty Reasonover organist. The Feb. 14 meeting will be held at the Masonic Temple, Manitou Springs, honoring Worthy Grand Patron and other Grand Officers on their official visit. All Eastern Star members are cordially invited.

The first outing of 1964 for the camping group of the D and B school of Colorado Springs was held at the home of Miss Carol Platts, director, who picked up nine of the older deaf girls Saturday morning at 9 a.m. at the school. They went tobogganing at Catamount Ranch and ice skating at the lake in Green Mountain Falls. After the weekend of fun, meals and slumber party, the girls returned to the school Sunday at 4 p.m.

Mrs. Marlene Willie was the baritone voice in the Sweet Adeline Quartet which won first first place for Columbine Chapter in a "Woodshed" contest held recently. Four judges from the chapter made the award on the song "Let The Rest of the World Go By". A Regional Novice Quartet contest will be held Jan. 25 in Denver.

Frank Van Arsdale, manager of the Brockhurst Boys Ranch reports a new vinyl linoleum has been installed on the dining room floor and one of the cabins at the ranch, thanks for the project going to the Lioness Club and Ray. As part of the animal husbandry program, of the boys took two pigs to the four of the boys took two pigs to the Pikes Peak auction Saturday. Proceeds from the sale will help buy feed for the other animals. As a community service project, four other boys from Brockhurst Ranch spent Saturday helping Sallie Bush repair chairs at the Community Building.

Members of Boy Scout Troop 26, sponsored their third annual community skating party Saturday, Jan. 11, on the Lake in Green Mountain Falls, with some 150 to 175 persons attending. Contributions from the Ute Pass Community Association the Town of GMF; Edwards Grocery, Neal's Candies and several individuals furnished gallons of hot chocolate, pounds and pounds of weiners, buns and marshmallows for the revelers, beginning at 6 p.m. till 8 p.m.

Competing in the Ute District First - Aid-O- Ree, held Wednesday night at the National Guard Armory Building in Colorado Springs, were the following Scouts from Troop 26 Terry Thomson, Bob Brooks, David Mayfield, Ronnie Slaven, Lance Rossi, Robbie Blosser the 'Victim" and Layne Van Arsdale the "Instructor." Altho the group did not score, they received a certificate of Participation. Charles Stull Scout Master of Troop 26, has appointed Layne Van Arsdale junior assistant scout master for the Boy Scout Troop No. 26.

Frank Van Arsdale, neighborhood commissioner for Boy Scouts in upper Ute Pass, has organized a Weblo Den which meets with the Boy Scout Troop 26, on Friday evenings in the Community Building, Green Mountain Falls. Members share in the opening and closing ceremonies with the Scouts, and then have a separate training class. To qualify for the Weblos, a boy must be 10½ years old, and be a member of a Cub Scout Den, having earned his Lions Badge. There is a six months transition period between the age 10½ till 11 when a lad may become a Boy Scout. Bill Anderson of Chipita Park and John Woods of Green Mountain Falls are members at the present time. Several others in the area will soon be qualified to join.

Twenty members of the second and third grade Brownie Troop No. 110 were present at their meeting Jan. 15 at the home of Grace Wilson, leader, with Phyllis Giles co-leader. The lesson for the day was learning to make square knots. The three patrols have been given names as follows, "Dark Eyes" with Ferrell Carson leader; "The Eagles" with Kitsey Kohl leader; "The Hawks" with Debra Quinn Leader.

A series of parties honoring the Misses Anna and Edith Edwards of Kansas City, Missouri, who spent their first winter holidays in Ute Pass, altho they have been summer residents in their "Ridgecrest" cottage in Chipita Park, for many years, began with a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Mollie Tanner. Her guests were: Gertrude Gill, Lillian Douglas, Polly Lamb, Jane Henricks, Jean Anderson, Jo Holm, Mary Kennedy, Ruth Evans, Pricilla Smith and the honorees. Miss Helen Coe and Mrs. Polly Lamb also entertained with luncheons. Morning coffees were given by Ruth Evans, Dorothy Sabin Jones, and a dinner party at the Benjamine Ward home.

Vincent Cornett entered St. Francis Hospital Saturday, Jan. 11, and will be a patient there for about two weeks, after which he will be confined at his home for several days before going back to work. He suffered a bruised big toe, resulting in a blood clot impediment.

I am addressing all of you, the two I had the pleasure to have known personally, the one who has become my dear friend whom I've come to know and value thru our correspondence, the members of her family and her friends, in short I am writing to all Americans I know, and believe me, I am not doing it out of politeness, not in order to formally express condolence but because I mourn the great public leader and good and noble man, the late President of the U.S.A. It is not for me to tell you how Mr. Kennedy was popular, respected and loved not only in the States but in a lot of countries thruout the world, you know it yourselves. I want to tell you of my grief and sorrow and what a terrible shock it was when my neighbor knocked early in the morning at my door and told me the terrible news. I turned on my radio set and listened in for three hours to your "Voice of America" and to B.B.C., and when I heard the record of his voice, his voice that I had heard and always recognized, I cried and cried and could not stop thinking of him, so young, noble, progressive, thinking of that awful death, so sudden, so cruel.

And she, poor, poor Mrs Kennedy. I also lost my beloved husband, but her loss was ten times harder, as it was not wartime and he was killed there at her presence. . .

I have always hated violence and fanaticism as the worst things offending human dignity and civilization. I hope that the despicable murderer whoever he may be will be executed; perhaps it is illogical and unjust to say so, as it is also a kind of violence and offense to civilization, but the crime is so foul and mean and in itself is the very embodiment of violence which should be wiped off.

I don't believe in God, not out of some reasoning, but just I don't feel it, don't believe. But I only hope that Mrs. Kennedy does as did her late husband, a Roman Catholic, for them it is not finished, it is not irreparable, not final. . .

I am with you in these days of mourning and sorrow and I share your grief and tears.

Sheepmen Urge Cuts in Wool Import

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — (UPI)—More than 600 sheepmen wound up the 99th annual National Wool Growers Association convention in Albuquerque Wednesday with passage of strong-worded resolutions aimed at cutting down imports of wool, lamb and mutton.

The group also re-elected W. Hugh Baber of Chico, Calif., as national president and re-named five vice presidents—George K Hislop, Yakima, Wash.; Henry S. Hibbard, Helena, Mont.; J. R. Broadbent, Salt Lake City, Utah; W. E. Overton, Yeso, N.M., and Joseph M. Donin Casper, Wyo.

The association called on the Adminisitration to resist further tariff reductions at the forthcoming Geneva talks and directed NWGA officers "to vigorously oppose any and all attempts to destroy the American wool industry by manipulation of tariffs." Resolutions also called for more stringent quota controls on imports.

Opposition to all proposed wilderness area legislation also was expressed and support for pending bills for more extensive predatory control programs and extension of the National Wool Act were urged.

The association also resolved to oppose subsidized grazing on lands under proposed crop land conversion programs and to support creation of a public land law review commission to clarify public land statutes.

Next year the association will meet in Phoenix, Ariz., for its 100th convention.

Base of Brick Is Not Acceptable

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The art commission has ruled that the base of a statue which will honor the late John B. Kelly can not be brick.

Kelly, father of Princess Grace of Monaco, made a fortune as a brick contractor.

The commission Wednesday rejected sculptor Harry Rosin's proposal for a brick pedestal in favor of black granite.

Local Mat Teams Meet League Foes

The Palmer and Wasson wrestling teams return to conference action tonight and Friday afternoon, both still searching for their first South Central League victories.

Palmer goes against defending conference champion, Pueblo Centennial in Pueblo at 7 tonight while Wasson will host strong Pueblo Central at the Wasson Gymnasium at 3 30 p.m. Friday.

Both teams were defeated in matches over the past weekend. The Terrors dropped a conference battle to Trinidad while Wasson suffered reverses from both Montrose and Fruita in a swing thru the Western Slope.

Also upcoming this weekend is a trip for the swimming teams of the two schools. Both Wasson and Palmer will go to Cheyenne, Wyo. where Palmer will meet Cheyenne Central Friday at the same time the T-Birds are taking on Cheyenne East. The two local will then switch opponents in 10 a.m. meets the following day.

The minor sports schedule also includes a City Hockey League game between Palmer and Fountain Valley at 8 p.m. tonight at the Broadmoor World Arena.

Tigers Make Lineup Switch As Duluth Invasion Nears

By LOY HOLMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

You might expect the coach of any team that has the top offensive record in the toughest collegiate hockey league in the country to let well enough alone.

Well, this might be true for most, but not Colorado College's hard-working new mentor, Bob Johnson. He already had a combination that was averaging some six goals per game, but with a look to the rugged future schedule of the Tigers, he decided there was still room for improvement.

Thus, Johnson switched a couple of centers for last weekend's single game against the CC Alumni and the results were obvious. With the addition of Roger Simon in the middle, the Bengal starters scored four of the eight goals in the 8-3 rout of the former CC stars.

"I knew we were scoring pretty well on the eastern trip," Johnson said. "But you've got to judge a team by the way it plays against the best. That's why after playing at North Dakota I decided on the change."

The Tigers romped thru five straight games on the tour of the Brown University tournament, a single against Colgate and two against Ohio University. Then, extremely tired from the traveling and living out of a suitcase, Colorado College was dropped by North Dakota by 7-2 and 5-3 counts.

"The scores were pretty close considering how tired the team was," Johnson continued. "But the first night it could have been a lot worse if it hadn't been for (Art) Warwick. And actually both nights we should have had more shots on goal."

Warwick, the senior goalie for the Tigers, stopped no less than 55 shots by the Nodaks in the first of that series and 36 the next evening in another yeoman effort to make up for the obvious lack of experience the team has on defense.

So working with the old adage that a good offense is also a good defense, Johnson decided that it might be better to put his most experienced center between his top wingers. Actually the experiment with Simon the pivot for Johnny Simus and Warren Fordyce was started in the final period against the Nodaks, and it produced two CC goals in the first minute of play.

That switch in the lineup was brought on by necessity after a concussion sidelined winger Wayne McAlpine. The Tigers went to only two lines, and with one of the defensemen also out with an injury, Simon was called on for double duty.

Thus, that combination had only the one period in the North Dakota game to work together and then but a single practice before last Saturday's Alumni game, but still Simus and Fordyce each picked up two goals and Simon was credited with an assist.

* * *

Center Bob Magie, who was moved to flank sophomores Glen Blumer and Dave Peterson, also scored one of the goals, with Jeff Sauer and Steve Ebert getting the others.

"Actually, Roger probably is the best we have on defense," Johnson said. "But he's even more valuable as a center and he can't play both places all the time.

* * *

"I'm convinced that we have the best line in the league with these three," the former Minnesota winger said. "I feel that either Simus or Fordyce can win the league scoring title this season — especially now with Simon passing the puck between them."

Currently, Simus is atop the Western Collegiate Hockey Association scoring list with five goals and four assists in league play. His nearest competitors are Michigan State's Mac Orme and Denver's Dominic Fragomeni, both with six points.

This scoring race, like the WCHA standings, didn't change from last week as the entire schedule was non-league. This weekend CC remains in non-league with Friday and Saturday games against Duluth Branch of Minnesota here, but there will be two league contests both weekend nights with Michigan State at Minnesota and Michigan Tech at Michigan. Denver completes the slate by hosting Saskatoon Quakers from Canada.

This Week's Schedule

Duluth at Colorado College
Michigan State at Minnesota
Michigan Tech at Michigan
Saskatoon at Denver

This weekend, as well as for the remainder of the league schedule, the goals undoubtedly will come harder for the Tigers. The leaders still have the inside track for the scoring title because CC plays more league games than the rest of the WCHA teams, but it's unlikely they'll be averaging six per game from here on.

This Friday Duluth will bring a fine defensive club into the Broadmoor World Arena. The Bulldogs have allowed an average of only 3.8 goals this season while playing many of their games against WCHA opposition. Duluth has a 6-6 record against Western Assn. teams, and 7-7 overall.

The Bulldogs have won three of four against Minnesota University (including a 6-3 and 1-4 split last weekend), they swept two from Michigan State, split with Michigan Tech and lost two to both North Dakota and Michigan University.

This weekend the series is rated as a near toss-up, with the Tigers having perhaps a slight edge only because of the home ice and an offense that has yet to be stopped this season.

Darden, who was assigned the formidable task of reconstructing Mines' basketball some 10 years ago, is either the most relaxed, or the sleepiest instcuctor in college sport. Considering the pace at which the Miners proceed, the second explanation is not improbable.

Quite possibly, it is the example set by the Mines' coach that enables the Oredigger basketball team to stand still so successfully. When Darden assumes his placid posture on the bench, it has to be a source of inspiration to players who might otherwise be tempted into an occasional trot or related sinful practices not associated with Mines' philosophy.

Darden's composure has yet to be threatened thru two evenings of premeditated torture inflicted on Colorado College representatives this winter. Even the rancor of a Cossitt Hall gathering Tuesday night failed to draw more than an occasional yawn which the Mines' coach quickly stiffled. He also blinked twice in the first half when CC disrespectfully took brief leads.

Darden is characteristically unconcerned over being slighted by news media which reported erroneously early this week that Wake Forrest coach, Bones McKinney, had initiated the system of seat belts for basketball mentors. Actually Darden pioneered in this field.

Mines' rooters, taking stock of a Rocky Mountain Conference rule which threatens technicals to overenthusiastic coaches, presented Darden with a chair equipted with seat belt nearly a year ago. It turned out as sort of a hollow gesture, however, when the Mines' coach didn't even get up to accept it.

The gimmack probably was inappropriate. Especially since the well-intentioned fans failed to include an aide to unstrap Darden at time outs. Tuesday, even when not belted down, the Orediggers' coach nearly missed one such session. The players gathered obediently at the sidelines but by the time Darden reluctantly dragged himself from chair to huddle, there was opportunity for little more than to wave goodby as the officials summoned his troops back into action.

Actually, Darden's lethargic appearance couldn't be more misleading. A basketball star of some note himself a few years back, his manipulation of Mines' teams is approaching legendary status in the area.

JIMMY DARDEN
He Pours the Syrup

* * *

Darden is annually confronted by a collection of talent that is virtually a misuse of the word. He seldom has anything resembling adequate size and when the Miners take the floor, I always find myself expecting at least a couple of them to stare at the basketball and ask that it be identified as to name and use.

Which makes it all the more remarkable to watch the Orediggers win games, which they are prone to do these days, especially against Colorado College. Their discipline in controlling the ball is unusually good and when the time comes where motion is absolutely essential, such as on defense and in rebounding, the Miners surprisingly outhustle most opponents.

Unfortunately (from a local standpoint) Darden's reconstruction process at Mines is about to complete the destruction of the sport at CC. There was a time when the Tigers could expect to feed on the Orediggers no matter how many mismatches were on the remainder of the schedule.

Now Darden, plus a dropoff in the talent at CC, has changed all that. Tuesday's leisurely vic-

Hogan Has No Regrets Over Quitting

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"I have no regrets," Ben Hogan said. "A man has to quit some time. I've never been sorry I stopped when I did."

The mushrooming $100,000-plus purses and the pressure of bigtime golf, intensified by the heavyweight duel between Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, no longer hold a lure for the tough little master from Fort Worth, Tex.

"That convinced me it was time to call it quits. I got to a point I couldn't even bring the club back on the putting green."

"I'll never work this hard again to win a tournament."

At that time, Ben had won four U. S. Opens, two Masters plus the British Open and the PGA. His 72-hole records in the Open and Masters still stand.

At 51, Hogan looks as lean and hard as in his best playing days but he insists he is plagued by the bugaboo of all aging gol champions—the putting yips.

Cline Keeps Bears Moving In AHL Action

By United Press International

The Hershey Bears continued to remain in contention for the lead in the Eastern Division race of the American Hockey League and much of their success is due to Bruce Cline.

Cline, a consistent scorer, slapped two goals into the nets and assisted on one Wednesday night as the Bears defeated the Springfield Indians, 3-1. The victory boosted Hershey one point behind the idle Quebec Aces in the division's standings.

In other league action, the Cleveland Barons downed the Pittsburgh Hornets 4-2, to take a four-point lead in the Western Division standings and the Providence Reds swamped the Buffalo Bisons, 7-1.

Fountain Grapplers Favored

John Schultz' Trojans, who destroyed Harrison last week 45-2, journey to Air Academy High this Friday to highlight this weekend's Pikes Peak League wrestling slate. The Fountain grapplers, 2-2 in PPL action, need this victory to keep pace with the first division mat teams.

In other league matches Friday undefeated Cheyenne Mountain travels west to tangle with winless Leadville; and PPL challenger Widefield takes on cellar-dwelling Harrison.

Last week Terry Busby's potential Indians won a crucial match over then-unbeaten Widefield, 24-17. The Tribe's Jay Holton (165-pound) won a key decision over the Gladiators' ace, Dennis Jurgens 7-5, and Cheyenne's heavyweight Mike Stefanic pinned Bob McGowen (5:22) to pull out the important victory.

The Indians need a win over Leadville to tie for the PPL championship, and a victory over defending champion, Florence, will crown the Cheyenne squad as league champions. The Florence crew is presently in second place in league standings, losing to Widefield for a 3-1 won-loss record.

The alignment for the forthcoming district tournaments has Cheyenne, Widefield, and Academy High slated for Division 1 competition, Feb. 14-15 at Mapleton. There will be eight teams entered in that division with the state tourney site at Englewood, Feb. 20-22. The winner and runner-up in each of the 12 weight classes will advance to the state tournament.

Fountain, Harrison, Florence, and Leadville are scheduled to compete in the Division II District Tournament, Feb. 7-8, at Florence. The state competition for that division is slated for Aurora, Feb. 13-15. There will also be eight teams entered in Division II District Tourney with the top 24 grapplers advancing to the state tourney.

Horning Hopes Reinstatement Is Upcoming

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Although other business interests have kept him active, Paul Hornung said today, "I've missed football very, very much."

Awaiting a review of his National Football League suspension case next month, Hornung said he is hopeful the indefinite ban on his playing will be lifted.

Hornung, a Green Bay Packers' star before he was suspended April 17, 1963, for betting, said his fall from grace was especially long and painful — not merely because he had been at the top but because "I made the terrible mistake" which caused the fall.

Hornung said he was grateful to the NFL Players Association for urging that the suspension be lifted.

League Commissioner Pete Rozelle placed Hornung and Alex Karras, of Detroit, on an indefinite suspension, saying their conduct and attitude "will have a bearing on the matter if I choose to consider lifting the suspensions after the 1963 season."

Air Force Freshmen Change Time of Game

Michigan Tech at Michigan
Saskatoon at Denver

This weekend, as well as for the remainder of the league schedule, the goals undoubtedly will come harder for the Tigers. The leaders still have the inside track for the scoring title because CC plays more league games than the rest of the WCHA teams, but it's unlikely they'll be averaging six per game from here on.

This Friday Duluth will bring a fine defensive club into the Broadmoor World Arena. The Bulldogs have allowed an average of only 3.8 goals this season while playing many of their games against WCHA opposition. Duluth has a 6-6 record against Western Assn. teams, and 7-7 overall.

The Bulldogs have won three of four against Minnesota University (including a 6-3 and 1-4 split last weekend), they swept two from Michigan State, split with Michigan Tech and lost two to both North Dakota and Michigan University.

This weekend the series is rated as a near toss-up, with the Tigers having perhaps a slight edge only because of the home ice and an offense that has yet to be stopped this season.

No Seat Belt Needed

During a Colorado Mines basketball game, Coach Jimmy Darden periodically stretches, yawns, or attempts similar displays of enthusiasm—presumably to assure his team that he is still with them.

Darden, who was assigned the formidable task of reconstructing Mines' basketball some 10 years ago, is either the most relaxed, or the sleepiest instcuctor in college sport. Considering the pace at which the Miners proceed, the second explanation is not improbable.

* * *

Quite possibly, it is the example set by the Mines' coach that enables the Oredigger basketball team to stand still so successfully. When Darden assumes his placid posture on the bench, it has to be a source of inspiration to players who might otherwise be tempted into an occasional trot or related sinful practices not associated with Mines' philosophy.

Darden's composure has yet to be threatened thru two evenings of premeditated torture inflicted on Colorado College representatives this winter Even the rancor of a Cossitt Hall gathering Tuesday night failed to draw more than an occasional yawn which the Mines' coach quickly stiffled. He also blinked twice in the first half when CC disrespectfully took brief leads.

Darden is characteristically unconcerned over being slighted by news media which reported erroneously early this week that Wake Forrest coach, Bones McKinney, had initiated the system of seat belts for basketball mentors. Actually Darden pioneered in this field.

Mines' rooters, taking stock of a Rocky Mountain Conference rule which threatens technicals to overenthusiastic coaches, presented Darden with a chair equipted with seat belt nearly a year ago. It turned out as sort of a hollow gesture, however, when the Mines' coach didn't even get up to accept it.

The gimmack probably was inappropriate. Especially since the well-intentioned fans failed to include an aide to unstrap Darden at time outs. Tuesday, even when not belted down, the Orediggers' coach nearly missed one such session. The players gathered obediently at the sidelines but by the time Darden reluctantly dragged himself from chair to huddle, there was opportunity for little more than to wave goodby as the officials summoned his troops back into action.

JIMMY DARDEN
He Pours the Syrup

* * *

Actually, Darden's lethargic appearance couldn't be more misleading. A basketball star of some note himself a few years back, his manipulation of Mines' teams is approaching legendary status in the area.

Darden is annually confronted by a collection of talent that is virtually a misuse of the word. He seldom has anything resembling adequate size and when the Miners take the floor, I always find myself expecting at least a couple of them to stare at the basketball and ask that it be identified as to name and use.

Which makes it all the more remarkable to watch the Orediggers win games, which they are prone to do these days, especially against Colorado College. Their discipline in controlling the ball is unusually good and when the time comes where motion is absolutely essential, such as on defense and in rebounding, the Miners surprisingly outhustle most opponents.

Unfortunately (from a local standpoint) Darden's reconstruction process at Mines is about to complete the destruction of the sport at CC. There was a time when the Tigers could expect to feed on the Orediggers no matter how many mismatches were on the remainder of the schedule.

Now Darden, plus a dropoff in the talent at CC, has changed all that. Tuesday's leisurely vic-

Hogan Has No Regrets Over Quitting

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"I have no regrets," Ben Hogan said. "A man has to quit some time. I've never been sorry I stopped when I did."

The mushrooming $100,000-plus purses and the pressure of bigtime golf, intensified by the heavyweight duel between Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, no longer hold a lure for the tough little master from Fort Worth, Tex.

"That convinced me it was time to call it quits. I got to a point I couldn't even bring the club back on the putting green."

At that time, Ben had won four U. S. Opens, two Masters plus the British Open and the PGA. His 72-hole records in the Open and Masters still stand.

At 51, Hogan looks as lean and hard as in his best playing days but he insists he is plagued by the bugaboo of all aging gol champions—the putting yips.

Cline Keeps Bears Moving In AHL Action

By United Press International

The Hershey Bears continued to remain in contention for the lead in the Eastern Division race of the American Hockey League and much of their success is due to Bruce Cline.

Cline, a consistent scorer, slapped two goals into the nets and assisted on one Wednesday night as the Bears defeated the Springfield Indians, 3-1. The victory boosted Hershey one point behind the idle Quebec Aces in the division's standings.

In other league action, the Cleveland Barons downed the Pittsburgh Hornets 4-2, to take a four-point lead in the Western Division standings and the Providence Reds swamped the Buffalo Bisons, 7-1.

Fountain Grapplers Favored

John Schultz' Trojans, who destroyed Harrison last week 45-2, journey to Air Academy High this Friday to highlight this weekend's Pikes Peak League wrestling slate. The Fountain grapplers, 2-2 in PPL action, need this victory to keep pace with the first division mat teams.

In other league matches Friday undefeated Cheyenne Mountain travels west to tangle with winless Leadville; and PPL challenger Widefield takes on cellar-dwelling Harrison.

Last week Terry Busby's potential Indians won a crucial match over then-unbeaten Widefield, 24-17. The Tribe's Jay Holton (165-pound) won a key decision over the Gladiators' ace, Dennis Jurgens 7-5, and Cheyenne's heavyweight Mike Stefanic pinned Bob McGowen (5:22) to pull out the important victory.

The Indians need a win over Leadville to tie for the PPL championship, and a victory over defending champion, Florence, will crown the Cheyenne squad as league champions. The Florence crew is presently in second place in league standings, losing to Widefield for a 3-1 won-loss record.

The alignment for the forthcoming district tournaments has Cheyenne, Widefield, and Academy High slated for Division 1 competition, Feb. 14-15 at Mapleton. There will be eight teams entered in that division with the state tourney site at Englewood, Feb. 20-22. The winner and runner-up in each of the 12 weight classes will advance to the state tournament.

Fountain, Harrison, Florence, and Leadville are scheduled to compete in the Division II District Tournament, Feb. 7-8, at Florence. The state competition for that division is slated for Aurora, Feb. 13-15. There will also be eight teams entered in Division II District Tourney with the top 24 grapplers advancing to the state tourney.

Horning Hopes Reinstatement Is Upcoming

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Although other business interests have kept him active, Paul Hornung said today, "I've missed football very, very much."

Awaiting a review of his National Football League suspension case next month, Hornung said he is hopeful the indefinite ban on his playing will be lifted.

Hornung, a Green Bay Packers' star before he was suspended April 17, 1963, for betting, said his fall from grace was especially long and painful — not merely because he had been at the top but because "I made the terrible mistake" which caused the fall.

Hornung said he was grateful to the NFL Players Association for urging that the suspension be lifted.

League Commissioner Pete Rozelle placed Hornung and Alex Karras, of Detroit, on an indefinite suspension, saying their conduct and attitude "will have a bearing on the matter if I choose to consider lifting the suspensions after the 1963 season."

Air Force Freshmen Change Time of Game

Second Voting Required for Hall of Fame Candidates

BOSTON (AP) — The door of that handsome, red brick Colonial building at Cooperstown, N.Y.—baseball's Hall of Fame—still was open today.

And shortstop Luke Appling and pitcher Charley (Red) Ruffing will lead 30 former big leaguers in an unprecedented second knock.

Balloting by baseball writers announced Wednesday showed none of the 59 old-time players nominated received the necessary 75 per cent of the votes cast.

Appling, who played 20 seasons for the Chicago White Sox between 1930 and 1950, received 142 votes, nine short of the 151 needed.

Right - hander Ruffing, who won 20 games or more four straight years while with the New York Yankees, polled 141.

But they and 28 others will get another chance.

The Baseball Writers Association of America instituted a change in 1962, the last time the biennial voting was conducted, authorizing a second ballot in the event no candidate received the needed three-quarters vote.

A second ballot was not needed two years ago because Bob Feller and Jackie Robinson were elected to Cooperstown on the first ballot.

Feller and Robinson are the only two former players to have been enshrined since Joe Cronin and Hank Greenberg made it in 1956.

Hy Hurwitz, secretary of the BBWAA, said ballots were being mailed to voting members today. The writers will vote for no more than five players from among Wednesday's 30 top vote-getters. Hurwitz set a Feb. 5 deadline for the return of the ballots.

Unless there's a tie, only one player from the 30 now eligible will be admitted to the Hall of Fame.

tory by the Miners left Red Eastlack and his Tigers in the position of wondering if there will be any victories in 1964.

CC students, necessarily reconciled to losing teams, still did not find Miner methods a satisfactory way to go. The Golden club did make this one painful. Darden, understandably wary of an ambush at Cossitt where he has been scalped on numerous occasions, deflated the ball early Tuesday. Unlike the previous week at Golden when the Miners startled CC by nearly running right out of their sneakers, Darden had the red light on this time.

Just how he prepares the team for these long sieges on inactivity on the floor is a mystery. Someone once suggested that, as a substitute for dusting their shoes with rosin, each of the Mines' players steps in a bucket of glue before leaving the dressing room. They must dip their hands in too, because Tuesday they weren't even shooting.

Knowing spectators wrote off the Tigers' chances when Mines carried a seven point lead into the dressing room at halftime. This thesis was proven correct when the Orediggers picked off the second half tip and proceeded to hold the ball for nearly four minutes. It prompted one Tiger fan to grumble, "They must be shaving points."

This tempo prevailed thru most of the second half. Near the conclusion of the game one of the Miners was whistled for an offensive foul. Whereupon another of the disgruntled onlookers questioned "How can they get an offensive foul when they don't even have an offense."

Fortunately, these loyal observers were not in attendance at Golden the previous week. The Tigers' futile efforts there had them down nearly 30 points in the second half when one of a boisterous group of Mines' students, who was enjoying himself immensely, came up with one that belongs in the hall of fame for sideline comments.

"Hey, CC," he said following a particularly miserable display of ball-handling by the Tigers, "why don't you quit the conference."

Jimmy Darden probably wouldn't agree with that. With the Tigers gone, it's doubtful that he can slow his team down enough to escape the RMC cellar, considering the talent present on other league campuses.

Nevertheless, for the time being Darden is well satisfied with the team's pace. He may miss a time out now and then, but even without his reminders it's a cinch the Miners' offense will continue to flow—like a bottle of cold syrup.

Bolts Take Top Spot In Poll

Colorado has a new top high school basketball team this week, according to a vote of coaches and sports writers which is reflected in the Denver Post poll.

Manual of the Denver League moved into the top spot replacing Greeley after the Wildcats, the leaders the first two weeks, suffered twin reverses over the weekend and skidded to fourth place in the poll. Two other previously unbeaten teams also fell last weekend. Denver Lincoln came up with its first loss and dropped from fifth to seventh in the standings. Lakewood also was beaten for the initial time and fell out of the top 10.

Englewood, one of the two teams to conquer Greeley, moved into second place behind Manual while Pueblo Central held third. Manual (6-0) and Central (8-0) are the state's only unbeaten AAA teams.

The top 10 includes three Denver League teams, Manual, East Denver (5th) and Lincoln; four from the Northern League, Englewood, Greeley, Longmont (6th), and Aurora Central (8th); two from the South Central, Pueblo Central and Centennial (9th); and Wheat Ridge (10th) of the Jefferson County circuit.

The SCL has three other teams mentioned. Pueblo South, 10th last week, is now 16th after losing to Centennial. In addition Palmer is ranked 17th and Grand Junction 18th.

Olympic Teams Mourn Death of Tobogganer

By HANS BENEDICT
Associated Press Sports Writer

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — A black mourning ribbon flapped from the five-ringed Olympic flag today as skiers, skaters and sledders resumed practice sessions in a suddenly somber atmosphere created by the accident that claimed the life of a British toboganner.

Kazimierz Kay-Skrzypeski, 50-year-old British Olympian, died Wednesday of injuries received 24 hours earlier when his sled careened off the chute at nearby Igls in a practice run for the event which will be held for the first time at these winter games.

Athletes and officials paid tribute to Kay-Skrzypeski Wednesday night in an open-air ceremony at which Prof. Friedl Wolfgang, head of the Austrian Organizing Committee, said:

"This is a tragedy, all the more as tobogganing was included in the Winter Olympics for the very first time. We were trying to make it as successful as the other competitions, and then this terrible thing happens."

Kay-Skrzpeski, a Polish-born British citizen who fled from Nazi-occupied Poland in 1940, was the second fatality in the last two Olympics.

At the 1960 Summer Games in Rome, cyclist Knud Enemark Jensen of Denmark died after competing in a 100-kilometer—62½ mile—road race. Officials at the Rome Olympics announced after the Games that 2,236 injuries had been tabulated during the competition.

Besides Kay-Skrzypeski, three other toboganners have been injured. Two Germans — Josef Lenz and Josef Fleischmann — were injured here Tuesday and Elizabeth Gould of Rydal, Pa., a member of the U.S. team, suffered multiple fractures while practicing in Poland in December.

The injuries here caused this order to be issued:

* * *

"Please take it easy. It is better to reach the end of the run in a slow time than to finish up in a hospital."

It was issued after Kay-Skrzypeski suffered multiple fractures when his sled raced out of control at high speed on the Olympic Curve during a trial run.

Jean Saubert, Werner Set For Olympic Competition

MADONNA DI CAMPIGLIO, Italy (AP)—Bob Beattie, U.S. Olympic ski coach, said Wednesday that Margo Walters probably will not be able to compete in the Winter Games but that Jean Saubert is back in top form.

Miss Walters, of Salt Lake City, suffered a badly sprained right ankle just before the American women's team came here for final practice for the Innsbruck Olympics starting Jan. 29. Miss Saubert, from Lakeview, Ore., has been suffering from the flu.

With the team ready to leave for Innsbruck Thursday, Miss Walter still was hobbling about and Beattie said she probably will not be up to Olympic class competition.

"It is a pity because she is a very good slalom specialist," Beattie said.

The coach said he had not yet decided on the complete line-up of American competitors but that Miss Saubert and 27-year-old Bud Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo., will be named for the downhill, slalom and giant slalom races.

Other men listed as certain were Billy Kidd, 20, of Stowe, Vt., in all three men's events; Jim Heuga, 20, of Tahoe City, Calif., in the slalom and giant slalom; and Chuck Ferries, 24, of Houghton, Mich., in the slalom.

The women's team also will have Linda Meyers, 26, of Bishop, Calif., in the slalom and giant slalom; Barbara Ferries, 19, of Houghton, Mich., in the slalom; and Joan Hannah, 23, of Franconia, N. H., in the giant slalom.

Beattie said he would decide at the last minute about competition by the other team members. They are Gordon Eaton, Littleton, N. H.; Bill Marolt, Aspen, Colo.; Rip McManus, Milford, Conn.; Ni Orsi, Stockton, Calif.; and Starr Walton, Sacramento, Calif.

TOP SOPHS FOR FALCONS — Terry Higgins (left) and Doug Reynolds, both sophomores on the Air Force Academy gymnastics team, will be competing for the Falcons this Saturday afternoon when the AFA hosts probably the strongest meet of the season with Denver University and Illinois each coming to the Academy. The meet gets underway at 1:30, p.m. Higgins is a specialist on the high bar and parrallel bar, while Reynolds will be the favorite in tumbling. (Air Force Photo)

Falcon Sophomore Gymnasts Start Promising Careers

When the Air Force Academy's gymnastics team held its first meet of the season, Jan. 11, all Falcon fans' eyes were on two sophomores — Douglas Reynolds, and Terry Higgins. Both had been hailed as the finest gymnasts ever to enter the Academy, and the fans present for the meet with the University of Chicago expected great performances from both.

They were not disappointed.

Higgins, the first of the two to appear, performed a breathtaking routine on the high bar, taking first place in that event, and — later — captured another first place award with an equal performance on the parallel bars.

Reynolds, the last man to appear in the eight-event meet, made four trips down the tumbling strip, drawing more applause with each run, and finished with another Academy first place, and the highest scores awarded during the entire match.

The Academy, boasting its strongest gymnastics team in years — thanks in part to Reynolds and Higgins — walked away with an 89-39 win over Chicago.

For Academy Coach Jim Tanaka, it was vindication of the pre-season buildup he had given the two, and gave him solid grounds for expecting a strong team for the next three years. But like any good coach, Tanaka also has their interest at heart, and is planning on national honors for his two proteges.

"Renolds and Higgins," he says, "are already of national potential. They are the hardest working boys on the squad, and I'm certain they have a good chance to place high in the NCAA Gymnastics Championships in Los Angeles, this March."

For both youngsters, such honors would be just reward for the years of training they have put into their sport.

Reynolds, a 20-year-old native of Pekin, Ill., has been tumbling more than half of his life. When he was nine, his father put him under the tumbling tutorage of Jim Rosanes, a well-known gymnastics instructor from the Chicago area. By the time he reached high school, Doug was a skilled tumbler, and — aside from lettering two years in Pekin High School — won the Illinois State High School Association Championship in 1961 and again in 1962. He also took the Southern Illinois Invitational Tournament title in 1962.

Prior to entering the Academy, Reynolds spent three years as a counselor at the National Summer Palaestrum Gymnasium Camp, Williamsburg, Mich., passing on his tumbling and trampoline skills to groups whose ages ranged from 6 to 18.

Hot on his heels for family tumbling honors, however, is his sister Lynne. Altho only a high school senior, last year she placed fifth in the National AAU.

For Higgins, the road to gymnastic honors began in the seventh grade, while a student in his hometown of Reseda, Calif. Unlike his teammate, who started off with a skilled instructor, Higgins began gymnastics "for the fun of it," and didn't enter an organized program until he was in the 10th grade at Reseda High School.

He also lettered his last two years in school, and in 1962 was Los Angeles City high bar champion.

Both graduated in 1962, and since entering the Academy have shown a striking similarity in their academic standing interests, and career goals.

Reynolds, who was a member of the National Honor Society his junior and senior years, has always had a strong interest in aviation, rockets, and "advanced systems." In the Illinois State Science Fair, he captured three "firsts" and an "outstanding" in amateur rocketry.

At the Academy, he is maporing in Engineering Sciences, and is maintaining an impressive 2.84 average in that field's difficult courses. When commissioned, he plans to enter the research and development field, and give special attention to rockets.

Also an honor student in high school, Higgins, too, leans heavily toward the area of scientific research. A member of the Academy's Physics Club, he is majoring in the Astronautics Master's Program, and — after graduation — will immediately enter another university for post graduate work. At the Air Force Academy, where top grades are 4.00, Higgins is nurturing an extremely good 3.83 average in his complex field of study.

With Reynolds and Higgins at the Air Force Academy, everybody — it seems — has gained by their enrollment: for the two scholar-athletes, it satisfies their desires for a solid education in their chosen fields while still enjoying athletics; for the Air Force it means two bright cadets, majoring in subjects that are difficult, but nevertheless vital to its mission, will soon join its ranks as career officers. For Coach Tanaka, their presence adds three years of depth and strength to his team; and, for Colorado gymnastics fans, it offers the chance to watch two thrilling competitors in action, who may well go on to All-America honors, and possibly—in the years ahead—an Olympic berth.

Big News in Baseball Is Finley Has 'No Comment'

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles O. Finley isn't talking.

And that is the big news in baseball circles.

The surprise development came Wednesday when Finley, embattled owner of the Kansas City Athletics, and American League President Joe Cronin were found registered in the same New York hotel. If they met, it was a deep, dark secret.

Finley made himself available briefly and had only two words to say:

"No comment."

That was two words more than anyone could get out of Cronin.

His hotel phone didn't answer. And a search of the hotel failed to reveal any traces of the stocky AL prexy.

In Boston, a league spokesman was more informative. He said Cronin was in New York to talk over legal matters. He didn't say with whom. He did say it wasn't with Finley.

In Kansas City, meanwhile, it was learned that Finley hadn't been doing any talking to city officials either. Under a league ruling, Finley was denied permission to move the A's to Louisville and has until Feb. 1 to negotiate a lease with the city or face possible expulsion from the American League.

Despite all that uncertainty, the A's home office managed to conduct some business. They are working on the 1964 roster, and signed pitcher Diego Sequi and infielder George Williams. They were the first A's signed.

Presumably, they signed Kansas City contracts.

Pitchers Cal Koonce and Jack Warner and outfielder Don Landrum signed with the Chicago Cubs, pitchers Tracy Stallard and Bill Wakefield with the New York Mets, second baseman Don Blasingame with the Washington Senators and pitcher Wade Blasingame with the Milwaukee Braves.

Wake Forest Seeks Coach

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—Iowa State football Coach Clay Stapleton conferred Wednesday with a committee which will select a new coach and athletic director for Wake Forest College.

A college spokesman refused to comment on what the committee discussed but Stapleton's appearance raised speculation that Wake Forest may hire only one man to fill the jobs previously held by Billy Hildebrand and Bill Gibson.

Other top candidates for the Wake Forest job, or jobs, include Wichita coach Marceline (Chello) Huerta Jr. and assistant coach Bill Tate of Illinois. Both reportedly have met with the screening committee.

KC Chiefs Owner Married in Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—Lamar Hunt, owner of the Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League, and Norma Knobel were married Wednesday at the bride's home in suburban Richardson.

The marriage was the second for Hunt, 32, son of H. L. Hunt, wealthy Dallas oil and businessman, and the first for Miss Knobel, 25, a history teacher in Richardson High School.

Jean Saubert Thinks U.S. Skiers Tops

MADOONA DI CAMPIGLIO, Italy (AP)—Jean Saubert, the top U.S. hope for a Winter Olympic gold medal, says the American ski team is strong enough to win all six gold medals at stake.

"The American team probably never has been as strong as it is now," the 21-year-old Lakeview, Ore., skier said Wednesday night. "I'm not saying that we will win without fail. I'm just saying we are strong enough to win."

If the U.S. Alpine skiers were to accomplish such a feat, it would far exceed the performance of any previous American ski team. American men never have won a gold medal in the three events—the slalom, the giant slalom and the downhill. U.S. women have won three.

Gretchen Fraser won the slalom in 1948, and Andrea Mead Lawrence scored a double in 1952 in the slalom and the giant slalom.

The present U.S. team completed its training in this north Italian winter resort Wednesday. It planned to leave today for Innsbruck, site of the Winter Games.

Miss Saubert, fully recovered from a siege of flu, said she is in the best possible shape. She was confident about her chances, saying: "If I'm skiing my best, I should be able to win."

U.S. Coach Bob Beattie believes the attractive brunette who stands 5-feet-6 and weighs 147 pounds is the best athlete he has.

The Oregon State University student missed a full semester of her teaching studies for the Olympics. She said that even if she wins a gold medal at Innsbruck, she will have to return home at once to make up the missed school work.

"I like skiing very much," she explained, "but I don't know if I'll be able to race again after the Olympic Games. It will depend on many things."

Coach Plans Changes

'Thinking' Was Factor In Bucs' Home Losses

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

"I think the reason we lost was two fold; we failed to bring down the ball fast enough giving their defense too much time to set up, and we were thinking too much before shooting," summed up St. Mary's new coach, Dan Wright ,regarding the Pirates' three home game losses so far this season.

The Buc mentor further commented that he didn't feel that the home court "advantage" figured into the three defeats, but rather the delibrate, slow pace his cagers displayed. St. Mary's, the defending Denver Parochial League champion, lost its three-year home court jinx against Regis three weeks ago, and since that time the Pirates have dropped home games to Holy Family and Annunciation.

Wright put his team thru rapid workouts this week seeking to amend the three defeats as the Pirates prepare for two DPL games this weekend in Denver. The local school travels north Friday when they tangle with St. Francis, and Sunday the Pirates are slated for a contest with Mt. Carmel at the Joseph's Gymnasium. Both DPL teams have 3-3 won-lost records.

Last Sunday the Bucs snapped a three-game home losing trend when they slipped past lowly St. Joseph's 44-34, after succumbing to Annunciation the previous Friday, 41-39. The victory over St. Joseph's enabled the Pirates to bat .500 as they compiled a 3-3 mark.

In attempt to speed up the St. Mary's offensive endeavors, Wright, a former Colorado College football and basketball player, has been switching the regulars trying to find the working formula. Because their Friday opponent, St. Francis, has two gunners in the backcourt, Wright has switched his personnel around.

The St. Mary's mentor has indicated that he may go with David Grantz at center, Dick Pfalmer and sophomore Tom Socha at forwards, and Sam Zavatti and Jerry Knauf at guards. Pfalmer is the lone cager on the regular starting unit with Socha, who made his mark against Machebeauf, getting the starting nod for the first time.

Normally, Wright has been starting Pfalmer and Mike Conway — the Pirates two leading scorers — at forwards, 6-5 Ralph Layman at the post, and Joe Jezek and Tom McCarthy at guards. Wright feels the revised starting unit will afford more flexibility and defensive strength. However, the Pirate coach will undoubtedly substitue his regulars as the game progresses.

Altho the Pirates are presently deadlocked for third place in DPL standings along with Machebeauf, Mt. Carmel, Mullen, and St. Francis, the St. Mary's coach expressed optimism for the league championship. Wright feels that the current leader, Regis, undefeated in six outings, could possibly lose three games before the pennant chase ends. And he feels that Holy Family, the current runner-up with only one loss in six games, can be hurdled.

Against Annunciation last week, the Pirates faltered in the third period as they could only tally two points which resulted in the 41-39 serback. Pfalmer, who leads the Pirates in scoring with 100 points in 10 games, was the only St. Mary's player to hit in the double figures as the 6-3 senior dumped in a dozen points.

But the Pirate gunner was contained to seven points against the stubborn St. Joseph's aggregation. Conway, the second top Pirate scorer with 96 points, could only manage 12 points over the weekend. Conway started off at a high scoring clip, but the 6-2 senior has encountered a scoring slump lately.

Lucky International Opens In San Francisco Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"We can hit the ball at the hole and it will stick," declared golf's 1964 big money winner Tony Lema today as the $50,000 Lucky International Tournament opened at the course he played as a youngster.

Tied for second in the San Diego Open and winner of the storm battered Bing Crosby event, the 29-year-old Lema aimed for back-to-back victories after already earning $12,100 playing golf this year.

He found Harding Park sloppy at tee and green after five days of rain but generally in good shape. Although posting only a three-over-par 74 in the pro-am prelude, Lema remained among the tournament favorites.

Most of golf's big names opened play in the Lucky as the weatherman forecast an end to the big Northern California storm.

Low pro in Wednesday's warmup was Bob Rosburg, now of Portland, Ore., but another who played Harding as a youngster. He posted a 68. At 69, indicating par would take a beating, were British Open champion Bob Charles, Fred Hawkins and Al Geiberger.

Reynolds, the last man to appear in the eight-event meet, made four trips down the tumbling strip, drawing more applause with each run, and finished with another Academy first place, and the highest scores awarded during the entire match.

The Academy, boasting its strongest gymnastics team in years — thanks in part to Reynolds and Higgins — walked away with an 89-39 win over Chicago.

For Academy Coach Jim Tanaka, it was vindication of the pre-season buildup he had given the two, and gave him solid grounds for expecting a strong team for the next three years. But like any good coach, Tanaka also has their interest at heart, and is planning on national honors for his two proteges.

"Renolds and Higgins," he says, "are already of national potential. They are the hardest working boys on the squad, and I'm certain they have a good chance to place high in the NCAA Gymnastics Championships in Los Angeles, this March."

For both youngsters, such honors would be just reward for the years of training they have put into their sport.

Reynolds, a 20-year-old native of Pekin, Ill., has been tumbling more than half of his life. When he was nine, his father put him under the tumbling tutorage of Jim Rosanes, a well-known gymnastics instructor from the Chicago area. By the time he reached high school, Doug was a skilled tumbler, and — aside from lettering two years in Pekin High School — won the Illinois State High School Association Championship in 1961 and again in 1962. He also took the Southern Illinois Invitational Tournament title in 1962.

Prior to entering the Academy, Reynolds spent three years as a counselor at the National Summer Palaestrum Gymnasium Camp, Williamsburg, Mich., passing on his tumbling and trampoline skills to groups whose ages ranged from 6 to 18.

Hot on his heels for family tumbling honors, however, is his sister Lynne. Altho only a high school senior, last year she placed fifth in the National AAU.

For Higgins, the road to gymnastic honors began in the seventh grade, while a student in his hometown of Reseda, Calif. Unlike his teammate, who started off with a skilled instructor, Higgins began gymnastics "for the fun of it," and didn't enter an organized program until he was in the 10th grade at Reseda High School.

He also lettered his last two years in school, and in 1962 was Los Angeles City high bar champion.

Both graduated in 1962, and since entering the Academy have shown a striking similarity in their academic standing interests, and career goals.

Reynolds, who was a member of the National Honor Society his junior and senior years, has always had a strong interest in aviation, rockets, and "advanced systems." In the Illinois State Science Fair, he captured three "firsts" and an "outstanding" in amateur rocketry.

At the Academy, he is maporing in Engineering Sciences, and is maintaining an impressive 2.84 average in that field's difficult courses. When commissioned, he plans to enter the research and development field, and give special attention to rockets.

Also an honor student in high school, Higgins, too, leans heavily toward the area of scientific research. A member of the Academy's Physics Club, he is majoring in the Astronautics Master's Program, and — after graduation — will immediately enter another university for post graduate work. At the Air Force Academy, where top grades are 4.00, Higgins is nurturing an extremely good 3.83 average in his complex field of study.

With Reynolds and Higgins at the Air Force Academy, everybody — it seems — has gained by their enrollment: for the two scholar-athletes, it satisfies their desires for a solid education in their chosen fields while still enjoying athletics; for the Air Force it means two bright cadets, majoring in subjects that are difficult, but nevertheless vital to its mission, will soon join its ranks as career officers. For Coach Tanaka, their presence adds three years of depth and strength to his team; and, for Colorado gymnastics fans, it offers the chance to watch two thrilling competitors in action, who may well go on to All-America honors, and possibly—in the years ahead—an Olympic berth.

Big News in Baseball Is Finley Has 'No Comment'

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles O. Finley isn't talking.

And that is the big news in baseball circles.

The surprise development came Wednesday when Finley, embattled owner of the Kansas City Athletics, and American League President Joe Cronin were found registered in the same New York hotel. If they met, it was a deep, dark secret.

Finley made himself available briefly and had only two words to say:

"No comment."

That was two words more than anyone could get out of Cronin.

His hotel phone didn't answer. And a search of the hotel failed to reveal any traces of the stocky AL prexy.

In Boston, a league spokesman was more informative. He said Cronin was in New York to talk over legal matters. He didn't say with whom. He did say it wasn't with Finley.

In Kansas City, meanwhile, it was learned that Finley hadn't been doing any talking to city officials either. Under a league ruling, Finley was denied permission to move the A's to Louisville and has until Feb. 1 to negotiate a lease with the city or face possible expulsion from the American League.

Despite all that uncertainty, the A's home office managed to conduct some business. They are working on the 1964 roster, and signed pitcher Diego Sequi and infielder George Williams. They were the first A's signed.

Presumably, they signed Kansas City contracts.

Pitchers Cal Koonce and Jack Warner and outfielder Don Landrum signed with the Chicago Cubs, pitchers Tracy Stallard and Bill Wakefield with the New York Mets, second baseman Don Blasingame with the Washington Senators and pitcher Wade Blasingame with the Milwaukee Braves.

Wake Forest Seeks Coach

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—Iowa State football Coach Clay Stapleton conferred Wednesday with a committee which will select a new coach and athletic director for Wake Forest College.

A college spokesman refused to comment on what the committee discussed but Stapleton's appearance raised speculation that Wake Forest may hire only one man to fill the jobs previously held by Billy Hildebrand and Bill Gibson.

Other top candidates for the Wake Forest job, or jobs, include Wichita coach Marceline (Chello) Huerta Jr. and assistant coach Bill Tate of Illinois. Both reportedly have met with the screening committee.

KC Chiefs Owner Married in Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—Lamar Hunt, owner of the Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League, and Norma Knobel were married Wednesday at the bride's home in suburban Richardson.

The marriage was the second for Hunt, 32, son of H. L. Hunt, wealthy Dallas oil and businessman, and the first for Miss Knobel, 25, a history teacher in Richardson High School.

Jean Saubert Thinks U.S. Skiers Tops

MADOONA DI CAMPIGLIO, Italy (AP)—Jean Saubert, the top U.S. hope for a Winter Olympic gold medal, says the American ski team is strong enough to win all six gold medals at stake.

"The American team probably never has been as strong as it is now," the 21-year-old Lakeview, Ore., skier said Wednesday night. "I'm not saying that we will win without fail. I'm just saying we are strong enough to win."

If the U.S. Alpine skiers were to accomplish such a feat, it would far exceed the performance of any previous American ski team. American men never have won a gold medal in the three events—the slalom, the giant slalom and the downhill. U.S. women have won three.

Gretchen Fraser won the slalom in 1948, and Andrea Mead Lawrence scored a double in 1952 in the slalom and the giant slalom.

The present U.S. team completed its training in this north Italian winter resort Wednesday. It planned to leave today for Innsbruck, site of the Winter Games.

Miss Saubert, fully recovered from a siege of flu, said she is in the best possible shape. She was confident about her chances, saying: "If I'm skiing my best, I should be able to win."

U.S. Coach Bob Beattie believes the attractive brunette who stands 5-feet-6 and weighs 147 pounds is the best athlete he has.

The Oregon State University student missed a full semester of her teaching studies for the Olympics. She said that even if she wins a gold medal at Innsbruck, she will have to return home at once to make up the missed school work.

"I like skiing very much," she explained, "but I don't know if I'll be able to race again after the Olympic Games. It will depend on many things."

Coach Plans Changes

'Thinking' Was Factor In Bucs' Home Losses

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

"I think the reason we lost was two fold; we failed to bring down the ball fast enough giving their defense too much time to set up, and we were thinking too much before shooting," summed up St. Mary's new coach, Dan Wright, regarding the Pirates' three home game losses so far this season.

The Buc mentor further commented that he didn't feel that the home court "advantage" figured into the three defeats, but rather the delibrate, slow pace his cagers displayed. St. Mary's, the defending Denver Parochial League champion, lost its three-year home court jinx against Regis three weeks ago, and since that time the Pirates have dropped home games to Holy Family and Annunciation.

Wright put his team thru rapid workouts this week seeking to amend the three defeats as the Pirates prepare for two DPL games this weekend in Denver. The local school travels north Friday when they tangle with St. Francis, and Sunday the Pirates are slated for a contest with Mt. Carmel at the Joseph's Gymnasium. Both DPL teams have 3-3 won-lost records.

Last Sunday the Bucs snapped a three-game home losing trend when they slipped past lowly St. Joseph's 44-34, after succumbing to Annunciation the previous Friday, 41-39. The victory over St. Joseph's enabled the Pirates to bat .500 as they compiled a 3-3 mark.

In attempt to speed up the St. Mary's offensive endeavors, Wright, a former Colorado College football and basketball player, has been switching the regulars trying to find the working formula. Because their Friday opponent, St. Francis, has two gunners in the backcourt, Wright has switched his personnel around.

The St. Mary's mentor has indicated that he may go with David Grantz at center, Dick Pfalmer and sophomore Tom Socha at forwards, and Sam Zavatti and Jerry Knauf at guards. Pfalmer is the lone cager on the regular starting unit with Socha, who made his mark against Machebeauf, getting the starting nod for the first time.

Normally, Wright has been starting Pfalmer and Mike Conway — the Pirates two leading scorers — at forwards, 6-5 Ralph Layman at the post, and Joe Jezek and Tom McCarthy at guards. Wright feels the revised starting unit will afford more flexibility and defensive strength. However, the Pirate coach will undoubtedly substitue his regulars as the game progresses.

Altho the Pirates are presently deadlocked for third place in DPL standings along with Machebeauf, Mt. Carmel, Mullen, and St. Francis, the St. Mary's coach expressed optimism for the league championship. Wright feels that the current leader, Regis, undefeated in six outings, could possibly lose three games before the pennant chase ends. And he feels that Holy Family, the current runner-up with only one loss in six games, can be hurdled.

Against Annunciation last week, the Pirates faltered in the third period as they could only tally two points which resulted in the 41-39 serback. Pfalmer, who leads the Pirates in scoring with 100 points in 10 games, was the only St. Mary's player to hit in the double figures as the 6-3 senior dumped in a dozen points.

But the Pirate gunner was contained to seven points against the stubborn St. Joseph's aggregation. Conway, the second top Pirate scorer with 96 points, could only manage 12 points over the weekend. Conway started off at a high scoring clip, but the 6-2 senior has encountered a scoring slump lately.

Lucky International Opens In San Francisco Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"We can hit the ball at the hole and it will stick," declared golf's 1964 big money winner Tony Lema today as the $50,000 Lucky International Tournament opened at the course he played as a youngster.

Tied for second in the San Diego Open and winner of the storm battered Bing Crosby event, the 29 - year - old Lema aimed for back-to-back victories after already earning $12,100 playing golf this year.

He found Harding Park sloppy at tee and green after five days of rain but generally in good shape. Although posting only a three-over-par 74 in the pro-am prelude, Lema remained among the tournament favorites.

Most of golf's big names opened play in the Lucky as the weatherman forecast an end to the big Northern California storm.

Low pro in Wednesday's warmup was Bob Rosburg, now of Portland, Ore., but another who played Harding as a youngster. He posted a 68. At 69, indicating par would take a beating, were British Open champion Bob Charles, Fred Hawkins and Al Geiberger.

Nilon Leaves Baltimore In State of Confusion

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bob Nilon, advisor of heavyweight boxing champion Sonny Liston, hustled into town Wednesday to beat the drums for local televising of Liston's title bout with Cassius Clay.

When Nilon departed, guests at a news conference were laughing and confused. . . mostly confused.

As best could be determined, without aid of tape recorder or interpreter, Nilon told his audience:

1. Baltimore has a beautiful Civic Center (of which local newsmen were aware).

2. Clay, a beautiful specimen of a fighter, could take the championship from Liston in Miami Feb. 25, although he believes "Sonny should be the champ for another five to seven years."

"No man living can beat Sonny now," Nilon said. He did not explain where that left Clay.

3. There have been fixes in baseball, football and basketball, but "I'd hate to be the man who goes into his (Liston's) dressing room and say 'carry the fight for eight or nine rounds.'"

4. Nilon and his brothers, Jack and Jim, may go to Russia to scout a heavyweight for a possible future bout. "He's supposed to be in Omsk or Tomsk," Nilon said.

5. "The World Boxing Association is a misnomer. They don't really control anything. It's up to us to pick Liston's opponents whether or not they think they're worthy challengers."

Giardello Sees Clay Going Fast

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—"Now that the fight is getting close, Cassius is quieting down a good deal," middleweight boxing champion Joey Giardello said Wednesday night of the upcoming Sonny Liston - Cassius Clay heavyweight title bout.

Giardello, a guest at the Wilmington Sportswriters and Broadcasters Association's 15th annual banquet, put it right on the line as to his choice in the right.

"It doesn't matter what he (Clay) has to say about the match.

"He'll only last until Sonny hits him," Giardello said.

Giardello was one of about 500 who saw Delaware football star Mike Brown and Villanova cross country and track standout Vic Zwolak awarded John J. Brady Memorial plaques as co-winners of the Delaware outstanding athlete award for 1963.

Brown probably was more responsible than anyone for Delaware's first undefeated football season since 1946. He gained 838 yards during the Blue Hens 8-0 Middle Atlantic Conference championship season.

Zwolak won two NCAA track titles last year, taking the 3,000-meter steeplechase at Albuquerque, N. M., last June, and then winning the NCAA championship in the cross country run at East Lansing, Mich., in November.

Former baseball executive Bill Veeck was the featured speaker and he had predictions of his own to make.

Pointing to Philadelphia Eagles halfback Tommy McDonald Veeck said, "I'd like to make a prediction. A man from Oklahoma (presumably Coach Bud Wilkinson) will give up his intentions to become a U.S. senator and will become the new coach of the Eagles."

Former Eagles Coach Nick Skorich was dismissed Tuesday in an announcement made by Jerry Wolman, now owner of the National Football League club.

McDonald was a standout under Wilkinson before he turned professional.

Colts Obtain Kasko From Cincinnati

Cincinnati received Wally Wolf, young right-handed pitcher, plus an undisclosed amount of cash and another player to be announced later.

Paul Richards, Colt general manager, had said he hoped to strengthen the Houston infield today or Friday by announcing the acquisition of a veteran shortstop.

Kasko, 31, was the regular shortstop on the pennant winning 1961 Cincinnati club but has played mostly at third the past two seasons. He also has played second base.

First Day Finals Lead To Tuttle

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Tommy Tuttle of Rural Hall, N.C., took a commanding lead in the first day of finals at the $100,000 All-Star Bowling Tournament Wednesday night.

The personable newcomer won 12 and lost four games while knocking down 3,631 pins in the opening four rounds. He received a 600-pin bonus, 59 for each game he won, to boost his position to 4,231.

Tuttle's best performance of the day came in the third round when he walloped a 258-256-181-235 — 930 series to defeat Don Ellis of Houston, Tex., in three games.

Luke Barlow of Hobbs, N.M. was in second place as the tournament moved into the fifth round with a total of 3,943 pins, a reflection of his record of 12 won and four lost and his total pin fall of 3,343.

Barlow moved from third place into the runner - up spot after winning three of his four games with Dick Weber, the defending champion from St. Louis.

Weber, who was in second place going into the round, dropped to fifth place.

Norma Lake of Dallas and Laverne Carter of St. Louis were deadlocked for the women's lead after four rounds with identical grand totals of 1,871.

ICE FALLIES—Jerry Toppazzini, 21, of the Boston Bruins, and New York Ranger Vic Hadfield, 11, get in some wrestling and go down on the ice during an outbreak of fighting in the Ranger-Bruins National Hockey League game at New York's Madison Square Garden Thursday night. Both went to the penalty box for five minutes, along with Boston's Murray Oliver, who was involved in the same incident. Other Rangers are Larry Cahan, 5, and Earl Ingarfield, 10. Years of Frustration End for Charlie Hodge

By United Press International

A trade, an injury and persistence have wiped away 10 years of frustration for Charlie Hodge.

Hodge admits he was almost resigned to the role of a substitute goalie for the Montreal Canadiens after spending 10 years in the shadow of Jacques Plante. But Plante was traded to New York last summer for goalie Gump Worsley, who subsequently was injured in November.

The jockey-sized Hodge got the familiar call up from Quebec of the American Hockey League but this time Hodge was determined to be more than a stand in and now Worsley has the Quebec job.

With Hodge in the Montreal nets the Canadiens began to move and Wednesday night they finally caught the Chicago Black Hawks, who have led the National Hockey League all season and at one point were threatening to make a runaway of the race.

Hodge, 30, blanked Toronto Wednesday night 3-0 for his third shutout of the season to pull Montreal into a tie for first place with Chicago. Gilles Tremblay, Dave Balon and Henri Richard scored the Montreal goals.

Invaders Snap Loss Streak With 5-2 Win at Portland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Denver Invaders, their offense clicking and their defense holding at the crucial moments broke a four-game losing streak Wednesday night with a 5-2 win over Portland.

The victory stretched the Western Hockey League leader' margin over the Los Angeles Blades to 15 points.

The Schmautz brothers put Portland in front 2-1 in the first period with Arnie scoring at 16:25 and Cliff tallying with nine seconds remaining.

Gordie Redahl tied the score with only 13 seconds gone in the second period and the Invaders coasted to victory with three goals in the final stanza. Lou Jankowski tallied the last goal of the game. It was his 28th and tied him with Seattle's Bob Barlow for goal-scoring honors.

Al Millar, who made a quick weekend trip up and back to Toronto, turned back 28 attempts for Denver. Portland's rookie Dave Kelly had 37 saves.

Los Angeles and San Francisco battle it out for second place in the Cow Palace in the only scheduled game tonight.

Army Has Excellent Cage Squad

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Army probably isn't in the class of UCLA and Michigan, the top-ranked teams in The Associated Press poll, but the Cadets have come up with their best basketball team in 20 years.

Not since a 27-game winning streak two decades ago have the Cadets looked ahead with such confidence to their traditional game with Navy, Feb. 29.

One of Nisenson's basket tied the core at 57-57, but Army went ahead to stay on goals by Joe Kosciusko of Grafton, Mass. and Bill Helkie, of South Bend, Ind.

There were only a few other major games on the schedule as mid - year exams continued to keep college activity to a minimum.

Seventh-ranked Villanova, the only team in the Top Ten to see action, romped against West Chester, Pa. State, 78-61.

Schayes, Players Scrap While 76ers Lose Again

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers, who have been having trouble of late beating National Basketball Association opposition, now are scrapping among themselves.

Coach Dolph Schayes was involved in disputes with two of his players Wednesday night as Philadelphia dropped a 124-116 decision to the Baltimore Bullets for their fifth loss in a row.

In other action, Cincinnati handed Boston its worst defeat of the season 109-92 and Los Angeles whipped Detroit 110-101.

When Dave Gambee was removed from the Philadelphia-Baltimore game in the second quarter, he showed his displeasure by actions and words. Schayes retaliated by ordering Gambee to the dressing room for the remainder of the game.

In the fourth quarter, Lee Shaffer cursed both Schayes and his replacement Ben Warley when he was ordered to the bench. Shaffer, who earlier was charged with a technical foul for cursing, did not return until the contest almost was over.

For the night, Gambee played seven minutes and Shaffer 13.

Asked after the game to comment on the Gambee incident, Schayes said, "It's nothing I'd care to talk about. He left because he didn't feel well."

Asked if the players would be fined, the Philadelphia coach said, "Yes, a million dollars."

Cincinnati continued to plague the Celtics with its fifth victory in nine games between the teams. Oscar Robertson's 38 points paced the second-place Royals as they cut Boston's Eastern Division lead to 2½ games.

Cincinnati took the lead 10-9 in the first quarter and stayed in front the rest of the way. The biggest margin was 20 points.

Nilon Leaves Baltimore In State of Confusion

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bob Nilon, advisor of heavyweight boxing champion Sonny Liston, hustled into town Wednesday to beat the drums for local televising of Liston's title bout with Cassius Clay.

When Nilon departed, guests at a news conference were laughing and confused. . . mostly confused.

As best could be determined, without aid of tape recorder or interpreter, Nilon told his audience:

1. Baltimore has a beautiful Civic Center (of which local newsmen were aware).

2. Clay, a beautiful specimen of a fighter, could take the championship from Liston in Miami Feb. 25, although he believes "Sonny should be the champ for another five to seven years."

"No man living can beat Sonny now," Nilon said. He did not explain where that left Clay.

3. There have been fixes in baseball, football and basketball, but "I'd hate to be the man who goes into his (Liston's) dressing room and say 'carry the fight for eight or nine rounds.'"

4. Nilon and his brothers, Jack and Jim, may go to Russia to scout a heavyweight for a possible future bout. "He's supposed to be in Omsk or Tomsk," Nilon said.

5. "The World Boxing Association is a misnomer. They don't really control anything. It's up to us to pick Liston's opponents whether or not they think they're worthy challengers."

Giardello Sees Clay Going Fast

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—"Now that the fight is getting close, Cassius is quieting down a good deal," middleweight boxing champion Joey Giardello said Wednesday night of the upcoming Sonny Liston - Cassius Clay heavyweight title bout.

Giardello, a guest at the Wilmington Sportswriters and Broadcasters Association's 15th annual banquet, put it right on the line as to his choice in the right.

"It doesn't matter what he (Clay) has to say about the match.

"He'll only last until Sonny hits him," Giardello said.

Giardello was one of about 500 who saw Delaware football star Mike Brown and Villanova cross country and track standout Vic Zwolak awarded John J. Brady Memorial plaques as co-winners of the Delaware outstanding athlete award for 1963.

Brown probably was more responsible than anyone for Delaware's first undefeated football season since 1946. He gained 838 yards during the Blue Hens 8-0 Middle Atlantic Conference championship season.

Zwolak won two NCAA track titles last year, taking the 3,000-meter steeplechase at Albuquerque, N. M., last June, and then winning the NCAA championship in the cross country run at East Lansing, Mich., in November.

Former baseball executive Bill Veeck was the featured speaker and he had predictions of his own to make.

Pointing to Philadelphia Eagles halfback Tommy McDonald Veeck said, "I'd like to make a prediction. A man from Oklahoma (presumably Coach Bud Wilkinson) will give up his intentions to become a U.S. senator and will become the new coach of the Eagles."

Former Eagles Coach Nick Skorich was dismissed Tuesday in an announcement made by Jerry Wolman, now owner of the National Football League club.

McDonald was a standout under Wilkinson before he turned professional.

First Day Finals Lead To Tuttle

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Tommy Tuttle of Rural Hall, N.C., took a commanding lead in the first day of finals at the $100,000 All-Star Bowling Tournament Wednesday night.

The personable newcomer won 12 and lost four games while knocking down 3,631 pins in the opening four rounds. He received a 600-pin bonus, 50 for each game he won, to boost his position to 4,231.

Tuttle's best performance of the day came in the third round when he walloped a 258-256-181-235 — 930 series to defeat Don Ellis of Houston, Tex., in three games.

Luke Barlow of Hobbs, N.M. was in second place as the tournament moved into the fifth round with a total of 3,943 pins, a reflection of his record of 12 won and four lost and his total pin fall of 3,343.

Barlow moved from third place into the runner - up spot after winning three of his four games with Dick Weber, the defending champion from St. Louis.

Weber, who was in second place going into the round, dropped to fifth place.

Norma Lake of Dallas and Laverne Carter of St. Louis were deadlocked for the women's lead after four rounds with identical grand totals of 1,871.

Colts Obtain Kasko From Cincinnati

Cincinnati received Wally Wolf, young right-handed pitcher, plus an undisclosed amount of cash and another player to be announced later.

Paul Richards, Colt general manager, had said he hoped to strengthen the Houston infield today or Friday by announcing the acquisition of a veteran shortstop.

Kasko, 31, was the regular shortstop on the pennant winning 1961 Cincinnati club but has played mostly at third the past two seasons. He also has played second base.

ICE FALLIES—Jerry Toppazzini, 21, of the Boston Bruins, and New York Ranger Vic Hadfield, 11, get in some wrestling and go down on the ice during an outbreak of fighting in the Ranger-Bruins National Hockey League game at New York's Madison Square Garden Thursday night. Both went to the penalty box for five minutes, along with Boston's Murray Oliver, who was involved in the same incident. Other Rangers are Larry Cahan, 5, and Earl Ingarfield, 10. Ranger coach Red Sullivan stands on the beach in the background. The Rangers won, 6-4. (AP Wirephoto)

Years of Frustration End for Charlie Hodge

By United Press International

A trade, an injury and persistence have wiped away 10 years of frustration for Charlie Hodge.

Hodge admits he was almost resigned to the role of a substitute goalie for the Montreal Canadiens after spending 10 years in the shadow of Jacques Plante. But Plante was traded to New York last summer for goalie Gump Worsley, who subsequently was injured in November.

The jockey-sized Hodge got the familiar call up from Quebec of the American Hockey League but this time Hodge was determined to be more than a stand in and now Worsley has the Quebec job.

With Hodge in the Montreal nets the Canadiens began to move and Wednesday night they finally caught the Chicago Black Hawks, who have led the National Hockey League all season and at one point were threatening to make a runaway of the race.

Hodge, 30, blanked Toronto Wednesday night 3-0 for his third shutout of the season to pull Montreal into a tie for first place with Chicago. Gilles Tremblay, Dave Balon and Henri Richard scored the Montreal goals.

Invaders Snap Loss Streak With 5-2 Win at Portland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Denver Invaders, their offense clicking and their defense holding at the crucial moments broke a four-game losing streak Wednesday night with a 5-2 win over Portland.

The victory stretched the Western Hockey League leader' margin over the Los Angeles Blades to 15 points.

The Schmautz brothers put Portland in front 2-1 in the first period with Arnie scoring at 16:25 and Cliff tallying with nine seconds remaining.

Gordie Redahl tied the score with only 13 seconds gone in the second period and the Invaders coasted to victory with three goals in the final stanza. Lou Jankowski tallied the last goal of the game. It was his 28th and tied him with Seattle's Bob Barlow for goal-scoring honors.

Al Millar, who made a quick weekend trip up and back to Toronto, turned back 28 attempts for Denver. Portland's rookie Dave Kelly had 37 saves.

Los Angeles and San Francisco battle it out for second place in the Cow Palace in the only scheduled game tonight.

Army Has Excellent Cage Squad

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Army probably isn't in the class of UCLA and Michigan, the top-ranked teams in The Associated Press poll, but the Cadets have come up with their best basketball team in 20 years.

Not since a 27-game winning streak two decades ago have the Cadets looked ahead with such confidence to their traditional game with Navy, Feb. 29.

Hofstra earlier had defeated Navy and went into the Army game with a nine-game winning streak, but the Flying Dutchmen couldn't overcome the Cadets despite Steve Nisenson's 34 points.

One of Nisenson's basket tied the core at 57-57, but Army went ahead to stay on goals by Joe Kosciusko of Grafton, Mass. and Bill Helkie, of South Bend, Ind.

There were only a few other major games on the schedule as mid - year exams continued to keep college activity to a minimum.

Seventh-ranked Villanova, the only team in the Top Ten to see action, romped against West Chester, Pa. State, 78-61.

Schayes, Players Scrap While 76ers Lose Again

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers, who have been having trouble of late beating National Basketball Association opposition, now are scrapping among themselves.

Coach Dolph Schayes was involved in disputes with two of his players Wednesday night as Philadelphia dropped a 124-116 decision to the Baltimore Bullets for their fifth loss in a row.

In other action, Cincinnati handed Boston its worst defeat of the season 109-92 and Los Angeles whipped Detroit 110-101.

When Dave Gambee was removed from the Philadelphia-Baltimore game in the second quarter, he showed his displeasure by actions and words. Schayes retaliated by ordering Gambee to the dressing room for the remainder of the game.

In the fourth quarter, Lee Shaffer cursed both Schayes and his replacement Ben Warley when he was ordered to the bench. Shaffer, who earlier was charged with a technical foul for cursing, did not return until the contest almost was over.

For the night, Gambee played seven minutes and Shaffer 13.

Asked after the game to comment on the Gambee incident, Schayes said, "It's nothing I'd care to talk about. He left because he didn't feel well."

Asked if the players would be fined, the Philadelphia coach said, "Yes, a million dollars."

Cincinnati continued to plague the Celtics with its fifth victory in nine games between the teams. Oscar Robertson's 38 points paced the second-place Royals as they cut Boston's Eastern Division lead to 2½ games.

Cincinnati took the lead 10-9 in the first quarter and stayed in front the rest of the way. The biggest margin was 20 points.

Toll Road in South Colorado Proposed

DENVER (UPI)—Rep. Phillip Massari, D-Trinidad, asked the Colorado House today to direct the State Highway Department to make a study of the feasibility of turning U.S. 160 in southern Colorado into a toll road.

Massari introduced a resolution calling for continuation of the highway through Las Animas and Costilla counties.

He said work was started on the Whiskey Creek Highway and tunnel in 1929 and $1.5 milion was spent before the Works Progress Administration was discontinued.

Completion of the road and tunnel would shorten the distance between Trinidad and San Luis by 51 miles, he said.

Persons travelling from Trinidad to the San Luis Valley now must go through Walsenburg and over La Veta Pass.

KNOXVILE, Tenn. (AP) — Susan Preston, the first University of Tennessee medical technology graduate, has been going to class all by herself while completing the last 50 credit hours of required work.

In the new program initiated at the University, Susan recently received a bachelor of science degree in liberal arts with a major in medical technology. As the one and only student in the course, her classes were highly personalized, with her senior year spent in actual clinical training at University Hospital.

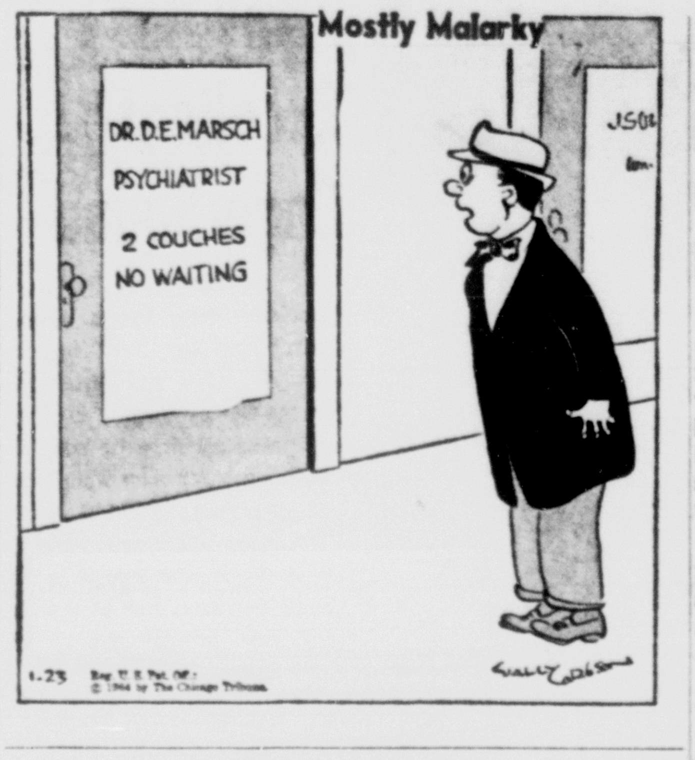
'GOURMET' ITEM

LONDON, Eng. (AP) — Advertised as a "gourmet's delight" especially "for the epicure" in London papers is: "Delicious golden whole kernel corn, first shipment just arrived from Canada. While yellow kernels vacuum-packed to retain all the appetizing delght of fresh corn just cut from the cob. Ready cooked without liquid added." The corn - a luxury in Europe—costs roughly 40 to 50 cents a can.



'NO SALE' PROFITABLE

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Southeast Optimist Club, which usually sells Christmas trees to raise money for its boys' projects, made money this year by "not" selling trees.

Bob Ledgerwood, who owns the lot where the trees are placed, had a chance to rent it during the holiday season. He informed the club he would turn over to it the rent money of $150 if each member, released from the task of selling trees this year, would chip in $10 to the boys' program. All agreed.

Personal Air Conditioner Is Invented

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government researchers may have found an answer for the person who dislikes to venture outside his air conditioned office or home in the summertime: personal air conditioner strapped to his belt.

A Commerce Department report said the device, developed at Savannah River Laboratory at Aiken, S.C., is 12 inches long and weighs only 6¼ ounces.

Plastic tubes deliver cold air to various parts of the body.

The device was developed for use by chemical, atomic and other workers who sweat in hot, dusty or contaminated air. Such workers often wear heavy protective clothing and sometimes are equipped with face masks or helmets.

The unit can deliver air cooled 50 to 60 degrees below the atmosphere in the worker's environment.

PIPE PARTNERS—Dr. Ingrid Porter of Menands, N.Y. and her husband, Dr. Ian H. Porter, seem to enjoy their pipes. The husband claimed "it (pipe smoking) doesn't make a woman any more or less feminine." (AP Wirephoto)

Plan, Accident May Be Same, Scientist Says

DENVER (AP)—There is just as much scientific justification for belief that nature was planned as there is for the opposite conviction, an Oregon chemist said here Tuesday.

Dr. Carl W. Bonhorst, associate professor of chemistry at the University of Portland, was interviewed during a meeting of the American Chemical Society. His remarks came in reply to questions about a statement in a report he delivered to his colleagues.

His paper dealt with the ability of cells to absorb os much as 200 times their own volume of the chemical element selenium.

"If nature is to make any sense, and scientists must operate on the premise that it does, a cell under normal conditions should have some use for this selenium-gathering ability," he said in the report.

Does nature make sense, then?

Yes, said Dr. Bonhorst—but that does not prove it was planned.

It is just that nature has been around a long time, and things that don't work or that have no purpose, disappear.

"We say that if it didn't make sense, evolution would have wiped it out," Dr. Bonhorst said.

A scientist may either believe or doubt that nature was planned, he added.

"I don't see how you're ever going to quarrel with anyone who says it's a plan, because over billions of years the plan and the accident would be the same."

Dr. Bonhorst, a native of South Dakota, was born a Lutheran, was baptized by a Presbyterian minister, attends a Methodist church and teaches at a Catholic university.

"So I ought to be pretty safe,' he joked.

The 97,000-member chemical organization will meet through Thursday.

Historic Papers Are Protected In U.S. Archives

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Archives Building, where rest the receords of a nation 187 years old, has tighter security regulations since a recent theft.

But authorities have no fear of anyone stealing the Declaration of Independence or other great documents.

"We feel there's absolutely no possibility of anyone making off with the real national treasures," Dr. Robert H. Bahmer, deputy archivist of the United States, said in an interview.

Despite elaborate safeguards, presidential letters and other documents valued at $500,000 were stolen from the research area.

The three great charters of freedom of the United States are enshrined in the exhibition hall of the Archives Building.

These are the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States and the Bill of Rights.

During the hours the building is open to the public, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., a guard stands by the great documents, enclosed in glass cases.

After the great bronze doors of the building are closed, slowly an electric mechanism begins to operate.

Eerily, the seven sealed glass cases containing the precious parchments begin to descend. It takes one minute for them to sink to a 50-ton vault, 20 feet below the floor, there to spend the night.

The vault is of steel and reinforced concrete with floor and walls 1 foot, 3 inches thick. The two doors of the same thickness that lock over it weigh 5 tons each. The vault is fireproof, shockproof and is considered bombproof.

In an emergency, the documents can be lowered at a moment's notice. In case of power failure, a stand-by mechanism will lower them and close the vault.

There's more than theft from which to protect the documents. Damage could result from light, air, heat, cold, mold and dust.

To safeguard against these, each parchment document leaf is sealed in helium, an inert gas, in its own bronze-bound case of filtered glass.

Van Johnson Has No Recurrence of Cancer

NEW YORK (AP) — Doctors at Memorial Hospital have told actor Van Johnson there is no recurrence of the cancer for which he underwent surgery 10 months ago.

Johnson, who had a skin cancer removed from his thigh in the earlier operation, underwent an exploratory operation on a lymph gland in the thigh last Thursday.

A spokesman for the actor disclosed today that laboratory tests after the operation were negative, showing no sign of a return of the malignancy.

The spokesman said Johnson is expected to remain in the hospital a week or 10 days.

Toll Road in South Colorado Proposed

DENVER (UPI)—Rep. Phillip Massari, D-Trinidad, asked the Colorado House today to direct the State Highway Department to make a study of the feasibility of turning U.S. 160 in southern Colorado into a toll road.

Massari introduced a resolution calling for continuation of the highway through Las Animas and Costilla counties.

He said work was started on the Whiskey Creek Highway and tunnel in 1929 and $1.5 million was spent before the Works Progress Administration was discontinued.

Completion of the road and tunnel would shorten the distance between Trinidad and San Luis by 51 miles, he said.

Persons travelling from Trinidad to the San Luis Valley now must go through Walsenburg and over La Veta Pass.

All ALONE

KNOXVILE, Tenn. (AP) — Susan Preston, the first University of Tennessee medical technology graduate, has been going to class all by herself while completing the last 50 credit hours of required work.

In the new program initiated at the University, Susan recently received a bachelor of science degree in liberal arts with a major in medical technology. As the one and only student in the course, her classes were highly personalized, with her senior year spent in actual clinical training at University Hospital.

'NO SALE' PROFITABLE

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Southeast Optimist Club, which usually sells Christmas trees to raise money for its boys' projects, made money this year by "not" selling trees.

Bob Ledgerwood, who owns the lot where the trees are placed, had a chance to rent it during the holiday season. He informed the club he would turn over to it the rent money of $150 if each member, released from the task of selling trees this year, would chip in $10 to the boys' program. All agreed.

Personal Air Conditioner Is Invented

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government researchers may have found an answer for the person who dislikes to venture outside his air conditioned office or home in the summertime: personal air conditioner strapped to his belt.

A Commerce Department report said the device, developed at Savannah River Laboratory at Aiken, S.C., is 12 inches long and weighs only 6¼ ounces.

Plastic tubes deliver cold air to various parts of the body.

The device was developed for use by chemical, atomic and other workers who sweat in hot, dusty or contaminated air. Such workers often wear heavy protective clothing and sometimes are equipped with face masks or helmets.

Politicians in California See Much Confusion

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—An ailing Democratic senator who won't give up has plunged California politics into a not uncommon state of confusion.

Voters remember Clair Engle in 1958 as a colorful, cigar-chewing campaigner who posed as a little old country boy. They liked him well enough to elect the seven-term cow-county congressman to the Senate over the then Republican governor, Goodwin J. Knight.

There was a different image—of a wan, hesitant figure—when the 52-year-old senator haltingly read a filmed television statement a couple of weeks ago announcing he was going to run again.

The great change was brought on by an illness that required brain surgery. It has created a worrisome problem for the state's majority Democrats and propounded some perplexing questions.

The uncertainty over Engle's health has stirred unmistakable signs of a scramble for the Senate nomination in both parties whether he stays in or gets out. The primary election is June 2.

Until he was stricken, Engle appeared unbeatable. An incumbent with a Democratic registration bulge of one million really didn't have much to worry about. No major Republican challenge was in sight.

Now, even close friends as well as state party leaders feel Engle ought to retire. They're convinced he isn't physically fit to run. They're fearful the Democrats will lose his seat if he does and plainly upset over prospects of opposing anyone in his condition.

Engle insists," "I'm in the race to stay." But his withdrawal wouldn't solve the Democratic dilemna. The party, with all its factions, hasn't agreed on any candidate to take Engle's place and a bitter primary clash might result.

Republicans, who yielded state political control in 1958, already are lining up to take aim on the Senate job. They've wasted no time in twitting Democrats for the asserted attempt to pressure Engle out of the way.

California's other senator, Thomas H. Kuchel, a Republican, was re-elected in 1962.

Engle, who underwent exploratory brain surgery in Washington Aug. 24, has been given until Friday by a state Democratic committee to produce medical records of his case.

His public appearances since leaving the hospital have been rare. Once he showed up in a wheel chair. He has carried a cane in his left hand and his right arm has been in a sling.

Eugene L. Wyman, Democratic state chairman, said flatly that the senator "is not in any condition to campaign."

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who saw Engle the same weekend, got the same impression.

Two Republicans with no previous election exposure have entered the race. One is former movie actor George Murphy, 59, who has been active in politics for 25 years. The other, a political unknown, is Lee Kaiser, a San Francisco financier and a supporter of Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Other Republicans may get into the primary.

Former Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles, a self-styled conservative who opposed Richard M. Nixon for the GOP gubernatorial nomination in 1962, is "considering."

Former Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco, defeated by Knight in the 1958 Senate primary, and State Sen. John F. McCarthy of San Rafael also have shown interest.

No Democrat has jumped in as yet and probably won't until the question of Engle's health is clarified. Three big political names in the state lead the list of possible contenders. They are:

State Controller Alan Cranston, 49, a former national president of United World Federalists and founding president of the 100,000-member California Democratic Council. He led the Democratic ticket in 1962.

Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk, 51, a former Los Angeles County Superior Court judge who outpolled all other candidates in winning his present post in 1958.

Rep. James Roosevelt, 56, eldest son of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. An unsuccessful candidate for governor against the future Chief Justice Earl Warren in 1950, he was first elected to Congress from Los Angeles in 1954.

Nasser Could Benefit By Waiting in Suez Dispute

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Had President Nasser been a patient man, the Suez Canal would have been his free in November 1968.

As it was, he has forked out over $81.2 million in compensation.

The Suez Company from the very first sought participation in the Egyptian government, and weak Egyptian rulers usually found themselves frail opponents for Europeans on the crest of colonialism.

Nor were Egypt's leaders very astute businessmen. Through mismanaged financial affairs at home, the spendthrift Khedive Ismail lost his original shares in the French-based company to Britain. The winners on this score were Britain's Prime Minister Benjamin Disraeli and his Empress Victoria, who now had both India and an economical way of getting there and back with riches.

By the post-World War II era, with the Suez Company one of the soundest enterprises then available to international investors, the Egyptian government had been granted 7 per cent of the gross profits—about $3 million annually. The government got another $12 million in various taxes.

Since Nasser's seizure and nationalization the government's take has skyrocketed but it is hard to tell how much of this is profit.

For 1962, the canal took in about $130 million in hard currency.

Last year, for which figures are not yet available, the figure is estimated to be more than 10 per cent higher.

Egyptians point to these statistics as proof that the old canal company never gave them a fair deal.

Politicians in California See Much Confusion

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—An ailing Democratic senator who won't give up has plunged California politics into a not uncommon state of confusion.

Voters remember Clair Engle in 1958 as a colorful, cigar-chewing campaigner who posed as a little old country boy. They liked him well enough to elect the seven-term cow-county congressman to the Senate over the then Republican governor, Goodwin J. Knight.

There was a different image—of a wan, hesitant figure—when the 52-year-old senator haltingly read a filmed television statement a couple of weeks ago announcing he was going to run again.

The great change was brought on by an illness that required brain surgery. It has created a worrisome problem for the state's majority Democrats and propounded some perplexing questions.

The uncertainty over Engle's health has stirred unmistakable signs of a scramble for the Senate nomination in both parties whether he stays in or gets out. The primary election is June 2.

Until he was stricken, Engle appeared unbeatable. An incumbent with a Democratic registration bulge of one million really didn't have much to worry about. No major Republican challenge was in sight.

Now, even close friends as well as state party leaders feel Engle ought to retire. They're convinced he isn't physically fit to run. They're fearful the Democrats will lose his seat if he does and plainly upset over prospects of opposing anyone in his condition.

Engle insists," "I'm in the race to stay." But his withdrawal wouldn't solve the Democratic dilemma. The party, with all its factions, hasn't agreed on any candidate to take Engle's place and a bitter primary clash might result.

Republicans, who yielded state political control in 1958, already are lining up to take aim on the Senate job. They've wasted no time in twitting Democrats for the asserted attempt to pressure Engle out of the way.

California's other senator, Thomas H. Kuchel, a Republican, was re-elected in 1962.

Engle, who underwent exploratory brain surgery in Washington Aug. 24, has been given until Friday by a state Democratic committee to produce medical records of his case.

His public appearances since leaving the hospital have been rare. Once he showed up in a wheel chair. He has carried a cane in his left hand and his right arm has been in a sling.

Eugene L. Wyman, Democratic state chairman, said flatly that the senator "is not in any condition to campaign."

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who saw Engle the same weekend, got the same impression.

Two Republicans with no previous election exposure have entered the race. One is former movie actor George Murphy, 59, who has been active in politics for 25 years. The other, a political unknown, is Lee Kaiser, a San Francisco financier and a supporter of Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Other Republicans may get into the primary.

Former Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles, a self-styled conservative who opposed Richard M. Nixon for the GOP gubernatorial nomination in 1962, is "considering."

Former Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco, defeated by Knight in the 1958 Senate primary, and State Sen. John F. McCarthy of San Rafael also have shown interest.

No Democrat has jumped in as yet and probably won't until the question of Engle's health is clarified. Three big political names in the state lead the list of possible contenders. They are:

State Controller Alan Cranston, 49, a former national president of United World Federalists and founding president of the 100,000-member California Democratic Council. He led the Democratic ticket in 1962.

Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk, 51, a former Los Angeles County Superior Court judge who outpolled all other candidates in winning his present post in 1958.

Rep. James Roosevelt, 56, eldest son of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. An unsuccessful candidate for governor against the future Chief Justice Earl Warren in 1950, he was first elected to Congress from Los Angeles in 1954.

WIDOW'S SECRET

VISEU, Portugal (UPI) — An old widow's jealously guarded secret came to light today. When Maria Lemos of Cavernaes died her age was listed officially as 102. Later information showed she really was 108.

Nasser Could Benefit By Waiting in Suez Dispute

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As it was, he has forked out over $81.2 million in compensation.

The Suez Company from the very first sought participation in the Egyptian government, and weak Egyptian rulers usually found themselves frail opponents for Europeans on the crest of colonialism.

Nor were Egypt's leaders very astute businessmen. Through mismanaged financial affairs at home, the spendthrift Khedive Ismail lost his original shares in the French-based company to Britain. The winners on this score were Britain's Prime Minister Benjamin Disraeli and his Empress Victoria, who now had both India and an economical way of getting there and back with riches.

By the post-World War II era, with the Suez Company one of the soundest enterprises then available to international investors, the Egyptian government had been granted 7 per cent of the gross profits—about $3 million annually. The government got another $12 million in various taxes.

Since Nasser's seizure and nationalization the government's take has skyrocketed but it is hard to tell how much of this is profit.

For 1962, the canal took in about $130 million in hard currency.

Last year, for which figures are not yet available, the figure is estimated to be more than 10 per cent higher.

Egyptians point to these statistics as proof that the old canal company never gave them a fair deal.

Israeli Official Is Named to U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Despite outspoken opposition from Algeria and Iraq, Israel's Abba Eban was named to a U.N. advisory committee Tuesday.

Eban became one of 18 members of a committee to advise the Economic and Social Council on the application of science and technology to development.

MISS FIXIT

LOUDONVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Nine girls at St. Agnes School may some day be able to tell their husbands a thing or two when it comes to fixing the family car or repairing the television set.

The senior mechanics are constructing a model car engine, as well as assembling television and radio sets in their physics lab. The girls are working under the direction of Henry F. Repka, physics instructor and only male teacher in the all-female school.

FESS GOES BACK TO HIS COONSKIN CAP

NEW YORK — Fess Parker, who never quite succeeded in erasing his Davey Crockett image, has decided if you can't lick 'em, join 'em. Next month he begins filming an hour-long TV series in color, and won't even have to change coonskin caps. This time the 6-foot-5 Texan will be playing that heroic wilderness scout, Daniel Boone. Producer Aaron Rosenberg makes his TV bow with this one for Twentieth Century-Fox and NBC. As part of the pact, Parker also will star in at least one motion picture for 20th Century this year. Daniel Boone should put Fess right up there on the TV polls alongside his old Davey Crockett sidekick, Buddy Ebsen. . .When Joan Crawford walked into a Boston theater to see "Funny Face," the entire audience rose and applauded her. She was there promoting her picture, "Strait-Jacket." On Wednesday she starts a whirlwind tour of 16 theaters in the New York area where her picture will open. After that Miss Crawford will be ready for a two-week rest in the Caribbean.

Barbra Streisand, playing Fannie Brice in the musical version of her life staged by the late star's son-in-law, Ray Stark, is a sensation in Boston, but the book will be overhauled before the New York opening. Reports are that the writers devoted too much attention to Fanny's husband. Another standout in the cast was Kay Medford, playing Fanny's mother. She came close to taking the play away from Barbra. One of the dancers broke her foot opening night — aside from that everything looks promising. . .A great loss to Boston was the death of Robert Choate, publisher of the Boston Herald and Traveler. A year ago when I visited the city he took me on a tour of his plant, and we lunched in his private dining room with his entire staff. Mr. Choate was a leader in the fight for a new Boston.

Van Johnson's spirit was wonderful, despite all the tests he'd undergone before his surgery for cancer, when I spoke with him. He was sitting up in bed looking just like a cherub wearing the beautiful pajamas Roz Russell sent him. Roz phones him every day; offered to come east if Van wanted her to be with him after the operation. . . A New York firm wired Brother David (Gareth Hughes) an offer to film his life story. Thirty years ago he gave up acting to become a missionary to the Indians in the Nevada wastelands, a work he continued until ill health forced him into retirement. When he sent me word about the picture, Brother David wrote, "Maybe I'll get that gymnasium built on the reservation yet, and a little tepee for me — so I can live near the people I love.". . .Rory Calhoun has spent most of his time the last few years making pictures abroad. Just back from Spain he told me: "An actor should be a diplomat to work in foreign lands these days. Because you're an American, you're questioned about everything from Yalta to Viet Nam. You have to be up on grain trade to Russia, NATO armament, Berlin, the Common Market. I, for one, am honored to argue the points, tho I know the workings so slightly."

I saw Mrs. Barry Goldwater at "21" the day after her husband made that riproaring speech abou table-bodied men on relief . . .I lunched with the Charles Einfelds. Charlie told me that when he was still working on "Cleopatra," he walked into a projection room in Rome and saw six hours of the film. "It was superb then," he said. "But I haven't seen the cut version that's playing the theaters.". . . Everybody will be making tracks for Palm Beach on the 31st for the ball which celebrates the 100th year of the Red Cross. It is already sold out. I'm heartbroken that I can't go . . .Skitch Henderson drove me home after the Johnny Carson show the other evening. He tells me he's moving from Vermont to a townhouse in New York. Carson takes his show to the coast next month.

Florissant News

By MRS. BEN GARVER

The new dial telephone service is now completed, right on schedule, and residents are thrilled to contact one another. The line was installed at a cost of $120,000, and provides service to 4 Mile, Lake George and Florissant and outlying areas. It is planned to build a line in the future to the Tarryall areas.

The community bid goodbye to Ranger and Mrs. Jack Swisher and daughters, as they left last week for their new home in Ozark, Arkansas. A farewell party was held for the Swishers at Lake George.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hilton, who were recently married. Mrs. Hilton is the former Jarel Swisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Swisher, and they are residing at Colorado Springs where the bridegroom is stationed with the Air Force.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Benatti of Fountain spent the weekend at their summer home here.

The Imboden's Cafe is now open again after being closed over the holidays.

Numerous friends from the area attended funeral services for Mrs. Hazel Poyner, at Buena Vista, Sunday. Sympathy is extended to her husband, Joe Poyner and her children.

There were a number from here attending the Stock Show in Denver and report a very interesting visit.

The Forest Service have hired part of the former crew to burn beetle killed trees.

Goldwater Sees 'Fascism of the Left' Dangers

By WALTER R. MEARS

KEENE, N.H. (AP)—Republican Barry Goldwater, warning of "fascism on the left," presses today his hunt for votes in New Hampshire's presidential primary.

The Arizona senator—outfitted with his first pair of overshoes—scheduled another packed day of person-to-person campaigning for the March 10 primary, first in the nation.

He starts in Keene with a news conference, a radio interview, and a talk at the YMCA.

Then Goldwater is off through the slush to Swanzey, Jaffrey, Peterboro, Hillsboro, New London and Laconia.

Goldwater planned more of the informal campaigning he has made his New Hampshire style: a brief talk, a question and answer session, then as many handhakes as possible.

He opened the second round of his New Hampshire campaign Tuesday, swinging through a half dozen villages with swipes at New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, his chief rival for the Republican presidential nomination.

"We conservatives don't believe that it's wise to have a government debt that now totals over one trillion dollars," he told a crowd of about 100 at the Goffstown Masonic Hall. "That's $21,000 for every family in the country."

In the parish house of St. Andrew's Episcopal church at Hopkinton, Goldwater stressed his campaign theme—a clear choice of candidates.

"We've been tending too long to a one-party system which in my opinion would be the opening of the end of the free republic," he said. "What we actually have today is a fascism of the left."

Needling the New York governor, Goldwater said: "The medicare plan that President Johnson is plugging for and Gov. Rockefeller is plugging for is to my mind the first step to socialized medicine and I don't want any part of it."

In the crowded Student Union of New England College, Goldwater told a Negro coed he long has been an active foe of segregation, but added: "I don't think we can go as far as the present civil rights bill tries to go in law and say you have to like me or I have to like you."

He spoke against federal aid to elementary and secondary schools, but indicated he thinks assistance for higher education should go to church-related institutions.

"I don't believe that a government can morally take money from all the people in the form of taxation and not give it back to all the people," he said.

De Gaulle Popularity On Upswing Again

The latest survey of the French Public Opinion Institute showed 56 per cent of the persons queried said they were "satisfied" with De Gaulle as against 51 per cent at the end of November.

A LA CARTE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Even "the last of the big spenders" wouldn't reach for this dinner tab — $7,912,000,000 (b) —which is what Americans spend eating away from home in a year's time.

From jails to monasteries, in lunchrooms, restaurants, and even at the race tracks and ball parks, 67 million meals are served daily. According to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, the choice of fuel for cooking among professional chefs is gas, 9 to 1.

Expense Account Given by Town

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Comstock Township Clerk Eleanor Westrate enjoyed herself so much on a business trip that she tried to save the township money on her expense account. But it didn't work.

The township Board discovered Tuesday night that Mrs. Westrate had not listed any meals during her attendance at a Michigan Township Association convention in Lansing. The board ordered $12 added to her personal voucher of $21.

Mrs. Westrate, a housewife, explained that "it was such a pleasure to eat out that I didn't want to charge the township for it."

Skelton Shows Remain Popular Thruout Decade

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Boy and man, Red Skelton has spent so many evenings in American living rooms that his comedy characters, Freddie the Freeloader and Clem Kadiddlehopper are almost as familiar as CBS's unblinking eye and NBC's peacock.

After a few seasons, most weekly variety shows and — particularly — comedians start to show unmistakeable signs of fatigue.

Skelton has been a television regular for at least a decade and his program is always high on any list of the most popular shows.

His monologues at the opening are not in the same league with Bob Hope's or even Jack Paar's. Tuesday night it consisted of a string of tranquilizer jokes. Much of his material can be traced to old-time vaudeville.

But there is a gaity and warmth about every Skelton show that transcends the material and reflects the talent of the star. He seems to enjoy his show, particularly the most outrageous sight gags, as much if not more than the audience.

Only Red could have pulled off Tuesday night's pantomime about the man with an allergy. His sneezes knocked down a door, swept the whiskers off a man and onto a woman and finally blew Red out of his own shoes.

Merv Griffin, Red's guest star, played a straight man and sang and played the piano very acceptably. But Red Skelton is always the show.

"There is no question but that an Italian Mafia exists," said "CBS Reports" producer Jay McMullen, "and there is no question but that there is a relationship between the Italian Mafia and whatever you want to call it—Mafia, Cosa Nostra—in this country."

McMullen speaks with authority after spending most of the past two years gathering facts and pictures for tonight's program, "The Business of Heroin."

After following the trail of the illicit traffic in drugs from Turkey to Aleppo to Marseille to a Harlem street corner where, with concealed cameras he filmed peddlers and addicts transacting their business, McMullen estimates that, at a very minimum, narcotics is a $50-million a year business in the United States alone.

McMullen says that controlling this destructive force is "a very delicate matter, because it is all tied up with economics and politics."

"It is a very valuable export for some countries," he noted.

McMullen is an old hand at riding the waves of controversy: he produced both "The Biography of a Bookie Joint" and "the Great American Funeral" for "CBS Reports."

It Was Really Time To Have Her Baby

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Mrs. Marshall Williams, 25, arose early Tuesday and went to the hospital because "I just knew my baby was coming."

The doctors told her it wasn't time. She returned home. Two hours later, a taxi was called for a second trip. Her husband delivered the baby girl in the back seat of the cab.

Florissant News

By MRS. BEN GARVER

The new dial telephone service is now completed, right on schedule, and residents are thrilled to contact one another. The line was installed at a cost of $120,000, and provides service to 4 Mile, Lake George and Florissant and outlying areas. It is planned to build a line in the future to the Tarryall areas.

The community bid goodbye to Ranger and Mrs. Jack Swisher and daughters, as they left last week for their new home in Ozark, Arkansas. A farewell party was held for the Swishers at Lake George.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hilton, who were recently married. Mrs. Hilton is the former Jarel Swisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Swisher, and they are residing at Colorado Springs where the bridegroom is stationed with the Air Force.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Benatti of Fountain spent the weekend at their summer home here.

The Imboden's Cafe is now open again after being closed over the holidays.

Numerous friends from the area attended funeral services for Mrs. Hazel Poyner, at Buena Vista, Sunday. Sympathy is extended to her husband, Joe Poyner and her children.

There were a number from here attending the Stock Show in Denver and report a very interesting visit.

The Forest Service have hired part of the former crew to burn beetle killed trees.

Goldwater Sees 'Fascism of the Left' Dangers

By WALTER R. MEARS

KEENE, N.H. (AP)—Republican Barry Goldwater, warning of "fascism on the left," presses today his hunt for votes in New Hampshire's presidential primary.

The Arizona senator—outfitted with his first pair of overshoes—scheduled another packed day of person-to-person campaigning for the March 10 primary, first in the nation.

He starts in Keene with a news conference, a radio interview, and a talk at the YMCA.

Then Goldwater is off through the slush to Swanzey, Jaffrey, Peterboro, Hillsboro, New London and Laconia.

Goldwater planned more of the informal campaigning he has made his New Hampshire style: a brief talk, a question and answer session, then as many handhakes as possible.

He opened the second round of his New Hampshire campaign Tuesday, swinging through a half dozen villages with swipes at New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, his chief rival for the Republican presidential nomination.

"We conservatives don't believe that it's wise to have a government debt that now totals over one trillion dollars," he told a crowd of about 100 at the Goffstown Masonic Hall. "That's $21,000 for every family in the country."

In the parish house of St. Andrew's Episcopal church at Hopkinton, Goldwater stressed his campaign theme—a clear choice of candidates.

"We've been tending too long to a one-party system which in my opinion would be the opening of the end of the free republic," he said. "What we actually have today is a fascism of the left."

Needling the New York governor, Goldwater said: "The medicare plan that President Johnson is plugging for and Gov. Rockefeller is plugging for is to my mind the first step to socialized medicine and I don't want any part of it."

In the crowded Student Union of New England College, Goldwater told a Negro coed he long has been an active foe of segregation, but added: "I don't think we can go as far as the present civil rights bill tries to go in law and say you have to like me or I have to like you."

He spoke against federal aid to elementary and secondary schools, but indicated he thinks assistance for higher education should go to church-related institutions.

"I don't believe that a government can morally take money from all the people in the form of taxation and not give it back to all the people," he said.

De Gaulle Popularity On Upswing Again

PARIS (AP) — A poll shows President Charles de Gaulle's popularity on the upswing.

The latest survey of the French Public Opinion Institute showed 56 per cent of the persons queried said they were "satisfied" with De Gaulle as against 51 per cent at the end of November.

A LA CARTE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Even "the last of the big spenders" wouldn't reach for this dinner tab — $7,912,000,000 (b) —which is what Americans spend eating away from home in a year's time.

From jails to monasteries, in lunchrooms, restaurants, and even at the race tracks and ball parks, 67 million meals are served daily. According to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, the choice of fuel for cooking among professional chefs is gas, 9 to 1.

Expense Account Given by Town

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Comstock Township Clerk Eleanor Westrate enjoyed herself so much on a business trip that she tried to save the township money on her expense account. But it didn't work.

The township Board discovered Tuesday night that Mrs. Westrate had not listed any meals during her attendance at a Michigan Township Association convention in Lansing. The board ordered $12 added to her personal voucher of $21.

Mrs. Westrate, a housewife, explained that "it was such a pleasure to eat out that I didn't want to charge the township for it."

Skelton Shows Remain Popular Thruout Decade

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Boy and man, Red Skelton has spent so many evenings in American living rooms that his comedy characters, Freddie the Freeloader and Clem Kadiddlehopper are almost as familiar as CBS's unblinking eye and NBC's peacock.

After a few seasons, most weekly variety shows and — particularly — comedians start to show unmistakeable signs of fatigue.

Skelton has been a television regular for at least a decade and his program is always high on any list of the most popular shows.

His monologues at the opening are not in the same league with Bob Hope's or even Jack Paar's. Tuesday night it consisted of a string of tranquilizer jokes. Much of his material can be traced to old-time vaudeville.

But there is a gaity and warmth about every Skelton show that transcends the material and reflects the talent of the star. He seems to enjoy his show, particularly the most outrageous sight gags, as much if not more than the audience.

Only Red could have pulled off Tuesday night's pantomime about the man with an allergy. His sneezes knocked down a door, swept the whiskers off a man and onto a woman and finally blew Red out of his own shoes.

Merv Griffin, Red's guest star, played a straight man and sang and played the piano very acceptably. But Red Skelton is always the show.

"There is no question but that an Italian Mafia exists," said "CBS Reports" producer Jay McMullen, "and there is no question but that there is a relationship between the Italian Mafia and whatever you want to call it—Mafia, Cosa Nostra—in this country."

McMullen speaks with authority after spending most of the past two years gathering facts and pictures for tonight's program, "The Business of Heroin."

After following the trail of the illicit traffic in drugs from Turkey to Aleppo to Marseille to a Harlem street corner where, with concealed cameras he filmed peddlers and addicts transacting their business, McMullen estimates that, at a very minimum, narcotics is a $50-million a year business in the United States alone.

McMullen says that controlling this destructive force is "a very delicate matter, because it is all tied up with economics and politics."

"It is a very valuable export for some countries," he noted.

McMullen is an old hand at riding the waves of controversy: he produced both "The Biography of a Bookie Joint" and "the Great American Funeral" for "CBS Reports."

Fashions Are Poles Apart in Florence Show

By LOUISE HICKMAN

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Poles-apart collections by Irene Galitzine and Federico Forquet caused a buzz of excitement Tuesday night at the Florence showings.

Galitzine had little dash, compared to her former designer Forquet. Her look was almost bulky after the trim, controlled look prevailing here. Bloused bodices and soft sashes didn't help.

Forquet's colors were the palest of the pale — watercolor greens and blues, combinations of both, beige and ecru, white, and white combined with beige.

Mock-cape coats began the Forquet showing. From a fold at the shoulder they spread out in front in a wide, flat flare, their narrow sleeves and straight backs completely concealed.

Belted and stiffly flared three-quarter coats were in grospoint wool over suits of smooth wool.

Neckline treatments were important in the Forquet collection.

Big, rolled wing collars flipped out over the wide revers or cardigan V-necks of coats or suits. Bulky straight scarves of matching fabric were looped loosely around collarless necklines.

Forquet's look for late day was high-belted and stiffly flared. For evening the cone-shaped skirts were as rigid as lampshades, and some even looked wired around the hem.

For the grand finale he threw away all of this carefully built control and brought out yards and yards of pale, wispy silk prints all draped and swirled and billowing in back like parachutes.

The Galitzine collection may have been a disappointment but it wasn't a loss.

Shirred-neck sleeveless silk tubes were superb. Her long culotte-shift and tube dress in butterfly print white pique were wonderfully fresh and pretty.

Long-line, long dresses with big V-neck and center seam outlined in ruche or rustle detail were elegant. Belled princess gowns in stiff white pique or pink silk were beautifully shaped.

Year of Decision Seen for Nike Anti-Missiles

By FRED S. HOFFAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — This may be the year of decision for the Nike-X antimissile system.

If President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara decide to permit production, it could mean spending ultimately as much as $20 billion.

Defense officials, discussing the new military budget, said "we are not far enough along on Nike-X to make any decision" for procurement or deployment of the antimissile system.

But, they said, "It is possible that the decision can be made, pro or con, during calendar 1964."

Work on the Nike-X will go forward on a priority basis.

The budget provides more than the $325 million allotted last year to start development of the Nike-X and to continue testing the companion Nike Zeus antimissile.

It was only a year ago that the late President John F. Kennedy approved the Nike-X project. The indications are that progress has been swift.

Informed sources reported a key element in the Nike-X system—a superfast missile called Sprint—would be test fired for the first time in April or thereabouts.

The Army will have to overcome the skepticism of McNamara and Dr. Harold Brown, the Pentagon's research and engineering director.

Kennedy reflected their doubts last August when he told a news conference he thought the problems of developing an effective defense against missile attack "is beyond us and beyond the Soviets technically."

The Nike Zeus, which the Army calls "the free world's only anti-missile missile system in advanced development," has been in process for nine years.

More than $1.5 billion has been spent on the Zeus system. The Army has claimed 10 intercepts of U.S. intercontinental ballistic missile target warheads in tests over the Pacific but high Pentagon officials consider these as very much less than combat-like tests.

Black Forest News

By MRS. VIRGINIA HOSKINS
495-2729

The January meeting of the Black Forest Community Club was preceded by a pot luck supper at 6:30 p.m. in the Community Hall last Friday evening, Jan. 17. Approximately fifty people attended. The 1964 election was held. Ray Roper was elected president, to succeed Lee Heronemus. Joseph H. Watkins was reelected vice-president. Mrs. Joseph Watkins was elected secretary, to succeed Mrs. Miles Roper. Mrs. Lee Heronemus was reelected treasurer. Opel Roper was elected board member to replace Earl Thiebaud, whose term expires this year. Howard Caver and Earl Thiebaud are other board members.

The first of a series of art lectures, held at the Black Forest Community Church in cooperation with the New Art Crafts Art Studio on Swan Road, proved quite successful last Wednesday evening. A nice size crowd braved the below freezing weather and icy roads to hear Myron Wood speak on art in photography with his main subject, "Art and Life." He gave some interesting technical facts pertaining to photgraphy, stressing light as a main factor in obtaining a good photograph. Mr. Wood also stated that a person's observation and attitude toward a subject was very important in getting a good picture. Mr. Wood is famous country wide for his excellent photographs, a number of which he exhibited the evening of his talk. A question and answer period was held.

Coffee and cookies were served in Hardesty Hall after the lecture. Mr. Wood, who is an accomplished pianist as well, played for those who attended. During this time individuals had an opportunity to discuss photography further with Mr. Wood. Mrs. Wood accompanied her husband and the two of them had dinner with the Al Wynne's of the New Art Crafts Art Studio before attending the lecture.

Scheduled for Feb. 12, the second of the series of art lectures, will be a talk by Father Probenz, a Roman Catholic priest, who has made a study of religious art. He will tell how the field of the arts and religion complement each other. These lectures are free to the public.

Youth groups from the Black Forest Community Church collected over $70 for the March of Dimes last Friday evening, Jan. 17. The Sheriff's Posse furnished transportation for the youngsters.

Mary Huber has replaced Fran Goldbranson as president of the women's bowling league, The Pinettes. Jean Hodson is now vice-president, Rita Ellison is secretary and Betty Irvin is treasurer. Ladies interested in bowling as regular members or as substitutes are requested to call Mrs. Ellison, 495-2742.

Present standings of all the teams follow: Kittye Katz (No. 7) won 40, lost 24; 4 Hekks (No. 2) won 38½, lost 25½; Vips (No. 6), won 37, lost 27; Lucky Four (No. 1), won 34, lost 30; Pin-Wins (No. 4), won 33, lost 31; ter Dusters (No. 5), won 27, lost 35; Inconsistents (No. 8), won 26½, lost 37½; Scotch Lassies (No. 3), won 23, lost 41.

Other team and individual standings remain the same as last week. High team series are Kittye Katz, 2007; Lucky Four, 1957, and Inconsistents, 1956.

High individual series, scratch, are D. Wagner, 513; K. Clarke, 496; and B. Knox, 493

High individual series with handicap are V. Lynch, 605; D. Wagner, 576; and M. Yeatts, 560.

High individual games, scratch, are V. Lynch, 211; G. Anthony, 200; and M. Huber, 200.

High individual games with handicap are V. Lynch, 253; G. Anthony, 224; and K. Clark, 211.

Twenty-two Girl Scouts of Troop 350 met with their leaders at the New Art-Crafts Studio on Swan Road last Wednesday, Jan. 15, to work with clay. The next few weekly meetings will be spent working on the projects there. Mrs. Joseph Brannan is the Scout leader of the troop and Mrs. Lawrence Watson assistant leader. Also present was Mrs. Vincent (Kittye) Clark, an interested mother, who helped with transportation, From reports, everyone had a marvelous time and all are looking forward to this week's session.

Fashions Are Poles Apart in Florence Show

By LOUISE HICKMAN

Galitzine had little dash, compared to her former designer Forquet. Her look was almost bulky after the trim, controlled look prevailing here. Bloused bodices and soft sashes didn't help.

Forquet's colors were the palest of the pale — watercolor greens and blues, combinations of both, beige and ecru, white, and white combined with beige.

Mock-cape coats began the Forquet showing. From a fold at the shoulder they spread out in front in a wide, flat flare, their narrow sleeves and straight backs completely concealed.

Belted and stiffly flared three-quarter coats were in grospoint wool over suits of smooth wool.

Big, rolled wing collars flipped out over the wide revers or cardigan V-necks of coats or suits. Bulky straight scarves of matching fabric were looped loosely around collarless necklines.

Forquet's look for late day was high - belted and stiffly flared. For evening the cone-shaped skirts were as rigid as lampshades, and some even looked wired around the hem.

For the grand finale he threw away all of this carefully built control and brought out yards and yards of pale, wispy silk prints all draped and swirled and billowing in back like parachutes.

The Galitzine collection may have been a disappointment but it wasn't a loss.

Shirred-neck sleeveless silk tubes were superb. Her long culotte-shift and tube dress in butterfly print white pique were wonderfully fresh and pretty.

Long-line, long dresses with big V-neck and center seam outlined in ruche or rustle detail were elegant. Belled princess gowns in stiff white pique or pink silk were beautifully shaped.

Cascade News

By CAROLYN McADAMS — MU 7-9065

The Cascade Property Owners Association met in a special session Jan. 7, with Mel Schumacher, the newly elected president, presiding. All members were asked in advance to submit questions and complaints about the much agitated proposal for a Cascade water district. Charles Cusack attended the meeting, as manager of the present Cascade Town Company, which owns and operates the water system now in use, and gave explanations and answers to those questions presented. The regular scheduled meeting for the CPA will be held Feb. 4, at 7:30 p.m., at the Cascade Fire House Hall. All residents are urged to attend.

The January social meeting of the Cascade Women's Community Club was held Thursday, the 9th, at the home of Mrs. Donald Doren, Marriot Road, with Mrs. Dick Dugdale co-hostess. Mrs. Ella Knox, secretary, called the roll. The following were present: Catherine Sanborn, Shirle Johnson, Hazel Lisiecki, Gladys Heinz, Cassie Stenger, Elizabeth McDowell, Tina Warner, Betty Reasonover, Jane Cowen, Jeannie Cowen, Jerry Tracy, Doris Peterson, Mary Sokolowski, Sharaon Ernst, Bee Allmendinger, Grace Wilson, Jean Sanborn and two children, Louise Weiman, Irene Stevenson, Donna Shoemaker and the hostesses. The Feb. 13, meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. T. (Terry) Haury, on Mariott Road, Blue Mesa, above Red Cloud Inn.

Twenty-two members of Junior Girl Scout Troop 347 met Wednesday after school in Fire House Hall with their leaders Jonell Ewart and Shirle Johnson. The group is divided into three patrols named "Setting Sun," "Rainbow" and "Aspen." Working on merit badges were Terri Brooks, who read a paper on cooking; and on collection badges. Linda Stevenson had some of her dolls on display and Mollie Lofland her stamps. The Troop is planning a Mothers Tea Feb. 12, honoring Lincoln's Birthday and Valentine's Day.

Cub Scouts Pack 33, Den 1, had perfect attendance of its six members at a meeting last Tuesday. The January theme, "Family Alert," has been along fire hazards and precautions in the home. At the first meeting this year and emergency handbooks on First Aid etc. were passed out at the second meeting. Leaders in the Flag Ceremony for January have been David Woolston, Paul Willie and Bruce Howard. Mrs. Joyce Woolston and Mrs. Ann Rasner Den Mothers are coaching the Cubs in a "King John and Robin Hood" skit they will present at the Jan. 23 Pack meeting to be held in the Community Building, Green Mountain Falls, at 7:30 p.m. A physical fitness training is followed at each meeting.

Cub Scouts Pack 33, Den 2, meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Schumacher home, has had 100 per cent attendance of the five members. Den Mothers, Fay Schumacher and Francine Nelson, took all the Cubs in Den 2, for a visit at the main Fire House in Colorado Springs at their first meeting this year. They learned about fire hazards and control from the firemen. At last week's meeting straws were drawn to elect a new denner, John Love, and assistant denner, Kent Nelson, who will serve their turn for two months. John Love brought the refreshment treat of chocolate chip cookies.

Cub Scouts Den 3, met on Monday afternoon at the Cascade Fire House, with Den Mothers Polly Bartley and Sharaon Ernst. Roll call was answered with 100 per cent attendance, including Den Chief Paul Tanner, and Mascots Mark Ernst, age 3, and Dale Bartley, age 2½. Each Scout drew a plan of his own home and showed the various fire escapes possible in an emergency. The "Family Alert" theme for January included fire, floods, fallout, and first aid, among others. It was Jeff Houchin's turn to furnish cup cake refreshments.

Wayne Woolston, held a meeting of the Pack Committe at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lanoy Anderson last Thursday evening. Present were Mr. Woolston, Cubmaster; Harry Pole, Mel Schumacher and Mrs. Joce Woolston, Den Mother. Discussion of coming events included the annual Boy Scout Recognition dinner, scheduled for Feb. 15, at the Broadmoor Hotel. Mrs. Georgia Anderson was appointed chair-lady for reservations. The annual Blue and Gold banquet has been scheduled for Feb. 29. The spring "Pinewood Derby" will be held sometime in March, on a Saturday if possible, inside of the Community Building.

Among the large group attending the Harmony Club meeting, O.E.S., held Sunday at 1 p.m. in the Minnequa Club, Pueblo, were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Elwell accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Zimmerman. Edward Heltemes, past president of the club was also present. New officers for 1964 are: Blanche Andrews, Fidelity No. 144, Pueblo, president; John Hoff, Glen Eyrie, No. 8, Colorado Springs, vice president; Marie Stokes, Centennial, No. 58, Colorado Springs, secretary and Tracy Zimmerman, Glen Eyrie, No. 8, treasurer.

Hostesses for the Woodland Park Lioness Club luncheon meeting Thursday, held at the Merri Lane Restaurant, were Helen Dugdale and Fern Parmeley, Maxine Van Arsdale, Carolyn Houchin and Harriet Faust. Mrs. Inez Hunt was guest speaker giving the early history of the Ute Pass area.

The first work day of 1964, for members of the Women's Fellowship, Church in the Wildwood, was held Wednesday, Jan. 15, with Mrs. Florence Salisbury chairman and Mrs. Ruth Roth co-chairman of the annual Fair, in charge. Starting at 10 a.m. and enjoying a sack lunch, the group disbanded at 3 p.m. Others present were: Hermine Bucher, Betty Reasonover, Polly Lamb, Anna Walter, Tina Warner, Sallie Bush, Margaret Jackson and Alberta Stout, who made a delicious cake for all and prepared the coffee. One meeting a month will be planned until summer.

Morris Hamilton, finance chairman for the Christian Enlistment Committee, Church in the Wildwood, has sent letters to members advising that the annual pledge program will be rescheduled, starting in mid-May, 1964.

Your correspondent, Carolyn McAdams, was summoned to her former home in St. Joseph, Mo., January 5, because of the death of her oldest brother, Otis P. Fleshman. An absense of ten days prevented any column news the last two weeks.

Railroads Delay New Plan Pending Appeal by Union

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The nation's railroads, who won a federal arbitration award eliminating firemen's jobs on diesel freight locomotives, will delay putting the award into effect pending a union appeal.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen said the railroads have agreed to delay application of the arbitration award, which was to have gone into effect Saturday.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the rail union, said the agreement signed Tuesday specifies that if the courts uphold the award it then will go into effect, remaining in effect for two years, as specified by the seven-member arbitration board Nov. 26. The brotherhood and two other rail unions have filed legal actions. A lower court upheld the award, but the unions have taken steps to appeal that ruling.

A spokesman for the brotherhood said some 3,500 firemen recently hired or who had been working irregularly will be cut off immediately when the railroads put the job-cutting program into effect.

J. W. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, said in Washington the agreement delays action on the firemen issue but noted that Jan. 25 will still be the cutoff date for determining who will be laid off. Those firemen with less than the required seniority as of Jan. 25 are the ones who will be affected, he said.

He said the carriers will go ahead as scheduled with new rules governing the size of crews on Jan. 25. This issue also was settled by the arbitration board, but under terms of that award the unions may challenge any reductions on a local basis and force the issue to arbitration.

INTEREST IN CULTURE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Strip tease artist Ann Corio said today the Senate Finance Committee's adoption of an amendment to repeal the 10 per cent excise tax on live entertainment, including burliesque, showed that some lawmakers are interested in culture.

"The art of taxation consists of plucking the goose to obtain the largest amount of feathers with the least possible amount of hissing," she said. "Stripping consists of winding up with the smallest amount of feathers and the largest amount of applause."

KUALA LUMPUR — Burma has raised income taxes sharply.

Black Forest News

By MRS. VIRGINIA HOSKINS
495-2729

The January meeting of the Black Forest Community Club was preceded by a pot luck supper at 6:30 p.m. in the Community Hall last Friday evening, Jan. 17. Approximately fifty people attended. The 1964 election was held. Ray Roper was elected president, to succeed Lee Heronemus. Joseph H. Watkins was reelected vice-president. Mrs. Joseph Watkins was elected secretary, to succeed Mrs. Miles Roper. Mrs. Lee Heronemus was reelected treasurer. Opel Roper was elected board member to replace Earl Thiebaud, whose term expires this year. Howard Caver and Earl Thiebaud are other board members.

The first of a series of art lectures, held at the Black Forest Community Church in cooperation with the New Art Crafts Art Studio on Swan Road, proved quite successful last Wednesday evening. A nice size crowd braved the below freezing weather and icy roads to hear Myron Wood speak on art in photography with his main subject, "Art and Life." He gave some interesting technical facts pertaining to photgraphy,stressing light as a main factor in obtaining a good photograph. Mr. Wood also stated that a person's observation and attitude toward a subject was very important in getting a good picture. Mr. Wood is famous country wide for his excellent photographs, a number of which he exhibited the evening of his talk. A question and answer period was held.

Coffee and cookies were served in Hardesty Hall after the lecture. Mr. Wood, who is an accomplished pianist as well, played for those who attended. During this time individuals had an opportunity to discuss photography further with Mr. Wood. Mrs. Wood accompanied her husband and the two of them had dinner with the Al Wynne's of the New Art Crafts Art Studio before attending the lecture.

Scheduled for Feb. 12, the second of the series of art lectures, will be a talk by Father Prohenz, a Roman Catholic priest, who has made a study of religious art. He will tell how the field of the arts and religion complement each other. These lectures are free to the public.

Youth groups from the Black Forest Community Church collected over $70 for the March of Dimes last Friday evening, Jan. 17. The Sheriff's Posse furnished transportation for the youngsters.

Mary Huber has replaced Fran Goldbranson as president of the women's bowling league, The Pinettes. Jean Hodson is now vice-president, Rita Ellison is secretary and Betty Irvin is treasurer. Ladies interested in bowling as regular members or as substitutes are requested to call Mrs. Ellison, 495-2742.

Present standings of all the teams follow: Kittye Katz (No. 7) won 40, lost 24; 4 Hekks (No. 2) won 38½, lost 25½; Vips (No. 6), won 37, lost 27; Lucky Four (No. 1), won 34, lost 30; Pin-Wins (No. 4), won 33, lost 31; ter Dusters (No. 5), won 27, lost 35; Inconsistents (No. 8), won 26½, lost 37½; Scotch Lassies (No. 3), won 23, lost 41.

Other team and individual standings remain the same as last week. High team series are Kittye Katz, 2007; Lucky Four, 1957, and Inconsistents, 1956.

High individual series, scratch, are D. Wagner, 513; K. Clarke, 496; and B. Knox, 493

Twenty-two Girl Scouts of Troop 350 met with their leaders at the New Art-Crafts Studio on Swan Road last Wednesday, Jan. 15, to work with clay. The next few weekly meetings will be spent working on the projects there. Mrs. Joseph Brannan is the Scout leader of the troop and Mrs. Lawrence Watson assistant leader. Also present was Mrs. Vincent (Kittye) Clark, an interested mother, who helped with transportation, From reports, everyone had a marvelous time and all are looking forward to this week's session.

MY ANSWER

by Billy Graham

© 1964 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

QUESTION: I had plans for my life, but a crippling illness has put me on the shelf. How do you explain this. To me, it doesn't make sense.

H. B.

ANSWER: My heart goes out to you, but I have been blessed with relatively good health.

But you must take the Christian point of view in your trial. Anything else will only compound your misery.

Helen Keller, who was handicapped even more than you said: "If the blind put their hand in God's, they find their way more surely than those who see but have not faith or purpose."

The same goes for other handicaps. Crippled people often cover more distance for God than those who have two good legs. Deaf people often hear the voice of God more clearly than those who have two good ears. The spiritual dimension is not restricted to normal faculties. Often those who are less equipped accomplish the most for God.

Leo Tolstoy said: "It is by those who have suffered that the world is most advanced."

So, cheer up! God is not dead, nor are your opportunities for serving Him ended. Out of this painful experience can come a new life. It may be different than you had planned, but no less exciting and valuable.

QUESTION: I am a teenager and I have a friend who says she doesn't care what people think about her. She deliberately does things to annoy people. Is is possible that any normal person enjoys being disliked.

ANSWER: No. And I don't believe your friend wants to be disliked either. She, no doubt, is starved for love and attention, and is trying in the only way she knows to get it. Her doing things as you say "to annoy people" is a call for attention, and she wants it so badly that she is willing to do anything, even crude things, to get it.

We are all so constructed that we want to be liked and appreciated. There is no satisfaction in being disliked.

The Bible teaches us this fact when it says: "Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honor preferring one another. . .bless them which persecute you, bless and curse not. . .if it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men."

Explain to your friend that love attracts love, and that ugliness attracts ugliness. With Christ in her heart she could have those rare traits of loveliness that attract the love of others.

COLLEGE COMMUTER

PASADENA, Tex. (UPI) — Don Pittman of Los Angeles will be glad when final examinations are over this week at San Jacinto Junior College.

Then he can stop commuting between Texas and California for Monday and Thursday courses in English and History.

Pittman used to live in Houston, about 20 miles from the college, but Continental Airlines promoted him and moved him to the West Coast two weeks ago.

The Churchill River flows 1,000 miles in Canada from Saskatchewan to the Hudson Bay.

Scranton May Plunge Into GOP Scramble

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania appears to be thawing somewhat in his icy resolve to hold himself aloof from the scramble for the Republican president nomination.

Scranton, who has said he isn't a candidate and would only accept a genuine draft, seems to be warming up to suggestions by some of his well wishers that he show himself about the country just in case the unexpected begins to show signs of happening.

After consultation with Republican leaders in the state, Scranton is reported to have decided to travel across the continent for an appearance in California. The University of Southern California wants to give him a degree and he probably will accept.

While this might be considered little more than a routine journey for some of the other possibilities for the nomination, it marks a departure from the governor's general habit of confining non-Pennsylvania public appearances to neighboring states.

This development is linked in some quarters with Scranton's recent denial that he had pledged before his 1962 election to serve a full four-year term as governor and his call a few days ago for GOP candidates to advocate a strong foreign policy course.

Californians, who may have a great deal to say about who is elected president next November, are curious enough about Scranton to have sent him dozens of invitations to speak.

Some of Scranton's admirers believe the chief difficulty they face in nudging him into position as a major contender for the GOP nomination lies in the fact that he is relatively unknown to party workers outside the East.

They believe a recent spate of national publicity has helped some. But they want Scranton to supplement this with personal appearances where he can turn on his reputed political charm.

There is no suggesting of entering a Scranton delegate slate in California's June 2 primary, where New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldater, R-Ariz., are expected to be contestants.

Scranton's rooters don't even want him to go through the motions of running in Pennsylvania's April 28 primary.

If outside aspirants will just stay away, they believe the governor can collect without argument the state's 64 convention votes as a favorite son. Scranton has agreed to fill this role.

Nonresidents in Canal Zone to Return Home

BALBOA, C.Z. (AP) — U.S. Army Southern Command headquarters announced Wednesday most of the nonresident American dependents remaining in the Canal Zone would return to the United States. A spokesman said they are due to leave Friday.

About 3,000 dependents moved into the zone from the Republic of Panama during the recent crisis. About a third returned to the United States Jan. 16 on a volunteer basis.

The spokesman said most of those remaining also had volunteered to go, in view of the shortage of Canal Zone housing.

Stronger Fair Housing Act To Be Sought

DENVER (AP) — A committee to seek ways to strengthen Colorado's Fair Housing Act is being considered by Gov. John A. Love, he disclosed today.

The governor said at a news conference he talked to members of the state's Anti-Discrimination Commission last week about the plan while sit-in demonstrators from the Denver chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality were holding their three-day vigil in his office.

They demanded Love place before the Legislature the problem of strengthening the act. He refused to do this and said he opposes "government by demonstration."

Love did not go into details about his plan for a committee but said it should include legislators, real estate people and representatives of civil rights groups.

He gave no hint of the committee's size or when it might be appointed.

"I know I am going to be working through this year to help arrive at some plan to make the housing act more effective," Love said.

He added that he is certain bills on the subject will be introduced when the Legislature meets in 1965. At that session any legislator can introduce any measure he wants to on any topic.

Love repeated that the main problem with the housing act is time. The state, he said, has to go to court to prosecute claims of violations and by the time a case comes up usually the property involved has been sold.

Plans for JFK Library Given Wide Support

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans for a President John F. Kennedy Library are meeting enthusiastic public approval and support, a spokesman for the project said today.

More than $2 million of the needed $10 million has been received — including a $1-million primer from the Kennedy Foundation. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, a brother of the late president, has said the family hopes the fund-raising drive will be over in six months.

The thousands of letters from a public which mourned Kennedy's death — he was assassinated two months ago today — bear witness to the support for the library to be built near Harvard University.

Contributions have ranged from $1 to $50,000.

"It is only a token. But I wish to know I placed a single brick in this edifice," an Illinois man said in a scrawled note to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, brother of the late president. He sent $200.

"Sorry this can't be more (than a dollar)," a Los Angeles man wrote Mrs. John F. Kennedy, "but due to an attack of polio in 1916 I am unable to hold down a job."

"Instead of using my brithday money enclosed ($8) for birthday presents, I want it to be used for the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library," an 8-year-old Chicago boy told the attorney general in a letter. "Each birthday of mine, I hope to be able to increase my present to the library."

Many writers have expressed the hope that the library will be available to them and their families — not just to students. They are being assured that after the library is completed with public funds, it will be turned over to the federal government and will be open to the public.

In addition to the contributions sent to the president's widow and his two brothers, others have been sent to the White House and the United Nations; the late president's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, and his brothers-in-law, Steven Smith and Sargent Shriver.

These gifts ultimately find their way to the central chest, the library spokesman said. But for convenience, he urged the use of a common address: Kennedy Library, Box 2500, Boston, Mass.

WATCH THIEF DOES TIME

LONDON, Eng. (AP) — A British court recently sentenced a pastry-cook to five years imprisonment for smuggling Swiss watches into the country, many of them hidden in some sort of pastry. The cook was a member of a gang credited with bringing 4,700 Swiss watches worth over $1.5 million in the past year and a half.

Cascade News

By CAROLYN McABAMS — MU 7-9065

The Cascade Property Owners Association met in a special session Jan. 7, with Mel Schumacher, the newly elected president, presiding. All members were asked in advance to submit questions and complaints about the much agitated proposal for a Cascade water district. Charles Cusack attended the meeting, as manager of the present Cascade Town Company, which owns and operates the water system now in use, and gave explanations and answers to those questions presented. The regular scheduled meeting for the CPA will be held Feb. 4, at 7:30 p.m., at the Cascade Fire House Hall. All residents are urged to attend.

The January social meeting of the Cascade Women's Community Club was held Thursday, the 9th, at the home of Mrs. Donald Doren, Marriot Road, with Mrs. Dick Dugdale co-hostess. Mrs. Ella Knox, secretary, called the roll. The following were present: Catherine Sanborn, Shirle Johnson, Hazel Lisiecki, Gladys Heinz, Cassie Stenger, Elizabeth McDowell, Tina Warner, Betty Reasonover, Jane Cowen, Jeannie Cowen, Jerry Tracy, Doris Peterson, Mary Sokolowski, Sharaon Ernst, Bee Allmendinger, Grace Wilson, Jean Sanborn and two children, Louise Weiman, Irene Stevenson, Donna Shoemaker and the hostesses. The Feb. 13, meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. T. (Terry) Haury, on Mariott Road, Blue Mesa, above Red Cloud Inn.

Twenty-two members of Junior Girl Scout Troop 347 met Wednesday after school in Fire House Hall with their leaders Jonell Ewart and Shirle Johnson. The group is divided into three patrols named "Setting Sun," "Rainbow" and "Aspen." Working on merit badges were Terri Brooks, who read a paper on cooking; and on collection badges. Linda Stevenson had some of her dolls on display and Mollie Lofland her stamps. The Troop is planning a Mothers Tea Feb. 12, honoring Lincoln's Birthday and Valentine's Day.

Cub Scouts Pack 33, Den 1, had perfect attendance of its six members at a meeting last Tuesday. The January theme, "Family Alert," has been along fire hazards and precautions in the home. At the first meeting this year and emergency handbooks on First Aid etc. were passed out at the second meeting. Leaders in the Flag Ceremony for January have been David Woolston, Paul Willie and Bruce Howard. Mrs. Joyce Woolston and Mrs. Ann Rasner Den Mothers are coaching the Cubs in a "King John and Robin Hood" skit they will present at the Jan. 23 Pack meeting to be held in the Community Building, Green Mountain Falls, at 7:30 p.m. A physical fitness training is followed at each meeting.

Cub Scouts Pack 33, Den 2, meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Schumacher home, has had 100 per cent attendance of the five members. Den Mothers, Fay Schumacher and Francine Nelson, took all the Cubs in Den 2, for a visit at the main Fire House in Colorado Springs at their first meeting this year. They learned about fire hazards and control from the firemen. At last week's meeting straws were drawn to elect a new denner, John Love, and assistant denner, Kent Nelson, who will serve their turn for two months. John Love brought the refreshment treat of chocolate chip cookies.

Cub Scouts Den 3, met on Monday afternoon at the Cascade Fire House, with Den Mothers Polly Bartley and Sharaon Ernst. Roll call was answered with 100 per cent attendance, including Den Chief Paul Tanner, and Mascots Mark Ernst, age 3, and Dale Bartley, age 2½. Each Scout drew a plan of his own home and showed the various fire escapes possible in an emergency. The "Family Alert" theme for January included fire, floods, fallout, and first aid, among others. It was Jeff Houchin's turn to furnish cup cake refreshments.

Wayne Woolston, held a meeting of the Pack Committe at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lanoy Anderson last Thursday evening. Present were Mr. Woolston, Cubmaster; Harry Pole, Mel Schumacher and Mrs. Joce Woolston, Den Mother. Discussion of coming events included the annual Boy Scout Recognition dinner, scheduled for Feb. 15, at the Broadmoor Hotel. Mrs. Georgia Anderson was appointed chair-lady for reservations. The annual Blue and Gold banquet has been scheduled for Feb. 29. The spring "Pinewood Derby" will be held sometime in March, on a Saturday if possible, inside of the Community Building.

Among the large group attending the Harmony Club meeting, O.E.S., held Sunday at 1 p.m. in the Minnequa Club, Pueblo, were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Elwell accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Zimmerman. Edward Heltemes, past president of the club was also present. New officers for 1964 are: Blanche Andrews, Fidelity No. 144, Pueblo, president; John Hoff, Glen Eyrie, No. 8, Colorado Springs, vice president; Marie Stokes, Centennial, No. 58, Colorado Springs, secretary and Tracy Zimmerman, Glen Eyrie, No. 8, treasurer.

Hostesses for the Woodland Park Lioness Club luncheon meeting Thursday, held at the Merri Lane Restaurant, were Helen Dugdale and Fern Parmeley, Maxine Van Arsdale, Carolyn Houchin and Harriet Faust. Mrs. Inez Hunt was guest speaker giving the early history of the Ute Pass area.

The first work day of 1964, for members of the Women's Fellowship, Church in the Wildwood, was held Wednesday, Jan. 15, with Mrs. Florence Salisbury chairman and Mrs. Ruth Roth co-chairman of the annual Fair, in charge. Starting at 10 a.m. and enjoying a sack lunch, the group disbanded at 3 p.m. Others present were: Hermine Bucher, Betty Reasonover, Polly Lamb, Anna Walter, Tina Warner, Sallie Bush, Margaret Jackson and Alberta Stout, who made a delicious cake for all and prepared the coffee. One meeting a month will be planned until summer.

Morris Hamilton, finance chairman for the Christian Enlistment Committee, Church in the Wildwood, has sent letters to members advising that the annual pledge program will be rescheduled, starting in mid-May, 1964.

Your correspondent, Carolyn McAdams, was summoned to her former home in St. Joseph, Mo., January 5, because of the death of her oldest brother, Otis P. Fleshman. An absense of ten days prevented any column news the last two weeks.

Railroads Delay New Plan Pending Appeal by Union

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The nation's railroads, who won a federal arbitration award eliminating firemen's jobs on diesel freight locomotives, will delay putting the award into effect pending a union appeal.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen said the railroads have agreed to delay application of the arbitration award, which was to have gone into effect Saturday.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the rail union, said the agreement signed Tuesday specifies that if the courts uphold the award it then will go into effect, remaining in effect for two years, as specified by the seven-member arbitration board Nov. 26. The brotherhood and two other rail unions have filed legal actions. A lower court upheld the award, but the unions have taken steps to appeal that ruling.

A spokesman for the brotherhood said some 3,500 firemen recently hired or who had been working irregularly will be cut off immediately when the railroads put the job-cutting program into effect.

J. W. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, said in Washington the agreement delays action on the firemen issue but noted that Jan. 25 will still be the cutoff date for determining who will be laid off. Those firemen with less than the required seniority as of Jan. 25 are the ones who will be affected, he said.

He said the carriers will go ahead as scheduled with new rules governing the size of crews on Jan. 25. This issue also was settled by the arbitration board, but under terms of that award the unions may challenge any reductions on a local basis and force the issue to arbitration.

INTEREST IN CULTURE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Strip tease artist Ann Corio said today the Senate Finance Committee's adoption of an amendment to repeal the 10 per cent excise tax on live entertainment, including burliesque, showed that some lawmakers are interested in culture.

"The art of taxation consists of plucking the goose to obtain the largest amount of feathers with the least possible amount of hissing," she said. "Stripping consists of winding up with the smallest amount of feathers and the largest amount of applause."

KUALA LUMPUR — Burma has raised income taxes sharply.

CAFFEINE-CRAZY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cup by cup, Americans consume 5 billion gallons of coffee each year, but apparently still can't get enough of it. Distillers report growing demand for coffee-flavored liqueurs and food companies say coffee flavoring is branching out from ice cream to other food items.

DEFENSE

'Extreme Nationalism' Gets Blame for Panama Disorder

EDITOR'S NOTE — The dust has settled in Panama, temporarily at least, but basic questions remain as to who was responsible for the incidents that brought the United States a new crisis in its relations with Latin America. This study of the background is by an Associated Press correspondent who interviewed scores of persons in both Panama and the Canal Zone.

By JOE MCGOWAN

PANAMA (AP) — When the psychology class met at Canal Zone College this week the students studied a lesson titled: "The psychological dangers of extreme nationalism."

It would be difficult to sum up more briefly the Panama situation.

There are elements of nationalism on both sides.

Panamanian groups are demanding that the United States give up the permanent title it has held to the canal and the Canal Zone since 1903. Groups of U.S. citizens in the area — many of them second or third generation natives of the zone —are accusing the U.S. government of repeated concessions to the Panamanians.

For years Panamanians — especially politicians—have made an issue of getting more concessions from the United States. These included questions of revenue and employment, but centered on the emotional issue of flying Panama's flag in the Canal Zone.

President Eisenhower made some concessions, and last January President Kennedy's administration and the Panamanian government agreed that Panama's flag should fly jointly with the U.S. flag in the zone.

In a followup action, Robert Fleming Jr., American governor of the zone, announced that the U.S. flag could not fly alone outside zonal schools. In other words, both flags or none.

A group of American students at Balboa High School, defying this order, raised the American flag at their school Jan. 7. When school officials lowered it, the students raised a second flag. Ignoring classes, they began a sitdown around the flagpole. This lasted until Thursday afternoon, Jan. 9.

Some persons blame the students directly for bringing on bloodshed which left more than 20 persons dead, including 4 U.S. soldiers. Others say the students were egged on by their parents, many of whom as Canal Zone employes hesitated to get involved personally.

R. F. Daniels, a civilian employe at a water filtration plant observed of the students: "They did the thing we adults didn't have guts to do. They did nothing unlawful."

Most U.S. military officials agree that parents must carry the burden of responsibility for the student action. Only one student was found who had been told by her parents not to participate in flag demonstrations. Nancy Clark, 15, a Balboa High School sophomore, said her mother asked her to refrain; her mother approved of the purpose but didn't want Nancy to get in trouble.

Many students said their parents encouraged them.

A member of the Canal Zone Civic Council said:

"I feel the children were misguided. When a group of children want to do something they don't consider the results.

John Lincoln, 17, whose father is a civilian employe, acknowledged that he was among the demonstrators. He denied the parents had a role and said the students hatched the idea in a meeting of the Teen Club.

Randy Colclasure, 20, a college student, said he participated in raising the American flag both at the college and at Balboa High.

"Without the flag it wasn't like a U.S. school any longer," he said.

Colclasure said he believed the idea to raise the flag was spontaneous.

But he added: "After the students raised the flag, the Civic Council held a meeting and the adults volunteered to relieve the students at night."

Asked about the violence and death that followed the incident, Colclasure said: "The students never thought of anything like this happening."

All of the students interviewed expressed sorrow that U.S. soldiers and Panamanians were killed, but all defended the act of raising the U.S. flag.

"At least now people are thinking about how we feel down here," said Danelle Kaff, 14.

The issue was joined when a group of Panamanian students marched into the zone and to Balboa High School on Thursday, Jan. 9, demanding their flag be displayed.

Residents of the zone and military officers say that a huge crowd of Panamanians gathered near the border of the zone in less than an hour after the demonstrators in behalf of Panama's flag returned to the zonal border.

They say demonstrations spread like wildfire and the Panamanian participants were by no means all students.

Numerous Americans said trouble was bound to come and that the American students' flag-raising provided the excuse. They said a bus strike or some other incident would have eventually provided the spark to touch off planned anti-American outbreaks.

Military officials said forward posts observed apparently well-trained agitators work on the crowds. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has said pro-Castro Communists were involved.

School officials were reluctant to comment or to say whether disciplinary action would be taken against the American students. One teacher did say it was felt that the only rule the students violated was refusing to return to classes.

Privately, some teachers said they thought no punishment would be meted out.

One asked: "Can you imagine the reaction in the states if we punished the students for flying the American flag."

Gov. Fleming and Gen. Andrew P. O'Meara, chief of military forces, U.S. Southern Command, have moved to insure compliance with rules.

Both military and civilian residents were warned this week that rules in effect in the zone would be followed—or disciplinary action, including deportation, would be taken.

Fleming said he would not tolerate action by any zone resident which would embarrass the United States.

Classes resumed in the Canal Zone Wednesday and students returned to fly flags on two poles erected in front of their schools. The ceremony raising both the Panamanian and American flags at Balboa High School drew a crowd which applauded when the colors reached the top.

But a number of adults who watched the raising expressed bitterness.

The Civic Council which has no powers but sometimes is advisory to the governor, held a meeting Wednesday night.

James J. O'Donnell, immediate past president, said: "I was very proud of zonians and the way they abided by the order from Gen. O'Meara. During a crisis, in no way did the zonians go out and agitate."

One council member said Gov. Fleming talked to people in a zone theater, explaining the stiff government stand.

"We have always had a very poor chain of communications from the authorities to the people," the council member said. "The governor should have explained to the people last Dec. 30 what the new orders on the flag flying meant.

"If someone had made this clear we wouldn't have the trouble we do today."

R. A. Jameson, formerly of Xenia, Ohio, is typical of the people known as zonians. He came to the canal 22 years ago as a soldier. He left briefly but returned to work for the Army Engineers.

He commented: "I knew the day when you could leave a car parked in Panama City with the keys in it and three days later return to find the car was all right. Today it is unsafe for an American to drive down the streets there.

"Now I am going home and never come back. Panamanians are no longer friendly. Panama won't be safe for Americans again."

EQUAL TIME

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (UPI) — Methodist Minister T. Parry Jones, whose Sunday sermon was accidentally piped into a Roman Catholic church, has offered "equal time" to the Catholic priest.

An electronic quirk carried the radio broadcast of the Rev. Mr. Jones' First Methodist Church sermon into the public address system of the Rev. Robert M. Hoeller's St. Peter Claver Church.

The Rev. Mr. Jones said Tuesday, "I'm delighted I had an opportunity to preach to Father Hoeller's congregation. I will be happy to give him equal time."

Testimony on Meat Labeling Is Asked

DENVER (AP) — Colorado's Department of Health was asked today to tell the Legislature what it had done to enforce a law requiring special labeling of meat imported into the United States.

Rep. John Kane, D-Northglenn, introduced a resolution into the House calling for the report. He wants it before the Legislature adjourns.

The Kane proposal was referred to the House Agriculture and Livestock Committee headed by Rep. C. P (Doc) Lamb, R-Brush. The committee is expected to act speedily.

The action follows up a resolution passed Tuesday by the House asking Congress to enact new federal regulations limiting imports of meat into this country.

MY ANSWER

by Billy Graham

© 1964 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

QUESTION: I had plans for my life, but a crippling illness has put me on the shelf. How do you explain this. To me, it doesn't make sense.

H. B.

ANSWER: My heart goes out to you, but I have been blessed with relatively good health.

But you must take the Christian point of view in your trial. Anything else will only compound your misery.

Helen Keller, who was handicapped even more than you said: "If the blind put their hand in God's, they find their way more surely than those who see but have not faith or purpose."

The same goes for other handicaps. Crippled people often cover more distance for God than those who have two good legs. Deaf people often hear the voice of God more clearly than those who have two good ears. The spiritual dimension is not restricted to normal faculties. Often those who are less equipped accomplish the most for God.

Leo Tolstoy said: "It is by those who have suffered that the world is most advanced."

So, cheer up! God is not dead, nor are your opportunities for serving Him ended. Out of this painful experience can come a new life. It may be different than you had planned, but no less exciting and valuable.

QUESTION: I am a teenager and I have a friend who says she doesn't care what people think about her. She deliberately does things to annoy people. Is is possible that any normal person enjoys being disliked.

ANSWER: No. And I don't believe your friend wants to be disliked either. She, no doubt, is starved for love and attention, and is trying in the only way she knows to get it. Her doing things as you say "to annoy people" is a call for attention, and she wants it so badly that she is willing to do anything, even crude things, to get it.

We are all so constructed that we want to be liked and appreciated. There is no satisfaction in being disliked.

The Bible teaches us this fact when it says: "Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honor preferring one another. . .bless them which persecute you, bless and curse not. . .if it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men."

Explain to your friend that love attracts love, and that ugliness attracts ugliness. With Christ in her heart she could have those rare traits of loveliness that attract the love of others.

COLLEGE COMMUTER

PASADENA, Tex. (UPI) — Don Pittman of Los Angeles will be glad when final examinations are over this week at San Jacinto Junior College.

Then he can stop commuting between Texas and California for Monday and Thursday courses in English and History.

Pittman used to live in Houston, about 20 miles from the college, but Continental Airlines promoted him and moved him to the West Coast two weeks ago.

The Churchill River flows 1,000 miles in Canada from Saskatchewan to the Hudson Bay.

Scranton May Plunge Into GOP Scramble

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania appears to be thawing somewhat in his icy resolve to hold himself aloof from the scramble for the Republican president nomination.

Scranton, who has said he isn't a candidate and would only accept a genuine draft, seems to be warming up to suggestions by some of his well wishers that he show himself about the country just in case the unexpected begins to show signs of happening.

After consultation with Republican leaders in the state, Scranton is reported to have decided to travel across the continent for an appearance in California. The University of Southern California wants to give him a degree and he probably will accept.

While this might be considered little more than a routine journey for some of the other possibilities for the nomination, it marks a departure from the governor's general habit of confining non-Pennsylvania public appearances to neighboring states.

This development is linked in some quarters with Scranton's recent denial that he had pledged before his 1962 election to serve a full four-year term as governor and his call a few days ago for GOP candidates to advocate a strong foreign policy course.

Californians, who may have a great deal to say about who is elected president next November, are curious enough about Scranton to have sent him dozens of invitations to speak.

Some of Scranton's admirers believe the chief difficulty they face in nudging him into position as a major contender for the GOP nomination lies in the fact that he is relatively unknown to party workers outside the East.

They believe a recent spate of national publicity has helped some. But they want Scranton to supplement this with personal appearances where he can turn on his reputed political charm.

There is no suggesting of entering a Scranton delegate slate in California's June 2 primary, where New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldater, R-Ariz., are expected to be contestants.

Scranton's rooters don't even want him to go through the motions of running in Pennsylvania's April 28 primary.

If outside aspirants will just stay away, they believe the governor can collect without argument the state's 64 convention votes as a favorite son. Scranton has agreed to fill this role.

ST. CROIX FALLS, Wis. (AP) — Terri Hansen, 2 has a six-months-old coyote for a pet. The animal was a few weeks old when it was caught by a trapper in northern Minnesota and given to Terri's father, Richard Hansen.

The coyote, called Lobo, plays with Terri in the house during the day and sleeps outside with the Hansen dog at night.

Nonresidents in Canal Zone to Return Home

BALBOA, C.Z. (AP) — U.S. Army Southern Command headquarters announced Wednesday most of the nonresident American dependents remaining in the Canal Zone would return to the United States. A spokesman said they are due to leave Friday.

About 3,000 dependents moved into the zone from the Republic of Panama during the recent crisis. About a third returned to the United States Jan. 16 on a volunteer basis.

The spokesman said most of those remaining also had volunteered to go, in view of the shortage of Canal Zone housing.

Stronger Fair Housing Act To Be Sought

DENVER (AP) — A committee to seek ways to strengthen Colorado's Fair Housing Act is being considered by Gov. John A. Love, he disclosed today.

The governor said at a news conference he talked to members of the state's Anti-Discrimination Commission last week about the plan while sit-in demonstrators from the Denver chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality were holding their three-day vigil in his office.

They demanded Love place before the Legislature the problem of strengthening the act. He refused to do this and said he opposes "government by demonstration."

Love did not go into details about his plan for a committee but said it should include legislators, real estate people and representatives of civil rights groups.

He gave no hint of the committee's size or when it might be appointed.

"I know I am going to be working through this year to help arrive at some plan to make the housing act more effective," Love said.

He added that he is certain bills on the subject will be introduced when the Legislature meets in 1965. At that session any legislator can introduce any measure he wants to on any topic.

Love repeated that the main problem with the housing act is time. The state, he said, has to go to court to prosecute claims of violations and by the time a case comes up usually the property involved has been sold.

Plans for JFK Library Given Wide Support

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans for a President John F. Kennedy Library are meeting enthusiastic public approval and support, a spokesman for the project said today.

More than $2 million of the needed $10 million has been received — including a $1-million primer from the Kennedy Foundation. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, a brother of the late president, has said the family hopes the fund-raising drive will be over in six months.

The thousands of letters from a public which mourned Kennedy's death — he was assassinated two months ago today — bear witness to the support for the library to be built near Harvard University.

Contributions have ranged from $1 to $50,000.

"It is only a token. But I wish to know I placed a single brick in this edifice," an Illinois man said in a scrawled note to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, brother of the late president. He sent $200.

"Sorry this can't be more (than a dollar)," a Los Angeles man wrote Mrs. John F. Kennedy, "but due to an attack of polio in 1916 I am unable to hold down a job."

"Instead of using my brithday money enclosed ($8) for birthday presents, I want it to be used for the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library," an 8-year-old Chicago boy told the attorney general in a letter. "Each birthday of mine, I hope to be able to increase my present to the library."

Many writers have expressed the hope that the library will be available to them and their families — not just to students. They are being assured that after the library is completed with public funds, it will be turned over to the federal government and will be open to the public.

In addition to the contributions sent to the president's widow and his two brothers, others have been sent to the White House and the United Nations, the late president's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, and his brothers-in-law, Stephen Smith and Sargent Shriver.

These gifts ultimately find their way to the central chest, the library spokesman said. But for convenience, he urged the use of a common address: Kennedy Library, Box 2500, Boston, Mass.

WATCH THIEF DOES TIME

LONDON, Eng. (AP) — A British court recently sentenced a pastry-cook to five years imprisonment for smuggling Swiss watches into the country, many of them hidden in some sort of pastry. The cook was a member of a gang credited with bringing 4,700 Swiss watches worth over $1.5 million in the past year and a half.

TO STAND TRIAL

LONDON (UPI)—Albert McMillan, a 32-year-old painter, was ordered Wednesday to stand trial next month on a charge of stealing jewelry and cigarettes worth $862.40 from the home of George Hatherill. Hatherill is Scotland Yard's top detective.

Market Prices Turn Mixed in Active Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices turned mixed early this afternoon after following a brief continuation of Wednesday's rally. Trading was active.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point prevailed among most key stocks.

Most cigarette stocks declined while cigar manufacturers advanced. Reports were that cigarette sales were declining as a result of the government report on smoking and that cigar sales were rising.

Market averages nudged further into new high ground at the start of trading, following the achievement of historic closing highs by these indicators Wednesday. It was an irregular rise, however, and failed to hold many of its gains.

Motors declined. Steels, rails, oils, aerospace issues and building materials were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 291.6 with industrials up 1.2, rails up .1 and utilities unchanged.

Prices advanced in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed to lower in moderate trading. U.S. government bonds drifted slightly lower.

Middle-of-Road Minister May Succeed Nehru

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Lal Bahadur Shastri, former home minister, has returned to the Indian Cabinet, strengthening speculation that he will become ailing Prime Minister Nehru's political heir.

Shastri, 59, was appointed minister without portfolio Wednesday, almost five months after he and five other Cabinet leaders resigned at the prime minister's request. Nehru, 74, asked them to give full time to trying to revitalize his Congress party, torn by factional fighting after its long years of unchallenged power.

Reliable sources said Shastri, a middle of the roader, will replace Nehru as government leader of Parliament and in effect will be deputy prime minister.

Liked by both the Socialist and Conservative factions of the Congress party, Shastri has been the politician most mentioned as Nehru's successor since a slight stroke Jan. 7 forced the prime minister to curtail his activities.

House Passage Of Civil Rights Bill Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — House passage of a civil rights bill by Feb. 7 appeared a strong possibility today as the result of a revolt in the House Rules Committee.

A bipartisan majority of the committee is preparing to seize control and cut off hearings on the bill in time to get it passed before the House takes its annual Lincoln Birthday recess.

The revolt is aimed at Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., leader of the Southern forces opposing the bill, who had planned to continue the hearings until the end of January.

Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., leader of the forces trying to speed action on the bill, Wednesday is counting on the support of the committee's Republicans. There are 10 Democrats and 5 Republicans on the committee but four of the Democrats are from the South.

Medical Cost Boost Feared By Society

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The Colorado Medical Society notified Congress Wednesday there will be no way to stop a rise in medical costs and problems if the administration's medicare program is approved.

The House Ways and Means Committee received a report from the Colorado group Wednesday as a part of its investigation into the proposed legislation.

The Colorado group said the legislation is financially unsound because of additional benefits which were tacked on as the program progressed and increased operating costs.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices of grain futures maintained a little firmer trend most of the time today on the Board of trade as speculators used the setback of the previous session to cover short-position and reinstate long ones.

Wheat moved up a cent or so on the new crop months and major fractions on old crop contracts while soybeans swung over a fairly broad range both above and below Tuesday's final quotations.

Estimated carlot receipts were wheat 2, corn 97, oats 10, barley 11, soybeans 3 and rye none.

CAFFEINE-CRAZY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cup by cup, Americans consume 5 billion gallons of coffee each year, but apparently still can't get enough of it. Distillers report growing demand for coffee-flavored liqueurs and food companies say coffee flavoring is branching out from ice cream to other food items.

DEFENSE

'Extreme Nationalism' Gets Blame for Panama Disorder

EDITOR'S NOTE — The dust has settled in Panama, temporarily at least, but basic questions remain as to who was responsible for the incidents that brought the United States a new crisis in its relations with Latin America. This study of the background is by an Associated Press correspondent who interviewed scores of persons in both Panama and the Canal Zone.

By JOE MCGOWAN

PANAMA (AP) — When the psychology class met at Canal Zone College this week the students studied a lesson titled: "The psychological dangers of extreme nationalism."

It would be difficult to sum up more briefly the Panama situation.

There are elements of nationalism on both sides.

Panamanian groups are demanding that the United States give up the permanent title it has held to the canal and the Canal Zone since 1903. Groups of U.S. citizens in the area — many of them second or third generation natives of the zone —are accusing the U.S. government of repeated concessions to the Panamanians.

For years Panamanians — especially politicians—have made an issue of getting more concessions from the United States. These included questions of revenue and employment, but centered on the emotional issue of flying Panama's flag in the Canal Zone.

President Eisenhower made some concessions, and last January President Kennedy's administration and the Panamanian government agreed that Panama's flag should fly jointly with the U.S. flag in the zone.

In a followup action, Robert Fleming Jr., American governor of the zone, announced that the U.S. flag could not fly alone outside zonal schools. In other words, both flags or none.

A group of American students at Balboa High School, defying this order, raised the American flag at their school Jan. 7. When school officials lowered it, the students raised a second flag. Ignoring classes, they began a sitdown around the flagpole. This lasted until Thursday afternoon, Jan. 9.

Some persons blame the students directly for bringing on bloodshed which left more than 20 persons dead, including 4 U.S. soldiers. Others say the students were egged on by their parents, many of whom as Canal Zone employes hesitated to get involved personally.

R. F. Daniels, a civilian employe at a water filtration plant observed of the students: "They did the thing we adults didn't have guts to do. They did nothing unlawful."

Most U.S. military officials agree that parents must carry the burden of responsibility for the student action. Only one student was found who had been told by her parents not to participate in flag demonstrations. Nancy Clark, 15, a Balboa High School sophomore, said her mother asked her to refrain; her mother approved of the purpose but didn't want Nancy to get in trouble.

Many students said their parents encouraged them.

A member of the Canal Zone Civic Council said:

"I feel the children were misguided. When a group of children want to do something they don't consider the results.

John Lincoln, 17, whose father is a civilian employe, acknowledged that he was among the demonstrators. He denied the parents had a role and said the students hatched the idea in a meeting of the Teen Club.

Randy Colclasure, 20, a college student, said he participated in raising the American flag both at the college and at Balboa High.

"Without the flag it wasn't like a U.S. school any longer," he said.

Colclasure said he believed the idea to raise the flag was spontaneous.

But he added: "After the students raised the flag, the Civic Council held a meeting and the adults volunteered to relieve the students at night."

Asked about the violence and death that followed the incident, Colclasure said: "The students never thought of anything like this happening."

All of the students interviewed expressed sorrow that U.S. soldiers and Panamanians were killed, but all defended the act of raising the U.S. flag.

"At least now people are thinking about how we feel down here," said Danelle Kaff, 14.

The issue was joined when a group of Panamanian students marched into the zone and to Balboa High School on Thursday, Jan. 9, demanding their flag be displayed.

Residents of the zone and military officers say that a huge crowd of Panamanians gathered near the border of the zone in less than an hour after the demonstrators in behalf of Panama's flag returned to the zonal border.

They say demonstrations spread like wildfire and the Panamanian participants were by no means all students.

Numerous Americans said trouble was bound to come and that the American students' flag-raising provided the excuse. They said a bus strike or some other incident would have eventually provided the spark to touch off planned anti-American outbreaks.

Military officials said forward posts observed apparently well-trained agitators work on the crowds. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has said pro-Castro Communists were involved.

School officials were reluctant to comment or to say whether disciplinary action would be taken against the American students. One teacher did say it was felt that the only rule the students violated was refusing to return to classes.

Privately, some teachers said they thought no punishment would be meted out.

One asked: "Can you imagine the reaction in the states if we punished the students for flying the American flag."

Gov. Fleming and Gen. Andrew P. O'Meara, chief of military forces, U.S. Southern Command, have moved to insure compliance with rules.

Both military and civilian residents were warned this week that rules in effect in the zone would be followed—or disciplinary action, including deportation, would be taken.

Fleming said he would not tolerate action by any zone resident which would embarrass the United States.

Classes resumed in the Canal Zone Wednesday and students returned to fly flags on two poles erected in front of their schools. The ceremony raising both the Panamanian and American flags at Balboa High School drew a crowd which applauded when the colors reached the top.

But a number of adults who watched the raising expressed bitterness.

The Civic Council which has no powers but sometimes is advisory to the governor, held a meeting Wednesday night.

James J. O'Donnell, immediate past president, said: "I was very proud of zonians and the way they abided by the order from Gen. O'Meara. During a crisis, in no way did the zonians go out and agitate."

One council member said Gov. Fleming talked to people in a zone theater, explaining the stiff government stand.

"We have always had a very poor chain of communications from the authorities to the people," the council member said. "The governor should have explained to the people last Dec. 30 what the new orders on the flag flying meant.

"If someone had made this clear we wouldn't have the trouble we do today."

R. A. Jameson, formerly of Xenia, Ohio, is typical of the people known as zonians. He came to the canal 22 years ago as a soldier. He left briefly but returned to work for the Army Engineers.

He commented: "I knew the day when you could leave a car parked in Panama City with the keys in it and three days later return to find the car was all right. Today it is unsafe for an American to drive down the streets there.

"Now I am going home and never come back. Panamanians are no longer friendly. Panama won't be safe for Americans again."

EQUAL TIME

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (UPI) — Methodist Minister T. Parry Jones, whose Sunday sermon was accidentally piped into a Roman Catholic church, has offered "equal time" to the Catholic priest.

An electronic quirk carried the radio broadcast of the Rev. Mr. Jones' First Methodist Church sermon into the public address system of the Rev. Robert M. Hoeller's St. Peter Claver Church.

The Rev. Mr. Jones said Tuesday, "I'm delighted I had an opportunity to preach to Father Hoeller's congregation. I will be happy to give him equal time."

Testimony on Meat Labeling Is Asked

DENVER (AP) — Colorado's Department of Health was asked today to tell the Legislature what it had done to enforce a law requiring special labeling of meat imported into the United States.

Rep. John Kane, D-Northglenn, introduced a resolution into the House calling for the report. He wants it before the Legislature adjourns.

The Kane proposal was referred to the House Agriculture and Livestock Committee headed by Rep. C. P (Doc) Lamb, R-Brush. The committee is expected to act speedily.

The action follows up a resolution passed Tuesday by the House asking Congress to enact new federal regulations limiting imports of meat into this country.

License Plate Mailing Over 28,000 in County

As of 10 a.m. Tuesday, the county Motor Vehicle Division had mailed out 23,385 1964 license plates and vehicle registrations, according to Mrs. Harriet Beals, county clerk and recorder.

She said the volume was about the same as can usually be expected at this time of the month.

Deadline for mailing registration applications and payments for license plates is Jan. 31. Over-the-counter sales in the County Office Building will begin Feb. 1.

Mailing of the 1964 license plates is midnight Feb. 29.

Mrs. Beals urged county residents to order their plates by mail, if possible, since more than 92,000 sets will be issued this year.

Driver Fined $200 by JP

Joseph John Hagmann was fined $200 and costs in Justice of the Peace H. C. McShane's court Wednesday for driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Hagmann, 50, of 209 W. Cheyenne Rd. was arrested Monday on South Tejon Street by State Patrolman Ken Smith.

Smith also cited Joanne Thalia Brown, 24, of 2828 Airport Rd. who was fined $20 plus costs with $10 suspended for speeding. According to the officer, the defendant was driving at 60 miles per hour in a 45 zone on Colorado Highway 27 Monday.

Peter George Todoroff, 23, of Denver, was also charged with the same violation and fined $15 and costs. State Patolman Al Smith told the court that Todoroff was traveling at 55 miles per hour in a 45 zone on Colorado Highway 27 Wednesday.

Jaycee Week Observed With DSA Awarding

The observance of Jaycee Week here will be highlighted today with the presentation of the annual Distinguished Service Award to the area's outstanding young man for 1963.

"City councilmen, mayor, state congressmen and governors, national government congressmen and presidential candidates — scientists, doctors, financiers, athletes — why are more of the nation's leaders coming from the Jaycee ranks/

"The Jaycee Creed:

"We Believe:

"That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life;

"That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;

"That economic justice can best be won by free men thru free enterprise;

"That government should be of laws rather than of men;

"That earth's great treasure lies in human personality;

"And that service to humanity is the best work of life.

"Outwardly, these are just words recited at the close of each meeting, but the entire Jaycee Program is built around the principles and purposes of this creed and by active participation, Jaycees are learning and living this creed thru community service. Learning for the time when they will give greater service — the signers of the Declaration of Independence were either of Jaycee age or just a few years more.

"I believe that active participation in the Jaycee Program is beneficial to any man and that it is not mere coincidence that our new leaders are past Jaycees. Anyone subscribing to these principles has an insight into the future. Those who practice them diligently are the future."

Joseph Alvin Prescott Dies; Rites Friday

Joseph Alvin Prescott, 316 E. Willamette St., formerly a farmer, died Tuesday at his home. He was born in Harveyville, Kan., where he lived most of his life. He was married in 1908 to the former Edna Mae Davis, who survive him. In 1948 they moved to Colorado Springs for his health.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Edna Mae Prescott. Mr. Prescott is survived by two sons, Ernest Alvin Prescott of St. John, Kan., and Wayne Everett Prescott, Pratt, Kan., three grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Friday at the Swan Drawing room. Dr. Ben F. Lehmberg will officiate. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Schwab Renamed Chairman Of Security Savings Board

Earl H. Schwab was reelected chairman of the board of directors of Security Savings and Loan Association at its eighth annual meeting. Arlie Moore was reelected to the office of president at the same meeting.

Also reelected was Mark W. Baker, vice president and secretary.

Roger Lane, who previously served as assistant vice president was elected vice president. Jack Brandt was elected treasurer, Walter Masel assistant vice president. Mrs. Lois Cushman was reelected assistant secretary, and Robert D. Becker, comptroller.

Members of the board of directors who were reelected included Everett Conover, Guss D. Hill, W. S. Marshall and Dr. Roy J. Wasson. All officers and directors are residents of Colorado Springs.

Security Savings was started in 1956 by local businessmen on the theory that the community could better be served by a savings and loan association with home and branch offices in Colorado Springs.

Moore, president of the firm, reported an increase in total assets to $22,470,379 as of Dec. 31, an increase of 52 per cent from the previous year. Growth of the institution was attributed to the continued economic prosperity of the community.

The annual report reflected a net savings gain during the past year of $6,689,503, increasing total savings to an all-time high of $19,215,926.

Moore commented that the strong savings inflow and substantially increased home lending volume at Security Savings was indicative of the consistently growing demand for savings and loan services in this community. He predicted a further increase in housing and home financing activities this year.

The new vice president, Lane, has been active in the Junior Chamber of Commerce, YMCA, and the Home Builders Association. A graduate of Colorado State University, he and his wife and three children live at 223 Elmwood Dr.

Masel is a native of New York City and graduated from New York City College in 1959. He served three years in the U.S. Army and is active in the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Boy Scouts of America, Junior Achievement program and Soap Box Derby.

A native of Chicago, Brandt is a grduate of Notre Dame. He is active in the Jaycees and the Soap Box Derby program.

Becker was born in Sutton, Neb., and is a graduate of the Minneapolis Business College. He is treasurer of the Soap Box Derby program and is active in the Jaycees and Junior Achievement.

The main office of Security Savings is at 111 E. Pikes Peak Ave. and the branch office is at Platte Avenue and Union Boulevard.

Law Group At Florence Elects Officers

Election of officers for the coming year, discussion of projects and acceptance of new memberships were items on the agenda when the South Central Law Enforcement Officers Association held its January meeting in the Presbyterian church parlors, Florence, Tuesday evening.

Elected were John C. Calhoun, Fremont County sheriff's office, president; Lt. Col. George Cook, provost, marshal, Ft. Carson, vice president; Valle Towne, Fremont County sheriff's office, secretary - treasurer. Sgt. Reynold Genzel, CID, Ft. Carson, was elected to the board of directors for a three year term.

Members of the organization voted to send $425.18 to Colorado Boys Ranch, La Junta. This sum represents proceeds from the benefit dance and the auction of white elephants at each meeting.

The organization paid tribute to Howard E. Clifton, former president, who was killed early this week.

Those present voted to change the constitution to allow the secretary-treasurer to succeed himself in office. Other officers serve a one year term. Directors serve three-year terms.

Members from Ft. Carson, Westcliffe, Florence and Canon City were present for this meeting.

City Engineers At CU Meeting

Maurice R. Pearce, city director of public works, is among three city engineers attending the third annual Institute for City Engineers which ends today at the University of Colorado, Boulder.

The institute was sponsored by the CU department of civil engineering and bureau of continuation education in cooperation with the Colorado Municipal League and the Colorado chapter of the American Public Works Association.

Monument Progress Described

Norman B. Bodinger, of Monument Realty, Wednesday cited the improvements and advancements his community has made in recent months. Bodinger spoke at the breakfast meeting of the Realtors Multiple Listing Service.

He said that since a year ago Monument has had its own sewer system which was approved by 66 of the approximately 100 eligible voters. A little later, he said, 66 out of 68 votes cast were in approval of an $80,000 bond issuue to pay for the sewer system.

Bodinger told the realtors that the only time he ever sought a public office was when he was elected sewer commissioner at Monument.

In the past year, the real estate man said, Monument has installed 20 street lights and street signs and is now working to set up a house numbering system.

Bodinger expressed the opinion that the price of REA electrical power, which starts at 10 cents per killowat hour for business firms and drops to about five cents residential rate, has prevented the community from getting at least one industry.

He sad that one student from the Monument school system, which has an enrollment of 405 pupils, received a National Scholastic Merit Foundation certificate of achievement last year.

A native of New Jersey, Bodinger was stationed at Ent Air Force Base from 1954 to 1958. He retired in 1961 and returned to the Pikes Peak Region, settling in Monument. He has a masters degree in business administration from the University of Chicago. He received his earlier education from the Air Force Institute of Technology.

COFFEE GROUNDS

Coffee grounds have little actual fertilizer value. They do, however, add organic matter to the soil and enough grounds help to make it friable. Their reaction to the soil is slightly acid.

Military Spending Cut Important in Economy

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—How the next federal budget will differ from the current one in its sumers and taxpayers is shown sumers and taxpayers i in government spending and in expected collections.

The figures President Johnson has submitted for the fiscal year starting July 1 also reveal the actual cash receipts and payments, which run higher than the formal administrative budget given to Congress. Total cash receipts from the public are expected to rise and total cash payments to the public to remain steady, after some adjustments of transactions between government agencies.

The details of the changes are significant.

Increased spending is scheduled for education, for health, labor and welfare, and for space research and technology. And a big boost will be the $400 million more interest to be paid—$11.1 billion in all—on an expanding federal debt with rising interest costs.

Sectors of the economy scheduled to receive less federal outlays in the next fiscal year are mainly agriculture and industries involved in national defense. Veterans benefits and services and international affairs and finance also are expected to cost a bit less.

The government, on the other hand, is counting on collecting more in individual income taxes and corporation income taxes, despite the proposed cut in rates because incomes and earnings are expected to rise, and also in excise taxes because consumers are expected to buy more of the things thus taxed.

Higher employment tax receipts and interest on trust investments are expected to swell government trust fund accounts.

In all, the government departments covered in the administrative budget and the various agencies not included, are expected to pay $122.7 billion in cash to the public, and to take in $119.7 billion from the public.

This $3-billion deficit will be about $2 billion under the one predicted in the formal administrative budget, which puts receipts at $93 billion and expenditures at $97.9 billion by omitting the independent agencies.

The cash outflow and inflow will have the closer relation to the economy as a whole.

The President stresses the budget's economic effect this way: "In setting the relationship between government expenditures and taxation, the budget is also a powerful economic force which can help or hamper our efforts to achieve stable prosperity and steady growth."

This economic force will be shaped by such things as a proposed $1.1-billion drop in military spending, and the hoped for $1.2-billion decline in the cost of farm programs. The President's shifting emphasis also is seen in his request for $1.1 billion as a starter in his proposed war on poverty.

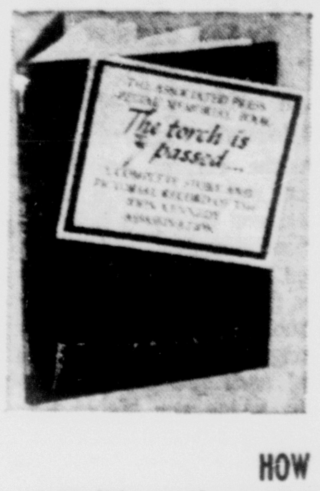
'Torch Is Passed' Demand Breaks Records

There has been an unprecedented demand for "The Torch Is Passed"–the handsome, hard cover book produced by The Associated Press as a memorable, dramatic account in words and pictures of the assassination of President Kennedy.

In about six weeks, newspaper readers all over the country have ordered nearly 2,000,000 copies, and the orders are still arriving at AP headquarters in New York by the tens of thousands daily.

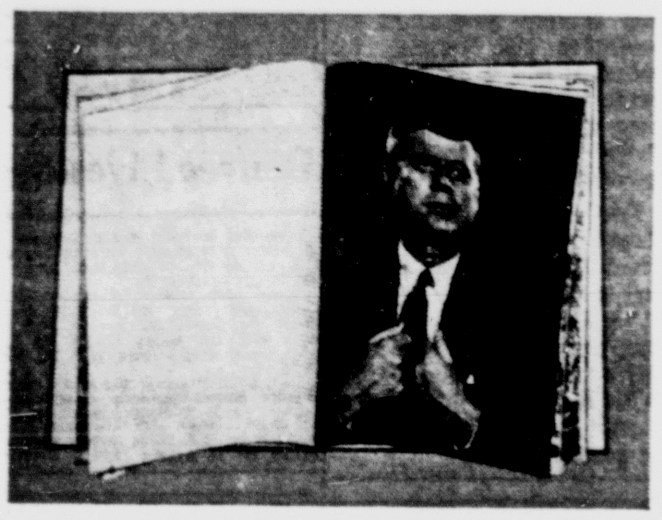
Presses are running night and day, seven days a week, in a big printing plant at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and also at Racine, Wis., in an effort to catch up with the demand.

There is still plenty of time, however, for you to order your copy through this newspaper. The presses won't stop until all orders have been filled. The books are being sold, for $2, only through Associated Press newspapers, including this one. Fill out the coupon and mail it with your check today.



THE BOOK INCLUDES:

- Handsome, hard-cover volume.
- Color portraits by Karsh of President Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy.
- 35,000-word detailed and dramatic text relating the tragedy and its aftermath.
- 86 photographs showing how the historic event unfolded, from Dallas to Arlington.



HOW TO ORDER

Just fill out the coupon and send it together with $2 for each copy of book desired. We pay postage. Make out checks or money orders to The Associated Press. Book, now in production, will be mailed you in February.

Rev. Paul Towner Resigns From Episcopal Church

The Reverend Paul E. Towner, vicar of Grace Episcopal Church, has resigned his position here to accept a call from the Bishop of the Missionary District of Nevada, the Right Reverend William G. Wright. He will serve two mission churches in Nevada, Holy Trinity in Fallon and St. Philip's in-the-Desert in Hawthorne. His last Sunday in Colorado Springs will be February 16 and he will take up his new work March 1.

In his letter of resignation to the rector of the local parish, the Rev. John C. Mott, Father Towner said in part: "I can say with utmost sincerity that I could not have spent six and one-half more happy years than I have enjoyed in this parish, but I know that in terms of the future it is wise for me to make a change and embark upon a completely different kind of experience.

"I am sure that by doing this I can have a fuller ministry in the years to come. It will indeed be a change and difficult adjustment for me, going from a large parish where we have practically everything to work with to a missionary situation where resources and numbers are limited. However, I feel that it is dangerous for any clergyman to get too comfortable in a situation."

In receiving the resignation Father Mott said: "It is with sincere regret that we receive the resignation of our Vicar. For six and a half years he has served in the capacity as Vicar of Grace Church, and his contribution to Grace Church and the Parish has been outstanding.

The ability and the love that have been characteristic of his work among us have been well marked and will be gratefully remembered.

"It is not often that a Parish is blessed with the ministry of so dedicated and capable a person as Father Towner, and for the years he has been in our midst we give thanks."

The Rev. Mr. Towner is a native of Denver. He graduated "cum laude" from Colorado College in 1954, and from the Berkeley Divinity School in New Haven, Conn. in 1957 from which he came directly to Grace Church. In community activities he is a member of the Knights of the Round Table, on the Advisory Board of the Salvation Army and on the board of directors of the Colorado Springs Opera Association.

Man Jailed When Unable to Pay Fine

Roland Syronald Campfield was sent to county jail Wednesday by Justice of the Peace James F. Quine as he was unable to pay a $25 fine and costs of $7 after he pleaded guilty to petty larceny.

Campfield, 23, of 15 N. Brentwood Dr. was accused of stealing a $40 overcoat belonging to Tom Bouziden, Jan. 20.

Russell C. Schawe, 31, of Peyton was fined $25 and $14.20 costs for short check.

The defendant issued a $10 short check Dec. 10 drawn on the Southgate State Bank of Colorado Springs and gave it to Millers Supermarket No. 30. The judge also ordered him to make full restitution.

TO STAND TRIAL

LONDON (UPI)—Albert McMillan, a 32-year-old painter, was ordered Wednesday to stand trial next month on a charge of stealing jewelry and cigarettes worth $862.40 from the home of George Hatherill. Hatherill is Scotland Yard's top detective.

Market Prices Turn Mixed in Active Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices turned mixed early this afternoon after following a brief continuation of Wednesday's rally. Trading was active.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point prevailed among most key stocks.

Most cigarette stocks declined while cigar manufacturers advanced. Reports were that cigarette sales were declining as a result of the government report on smoking and that cigar sales were rising.

Market averages nudged further into new high ground at the start of trading, following the achievement of historic closing highs by these indicators Wednesday. It was an irregular rise, however, and failed to hold many of its gains.

Motors declined. Steels, rails, oils, aerospace issues and building materials were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 291.6 with industrials up 1.2, rails up .1 and utilities unchanged.

Corporate bonds were mixed to lower in moderate trading. U.S. government bonds drifted slightly lower.

Middle-of-Road Minister May Succeed Nehru

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Lal Bahadur Shastri, former home minister, has returned to the Indian Cabinet, strengthening speculation that he will become ailing Prime Minister Nehru's political heir.

Shastri, 59, was appointed minister without portfolio Wednesday, almost five months after he and five other Cabinet leaders resigned at the prime minister's request. Nehru, 74, asked them to give full time to trying to revitalize his Congress party, torn by factional fighting after its long years of unchallenged power.

Reliable sources said Shastri, a middle of the roader, will replace Nehru as government leader of Parliament and in effect will be deputy prime minister.

Liked by both the Socialist and Conservative factions of the Congress party, Shastri has been the politician most mentioned as Nehru's successor since a slight stroke Jan. 7 forced the prime minister to curtail his activities.

House Passage Of Civil Rights Bill Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — House passage of a civil rights bill by Feb. 7 appeared a strong possibility today as the result of a revolt in the House Rules Committee.

A bipartisan majority of the committee is preparing to seize control and cut off hearings on the bill in time to get it passed before the House takes its annual Lincoln Birthday recess.

The revolt is aimed at Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., leader of the Southern forces opposing the bill, who had planned to continue the hearings until the end of January.

Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., leader of the forces trying to speed action on the bill, Wednesday is counting on the support of the committee's Republicans. There are 10 Democrats and 5 Republicans on the committee but four of the Democrats are from the South.

Medical Cost Boost Feared By Society

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The Colorado Medical Society notified Congress Wednesday there will be no way to stop a rise in medical costs and problems if the administration's medicare program is approved.

The House Ways and Means Committee received a report from the Colorado group Wednesday as a part of its investigation into the proposed legislation.

The Colorado group said the legislation is financially unsound because of additional benefits which were tacked on as the program progressed and increased operating costs.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices of grain futures maintained a little firmer trend most of the time today on the Board of trade as speculators used the setback of the previous session to cover short position and reinstate long ones.

Wheat moved up a cent or so on the new crop months and major fractions on old crop contracts while soybeans swung over a fairly broad range both above and below Tuesday's final quotations.

Estimated carlot receipts were wheat 2, corn 97, oats 10, barley 11, soybeans 3 and rye none.

License Plate Mailing Over 28,000 in County

As of 10 a.m. Tuesday, the county Motor Vehicle Division had mailed out 23,385 1964 license plates and vehicle registrations, according to Mrs. Harriet Beals, county clerk and recorder.

She said the volume was about the same as can usually be expected at this time of the month.

Deadline for mailing registration applications and payments for license plates is Jan. 31. Over-the-counter sales in the County Office Building will begin Feb. 1.

Mailing of the 1964 license plates is midnight Feb. 29.

Mrs. Beals urged county residents to order their plates by mail, if possible, since more than 92,000 sets will be issued this year.

Driver Fined $200 by JP

Joseph John Hagmann was fined $200 and costs in Justice of the Peace H. C. McShane's court Wednesday for driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Hagmann, 50, of 209 W. Cheyenne Rd. was arrested Monday on South Tejon Street by State Patrolman Ken Smith.

Smith also cited Joanne Thalia Brown, 24, of 2828 Airport Rd. who was fined $20 plus costs with $10 suspended for speeding. According to the officer, the defendant was driving at 60 miles per hour in a 45 zone on Colorado Highway 27 Monday.

Peter George Todoroff, 23, of Denver, was also charged with the same violation and fined $15 and costs. State Patolman Al Smith told the court that Todoroff was traveling at 55 miles per hour in a 45 zone on Colorado Highway 27 Wednesday.

Jaycee Week Observed With DSA Awarding

The observance of Jaycee Week here will be highlighted today with the presentation of the annual Distinguished Service Award to the area's outstanding young man for 1963.

In keeping with the local observance, Reed Whetstone, president of the Colorado Springs Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1954, issued the following statement:

"City councilmen, mayor, state congressmen and governors, national government congressmen and presidential candidates — scientists, doctors, financiers, athletes — why are more of the nation's leaders coming from the Jaycee ranks?

"The Jaycee Creed:

"We Believe:

"That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life;

"That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;

"That economic justice can best be won by free men thru free enterprise;

"That government should be of laws rather than of men;

"That earth's great treasure lies in human personality;

"And that service to humanity is the best work of life.

"Outwardly, these are just words recited at the close of each meeting, but the entire Jaycee Program is built around the principles and purposes of this creed and by active participation, Jaycees are learning and living this creed thru community service. Learning for the time when they will give greater service — the signers of the Declaration of Independence were either of Jaycee age or just a few years more.

"I believe that active participation in the Jaycee Program is beneficial to any man and that it is not mere coincidence that our new leaders are past Jaycees. Anyone subscribing to these principles has an insight into the future. Those who practice them diligently are the future."

Joseph Alvin Prescott Dies; Rites Friday

Joseph Alvin Prescott, 316 E. Willamette St., formerly a farmer, died Tuesday at his home. He was born in Harveyville, Kan., where he lived most of his life. He was married in 1908 to the former Edna Mae Davis, who survive him. In 1948 they moved to Colorado Springs for his health.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Edna Mae Prescott. Mr. Prescott is survived by two sons, Ernest Alvin Prescott of St. John, Kan., and Wayne Everett Prescott, Pratt, Kan., three grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Friday at the Swan Drawing room. Dr. Ben F. Lehmberg will officiate. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Schwab Renamed Chairman Of Security Savings Board

Earl H. Schwab was reelected chairman of the board of directors of Security Savings and Loan Association at its eighth annual meeting. Arlie Moore was reelected to the office of president at the same meeting.

Also reelected was Mark W. Baker, vice president and secretary.

Roger Lane, who previously served as assistant vice president was elected vice president. Jack Brandt was elected treasurer, Walter Masel assistant vice president. Mrs. Lois Cushman was reelected assistant secretary, and Robert D. Becker, comptroller.

Members of the board of directors who were reelected included Everett Conover, Guss D. Hill, W. S. Marshall and Dr. Roy J. Wasson. All officers and directors are residents of Colorado Springs.

Security Savings was started in 1956 by local businessmen on the theory that the community could better be served by a savings and loan association with home and branch offices in Colorado Springs.

Moore, president of the firm, reported an increase in total assets to $22,470,379 as of Dec. 31, an increase of 52 per cent from the previous year. Growth of the institution was attributed to the continued economic prosperity of the community.

The annual report reflected a net savings gain during the past year of $6,689,503, increasing total savings to an all-time high of $19,215,926.

Moore commented that the strong savings inflow and substantially increased home lending volume at Security Savings was indicative of the consistently growing demand for savings and loan services in this community. He predicted a further increase in housing and home financing activities this year.

The new vice president, Lane, has been active in the Junior Chamber of Commerce, YMCA, and the Home Builders Association. A graduate of Colorado State University, he and his wife and three children live at 223 Elmwood Dr.

Masel is a native of New York City and graduated from New York City College in 1959. He served three years in the U.S. Army and is active in the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Boy Scouts of America, Junior Achievement program and Soap Box Derby.

A native of Chicago, Brandt is a grduate of Notre Dame. He is active in the Jaycees and the Soap Box Derby program.

Becker was born in Sutton, Neb., and is a graduate of the Minneapolis Business College. He is treasurer of the Soap Box Derby program and is active in the Jaycees and Junior Achievement.

The main office of Security Savings is at 111 E. Pikes Peak Ave. and the branch office is at Platte Avenue and Union Boulevard.

Law Group At Florence Elects Officers

Election of officers for the coming year, discussion of projects and acceptance of new memberships were items on the agenda when the South Central Law Enforcement Officers Association held its January meeting in the Presbyterian church parlors, Florence, Tuesday evening.

Elected were John C. Calhoun, Fremont County sheriff's office, president; Lt. Col. George Cook, provost, marshal, Ft. Carson, vice president; Valle Towne, Fremont County sheriff's office, secretary - treasurer. Sgt. Reynold Genzel, CID, Ft. Carson, was elected to the board of directors for a three year term.

Members of the organization voted to send $425.18 to Colorado Boys Ranch, La Junta. This sum represents proceeds from the benefit dance and the auction of white elephants at each meeting.

The organization paid tribute to Howard E. Clifton, former president, who was killed early this week.

Those present voted to change the constitution to allow the secretary-treasurer to succeed himself in office. Other officers serve a one year term. Directors serve three-year terms.

Members from Ft. Carson, Westcliffe, Florence and Canon City were present for this meeting.

City Engineers At CU Meeting

Maurice R. Pearce, city director of public works, is among three city engineers attending the third annual Institute for City Engineers which ends today at the University of Colorado, Boulder.

The institute was sponsored by the CU department of civil engineering and bureau of continuation education in cooperation with the Colorado Municipal League and the Colorado chapter of the American Public Works Association.

Monument Progress Described

Norman B. Bodinger, of Monument Realty, Wednesday cited the improvements and advancements his community has made in recent months. Bodinger spoke at the breakfast meeting of the Realtors Multiple Listing Service.

He said that since a year ago Monument has had its own sewer system which was approved by 66 of the approximately 100 eligible voters. A little later, he said, 66 out of 68 votes cast were in approval of an $80,000 bond issue to pay for the sewer system.

Bodinger told the realtors that the only time he ever sought a public office was when he was elected sewer commissioner at Monument.

In the past year, the real estate man said, Monument has installed 20 street lights and street signs and is now working to set up a house numbering system.

Bodinger expressed the opinion that the price of REA electrical power, which starts at 10 cents per killowat hour for business firms and drops to about five cents residential rate, has prevented the community from getting at least one industry.

He sad that one student from the Monument school system, which has an enrollment of 405 pupils, received a National Scholastic Merit Foundation certificate of achievement last year.

A native of New Jersey, Bodinger was stationed at Ent Air Force Base from 1954 to 1958. He retired in 1961 and returned to the Pikes Peak Region, settling in Monument. He has a masters degree in business administration from the University of Chicago. He received his earlier education from the Air Force Institute of Technology.

Coffee grounds have little actual fertilizer value. They do, however, add organic matter to the soil and enough grounds help to make it friable. Their reaction to the soil is slightly acid.

Military Spending Cut Important in Economy

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—How the next federal budget will differ from the current one in its sumers and taxpayers is shown sumers and taxpayers i in government spending and in expected collections.

The figures President Johnson has submitted for the fiscal year starting July 1 also reveal the actual cash receipts and payments, which run higher than the formal administrative budget given to Congress. Total cash receipts from the public are expected to rise and total cash payments to the public to remain steady, after some adjustments of transactions between government agencies.

The details of the changes are significant.

Increased spending is scheduled for education, for health, labor and welfare, and for space research and technology. And a big boost will be the $400 million more interest to be paid—$11.1 billion in all—on an expanding federal debt with rising interest costs.

Sectors of the economy scheduled to receive less federal outlays in the next fiscal year are mainly agriculture and industries involved in national defense. Veterans benefits and services and international affairs and finance also are expected to cost a bit less.

The government, on the other hand, is counting on collecting more in individual income taxes and corporation income taxes, despite the proposed cut in rates because incomes and earnings are expected to rise, and also in excise taxes because consumers are expected to buy more of the things thus taxed.

Higher employment tax receipts and interest on trust investments are expected to swell government trust fund accounts.

In all, the government departments covered in the administrative budget and the various agencies not included, are expected to pay $122.7 billion in cash to the public, and to take in $119.7 billion from the public.

This $3-billion deficit will be about $2 billion under the one predicted in the formal administrative budget, which puts receipts at $93 billion and expenditures at $97.9 billion by omitting the independent agencies.

The cash outflow and inflow will have the closer relation to the economy as a whole.

The President stresses the budget's economic effect this way: "In setting the relationship between government expenditures and taxation, the budget is also a powerful economic force which can help or hamper our efforts to achieve stable prosperity and steady growth."

This economic force will be shaped by such things as a proposed $1.1-billion drop in military spending, and the hoped for $1.2-billion decline in the cost of farm programs. The President's shifting emphasis also is seen in his request for $1.1 billion as a starter in his proposed war on poverty.

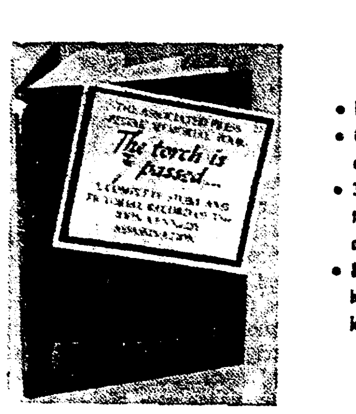
'Torch Is Passed' Demand Breaks Records

There has been an unprecedented demand for "The Torch Is Passed"—the handsome, hard cover book produced by The Associated Press as a memorable, dramatic account in words and pictures of the assassination of President Kennedy.

In about six weeks, newspaper readers all over the country have ordered nearly 2,000,000 copies, and the orders are still arriving at AP headquarters in New York by the tens of thousands daily.

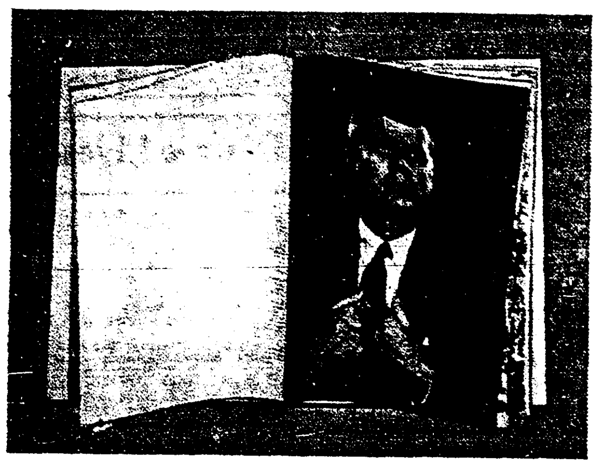
Presses are running night and day, seven days a week, in a big printing plant at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and also at Racine, Wis., in an effort to catch up with the demand.

There is still plenty of time, however, for you to order your copy through this newspaper. The presses won't stop until all orders have been filled. The books are being sold, for $2, only through Associated Press newspapers, including this one. Fill out the coupon and mail it with your check today.



THE BOOK INCLUDES:

- Handsome, hard-cover volume.
- Color portraits by Karsh of President Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy.
- 35,000-word detailed and dramatic text relating the tragedy and its aftermath.
- 84 photographs showing how the historic event unfolded, from Dallas to Arlington.



HOW TO ORDER

Just fill out the coupon and send it together with $2 for each copy of book desired. We pay postage. Make out checks or money orders to The Associated Press. Book, now in production, will be mailed you in February.

Rev. Paul Towner Resigns From Episcopal Church

The Reverend Paul E. Towner, vicar of Grace Episcopal Church, has resigned his position here to accept a call from the Bishop of the Missionary District of Nevada, the Right Reverend William G. Wright. He will serve two mission churches in Nevada, Holy Trinity in Fallon and St. Philip's in-the-Desert in Hawthorne. His last Sunday in Colorado Springs will be February 16 and he will take up his new work March 1.

In his letter of resignation to the rector of the local parish, the Rev. John C. Mott, Father Towner said in part: "I can say with utmost sincerity that I could not have spent six and one-half more happy years than I have enjoyed in this parish, but I know that in terms of the future it is wise for me to make a change and embark upon a completely different kind of experience.

"I am sure that by doing this I can have a fuller ministry in the years to come. It will indeed be a change and difficult adjustment for me, going from a large parish where we have practically everything to work with to a missionary situation where resources and numbers are limited. However, I feel that it is dangerous for any clergyman to get too comfortable in a situation."

In receiving the resignation Father Mott said: "It is with sincere regret that we receive the resignation of our Vicar. For six and a half years he has served in the capacity as Vicar of Grace Church, and his contribution to Grace Church and the Parish has been outstanding.

The ability and the love that have been characteristic of his work among us have been well marked and will be gratefully remembered.

"It is not often that a Parish is blessed with the ministry of so dedicated and capable a person as Father Towner, and for the years he has been in our midst we give thanks."

The Rev. Mr. Towner is a native of Denver. He graduated "cum laude" from Colorado College in 1954, and from the Berkeley Divinity School in New Haven, Conn. in 1957 from which he came directly to Grace Church. In community activities he is a member of the Knights of the Round Table, on the Advisory Board of the Salvation Army and on the board of directors of the Colorado Springs Opera Association.

Man Jailed When Unable to Pay Fine

Roland Syronald Campfield was sent to county jail Wednesday by Justice of the Peace James F. Quine as he was unable to pay a $25 fine and costs of $7 after he pleaded guilty to petty larceny.

Campfield, 23, of 15 N. Brentwood Dr. was accused of stealing a $40 overcoat belonging to Tom Bouziden, Jan. 20.

Russell C. Schawe, 31, of Peyton was fined $25 and $14.20 costs for short check.

The defendant issued a $10 short check Dec. 10 drawn on the Southgate State Bank of Colorado Springs and gave it to Millers Supermarket No. 30. The judge also ordered him to make full restitution.

Patriarch Praises Reports by Press

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Patriarch Athenagoras I, spiritual leader of world Orthodoxy, Wednesday warmly praised the world's press, radio and television for their "efforts to enlighten general opinion" on the historic meeting between Pope Paul VI and himself in Jerusalem this month. His remarks were made at meetings of the church's Holy Synod in Istanbul.

Cliff Robertson Takes to the Air For Recreation

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Some men like nothing better than to go out to the country club and spend the afternoon playing golf," says actor Cliff Robertson. "As for myself, I like to take to the air."

And he does so, whenever his busy acting schedule permits. But Cliff is no flier of luxury models. He prefers to go aloft in open-cockpit biplanes — or even a balloon.

Robertson's unusual hobby came to light a month ago. He and Frank Tallman, who with Paul Mantz owns a collection of old airplanes for movie rentals, were flying over the ocean in an ancient craft when they sighted a sinking boat. They reported it and a rescue was effected.

Last Saturday the two men were again up in the air, participants in the Catalina-to-mainland hot-air balloon race which had an unhappy ending with the death of a woman contestant.

"It was tragic," said Robertson at Revue Studios, where he was filming a Bob Hope Chrysler Theater. "I had entered the race because it seemed like a wonderfully gay and refreshing throwback to the past, something that was needed after the grim news of the past six months."

He and Tallman, a veteran stunt pilot, had no easy time in the race. Their balloon rose quickly to 2,500 feet after leaving the island, then hit a downdraft that plummeted them to the ocean. The pair managed to re-heat the gas in their balloon with their butane tanks and rose once more, ascending to more than 5,000 feet. Drifting toward the California coast, they sailed into a cloud, then their butane began giving out. Down they went at a rapid clip, and both figured they'd better jump before the gondola hit the water or the balloon might envelope them.

They jumped at about 50 feet and were picked up immediately by a rescue boat.

"Another minute and a half of gas and we could have made it to land," said Cliff. "But, as Frank pointed out, we were probably better off not landing on hard ground, considering our speed."

Cliff's favorite sport is to take some of the vintage aircraft up for a spin. While he was making "633 Squadron" in England last summer, he bought his own Spitfire and had it shipped here.

Sno-White "4 Shirts-For-$1" Proves Real Door-Buster!

We just want to clear up any rumors circulating that Sno-White's moneysaving "4 Shirts-For-$1" shirt laundering offer resulted in this unfortunate damage to one of our branch offices! It didn't.

On the other hand, we'd like to assure folks we have sufficient drive-up (not drive-in) facilities to take care of the folks who have rushed to take advantage of Sno-White's terrific offer. It's a low, low price, and folks get Sno-White's like-new, collar-comfort shirt finishing. And that's proving a real door-buster, folks! Phone: 634-2866!

King Reads Poetry Despite Bomb Threat

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and actor Gary Merrill read poetry for 2½ hours Wednesday night after telephoned bomb threats delayed departure of their airliner.

Officers allowed the Piedmont Airlines plane, flight 45 from Washington to Atlanta, to continue after a search. No explosives were found.

Merrill, King and 30 other passengers waited in the terminal lobby while the plane was searched.

King is president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, a Negro civil rights organization. He was returning to Atlanta after a conference with his staff members at nearby Black Mountain. Merrill had been visiting poet Carl Sandburg at Flat Rock, N.C.

Democrat Party Battle Seen In California

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California Democrats got a long-awaited report from Sen. Clair Engle's doctor Wednesday but it didn't change the outlook for a party battle for his renomination.

A Democratic official declared privately the report fell far short of the "full disclosure" request of party leaders, and none of the prospective candidates for Engle's set bowed out.

One source predicted a storm session when the State Democratic Executive Committee meets in Los Angeles Saturday to decide what, if anything, to do.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, vacationing in Palm Springs, said the report "makes it clear that Clair Engle's health is an issue, whether we like it or not."

"Now let them all get into the race," Brown said. "If Clair can convince the people he is well, he will win. If not, he will lose."

Brown recalled that when he had seen the senator in Washington, Engle had difficulty in carrying on a conversation.

The medical statement said in effect: Engle is getting along nicely in recovering from brain surgery last August, and at the rate he's going, he'll be able to campaign actively.

A Democratic committee visited Engle in Washington recently to look him over. He was told he couldn't be assured of unified support in the June 2 Democratic primary unless he came up with solid proof of physical fitness for the race.

There was cautious reaction from two of the three Democrats who have indicated interest in seeking the Senate nomination.

State Controller Alan Cranston said he's happy the doctor had indicated that Engle can carry on his Senate duties. He said he would have no further comment until the executive committee meets.

Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk said: "I am happy to hear that Sen. Engle is regaining his health and has received his doctor's approval to run for re-election. I hope that he continues to improve his health to its full strength."

The third possible contender, Rep. James Roosevelt of Los Angeles, has scheduled a news conference in Washington Thursday, presumably dealing with the Senate race.

APPROVES BILL

ATLANTA (UPI)—The House Special Judiciary Committee approved a bill Tuesday that would make it a misdemeanor for people to abandon unwanted dogs.

The author of the bill, Rep. Grady Coker, said many of the stray dogs become wild animals and kill pigs, sheep and chickens and suck eggs.

Czechs Still Look at West With Longing

By PETER REHAK

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—Edo is a dark-haired, intense young man. He is 27, an engineer and fond of modern jazz.

If you saw him walking down the street in Paris, Brussels or Amsterdam in his neat blue overcoat, you would think he belonged there.

But he lives in Prague, the capital of Communist Czechoslovakia, and has never been to any Western city.

They belong to a generation that has come of age since the Communists took over the country in 1948. All of them have been to high school and university since then and all have spent their working lives under the Communist system.

What do they think? How do they live? To what do they aspire?

Edo sees shortcomings in communism but he doesn't think it's all bad. He likes the job security it offers but sometimes he would like to see how he would make out in a free economy.

He finds some aspects of the totalitarian system oppressive although he says things are much better than they used to be.

Most of all, he has a longing to see the West. But he has no illusions about it, saying:

"A lot of people here think they would be better off if they could get to the West. That's nonsense. They dont' realize leaving there means going to a foreign country where it would take them years to fit in.

"The way I look at it, it would take me about 15 years to get properly established abroad. And by that time things will probably be pretty good here, too."

His voice carries a note of cautious optimism. His hope is based on the de-Stalinization of the last few months that opened the borders to Westerners and brought a promise of travel to the West for Czechoslovaks.

People this writer talked to agreed that this was the most conspicuous step in a gradual process of liberalization that started about four years ago.

Seeing the West is not on top of everyone's list. To some it's old hat. Mirko, an accountant in his early 30s, has made an annual trip to West Berlin for several years to visit his mother, who lives there. Right after the war he studied in Switzerland for two years.

He confessed that once he would have traded his existence here for what he found in West Berlin, but not in recent years. The question was only academic anyway because his wife and daughter always remained behind when he went.

Both Edo and Mirko make 1,300 crowns ($98.50) at the official rate a month.

Edo, a single man, manages well. He lives in a small room that his plant carries on the books as an office. He says there are hundreds of such offices" in the apartment-scarce city of Prague. It's a dodge used by state enterprises to beat the red tape — a sort of fringe benefit to attract bright young men.

Mirko has had a three-room apartment 15 years and considers himself lucky.

He says his salary buys basic food and covers the rent. If he wants to buy clothing or take his family on a vacation, it has to come out of his wife's $64 a month. His trips to Berlin are paid for by his mother.

Would they like to see Western-style capitalism come back?

Some say no but others are not sure.

A student put it this way:

"We're right on the border between East and West. Maybe, in time, we'll have the best from both worlds."

Family of Four Escape to West

HANNOVER, Germany (AP) —A family of four made it to West Germany by crossing the frozen Upper Elbe River on the border with East Germany, customs officials said Wednesday.

The man is 50, his wife 46 and their two sons 25 and 17. The 25-year-old was rushed to a hospital with acute appendicitis. The other boy was treated for frostbite.

Expert Claims Water Shortage Is Not Critical

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the nation's leading authorities on water management has poohpoohed the idea that America's population explosion will cause a dangerous under-supply of water in the next 40 years.

Richard D. Hoak, senior fellow of the Mellon Institute of Pittsburgh and the steel industry representative on the National Technical Task Force Committee on Industrial Waters since 1950, believes there will be enough uncontaminated water available in the foreseeable future.

Writing in Steelways, a publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute, Hoak emphasized that water is used for many purposes, industrial and otherwise, without being consumed. He said the earth's volume of water has been constant for thousands of years and will remain so.

He said the annual precipitation on continental United States averages 30 inches, 71 per cent of which returns to the atmosphere through evaporation and much of the remainder runs off into streams or reservoirs.

This, despite the variance of rainfall in different sections of the country, is sufficient to meet future demands of population and industry, Hoak said.

He observed that in the steel industry, for example, 26 major mills each withdraw more than enough water daily to serve a population area of 1,600,000 (m) but only 7.9 per cent of the total is consumed.

However, Hoak writes, one is justified in asking, even though much of the water is used up, will there be enough to go around in the future?

"The answer," he said, "is yes, for two reasons:

"One, we have ample and dependable resources.

"Two, we are becoming more skilled at managing water, and as economic pressures bear down upon us we will do an increasingly better job of reusing more of it."

Patriarch Praises Reports by Press

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Patriarch Athenagoras I, spiritual leader of world Orthodoxy, Wednesday warmly praised the world's press, radio and television for their "efforts to enlighten general opinion" on the historic meeting between Pope Paul VI and himself in Jerusalem this month. His remarks were made at meetings of the church's Holy Synod in Istanbul.

Cliff Robertson Takes to the Air For Recreation

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Some men like nothing better than to go out to the country club and spend the afternoon playing golf," says actor Cliff Robertson. "As for myself, I like to take to the air."

And he does so, whenever his busy acting schedule permits. But Cliff is no flier of luxury models. He prefers to go aloft in open-cockpit biplanes — or even a balloon.

Robertson's unusual hobby came to light a month ago. He and Frank Tallman, who with Paul Mantz owns a collection of old airplanes for movie rentals, were flying over the ocean in an ancient craft when they sighted a sinking boat. They reported it and a rescue was effected.

Last Saturday the two men were again up in the air, participants in the Catalina-to-mainland hot-air balloon race which had an unhappy ending with the death of a woman contestant.

"It was tragic," said Robertson at Revue Studios, where he was filming a Bob Hope Chrysler Theater. "I had entered the race because it seemed like a wonderfully gay and refreshing throwback to the past, something that was needed after the grim news of the past six months."

He and Tallman, a veteran stunt pilot, had no easy time in the race. Their balloon rose quickly to 2,500 feet after leaving the island, then hit a downdraft that plummeted them to the ocean. The pair managed to re-heat the gas in their balloon with their butane tanks and rose once more, ascending to more than 5,000 feet. Drifting toward the California coast, they sailed into a cloud, then their butane began giving out. Down they went at a rapid clip, and both figured they'd better jump before the gondola hit the water or the balloon might envelope them.

They jumped at about 50 feet and were picked up immediately by a rescue boat.

"Another minute and a half of gas and we could have made it to land," said Cliff. "But, as Frank pointed out, we were probably better off not landing on hard ground, considering our speed."

Cliff's favorite sport is to take some of the vintage aircraft up for a spin. While he was making "633 Squadron" in England last summer, he bought his own Spitfire and had it shipped here.

King Reads Poetry Despite Bomb Threat

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and actor Gary Merrill read poetry for 2½ hours Wednesday night after telephoned bomb threats delayed departure of their airliner.

Officers allowed the Piedmont Airlines plane, flight 45 from Washington to Atlanta, to continue after a search. No explosives were found.

Merrill, King and 30 other passengers waited in the terminal lobby while the plane was searched.

King is president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, a Negro civil rights organization. He was returning to Atlanta after a conference with his staff members at nearby Black Mountain. Merrill had been visiting poet Carl Sandburg at Flat Rock, N.C.

Expert Claims Water Shortage Is Not Critical

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the nation's leading authorities on water management has pooh-poohed the idea that America's population explosion will cause a dangerous under-supply of water in the next 40 years.

Richard D. Hoak, senior fellow of the Mellon Institute of Pittsburgh and the steel industry representative on the National Technical Task Force Committee on Industrial Waters since 1950, believes there will be enough uncontaminated water available in the foreseeable future.

Writing in Steelways, a publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute, Hoak emphasized that water is used for many purposes, industrial and otherwise, without being consumed. He said the earth's volume of water has been constant for thousands of years and will remain so.

He said the annual precipitation on continental United States averages 30 inches, 71 per cent of which returns to the atmosphere through evaporation and much of the remainder runs off into streams or reservoirs.

This, despite the variance of rainfall in different sections of the country, is sufficient to meet future demands of population and industry, Hoak said.

He observed that in the steel industry, for example, 26 major mills each withdraw more than enough water daily to serve a population area of 1,600,000 (m) but only 7.9 per cent of the total is consumed.

However, Hoak writes, one is justified in asking, even though much of the water is used up, will there be enough to go around in the future?

"The answer," he said, "is yes, for two reasons:

"One, we have ample and dependable resources.

"Two, we are becoming more skilled at managing water, and as economic pressures bear down upon us we will do an increasingly better job of reusing more of it."

Democrat Party Battle Seen In California

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California Democrats got a long-awaited report from Sen. Clair Engle's doctor Wednesday but it didn't change the outlook for a party battle for his renomination.

A Democratic official declared privately the report fell far short of the "full disclosure" request of party leaders, and none of the prospective candidates for Engle's set bowed out.

One source predicted a storm session when the State Democratic Executive Committee meets in Los Angeles Saturday to decide what, if anything, to do.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, vacationing in Palm Springs, said the report "makes it clear that Clair Engle's health is an issue, whether we like it or not."

"Now let them all get into the race," Brown said. "If Clair can convince the people he is well, he will win. If not, he will lose."

Brown recalled that when he had seen the senator in Washington, Engle had difficulty in carrying on a conversation.

"We just can't afford to take a chance," he said.

The medical statement said in effect: Engle is getting along nicely in recovering from brain surgery last August, and at the rate he's going, he'll be able to campaign actively.

A Democratic committee visited Engle in Washington recently to look him over. He was told he couldn't be assured of unified support in the June 2 Democratic primary unless he came up with solid proof of physical fitness for the race.

There was cautious reaction from two of the three Democrats who have indicated interest in seeking the Senate nomination.

State Controller Alan Cranston said he's happy the doctor had indicated that Engle can carry on his Senate duties. He said he would have no further comment until the executive committee meets.

Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk said: "I am happy to hear that Sen. Engle is regaining his health and has received his doctor's approval to run for re-election. I hope that he continues to improve his health to its full strength."

The third possible contender, Rep. James Roosevelt of Los Angeles, has scheduled a news conference in Washington Thursday, presumably dealing with the Senate race.

APPROVES BILL

ATLANTA (UPI)—The House Special Judiciary Committee approved a bill Tuesday that would make it a misdemeanor for people to abandon unwanted dogs.

The author of the bill, Rep. Grady Coker, said many of the stray dogs become wild animals and kill pigs, sheep and chickens and suck eggs.

Czechs Still Look at West With Longing

By PETER REHAK

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—Edo is a dark-haired, intense young man. He is 27, an engineer and fond of modern jazz.

If you saw him walking down the street in Paris, Brussels or Amsterdam in his neat blue overcoat, you would think he belonged there.

But he lives in Prague, the capital of Communist Czechoslovakia, and has never been to any Western city.

They belong to a generation that has come of age since the Communists took over the country in 1948. All of them have been to high school and university since then and all have spent their working lives under the Communist system.

What do they think? How do they live? To what do they aspire?

Edo sees shortcomings in communism but he doesn't think it's all bad. He likes the job security it offers but sometimes he would like to see how he would make out in a free economy.

He finds some aspects of the totalitarian system oppressive although he says things are much better than they used to be.

Most of all, he has a longing to see the West. But he has no illusions about it, saying:

"A lot of people here think they would be better off if they could get to the West. That's nonsense. They dont' realize leaving there means going to a foreign country where it would take them years to fit in.

"The way I look at it, it would take me about 15 years to get properly established abroad. And by that time things will probably be pretty good here, too."

His voice carries a note of cautious optimism. His hope is based on the de-Stalinization of the last few months that opened the borders to Westerners and brought a promise of travel to the West for Czechoslovaks.

People this writer talked to agreed that this was the most conspicuous step in a gradual process of liberalization that started about four years ago.

Seeing the West is not on top of everyone's list. To some it's old hat. Mirko, an accountant in his early 30s, has made an annual trip to West Berlin for several years to visit his mother, who lives there. Right after the war he studied in Switzerland for two years.

He confessed that once he would have traded his existence here for what he found in West Berlin, but not in recent years. The question was only academic anyway because his wife and daughter always remained behind when he went.

Both Edo and Mirko make 1,300 crowns ($98.50) at the official rate a month.

Edo, a single man, manages well. He lives in a small room that his plant carries on the books as an office. He says there are hundreds of such offices" in the apartment-scarce city of Prague. It's a dodge used by state enterprises to beat the red tape — a sort of fringe benefit to attract bright young men.

Mirko has had a three-room apartment 15 years and considers himself lucky.

He says his salary buys basic food and covers the rent. If he wants to buy clothing or take his family on a vacation, it has to come out of his wife's $64 a month. His trips to Berlin are paid for by his mother.

Would they like to see Western-style capitalism come back?

Some say no but others are not sure.

A student put it this way:

"We're right on the border between East and West. Maybe, in time, we'll have the best from both worlds."

Family of Four Escape to West

HANNOVER, Germany (AP) —A family of four made it to West Germany by crossing the frozen Upper Elbe River on the border with East Germany, customs officials said Wednesday.

The man is 50, his wife 46 and their two sons 25 and 17. The 25-year-old was rushed to a hospital with acute appendicitis. The other boy was treated for frostbite.
